"People age 65 and older represent the fastest growing segment of the country's population, which makes their safe driving ability an issue that millions of families are facing," commented Averella. "Although they have been driving longer than anyone else on the road, senior drivers have the highest crash-related death rate per mile, with the exception of drivers at the other end of the spectrum - teenagers, who are the least experienced drivers."

"AAA Mid-Atlantic encourages seniors and their families to use Older Driver Safety Awareness Week as an opportunity to begin a conversation about safe mobility," added Averella. "For many seniors, conversations about continued safe driving can easily spark strong emotional reactions such as concerns about personal independence and managing other day-to-day activities. Fortunately, these conversations also can serve as opportunities for constructive communication and problem solving."

Talking with an older driver is just the first step. AAA also provides guidance and tools, many at no-cost, to help develop and implement an action plan.

•CarFit evaluation determines a senior driver's proper fit in their vehicle while AAA's "Smart Features for Mature Drivers" brochure outlines recommended vehicle enhancements to help to boost seniors' comfort and safety while driving.

Mr. Ault enlisted in the Army Air Force on July 21, 1942. Assigned to radio operators and mechanics school at Scott Field, Ill., he met his future wife, Evelyn Moser (of Granite City, Ill.), at a USO dance. He was assigned to the 15th Air Force as a radio operator on a B-17 bomber. Sent overseas, he and his crew flew bombing missions over Germany.

On July 26, 1944, while on his tenth bombing mission near Vienna, Austria, they were attacked by approximately 80 German fighters known as Hermann Goering's elite flying group, and his plane was shot down. Forced to parachute, Bob was captured and transported to Germany. He was imprisoned in the infamous Stalag Luft IV, near the Baltic Sea. He survived imprisonment and the horrific conditions that came with it, including harassment by the SS guards, little food and water, no heat, little clothing, and the 800-mile "Death March" across northern Germany. Bob eventually escaped, was able to be reunited with an American unit, and was finally discharged in October of 1945.

He and his wife moved to Oakland, where he worked for the H-P Stores until they closed in 1982. Bob was a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, the Oakland Lions Club, the Barber Shop Quartet, the Oakland Masonic Lodge #192 AF & AM, and had served on the Oakland Town Planning Commission. A true gentleman, Bob will be long remembered and missed by his family, friends, and neighbors.

He is survived by two sons, Robert L. Ault Jr., Reading, Pa., and Michael Ault, Chicago, Ill.; one sister, Geraldine Hall and husband Harry, Tipton, Ind.; two grandchildren, Tanya Gallagher and husband Edward, Lititz, Pa., and Tricia Ault, Reading; three great-grandchildren, Tyler, Colin, and Kylie Gallagher; and one niece, Nancy Bolds, Tipton.

Friends were received at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted on Tuesday, Dec. 1, with the Rev. Jennifer Johns-Gooding officiating.

Interment followed in Mt. Moriah Cemetery, Valley Point, where military honors were accorded.

Interment was held in Grantsville Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Christ Lutheran Church.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

This Thanksgiving was the most difficult of any I ever had, because I went nowhere. Of course, during my college days, I always went home like the rest of Garrett County's kids.

I remember one year we got a major snowstorm in western Maryland. I forget who was driving on that trip, but I remember the trouble that we had going down those big mountains between here and Hagerstown. Polish Mountain and Sidling Hill were in white-out conditions. But we made it, and celebrated with our families.

Those days we always went to Pappy Oral and my grandmother Babble (Emma) Glotfelty's, just about next door. And they often had other children and their families, like the Quaintances from Howard County and the Englars from Westminster, and of course, Uncle Dale. But the main work was done by Babble, of course, with her daughters lending a hand. They had a beautiful old pedestal dining table, big enough so that all the adults could fit around it, and maybe one or two older kids.

While the "womenfolk" were busy in the kitchen, my usual job was to peel the potatoes for mashed potatoes. Another crew was busy putting together the table and adding the brilliant white tablecloth.

Next, my job was filling the good glasses with cold water. And someone got the good set of china out of its chest. Soon after, the table was set with the white plates outlined in gold and the good (real) silverware

Then, first came in the big golden-brown turkey, followed by many big serving bowls filled with dressing, potatoes, and canned green beans from last summer's garden, and a basket of perfect golden brown rolls.

It was definitely an annual major social event for our family. My Glotfelty grandparents just lived long enough to see us married and starting to produce babies. Babble only got the chance to hold Robby and Claire.

Then we entered a new era when my mother was the grandmother.

Toward the end of the 1980s, we had Thanksgiving dinner either at my mother's house or at Pappy Dale's, who still lived in the house that his parents lived in during the last years of their lives. He liked prime rib. Pappy Dale did play Grandfather Glotfelty in the place of my deceased father.

With the turning of the millennium, hosting our Thanksgiving family gathering went to my generation. Recently, we either did it at Rodney's house or the Basses' house. It was never at my house, because after 1994 when I got sick, I couldn't handle being the primary hostess.

Because of Marci's work schedule and some of our kids' schedules, we moved our Thanksgiving party to Friday afternoon.

So my girls and I stayed home all Thanksgiving Day. Like always, we watched the Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in the morning. I only saw it in person once, not while I was living in Manhattan, but several years before I moved to the Big Apple.

My new boyfriend during the 1970s was Charles Hall, and he moved to New York City from a house on Dung Hill Road to try to make it as a professional actor. I guess it was the first Thanksgiving after he moved. He concocted an idea that I should come up to New York City for Thanksgiving.

I was horrified when I got up last Friday morning to see a couple inches of new snow on the ground, because my daughters and I were supposed to go to Kevin and Carol Bass' house for our day-late Thanksgiving dinner. I was already dreading it because it was the first major holiday without the most important person, my mother, there. We did miss her very much, but there was another reason that my heart was filled with dread.

I always have trouble dealing with stairs. There are only two, so I am not sure why they are so hard for me, except that I really cannot handle stairs without a railing.

"DESIGNS FOR DOVE RESALE SHOP" TO REOPEN – In response to popular demand, organizers said, the Designs for Dove Resale Shop will open again this holiday season, and will be in operation Dec. 9-12. The weekday hours will be 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. On Dec. 12, the hours will be 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The store is located at 233 Alder Street, directly across from Wendy's Towne Restaurant. Nearly new clothing from casual to couture in sizes 2-32 will be sold for about 10% of the original cost, a spokesperson said. There will be coats available, as well as accessories, including handbags, shoes, and jewelry, and a limited selection of men's clothing. New wedding dresses from design houses in New York will be sold for $99. All sales must be made with cash or check. Donations of "gently used" clothing, handbags, shoes, and jewelry will be taken through Friday, Dec. 4. Items may be dropped off at Curves in Oakland this week between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. For more information, persons may call Suzanne Nicholas, who is pictured above with a few select pieces, at 301-533-0331 or 301-501-0046. All proceeds will benefit the Dove Center and domestic violence prevention shelter.

Also, I do not do well in icy conditions, and under that snow was a layer of ice. In spite of being aided by Lesa Whittmore, my left foot slipped and, I'm sorry to say that I brought Lesa down with me. Then Lesa had to go down to my house and bring my wheelchair. Rodney and a couple of my nephews carried me in the wheelchair inside. But then everything was fine. I guess everyone ate too much. I know I did.

A few days prior to the holiday, my daughters hit the road to visit Lloyd's parents. They saw Ruth at her home in Leisure World in Silver Spring, then took her to visit Al at a nearby nursing home. The girls report major progress in his condition. Good news.

Then they returned to my house. On Thanksgiving Day, they cooked a mini-Thanksgiving meal, featuring my mother's fried turkey. She learned how to do it from her mother-in-law Emma Glotfelty. And then she taught Caitlin to do it. Then they made Thanksgiving dinner for their father in McHenry.

I saw a poll that possibly points to the trouble in our government. Most Republicans have an unfavorable view of Obama policy. So instead of a discussion about how they want their party represented, they resort to tea parties and relentless attacks on our president.

They are reluctant to accept that it was their elected leader who got them into the unfavorable position that America is in. But they want to continue with the failing policy. They didn't allow the time and chance to develop a good strategy for Afghanistan. There is no good solution to the ongoing war there.

Another poll revealed that most Republicans selected Rush Limbaugh as the best leader of the Republican Party. So more Republicans like the leadership style of Rush? It clearly shows that the Republican Party has serious problems.

Thanksgiving was never the same for me since 1991, when the best times of my life ended.

When I was 10 years old, I met and fell in love with my equine soulmate. I told my dad that he was my horse while he was just a young colt beside his mother Babe, John Beachy's horse for a lifetime.

I was lucky my father was wise enough to ignore the advice of the horsey people he knew, who told him, "Don't get your little girl an untrained young horse. What she needs is a nice, older, well-trained horse." But they were so wrong. Because we grew up together, we bonded together in a deep and unbreakable way.

I was so eager to bring him to our farm, but it wasn't until the next Christmas. The best thing I got under the Christmas tree was a plain envelope that contained a poem by my parents. I don't remember every word of it, just the last line: "So go down to the barn and see Little Joe." And to me he was the most beautiful horse in the world; even more beautiful than the horse I always believed was Garrett County's horse, the golden palomino stallion Tiger that belonged to Marvin Wilke.

Even after he was full-grown, he was not extremely physically beautiful. But his disposition was the sweetest I ever met. And he had some awesome talents, like being able to run like the wind, and his jump was more soaring than just jumping.

I was surprised how different other jumpers were, compared to Joey. They did not even come close enough to compare.

We were practically inseparable, so school years were almost unbearable. I remember that first winter, 1964-65, was a Garrett County winter, with never-ending snow storms, and the ceaseless winter winds blew a 15-foot high drift between the house and barn.

I guess the annual Radio City Music Hall Christmas Spectacular is up and running, featuring not just the Rockettes, but a whole bunch of dancing, slim Santa Clauses. I kinda wish I could see it, but even in Pittsburgh it is way too much money and trouble to bother with it. I wish I could just hibernate for the next four or five months.

Today is Black Friday, when crazy people lined up last night at midnight just so they could snag some good bargains. One strange story this year was that an engaged couple decided to marry while they were in line. How romantic!

But sad to say, the day after Thanksgiving 18 years ago was the day I had to put to death my best friend, Little Joe. I was lucky to have him with me for 31 years. But the fact that he could not walk and was very sad and miserable meant that I had no choice. Still, it was a horribly painful decision for me. So I enlisted my friend, veteran Rick Jenkins, to do it for me.

I was home alone, because Lloyd had taken Claire and Caitlin down to Rockville for a Thanksgiving visit. Luckily, some of my horsey women friends showed up in the early morning to support me. But I felt very alone, so I got up early in the morning, hours before Rick was supposed to arrive, to give Joey the best morning possible: a good breakfast and hours of grooming him, talking to him, and giving him a perfect braid job. And he looked good for a 31-year-old horse.

I was a little disappointed in Sunday's Steeler game. But they did as well as I hoped they would without their star quarterback and best defensive player. The third-string quarterback was basically a rookie. It's his second season, but this was his first professional game as a starter. He was able to conduct a running game and even completed several passes. It went into overtime, but sadly the Ravens won.

I don't think it is the end of their playoff hopes. I am sure the father and sister of substitute quarterback Dennis Dixon, who came to the game, were very proud of his performance. He should have a bright future.

Well, it is Monday, the last day of November, and it is starting to snow again, but not very hard.

I can't wait for February because the Winter Olympics will be going on. I just love watching them on television, even better than the Summer Olympics. But it appears that the International Olympic Committee made a bad choice in Rio de Janeiro, since Rio had a bad crime wave, and seems to regularly experience blackouts.

The Bittinger Lutheran Paris will offer the Holden Evening Prayer worship service next Wednesday, Dec. 9, beginning at 6 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church at Meadow Mountain. The service will be followed by a light meal and fellowship. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Then on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m., the parish will go Christmas caroling at Goodwill Home.

A Christmas tea will be served Sunday, Dec. 13, for the women of the parish at Emmanuel Lutheran Church at 2 p.m. Persons should bring a finger food to share and plan to enjoy a holiday program and fellowship.

Advent Services Now Under Way At St. Mark's

A series of Advent evening prayer (vespers) services are under way at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The services are on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. and are open to the public.

The services include congregational singing, led by St. Mark's choir, as well as prayer and scripture. They also feature a look at Christmas and Advent customs from other lands.

Traditions of Mexico will be the focus on Dec. 9, and will include the often reenacted dialogue with the innkeeper from Luke known as Las Posadas ("the lodging"). This will be presented by Pastor C. Scott Robinson, Laura Robinson, and Mary McEwen.

Christmas in India will be featured on Dec. 16, presented by Liz Gilbert. Lowell Leitzel gave a presentation on Dec. 2 about France.

The church is located at the corner of Second and Center streets. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT DAY was observed during the recent American Education Week. Founded in 1992 by Project Appleseed, the day was earmarked with the goal of showing parents and families how to assist schools in providing their children a quality education. Garrett County schools continually provide parents a variety of opportunities to participate as volunteers, which is encouraged by the federally funded Title I program. Pictured above left are parent volunteers at Grantsville Elementary School who during the 2008-09 school year contributed a total of 1,770 volunteer hours. From left are: Betty Merrill, Christine Brenneman, Anna Moser, Katrina Siegrist holding Abigail Siegrist, Susan Barclay, principal Matthew Eggleston, and Allison Broadwater. Above right, Cynthia Shaffer, math teacher at Yough Glades Elementary, works with both parents and students. Below left, Bloomington School teachers Penny Lapp (Title I) and Bill Ack (math) oversee a special Parent Involvement Day activity with students. Below right, Friendsville math teachers Jamie Friend and April Lewis chat with a parent and a student. The Parental Involvement Day activities were coordinated by Cathy Helbig, Title I instruction coach/parent liaison with the Garrett County Board of Education.

The Arts

Gifts, Entertainment, Special Events All Part Of OTT's Christmas Market

A wide variety of gifts, events, and entertainment will be offered at Our Town Theatre's third annual Christmas Market, set for Saturday, Dec. 5, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Social Hall in Oakland. The event is part of the town's "Small Town Christmas."

The market will enable shoppers to support Garrett County artists, as well as to contribute toward OTT's Backstage, which is the scenery, costume, and prop shop located along Center Street, just west of the theatre.

The market will include a Christmas Cafe with chili and Fair Trade coffee and tea, a bake sale, gift wrapping, Christmas music, and readings.

There will be several new artists at this year's event, according to organizers.

One new addition will be Laura Stutzman, a local children's book illustrator who will be giving a half-hour-long presentation on the making of the book "The Happy Prince."

In half-hour presentations at her booth at 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., Stutzman will discuss the publishing process, from concept to sketches to the building of models and working with living models (friends and neighbors) to produce images that tell a story. Stutzman's work on the book, which was published by Sleeping Bear Press, won it a spot in the Society of Illustrators "The Original Art" exhibit, celebrating the art of children's book illustration, in 2006. The artist will autograph and sell both the Happy Prince book and "B is for Blue Crab," an alphabet book of Maryland she illustrated.

Artist Robert Yonke will also be selling his watercolors and Christmas cards, and Debora Robinette will sell her handmade tables, birdhouses, and bird feeders from recycled wood.

Marla Sines of M-DZINES, will sell her natural handmade soaps, candles, flaxseed packs, and pampered pet products.

Another new booth this year is Angel Photos. One to three "angels" at a time (children) will be photographed in 15-minute intervals by Angie Sincell, local photographer. Reservations must be made by 5 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 4, by calling Our Town Theatre at 301-334-5640. Costumes will be available for children ages 5 to 12, but persons may bring their own angel costumes as well.

Other gifts available at the market will be handmade stoneware, nature photography and cards, art glass jewelry, ornaments, crocheted and hand-knit items, wooden puzzles, baskets, cutting boards, handmade rugs, silk Christmas flower arrangements and wreaths, sock animals, Gortner folk art, handmade Christmas cards, Amish cookbooks, and Fair Trade coffee, tea, and chocolates.

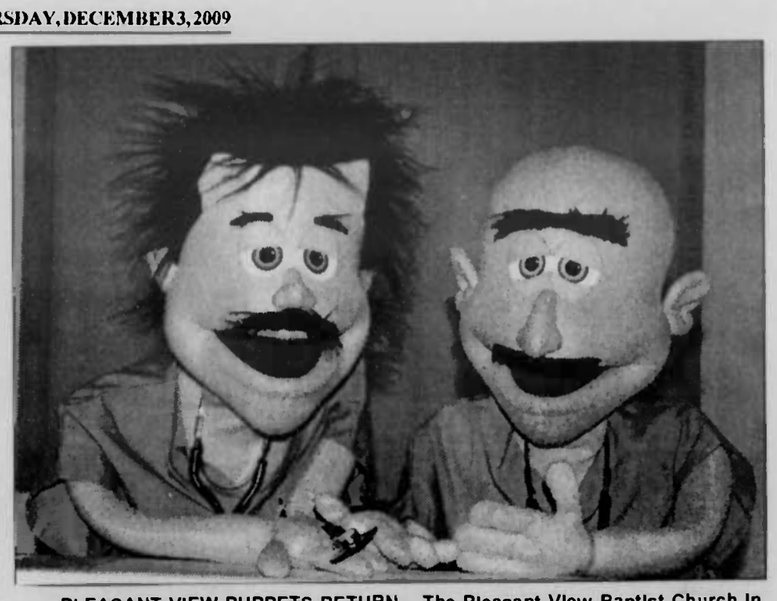
Persons may also sign up for CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) shares.

Musicians will provide music throughout the day. Artists will include Sherry Remley, Celtic harpist, Rick and Margie Jordan on guitar and violin, Marci McClive and Ruth Seib of Marsh Mountain Consort, and Richard Hill, guitarist and singer.

Members of the Garrett Reading Council will also read children's holiday books in the afternoon.

A 50/50 raffle will be held, with the drawing at the Christmas Market. The winner will not need to be present. A door prize, from the 50/50 raffle tickets, will be given away every hour.

For more information, persons may call OTT at 301-334-5640.



PLEASANT VIEW PUPPETS RETURN – The Pleasant View Baptist Church in Oakland is once again preparing to present a Christmas puppet show featuring the youth of the church. This year's show is titled Code Red, and free tickets are available now. There will be 12 presentations of the program. The schedule is as follows: Dec. 11, 12, 13, 18, 19, 20; at 7 p.m. on the 11th and 18; and at 2, 4, and 6 p.m. on the 12th and 19th; and at 4 and 6 p.m. on the 13th and 20th. Persons may order tickets online at www.pleasantviewbc.org or may call the church at 301-334-8515. There will be approximately 280 seats available per show, and they will be filled on a first come, first served basis. There is no charge to see the show. The church is located along Rt. 219 South, a few miles south of Oakland.

TINSEL: A SEARCH FOR AMERICA'S CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

by Hank Steuver

C. 2009, Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, $24; 336 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

The Christmas carol quietly coos that "all is calm, all is bright."

You don't know about calm – the traffic and pedestrian gawkers kind of ruin that sentiment – but bright? Yep, that pretty much sums up your neighborhood and all the holiday lights decorating the houses and yards.

Bright? You owe your next month's salary to the electric company.

So why do it? In the new book Tinsel by Hank Steuver, you'll read about the holidays run wonderfully amok in one Texas city, and the answer that is – why not?

Author Hank Steuver wasn't really a Christmas kinda guy. Oh sure, his family celebrated years ago with the requisite gifts and Santa and midnight Mass. But somewhere along the way – maybe when his parents divorced or his sister moved out of state – Steuver lost the holiday.

"By 1991," he says, "Christmas seemed to be happening to everyone else."

So when he decided to write a sort-of expose on Christmas during the 2006 season, he envisioned that it might be a book about the ugly side of the holiday, including sweat shops and "oppressed elves." Instead, he headed for Frisco, Texas.

On the day after Thanksgiving 2006, well before dawn, Steuver began his sojourn in line, outside a major retail store with a forty-something single mother. Later, he signed up to be a volunteer "elf" for a phenomenally energetic woman who started a business decorating million-dollar homes for hundreds of dollars an hour, and who desperately wanted Steuver to believe in Christmas. And before the week was out, Steuver had spent time learning about bulbs from a couple whose house is so famous for its light show that a video of it went viral.

While in Frisco, Steuver visited mega-churches, partly to watch the single mother – a tech volunteer – in action, and partly as a mere voyeur. While helping the decorator, he espied secrets of the too-rich, and he felt a little jaded. When he witnessed an emotional and angry family dinner-table debate over the war in Iraq, he compassionately turned off his inner-journalist. And when learning about giving for charity, he discovered that being a snoop can sometimes burst one's bubble.

Still, he says, "It is entirely possible that I suck at all of this Christmasy goodness."

I beg to differ. Much like opening a present wrapped in too much tissue paper, to read Tinsel is to pick apart Christmas and its meanings, layer upon layer, before you finally reach a gem.

Steuver is witty, and affectionate in regard to the three families of "elves" who helped him explore the frenzy that Christmas has become. He's gently sneering, and oh-so-funny. He doesn't insult, but he's willing to cast light on silliness and spoiledness, and things people do in a quest for the "perfect" holiday.

In short, author Hank Steuver is a superbly saucy and cynical chronicler of just one facet of Christmas, and I loved this book.

If you're looking for some bite to your Christmas reading, look for this drolly merry and wonderful holiday book. For you, Tinsel definitely sparkles.

"Fibers-n-Paint" Exhibit Slated For Gallery Shop

An exhibit of needlework and watercolor paintings is the newest Backroom show slated at the Gallery Shop in Oakland. "Fibers-n-Paint," featuring the work of artist Jakkie Lease, will be on display from Dec. 7 through Jan. 8.

Lease paints with the Weekend Watercolorists artist group at the Studio on Greene in Cumberland. She studied with Vera Dikerson, artist and teacher. Jakkie has achieved success in acrylic painting tutoring under Harry Mandel. She is also a textile artist and a member of international online groups: CQEmbellishers, CQInternational, Silk Ribbon Heirlooms, Wet Canvas, Watercolor Workshop and Watercolor. At least one piece of her work in the Gallery Shop exhibit will incorporate both mediums of her art, a spokesperson said.

The artist's 40-year-old son Brian, who has pursued an art major in college, died suddenly in 2005. Grieving for her son and his young family, Lease said she turned to painting to begin the healing process. She has experimented with several water media techniques.

She is on the staff of CQmagonline.com, a web site for quilters, and has published several articles on button painting. Her hand painted buttons are sold on the Internet. Her work is available at several local locations.

She is a member of Allegany Arts Council, Allegany Area Art Alliance, Western Maryland Watercolor Society, and Garrett County Arts Council.

The artist will be honored at an evening reception on Friday, Dec. 11, during Oakland's annual Christmas on Alder Street. The reception will be from 5 to 7 p.m.

The regular Backroom gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more information, persons may contact the arts council at 301-334-6580 or visit www.garrettarts.com.

Writers' Guild To Meet On Tuesday

The Wednesday Writers' Guild will meet this month on Tuesday, Dec. 8.

The group usually meets the second Wednesday of each month. Members critique each others' poems, short stories, and works-in-progress. New writers and members are always welcome.

For more information, persons may e-mail Tom Pessini at tpessini@qcol.net.

ASCI Introduces Local Artists With Receptions

The Adventure Sports Center International will host an artist reception for Connie Quarrick Hall on Friday, Dec. 4, from 6 to 8 p.m. to showcase her jewelry, and for Judith Becker on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 2 to 4 p.m. to exhibit her watercolors and other artistry.

ASCI will showcase area artists' paintings, photographs, pottery, wood designs, and jewelry at the "Mountaintop Shop" throughout the winter, which will be open on weekends and holidays.

Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served on Friday for Hall's reception, including cheese provided by Firefly Farms, Garrett County's locally made and internationally award-winning cheese makers. Hall specializes in wire and sheet metal creations. Sterling silver and copper are Hall's favorite metals, but she also works with nickel, brass, aluminum and gold fill. Much of her work is done using a combination of cold (non-soldered) and heated connections.

Award-winning artist Becker will be featured at a tea reception at ASCI on Saturday, showcasing her watercolors, pastels and colored pencil paintings of landscapes, wildlife and flowers.

For those seeking a little exercise prior to the reception, guided hikes around the mountaintop and into the Fork Run Recreation Area will occur from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., with a special focus on optimum settings and vistas for excellent outdoor photography. The Adventure Sports Center mountaintop campus at the top of Wisp Resort offers some of the best views of Garrett County, with clear day views of West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Hikers need to meet at ASCI ready for daily trail and climate conditions. Hikes are $8 a person. Shorter hikes can be arranged for young children. Please call ahead with questions or for reservations.

Artist receptions will be held all winter at ASCI on Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons, and are free to the public. These receptions seek to promote local art and artisans, and will connect art collectors and gift shoppers with authentic works that speak of Garrett County's creative energy. All receptions are open to the public, and all art is for sale. Persons may call ASCI at 301-387-3250 or e-mail for more information at asci@adventuresportscenter.com.

ASCI EXHIBITS ARTISTS – The Adventure Sports Center International will be hosting two artist's receptions this weekend to continue its support of area artists. Jewelry by Connie Quarrick Hall will be shown on Friday, Dec. 4, from 6 to 8 p.m., and watercolors and other artistry by Judith Becker will be showcased on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 2 to 4 p.m. See story for more information.

CELTIC SINGER-SONGWRITER Christina Harrison will perform during the 2010 McHenry Highland Festival on June 5. A native of Glasgow, Scotland, Harrison's repertoire features original, contemporary and traditional folk songs from Ireland, Scotland, and America. A frequent headliner at major Celtic festivals, Harrison's most recent appearance was on NPR's "The Signal" on Friday, Nov. 13. Shows are archived online for two months, and persons interested in hearing Harrison can visit wypr.org/thesignal. The program begins with headline news, followed by Harrison and other artists. "The McHenry Highland Festival is still months away, but we invite you to listen, get a sense of the great musical talent the festival offers," said an event spokesperson. Scottish fiddler Bonnie Rideout and the Celtic band MacTalla Mor are also scheduled to perform at the festival.

Garrett Concert Band Holiday Concert Slated

The Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Moe Turrentine, will present its winter holiday concert, this year titled "The Most Wonderful Time of the Year." It will be presented in the Garrett College auditorium, McHenry, on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 story, the two soon found their way into the hearts of many people who frequent the park. Several people, including Fazenbaker, set up a feeding plan to make sure the ducks had cracked corn to sustain them through the winter when the pond was frozen over. The story is intended to teach a lesson on caring, sharing, and respecting wildlife, as well as each other.

Fazenbaker was employed for 21 years by Oakland's first radio station, WMSG-WXIE, as its secretary. She teaches the nursery class at Corinth United Methodist Church and resides with her husband Stanley. The couple have one son, Michael Fazenbaker, daughter-in-law Amy, and grandson Peyton.

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are now engaged in the 12th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to the fund this week. An advertisement with information about how to donate can be found elsewhere in today's issue.

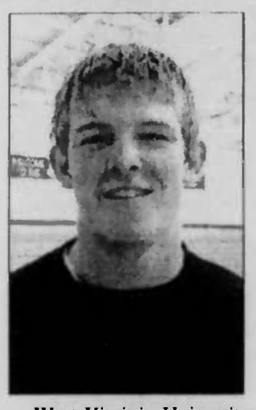
George Scheffel Signs With WVU Mountaineers



West Virginia University wrestling coach Craig Turnbull has announced the signing of George "Brutus" Scheffel to a national letter of intent for the 2010-11 academic year.

Currently a senior at Southern High School, Scheffel has won three state titles under the guidance of coach Dave Taylor. He captured his first title as a freshman at 103 pounds, his second a year later at 125 pounds, and his most recent last spring at 140 pounds. To date, he holds a 114-7 record and will wrestle at 152 pounds this season.

"Brutus is very important from a few different dimensions," Coach Turnbull said. "He's been successful at the highest levels within Maryland. He is pursuing his fourth state title, so he is a proven winner. He's a very intense wrestler.

"Geographically, Brutus fits very well," Turnbull continued. "Since he's from Garrett County, his family and friends can stay involved, follow his career, and become involved in our program. He comes in at 149/157 pounds, and those were very targeted areas in our early recruiting, so we feel very good about the addition of Brutus."

Also a three-time conference and regional champion, Scheffel was the captain of last year's Ram squad, which won the team state championship. A multiple Cliff Keen Tulsa Nationals place-winner, Scheffel was named Southern's Male Athlete of the Year in both 2008 and 2009, and also was the team MVP the past two seasons. In addition to wrestling, he plays varsity football and tennis.

Scheffel, who is the son of George and Anita Scheffel, Oakland, was being heavily recruited by many universities, including the U.S. Naval Academy, the University of Maryland, and Clarion University. The WVU wrestling program is typically ranked among the nation's best.

Conroy Awarded Freshman Honor At Shippensburg

Kerry Conroy, a 2009 graduate of Northern High School and member of the Shippensburg (Pa.) University women's basketball team, was named the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Eastern Division Freshman of the Week on Monday afternoon by conference officials after a strong performance against Philadelphia University. It is the first time that an SU player has received the award since Erin Varley did so on Nov. 18, 2008.

With the game tied at 70-70 in the final minute of overtime last Tuesday, Conroy hit a jumper off the glass that gave the Lady Raiders the lead for good. Shippensburg won its second straight game at home with a 76-70 victory over the reigning CACC champions.

"Conroy continues to display a dynamic presence on the floor, and was integral in a variety of roles last Tuesday for Shippensburg," stated a team spokesperson.

From her guard position, Conroy finished the game against the Rams with 13 points, made both of her three-point attempts, dished out five assists, and recorded three offensive rebounds (five total rebounds). She had just two turnovers in 40 minutes of action.

Through five games, Conroy is averaging 6.4 points and 6.0 rebounds per game while shooting 42 percent from the field. She also has 13 assists, four three-pointers, and two steals to her credit thus far.

Conroy is a daughter of Pat and Kim Conroy, Deep Creek Lake.

The Raiders will return to action this evening in the ESU Rotary Classic against the home-standing Warriors, and then face Salem International on Friday.

NHS Girls' Basketball Team Has Fresh Start With New Season, New Coach

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team is entering the 2009-2010 season optimistic, but according to new head coach Steve Fratz, every game will be a fight to the end. Coming off 20-4 record from last season and losing five players to graduation, Fratz will have big shoes to fill replacing six-year head coach Dave Yoder.

The team will find it difficult to replace a 1,000 point career scorer Megan Wiley; a D2 college player Kerry Conroy; a 6-foot-tall Justine Harvey, and two tenacious players Hannah Sines and Kara Savage.

According to Fratz, every year is a rebuilding year as a small school, but the hope is that hard work in the summer will pay big dividends, and someone will surprise everyone when the new season rolls around.

"We are returning only four varsity players, but rebuilding this year has a jump start with junior point guard Kaitlynn Fratz leading our team," said Coach Fratz.

As the area's leading scorer and first team All Area Player the last two years, Fratz will anchor a guard heavy squad. She averaged 19.2 points and over six assists a game, but the most overlooked aspect of her game is her defensive presence, according to Coach Fratz, as she averages over four steals a game.

The only other starter from last year's squad is senior shooting guard Adria Graham. She averaged 8.1 points and over five rebounds per game last year.

"Adria is a gifted athlete," said Fratz. "She has a nose for the ball and is a good perimeter shooter. I expect big things out of Adria this year."

Junior Morgan Brosnihan will be the other guard. Coach Fratz noted that she leaves everything on the floor and has good skill in any position she plays. "Morgan can handle the ball with confidence and is very scrappy as she will see time at all positions on the floor."

The last returning letter winner from a year ago is senior Alyssa Rounds. At 5'8", the tallest player on the team, Rounds will play the post position. She missed a lot of playing time last year with an ankle injury, but after hard work and a good summer she will do a great job "clogging" the paint, noted Fratz.

Welcome back after missing all of last year with a knee injury, junior Terra McKenzie will return to play in the power forward position. Fratz said that Terra has worked extremely hard rehabilitating her ACL injury and seems to be at full strength, as she will play a hug role in helping make this team successful.

New to the varsity squad will be senior forward Brittany Mallow and junior forward Amber Miller. Fratz anticipates that if both of these girls continue to work hard they will see significant playing time under the bucket.

Guards that are first year varsity players are sophomores Taryn Brenneman, Kiersten Butler, and freshman Allison Yommer.

"These three players must be prepared and ready to go every game because they never know when their number will be called," said Coach Fratz. "All of these players have worked this off-season very hard and have committed themselves to become better basketball players, earning their spot on this squad."

With not much size on the team, Coach Fratz plans to be very aggressive offensively and to have a fundamental defensive team.

"We really don't want to change much since it has worked so well the last two years, but we really do have to play smarter defensive basketball with more intensity since we will be outsized with the other schools in our area," said Fratz.

"I believe our scoring will come, but what will make us very competitive will be our defense, or at least that is what I am selling. We will have to be thoroughly prepared and be in top physical condition as we start off where we left off last year with the best, Allegany."

Coach Fratz believes that there is not one team this year that the Huskies can take for granted. "Southern, Ft. Hill, Mtn. Ridge and Frankfort will be tremendous challenges for us," said Coach Fratz, "and then we added road games to Winters Mill, a 2A school from Westminster, and Musselman, a 3A school from Inwood, W.Va., let alone a very intense Christmas tournament at North Star in Boswell, Pa."

"I have always said to be the best you have to play the best, win or lose," said Fratz. "In the past this has been an exciting bunch of girls to watch play the game, and I don't expect any thing less this year. I just want to make sure these girls have fun, stay healthy and make memories that will last their lifetime."

Fratz is no stranger to the team as he has been the assistant coach for the last four years and was the head coach for Northern's middle school team from 1999 to 2005. Fratz resides in Accident with his wife Tracy and daughters Kaitlynn and Kasie.

Assisting Fratz this year will be Donna Hoffman, Pete Brosnihan, and Jason Rice.

Hoffman is entering into her 7th season as the junior varsity head coach. She resides in Accident with her husband Ron and daughter Kristen.

Brosnihan resides in McHenry with his wife Brenda and has three children, Morgan, Zak and Pete Jr. Pete also helped coach at Northern High School the last two years and for the boys' and girls' middle school teams from 1999 to 2005.

Rice, a 2004 graduate of Northern, returns home from North Carolina to assist with the girls. He had a successful basketball career at Northern, where he is among the leaders in many categories, and continued his education earning a B.S. degree in exercise and sports science from Frostburg State University.

UPDATE

To everyone who donated and supported us in Prayer/Fundraising for Brandon's medical expenses. On our latest visit to Morgantown on Nov. 13, 2009, his doctors said he looks better than ever. Though still very small, his health is GOOD. He receives nightly growth hormone injections and is still treated for severe reflux. Brandon weighs 25 pounds and is 34 inches tall. Anyone who would like to celebrate Brandon's good health with us on his birthday, December 5, is welcome to come by our home anytime after 5:00 p.m. On this date, or send best wishes to:
261 Gorman Street, Oakland, Md. 21550

THANK YOU ALL ONCE AGAIN!

Lakers Contain Red Devils In Final Two Minutes, Win 69-63

Thanks to a more consistent second-half effort, the Garrett College men's basketball team escaped from Baltimore last night with a 69-63 Maryland JUCO victory over host Baltimore City Community College.

The Lakers, who improved their overall record to 6-3 and their conference mark to 2-1, trailed the Red Devils at intermission by three points, 36-33, but rallied in the second half to out-score their hosts by a 36-27 margin.

Turnovers plagued the Lakers, as they committed 13 in the first half and 10 more in the second.

The score was knotted at 62-62 with two minutes to play, but the Lakers took the lead for good via a steal by Doma Ibrahim and subsequent dunk by Dominique Goodwin.

Mario Lloyd, a 6-6 freshman, grabbed a pair of key defensive rebounds in the final two minutes, while Shawn Greenfield iced the win at the foul line.

The Red Devils managed just two points in the final two minutes of action.

Greenfield paced Garrett's scoring, as he finished with 18 points and four assists. Kory Gibson, a 6-5 freshman, came off the bench to net 12 points for Garrett, while Joe Dubuche was right behind with 11. Just missing double figures was Goodwin, who contributed nine points and led the team in rebounds with eight.

"We had too many turnovers," said Laker head coach Dennis Gibson. "We had several five- and six-point leads, only to let them slip away because of turnovers. They really pounded us inside.

"Fortunately, we settled down in the second half and made some plays to win the game," he said. "We are beginning to show better composure. Doma and Mario came up with some really big plays in the last two minutes to preserve the win.

"Baltimore is one of the toughest places to play on our schedule," Gibson continued. "We are fortunate to have won the past two out of three years there, but we lost at home to them last year."

Zafir Williams led Baltimore's scoring effort with 17 points, and John Williams finished with 15.

The Lakers will be back in action this Saturday at home against Harford CC. That game will tip off at 7 p.m. They will play at Westmoreland Community College next Thursday.

Take a Hike! – But Dress Right

Editor's note: The following article is the sixth in a series submitted by Garrett Trails, a non-profit organization responsible for developing trails in the region.

It's been asked before, "My friend and I are thinking about going down to Friendsville to take a hike along the Youghiogheny River heading upstream a couple of miles to that once booming logging town of Kendall Camp. But how on earth should we dress?"

Dressing for outdoor activity is simple. If you're comfortable, you did it right. If not, you might do it differently next time. To save some trouble, think about dressing for outdoor activity employing the layering system.

Dressing using the layering system is just as it reads – putting on clothing in layers. The idea is to manage the body's production of heat through exercise and its production of sweat in such a way as to regulate body temperature and make the person comfortable. There are three general types of layers – the wicking layer, the insulating layer, and the shell layer.

The wicking layer is next to the skin. It provides a way for the body's sweat to be wicked away from the skin. You don't want a wet layer of sweat next to your skin because a liquid is a good conductor of heat. If you are trying to maintain your body heat, you don't want to lose it through a wet sweat layer. Popular materials for the wicking layer are synthetic garments like polypropylene underwear. The thickness or weight of the wicking garment would depend on the season of the year – thinner in warmer seasons, thicker in colder seasons.

Next is the insulating layer. This layer traps air pockets around the body and prevents heat loss by convection (air currents that can transport heat and thus lower body temperature). In addition, the insulating layer is capable of continuing to move the body's sweat outward toward the next layer and away from the wicking layer. Again, season of the year would determine the thickness or weight of the insulating layer.

The third layer, the shell or outer layer, is the layering system's shield against the elements. It prevents wind, snow, sleet, hail, and driving rain from draining your body heat. The best shell layers provide a way for the body's sweat to be evaporated into the environment. This is done by building the garment using materials like breathable Gore-tex™, or other similar material, and by using well placed zippers that allow ventilation at the armpits or under a protective flap on the back of the garment.

So, these three layers are manipulated in such a way as to manage the body's temperature. Early in the morning, when air temperatures are lower, the three layers are intact. As the day progresses, the shell layer may come off. Later, near noon, say, the insulating layer may be removed. The layering principle can be applied to garments for all parts of the body, including the head, upper body, lower body, hands and feet.

For more information or to get involved, see the Garrett Trails web site at www.GarrettTrails.org, or contact Paige Teegarden of Think Outside and Garrett Trails coordinator at GarrettTrails@gmail.com.

Northern Boys' Basketball Relying On Experience To Fuel The Season

Experience in anything is key, but for the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team, it's the one ingredient that will hopefully fuel a strong season and a shot at the state championship. Head coach Ron Opel comes back for his second year with high hopes for the Huskies.

"Experience is one of our strengths, among many," said Coach Opel. "We are a quick, athletic team which should lead to good defense and many fast breaks."

Northern lost two key players to graduation, Ed Herpel and Thomas Holtschneider, and is also coming off a 7-16 record from last season.

An advantage, however, is that most of the team is made up of returning players who started games last season, as well as many juniors who have moved up from last season's JV team. Top returning players are Steven Holtschneider, Matt Gibson, Dylan Miller, Garrett Rayner, and Trevor Tombley.

The Huskies will open their season with a home game against Allegany, one of four predicted difficult opponents, on Tuesday. Mtn. Ridge, Fort Hill, and Keyser are foreseen by Coach Opel as other challenging teams for the season.

Opel also expressed another concern for the season: the team's ability to wait for the opportune moments.

Northern Boys' Basketball Schedule

Date	Opp.	Loc.
12/8	Allegany	H
12/11	Southern	H
12/15	Bishop Walsh	H
12/18	Salisbury	H
12/21	Moorefield	H
12/28-29	Berlin Tourn.	TBA
1/5	Keyser	H
1/9	Frankfort	H
1/15	Bishop Walsh	A
1/19	Allegany	A
1/22	Southern	A
1/26	Moorefield	A
1/30	Hampshire	A
2/2	Fort Hill	A
2/5	Mtn. Ridge	A
2/9	Keyser	A
2/12	Hampshire	H
2/15	Frankfort	A
2/17	Salisbury	A
2/19	Mtn. Ridge	H
2/24	Fort Hill	H

"One weakness we have is decision-making," said Coach Opel. "At times, we take quick shots or shots that aren't the best option, and we sometimes force passes that lead to turnovers.

Another weakness is the team's execution, according to Coach Opel. He said that defensively, the team doesn't implement plays effectively, which leads to players out of position.

"I would like to see this team become much more fundamentally sound," said Coach Opel, "and be patient enough to execute our offense to get the best possible shot rather than a quick shot."

Despite the weaknesses, Coach Opel believes that the team's familiarity with plays and with each other will result in better communication and a better season record.

"As always, our goal is to win the region and go to College Park for a chance to play for a state title," said Coach Opel. "I am looking forward to a productive year."

Ram Grapplers To Begin Quest For Another State Championship

The quest to defend the school's first-ever state championship in wrestling will begin this Friday for the Southern High School wrestling team, and with three current state champions and one state runner-up back on Coach Dave Taylor's roster, the Rams will likely be favored to capture a second state team title this season.

The Rams will host a talented Harford Tech squad and Frankfort in a season-opening tri-match Friday, with competition slated to get under way at 5 p.m.

Three-time state champion George "Brutus" Scheffel is among the returnees, along with his brother Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel and Lex Ozias, also current state champs. Ryan Bennett, a state runner-up last spring, is also back, although he continues to heal from a serious leg injury sustained during football season, and likely will not see action at least until after the first of the year.

Brutus Scheffel, who will attempt to record an almost unprecedented fourth state high school championship this season, has already signed a national letter of intent to join the West Virginia University wrestling program next fall.

State qualifier Davey Stewart also returns to the Ram line-up, along with other starters Matt Slone, Nick Stewart, Dakota Pritt, and Sean Chapman.

The most talented team members who were lost to graduation are state champion Jordan Skipper; state qualifiers Josh Arnold, Kody Lewis, and Ryan Fitzwater; and Nicholas Brant, Davey Sweitzer, and J.B. Gnegy.

Other jayvee team members are Gavin Murphy, Logan Hinebaugh, Scott Cooper, Coty Rasel, Zack Morton, Jacob Hanlin, Derek Dewitt, Dale Marple, Anthony Cervi, Tyler Sanders, Kevin Miller, and Kameron Barnard.

Coach Taylor expects the Rams' toughest competition to come from Winters Mill, Williamsport, Northern, Mountain Ridge, and Harford Tech.

"All three of the tournaments on our schedule will also be very tough," he added.

Those tournaments will be the Max Horz tourney at Berkeley Springs, the Wheeling Park Duals, and Mountain State Joe's Mat Madness.

The assistant head coach is Jason Burgess. Others assisting are Tim Rush, Chuck Fitzwater, George Scheffel, Darryl Ozias, and Justin Gregory. Liz Shiflett is the team manager.

Following this Friday's opener, the Rams will travel to Frankfort to take on the Falcons and Northern.

Husky Matmen Anticipate Another Good Season; Will Open Dec. 9

After finishing a respectable seventh as a team in the Maryland 1A/2A State High School Wrestling Championships, the Northern High Huskies and their new head coach Bob Moranduzzo hope to build on that success for another outstanding season on the mats.

The Huskies will open their season with a tri-match next Wednesday, Dec. 9, at Frankfort, where Southern will also participate.

With seven starters back, the Huskies will likely be among a handful of favorites to finish near the top in the state again this season.

Among those starters who is back for his senior season is reigning state champion Adam Moranduzzo. Also back are regional qualifiers James Donahue and Dylan Day.

Outstanding grapplers who were lost to graduation are state place winners Dustin Stough, Josh Duckworth, and Andrew Reynolds.

Moranduzzo, who worked for a number of seasons as an assistant to longtime and highly successful head coach Scott Stough, said that he is pleased with the progress of his team so far.

"They are a hard-working group of kids who are going to get better as the season goes on, which is our primary goal," Coach Moranduzzo said, "and we also hope to make it to the regional dual meet tournament."

Moranduzzo said that his primary concern is the youth and inexperience of many of his recruits. There are only four seniors on the team.

Northern Wrestling Schedule

Date	Opp.	Loc.
12/9	Frankfort Southern	A
12/11-12	Max Horz Tournament	A
12/16	Mtn. Ridge	H
12/22	Allegany	H
12/30	Keyser/ Petersburg	A
1/6	Fairmont/ University	H
1/8-1/9	Jefferson Toumament	A
1/13	Southern	A
1/16	Jefferson/ Hampshire	H
1/21	Williamsport	H
1/26	Fort Hill	A
1/29-30	Bedford Tournament	A
2/4	Southern	H
2/6	Winters Mill	A
2/19-20	Bi-County Tournament	A
2/26-27	Regional Tournament	A
3/5-6	State Toumament	A

The 2009-10 schedule for the Huskies, who finished with a 9-5 regular-season record last year, includes three highly competitive tournaments: the Max Horz at Berkeley Springs, the Jefferson Tournament, and the Bedford Tournament.

Moranduzzo said that of the individual teams on the Huskies' slate, he anticipates the most challenging will be cross-county rival and reigning state champion Southern, plus Winters Mill, and Williamsport.

Assisting Moranduzzo this season is Jordan Brenneman.

The roster for the Northern High team is as follows:

Seniors – Dylan Day, Kayley Green, Adam Moranduzzo, and Barrick Uphold.

Juniors – Tyler Bittinger, Ryan Doerr, Dom Dolan, Adam Finzel, Carlos Howard, Kameron Kamp, Justin Myers, Nick Owens, Cory Spiker, Tyler Sweitzer, Matt Thomas, and Chad Wilburn.

Sophomores – Miranda Beasom, Tabitha Beasom, Justin Durst, Sean Kamp, Jake Martell, Zack Merrill, Chris Murdock, and Tyler Owens.

Freshmen – Robert Meyers, Brandon Platter, and Derek Rodeheaver.

Deer Hunters Successful In Opening Week

Maryland deer hunters reported 19,054 deer for the opening weekend of the 2009 firearm season, a 20% increase over last year's opening weekend harvest of 15,880 deer. The total included 8,072 antlered deer and 10,982 antlerless deer. Sika deer made up218 of the antlered and 221 of the antlerless deer totals.

"Windy conditions on Saturday may have slowed the harvest slightly, but hunters took advantage of better conditions on Sunday and posted a strong overall harvest for the weekend," said DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service Deer Project leader Brian Eyler.

Hunters in Region A (Garrett and Allegany counties) reported 1,336 deer for the weekend, nearly identical to the 1,328 deer reported last year. Garrett County's total was 727, while Allegany reported 609.

Frederick County led the state with a kill of 2,005, while Washington County's harvest of 1,815 was second highest in the state.

Deer hunters harvested 4,877 deer (1,887 antlered, 2,990 antlerless) on Sunday. Deer hunting is permitted on selected Sundays in 19 counties on private land only.

In Frederick County, where Sunday hunting was permitted for the first time this year, hunters reported 521 deer on Sunday and 2,005 deer total for the weekend, up 26% over last year's Saturday-only harvest of 1,598 deer.

"Sunday hunting continues to afford hunters more opportunities to share time with friends and family while providing them a sustainable local source of food," said Eyler. "Plus, the additional harvest helps the DNR manage the state's deer population for the benefit of all citizens."

The two-week deer firearm season runs through Saturday, Dec. 12.

YOUNG HUNTER SUCCESSFUL IN OHIO – Michael Welch Jr., a 12-year-old seventh grader at Southern Middle School, bagged an 8-point during the recent Youth Deer Gun Season in Ohio. He was accompanied on the hunt by David Lewis, Oakland. Michael is the son of Michael Welch Sr., Deer Park, and Janice Tasker, Oakland.

GETS A SIX-POINT – Connor Bosley, 12, was successful in his hunting efforts Saturday morning, bringing down this six-point buck on private property near Red House. Connor is in the seventh grade at Southern Middle School, and is the son of Michelle and Bruce Bosley, Deer Park.

A NICE 6-POINT was harvested by 9-year-old Brandon Cline while hunting on Junior Hunt Day with his dad Brian Cline. He shot the animal, his first buck ever, with a .270 rifle on family property near Gorman.

A SUCCESSFUL HUNTER on the recent Junior Hunt Day was 10-year-old Brandon Welch of the Potomac Forest area, who bagged this 3-point, his first-ever. The son of Ed and Sue Welch, Brandon is a fifth-grade student at Kitzmiller Elementary School.

YOUNG HUNTER BAGS BUCK – Alex Allman, 13, Grantsville, shot a 9-point buck with a spread of over 15 inches on the recent Youth Hunt Day. Allman got the deer while hunting with his grandfather Harold McKenzie on family land off Beall School Road in Frostburg. The two are pictured above.

Procedures For Claiming Jobless Benefits Noted

The Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation this week began mailing notices to unemployed Marylanders who are eligible for additional federal unemployment insurance benefits under the Emergency Unemployment Compensation (EUC) bill recently passed by Congress.

"With more than 8,000 Marylanders exhausting their state benefits each month, these new federal benefits are a critical lifeline for people who have lost their jobs through no fault of their own and are struggling to provide for their families," DLLR Secretary Alexander M. Sanchez said. "We urge all recipients to read the instructions on the letters carefully."

Individuals who have exhausted 33 weeks of current EUC benefits will receive a letter providing notification of the additional weeks and providing instructions for filing a claim. Individuals who are currently receiving EUC benefits will be notified by mail that they may be eligible for up to 47 weeks of benefits, that they should keep filing continuing claims and that they do not need to contact a claims center.

The first week for which the additional benefits are available is the week ending Nov. 14.

These additional benefits are paid for entirely by federal funds and have no impact on the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. The trust fund pays up to 26 weeks of benefits to people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own. Federal benefits begin after state benefits have been exhausted.

Individuals should not contact claims centers before they receive a letter.

Any individuals who quit jobs to file for these benefits will have their claims denied.

Sanchez said that it is important to note that Congress did not extend the EUC program, even though it provided additional weeks of benefits. Based on current law, EUC payments will begin to phase out after the week ending December 26. It is uncertain what effect this will have on the continued payment of benefits and it is not known whether Congress will extend the program.

the United States.

The Department of the Environment has designated this area as a non- tidal wetland of special state concern. In addition, the wild calla, a state endangered plant, and interesting butterfly communities are found within these wetlands.

This acquisition is surrounded by the Savage River State Forest on three sides and lies within the Target Ecological Area receiving one of the highest rated lands indentified so far.

BPW also approved the donation of nine acres containing wooded land with rock outcrops as an addition to Potomac State Forest.

"The Nature Conservancy is delighted, through this donation, to contribute to the state of Maryland's efforts to protect our outdoor heritage here in western Maryland," said Donnelle Keech, Allegany Forest project director for the Nature Conservancy of Maryland. "Giving people the firsthand opportunity to enjoy our Maryland forests now is one of the best ways to make sure our children have the same chance in the future."

The acreage is located adjacent to Potomac State Forest and borders it on two sides.

"The property fits within Potomac State Forest's sustainable management area and will be a great addition to the state forest," said a DNR spokesperson. "The Potomac Forest management supports this donation and states that it will help consolidate management of the forest block and provide increased public access."

The BPW also approved the acquisition of 30 acres of forestland and trails as an addition to Green Ridge State Forest in Allegany County.

"[These] acquisitions are important as we move toward a sustainable future," said Gov. Martin O'Malley, BPW chair. "By approving the nearly 300 acres in western Maryland and with the help of the Nature Conservancy, we are preserving vital forests and trees, which will continue to help clean our water, air, and natural resources."

In addition to O'Malley, the BPW is composed of Treasurer Nancy Kopp and Comptroller Peter Franchot.

HOLIDAY PET PHOTOS TO BE AVAILABLE – HART for Animals Inc. will hold a pet photo fundraiser next Friday, Dec. 11, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Studio 24E in Oakland. Four-legged family members can pose with Santa Claus for a picture, which will be printed on-site and also can be e-mailed to their homes. The event is part of the town's Christmas on Alder Street celebration. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Max and Sarah. Seated on the sofa is one of Santa's elves (Isabella Pallet) holding Spencer and Santa (Gregg Elliott).

To Anticipate

for Maryland.

"We believe that's our #1 investment to make here because we think the future of our economy is going to be directed by an educated workforce," Busch said.

To make up for the deficit, Miller said the state would issue more furloughs and position cuts for government employees. This year, Maryland has furloughed employees and eliminated more than 500 state jobs.

"We're going to have to go to the superintendents of schools and say 'Listen, you're going to have to find us some administrators, some bureaucrats, some public relations people that we can cut because we're not going to furlough teachers, we're not going to cut teachers as they're doing in California, New York and some other states,'" Miller said. "But we're going to have to make those tough decisions because we've cut everything else."

Sen. Allan Kittleman, R-Howard, said education spending will have to be re-evaluated this legislative session.

"Both Democrats and Republicans have expressed concern that we can't continue to cut everywhere except education," Kittleman said. "We can't continue to fix our problems by avoiding the biggest single item in our budget ... that's something that's going to be put on the table."

Such reductions, Kittleman said, would address what he called Maryland's spending problem, which, he said, overshadows the state's revenue problem.

Miller said government should focus first on providing the "core basic government services" and shed staff positions such as press officials.

Some in the audience Tuesday night said Busch and Miller did not address their immediate concerns for the state – such as health care, private sector joblessness, and inflated property taxes based on home values that often have dropped significantly in recent years.

"They didn't talk about the issues that people care about. That's the bottom line," said Bel Air resident Dave Schwartz, the state's director for Americans for Prosperity.

Tuesday's preview offered little room for follow-up questions to those that were asked of Busch and Miller by a moderator.

Busch sounded optimistic that Maryland's current fiscal troubles are a factor of the national recession, and not a fundamental flaw in the state's government.

"We believe our infrastructure and our revenue structure is one that will fund our priorities very well when the economy starts to return," Busch said. "But until that time, everybody's going to have to tighten their belts a little bit."

able to take the necessary steps to add to our recreational areas for Marylanders to enjoy and renovate them to keep our children and families safe," O'Malley said.

Since 1969, Program Open Space has provided funding for acquisition of 346,425 acres of open space and recreation areas, according to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, which oversees the initiative.

The three-member Board of Public Works is composed of O'Malley (chair), Treasurer Nancy Kopp, and Comptroller Peter Franchot. The BPW is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions, and other procurement actions.

become educated, confident homeowners, and ensuring that their efforts to purchase and own these homes are successful and sustainable."

Liberty Mews received a $250,000 loan through DHCD's Rental Housing Program, $842,493 in federal low-income housing tax credits that are valued at $6,050,254, and $2,086,990 in proceeds through the ARRA Section 1602 Exchange Program.

Additional financing includes a first mortgage of $1,200,000 from First United Bank and Trust and a contribution from Oakland valued at $106,000. Liberty Mews will create an estimated 54 construction jobs, and the 36 rental units will be targeted to area families with incomes between $25,800 and $43,170.

DHCD's Rental Housing Program provides loans for the development of affordable multifamily housing in priority funding areas. The ARRA Section 1602 Tax Credit Exchange Program funds capital improvements in affordable multifamily rental housing projects that have previously been awarded federal low income housing tax credits.

"The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development works with partners to finance housing opportunities and revitalize great places for Maryland citizens to live, work, and prosper," noted the spokesperson.

To learn more about DHCD's affordable rental housing programs, persons may visit mdhousing.org.

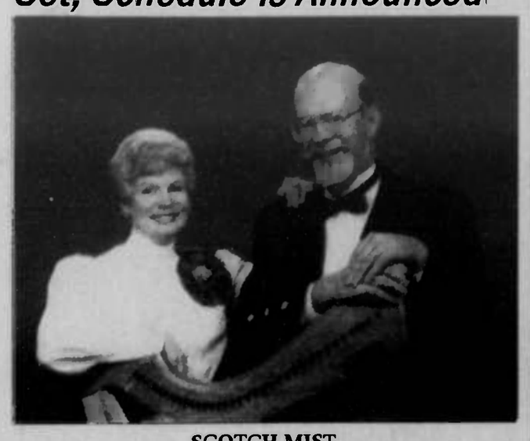
11th Joy Of Christ Celebration Set; Schedule Is Announced



SCOTCH MIST

Plans are being finalized for the 11th annual Joy of Christ Celebration, which will be held in the Oakland Community Center (formerly the Oakland Armory) next week, December 7-11, starting at 6:30 p.m. each evening.

According to event organizer Paul Browning, the community-centered event is completely funded by business sponsors, area churches, and private donations, with no donations requested or accepted during the event.

"For five evenings, anyone can come out to enjoy free Christmas concerts, a free meal/refreshments, free CDs that are given away by many of the performers, children's activities, and educational activities," Browning said. "The Joy of Christ Celebration seeks to provide the community with a non-denominational break from the commercialism of Christmas by focusing on the birth of Christ through free concerts, activities, and community interaction.

"New visitors are amazed that we can provide everything for free," he added.

There will be at least three concerts each evening. (See schedule.)

Among the groups will be the Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums, which has been performing in concert and parade for over 25 years throughout the region. Those in attendance will learn why it is believed that the shepherds at the time of Jesus' birth may have played bagpipes.

Gerald McGee, the band's director, holds music degrees from Westminster College and Union Theological Seminary, and has continued to pursue post-graduate studies. His master's degree and primary interest are in organ and choral music. He studied conducting at Julliard School of Music, and has been on the podium for a wide range of performances at churches and cathedrals throughout the U.S. and Europe.

Landon's Library and the youth of St. Paul's United Methodist Church will present a program titled "Take Your Life and Make It Matter."

Cast members include: Marshall Baker, Elijah Britner, Dave Collins, Melanie Collins, Megan and Paige Fitzwater, Rebecca Flinn, Emilia Germain, Zacharia Gilbert, Casi and Sarah Hughes, Alanna Kinney, Andrew Nelson, Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson, Ingrid Nelson, Addison, Jordan, and Zach Rohrbaugh, Lillia and Brooke Rose, Stevi and Sunni Royce, Zach Shay, Stephanie and Zach Shreve, Lindsay Slaubaugh, Cory Sturm, Jessica and Madison Thayer, Kaysi Todd, Jian Travis, and Jonathan Yapps.

"This spirit-led ministry will touch the souls of all that yearn for that magic day the Lord calls us home, as well as to help challenge us to live our days here on this earth the way He wants us to.," stated a spokesperson for the group.

Greg Latta, a multi-instrumentalist and singer/songwriter who plays the hammered dulcimer, guitar, banjo, harmonica, recorder, and Appalachian dulcimer, will also perform. He is an award-winning 5-string banjo player, a three-time Mid-Eastern U.S. hammered dulcimer champion, and two-time runner-up in the national hammered dulcimer championships held at Winfield, Kan.

Latta performs an eclectic mix of Irish, folk, Broadway, bluegrass, and original music. His diverse performances venues have included the Hungarian Presidential Cabinet, U.S. Olympic Trials, Rocky Gap Country Bluegrass Festival, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, numerous schools, and a performance with the prestigious modern dance company Dance Alloy of Pittsburgh.

His concert will likely include the hammered dulcimer, guitar, English concertina, bouzouki, limberjack, and recorder. For this year's program, he is adding the Ulian pipes.

Pianist Jenny Wilson's jazz trio will perform a wide variety of jazz repertoire, in the classic-piano trio setting. The trio is enhanced by Wilson's vocals and flute. Influenced by artists such as Shirley Horn, Diana Krall, and Bill Evans, the trio combines older standards, contemporary jazz, pop tunes, and originals into a set of creative and spontaneous arrangements.

Based in Morgantown, the Jenny Wilson Trio performs regularly at clubs, restaurants, and festivals in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Maryland.

Wilson, a native of Queens, N.Y., began her musical training with her father, who was a jazz gui-

Bloodmobile To Make Four Visits During December

The December schedule of the American Red Cross bloodmobile has been announced and includes four visits to Garrett County locations.

The first is set for this Friday, Dec. 4, at the Oakland fire hall, where donors are asked to respond between noon and 6 p.m.

The second visit, to be hosted by Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, is slated for next Tuesday, Dec. 8. Hours for that visit are 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The bloodmobile will be back at Northern High School the following day, Wednesday, Dec. 9, from 9 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

The final regularly scheduled visit to Garrett County for December will be on Saturday, Dec. 19, at the Oakland fire hall. Donors are asked to report between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Persons must be at least 17 years of age (16 with parental consent), weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health to be eligible to donate blood. Persons may telephone 1-800-542-5663, ext. 2861, to schedule an appointment; however, walk-ins are welcome.

Persons desiring more information about the ARC blood services program may telephone Rachel Dillon, blood services director for the Western Potomac Chapter, at 301-722-1760, ext. 101.

MENTOR AND STUDY BUDDY PRESENT PROJECT – Bill Grant, a volunteer with the Garrett Mentors Inc. organization, helped his study buddy Jacob Green last week with a special presentation. Grant and Jacob have together been following the recent NASA space shuttle STS 129 launch. They are pictured as they discuss the expedition with Jacob's class, explaining how the shuttle took butterflies into outer space. Garrett Mentors Inc. provides one-on-one mentoring for selected children in kindergarten through fifth grade. The volunteers usually meet with their study buddies over lunchtime at Garrett County public elementary schools. Persons interested in volunteering are encouraged to contact Tricia Cheesman at 301-387-5437 for more information.

Spaghetti Benefit Dinner Slated In Deer Park

A benefit dinner will be held for Trenton Rhodes and his family on Sunday, Dec. 6, beginning at noon at the Deer Park community building.

Rhodes is an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School who has been suffering from a brain infection for over two months. He was recently hospitalized in Morgantown, W.Va., where he underwent two surgeries. He is currently at home under the care of his mother, who has to administer IV antibiotics to him.

The menu for the dinner will be spaghetti, a dinner roll, salad, a drink, and dessert. Take-outs are available. The cost of meals is $6 for adults and $3 for children age 12 and under. Children ages 3 and under may eat for free.

A 50/50 raffle will be held, along with a raffle for several gift baskets.

Williams Obtains Training In New Therapy Methods

Dr. Ronel R. Williams of Williams Chiropractic Clinic, Mtn. Lake Park, recently completed training in the new therapeutic technique of dry needling. The technique is used to restore proper function to abnormally behaving muscles, and has proven to be more effective, faster acting, and longer lasting than traditional treatments, according to Dr. Williams.

Williams will utilize this new technique along with some other advancements, such as cold laser therapy and spinal decompression therapy.

Cold laser therapy is the pain-free, non-invasive application of laser light over injuries, lesions, pain areas, and inflamed areas to stimulate healing within the tissues. Spinal decompression therapy is a non-surgical, traction-based therapy that helps relieve neck, back, arm, and leg pain caused by herniated or bulging discs in the spinal column.

Persons may contact Williams for more detailed information on these techniques.

Business After Hours Event Set

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will be holding the last Business After Hours networking event at the McHenry Visitors Center on Thursday, Dec. 10, from 6 to 8 p.m.

"Our most recent Business After Hours gatherings have been very successful with lots of new faces and great interactions with our chamber members," said Joyce Bishoff, interim president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "Bring your friends, employees, and neighbors to network, socialize, and support this terrific event."

Exhibitors for this event include Friend Consulting; Think Outside; Friends of Deep Creek Lake; AXA Advisors; 1st Team; and MTS. Refreshment donations be being provided by Will O' the Wisp Resort, Mountain State Brewing Co., Savage River Lodge, Deep Creek Foodland Fresh Bakery & Deli, and McHenry Beverage Shoppe.

To register to attend, persons may RSVP to Charlotte at 301-387-4386, ext. 22, or e-mail charlottc@garrettchamber.com. Persons who are unable to attend after making reservations are asked to notify Charlotte.

In an effort to allow smaller chamber member businesses an opportunity for additional participation, the 2010 Business After Hours events will be held at a central location in different communities throughout Garrett County. Following the motto that "people do business with people they know," whether a small office, home-based, or traveling business, members will now be able to join in as hosts for a Business After Hours.

For more information about the chamber, persons may visit the web site at www.garrettchamber.com or call 301-387-4386.

RAFFLE WINNER ANNOUNCED – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club has announced the winner of its seventh annual stained glass lamp raffle. Joe Cogley, Oakland, approached the 7-Eleven ticket station staffed by club member Judy Neidenthal, joked that the lamp would make a great surprise gift for his wife, and then purchased six tickets. The drawing was held at the club's November meeting, where Louis DiCarlo drew ticket number 881 from the basket and announced Cogley as the winner. The lamp was created by DiCarlo, an award-winning designer and stained glass master craftsman. The club purchased the lamp, valued at $525, through a cost-share agreement with DiCarlo. Proceeds from the annual raffle are used to support the club's Student School Supplies program.

Kidz Factory To Perform Musical Friday, Sunday

Loch Lynn Church of God's Kidz Factory children, ages 6–11, will perform Miracle on Main Street: The Little Pageant That Wouldn't Give Up this Friday, Dec. 4, at 7 p.m. and again on Sunday, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m. The program is being co-directed by Jennifer Loughry and Krystal Shreve, who invite the public to attend

Miracle on Main Street blends script with new songs and traditional carols to chronicle the dilemma of a group of children who want to celebrate Christmas in public, but face opposition from "politically correct" local townsfolk. Despite the challenges, the children stand up for their beliefs and proclaim their faith.

The Cherub Choir, composed of children 5 years of age and younger, will sing each evening before the Miracle on Main Street performance.

Loch Lynn church of God is located along Rt. 560 next to WKHJ radio station. Anyone wanting more information may call 301-334-3221.

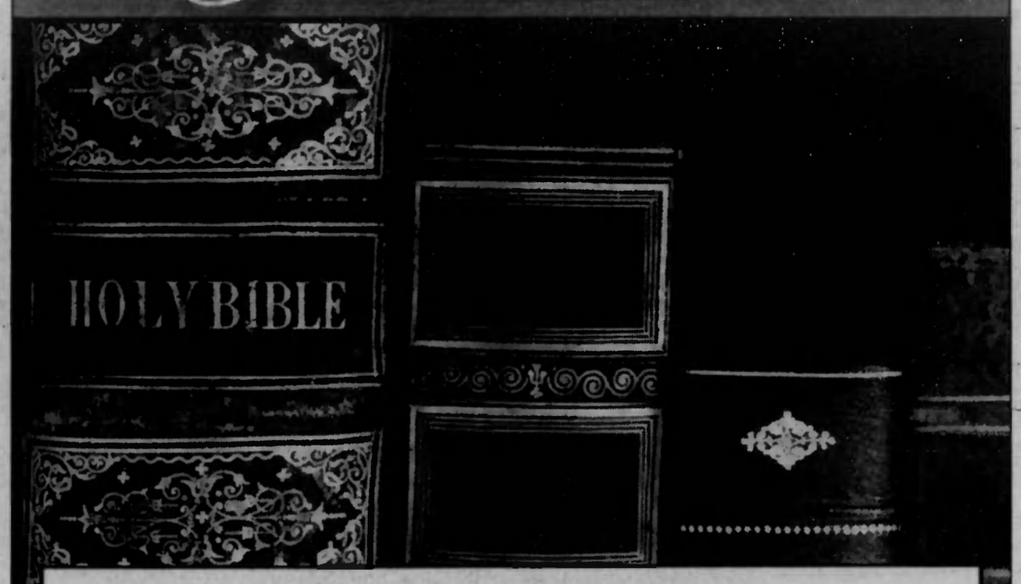
The Greatest Book



Options for buying a book sure have changed – you can head out to your corner bookstore or browse online without leaving your house. One fact remains unchanged: of the all time bestsellers, the Holy Bible remains number one. Why? Perhaps it is because the Bible contains such a variety of subjects: adventure, genealogy, romance, birth, death, poetry, family dynamics, miracles, and reassurance.

Most importantly, the Bible is our guide for living our lives successfully, peacefully, joyfully, and more abundantly. It is God's message to us. We read in 1 Peter 1:25 "'...the grass withers and the flower falls, but the Word of the Lord stands forever'."

The Bible remains the greatest book of all because so many devote time to studying God's Word. Visit your house of worship this week and learn how the Bible can change your life.

Variations of the Golden Rule

All of the world's major religions espouse some form of the golden rule. In fact, almost every society and code of ethics has some version of what is referred to as the ethics of reciprocity. Christianity states this rule positively, i.e., "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Confucius stated the rule negatively, i.e., "Do not do to others what you would not want done to yourself." The fact that the Golden Rule is essentially universal, speaks volumes about its importance to good human relations and the maintenance of harmony, among both individuals and nations. It also says something about the inherent selfishness of human beings, that we must be reminded so often of how we would feel, if treated in the way we are treating others. Individuals or nations which fail to honor this most fundamental of rules will inevitably become pariahs. The immoral version of the golden rule, which counsels one to harm others before they have the chance to harm you, is clearly a recipe for strife and dissension. So, we should keep the golden rule always before us and strive to keep its counsel.

Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.

Various Drugs Prescribed for Dementia

Dementia is a condition of decreased Intellectual capabilities, which include memory, judgment, and abstract thinking. Personality changes also occur in persons affected by dementia. Alzheimer's disease is the most common type of dementia. An estimated 4.5 million Americans have Alzheimer's. Symptoms of the condition may also include hallucinations, delusional thoughts, and illusions.

Treatments for Alzheimer's are aimed at controlling symptoms associated with certain behaviors and emotions, and also reducing the progression of the condition. Medications that decrease anxiety, such as lorazepam and buspirone, may be prescribed to help control behavioral and emotional symptoms. Antidepressants, such as sertraline and citalopram, may be prescribed for persons with depression that may worsen cognitive functioning. In persons with Alzheimer's, Cholinesterase Inhibitors work to decrease symptoms by affecting acetylcholine activity in the brain. By inhibiting the enzyme acetylcholinesterase, cholinesterase inhibitor medications, such as rivastigmine and donepezil, may prevent or decrease deterioration of cognitive function.

Good news on 'Bad': Season three is coming

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Bryan Cranston

Q: When is the third-season premiere of "Breaking Bad" scheduled? –Tim Freeman, Wheeling, W.Va.

A: "March" is as specific as AMC's information was at the time of this writing, but the good news is that the latest Emmy winner for outstanding drama series will continue ... and it still will star Bryan Cranston, the Emmy recipient for outstanding lead actor in a drama series the past two years.

Q: I enjoyed the movie "The Shawshank Redemption" with Tim Robbins, but I'm unable to find it on DVD. Do you know if it is available? –Paull James, Fruitland Park, Fla.

A: In fact, it's available in a couple of Warner Home Video versions. Also starring Morgan Freeman, the 1994 adaptation of Stephen King's novella was issued in the format in 1999, then a two-disc "Special Edition" came out in 2004.

Q: I love the show "Castle" with Nathan Fillion. What else has he done? Also, the person who plays his mother has been in a series before, but I can't place it. Can you help? –Jon Christofferson, Eagle River, Wis.

A: The Canadian-born (Edmonton, Alberta) Fillion had several other shows before his current ABC gig. His first continuing role was on the daytime serial "One Life to Live," then he went on to "Two Guys, a Girl and a Pizza Place," "Firefly" and "Drive." He also was a recurring cast member in the last year of "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" and a regular on "Desperate Housewives" during the 2007-08 season.

Fillion also has made marks in other media: movies ("Waitress," "Slither," "Trucker"), animated shows ("King of the Hill," "Justice League"), video games ("Jade Empire," "Halo 3") and even the Web ("Dr. Horrible's Sing-Along Blog").

As for the actress who plays Fillion's "Castle" mom, Susan Sullivan had several previous series, too. The best known are "It's a Living," "Falcon Crest," and "Dharma & Greg," but she also was on the shorter-lived "George Carlin Show" and "The Nine" - as well as the long-defunct soaps "The Best of Everything" and "A World Apart."

Q: The new show "V" has sparked a memory for me. There was a show in the 1980s that was very similar. Is this a remake of that show? -Jim Stone, Orange, Calif.

A: It is, though ABC might prefer the word "update." In fact, right before the new "V" began, Syfy repeated the two mid-1980s miniseries that inspired the original series. You'll have to wait a while before seeing more of the newer take, since ABC has taken it out of the lineup until March ... so that it doesn't have to go up against such events as the Winter Olympics.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was American actress and dancer Charlotte Greenwood who made the following sage observation: "Temperament is temper that is too old to spank."

• If you happen to own a Rolls Royce and want to swank it up a little bit, a mink jacket to fit the hood ornament is available for purchase.

• San Francisco's iconic cable cars are the only mobile national monument in the United States.

• You might be surprised to learn that, according to the Guinness Book of Records, the largest swimming pool in the world isn't found in one of the large industrialized nations as you might expect, but in the relatively small South American country of Chile. Built by a mega-resort on the ocean, the pool covers 20 acres, is more than 1,000 yards long and holds a whopping 66 million gallons of water. Construction took five years and cost more than $1.5 billion, and the estimated annual maintenance cost is more than $3 million.

• Those who study such things say that lightning travels at one-third the speed of light.

• American comedian and actor Jack Benny originally entered the family business of haberdashery. However, he was so bad at it that his own father fired him.

• According to legend, it was shepherds in Ethiopia who first noticed the effects of caffeine. It seems that the goats they herded would become exceedingly frisky after eating the berries of the coffee plant.

• In order to come up with the cash to start Apple Computers, Stephen Wozniak sold his programmable calculator and Steve Jobs sold his Volkswagen microbus.

• An experienced florist will never put daffodils in a bouquet; the flower is toxic to other blooms.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Dec. 10, 1901, the first Nobel Prizes are awarded in Stockholm, Sweden, on the fifth anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite and other high explosives. Although Nobel offered no reason for his creation of the prizes, it is believed he did so out of moral regret over the increasingly lethal uses of his inventions in war.

• On Dec. 12, 1917, in Omaha, Neb., Father Edward J. Flanagan, a 31-year-old Irish priest, opens the doors to a home for troubled and neglected children. Today "Boys and Girls Town" includes a grade school, a high school and a career vocational center on a farm 10 miles west of Omaha.

• On Dec. 7, 1925, future Tarzan actor Johnny Weissmuller sets the world record for the 150-yard freestyle swim. Already a gold medalist from the 1924 Olympics, Weissmuller competed again in 1928, taking five gold medals in all. In 1931, MGM cast Weissmuller to play the title role in "Tarzan the Ape Man."

• On Dec. 11, 1946, in the aftermath of World War II, the United Nations votes to establish the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF), an organization to help provide relief and support to children living in countries devastated by the war.

• On Dec. 13, 1950, an unknown actor named James Dean appears in a Pepsi commercial. Dean would later personify the angry, restless youth culture in the film "Rebel Without a Cause" (1955). He died in a car crash in 1955 at age 24.

• On Dec. 8, 1987, at a summit meeting in Washington, D.C., President Ronald Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev sign the first treaty between the two superpowers to reduce their massive nuclear arsenals. Previous agreements had merely been attempts by the two Cold War adversaries to limit the growth of their nuclear arsenals.

• On Dec. 9, 1992, British Prime Minister John Major announces the formal separation of Charles, Prince of Wales and heir to the British throne, and his wife, Princess Diana. The report came after several years of speculation by the tabloid press that the marriage was in peril.

tarist. She went on to study piano, dance, flute, and guitar. She has worked in theater and as a performing musician since the age of 12. Her formal training includes studies with jazz pianist Art Lande, a bachelor's degree in flute performance, studies at the Winterthur Konservatorium in Switzerland, and a master of music degree in jazz studies from West Virginia University. She has recorded three CDs and one LP on her label, Jentomusic.

Wilson has performed with musicians in Europe and New England, and has made her home in West Virginia since 1999.

Her husband Nathan performs regularly with Pittsburgh's avant garde theater group, Squonk Opera. He has performed and recorded with Squonk nationwide and abroad in Korea, Germany, and Belgium.

Drummer Mic Fries has a degree in applied percussion from West Virginia University and was a member of the Armed Forces band in Annapolis.

Also scheduled to perform is Just 4 Fun, a group that formed in 2004. This quartet has participated in annual shows and provided entertainment for various events in Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. They recently competed in the annual Buckeye Invitational for mixed quartets in Columbus, Ohio.

Kevin McKenzie (lead) and Roger Anderson (bass) are members of the Chorus of the Potomac in Cumberland. Lisa Tompkins (tenor) and Wendy Anderson (baritone) sing in a ladies quartet, Chordially Yours.

Just 4 Fun is also a member of the Mixed Harmony Barbershop Quartet Association (MHBQA).

Another duo slated to give a concert are Maria (Rose) and Danny (Elswick), who can be seen often on the "Midwest Country" nationwide TV show on RFD-TV. They've released a DVD and many CDs, including their latest, Originals, featuring songs written by Rose.

They say that their greatest honor has been traveling overseas on 11 USO tours to entertain U.S. military personnel.

Rose received the Presidential Point of Light Award, hosted her own TV show, and has appeared on numerous national TV and radio shows, including the Ernest Tubb Midnight Jamboree on WSM and the Wheeling Jamboree.

Elswick is the music and instrumental talent behind the duo's music background tracks, recording all instruments and back-up harmonies in their own studio, Mada Recording.

The pair hosts a radio show on WELD in Fisher, W.Va., every first and third Sunday at 5:30 p.m., and feature their own recordings, along with many regional and national music guests.

Maria and Danny recently performed at the "God and Country" theatre in Branson, Mo., with Norma Jean (former singer with Porter Wagoner). They were inducted into the Midwest Country Music Hall of Fame this year, and also received the Gospel CD of the Year Award.

The Mountain Anthems Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Menno Beachy, will also present a free concert as part of the Joy of Christ Celebration.

The members are from the Allegheny Mountains of western Maryland and western Pennsylvania, and are members of the Mountain View Mennonite Church, Salisbury, Pa. They have been singing for about 40 years on a volunteer basis.

This a capella group of about 45 singers has presented concerts in 23 states, Washington, D.C., and Canada. The members vary in age from about 15 to 50.

Scotch Mist, a musical duo consisting of Lynne Dale on Celtic harp and Roger Dale on recorders, will also perform.

The duo has performed Celtic, folk, and light classical music in Maryland, West Virginia, and Northern Virginia at weddings, Celtic gatherings, and a variety of musical events.

Lynne Dale, a graduate of Mansfield University, Mansfield, Pa., has taught music and served as organist and choir director in New England, the mid-Atlantic region, and Washington state. In addition to her public performances, she gives private lessons in Celtic harp, piano, guitar and Appalachian dulcimer. She is music director at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Cumberland.

Roger Dale has been involved with music since his high school days in Minneapolis. He began playing recorder while at the University of Minnesota, and plays the full family of instruments. He has taught and performed in California and throughout the mid-Atlantic area. Locally, he founded and directed the Consort Antigua, a quintet of Medieval and Renaissance instrumentalists.

Another Joy of Christ performer will be Sharon Honsaker, who has been singing publicly since she was a child. She performs mostly at regional churches and hymn-sings while living in Masontown, Pa., on a dairy farm with her husband Darwin and son Ryan.

"I love singing the songs that praise God and send a message of God's love that was sent to us through His Son Jesus, who is the reason for the season," said Honsaker. "I have enjoyed traveling to different churches and 'sings,' where I have met so many wonderful people and have been given the privilege to sing praises to Him."

Also slated to perform is Teal Steel, a youth steel-drum ensemble created in January of 2004. The group performs Caribbean and Latin style music, as well as pop tunes and classic rock.

Teal Steel has performed for audiences at concerts, festivals, and special events throughout West Virginia, Maryland, and Virginia, including at the Autumn Glory Festival. Recent appearances include a luncheon at the National Naval Hospital in Bethesda for recovering soldiers and at the West Virginia State Forest Festival in Elkins.

Directed by Fred Kesner, Teal Steel consists of 7th and 8th grade students from Frankfort Middle School in nearby Short Gap, W.Va. The students learn to play the steel pans in their second year of instrumental music studies at the school, and may audition for Teal Steel each spring. The group has produced 4 CDs.

The Durst Brothers, a group that performs with both a country and gospel sound, will also perform.

Rodney Durst, who has been performing for years as a solo act, has written and recorded three gospel albums and two country albums. He has charted three gospel singles, and in February 2008, his last single "God Don't Need America" made the top 10 on the national and international gospel charts.

He and his brother Dennis recently formed the Durst Brothers and have recorded a new album titled Sure Enough Good Time, to be released in January. Over the last two years, the Durst Brothers have performed in numerous churches and nursing homes in the tri-state area.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

FREEZING FINGERS

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Sometimes when I'm out jogging on a cold day, my fingers get incredibly cold, downright painful. How can running cause that?

A. What is happening is that your brain gets to call the shots, and it's giving low priority to your fingers. The fingers aren't getting enough oxygen from blood, hence the pain. Lack of O2 causes cells to die, which is termed tissue necrosis.

In the human body, the heart pumps blood around; blood goes once to the lungs to exchange CO2 and O2, then back through the heart to be pumped out to other organs in the body. With the blood under pressure, the various arteries deliver oxygen-enriched blood throughout the body.

The brain is in charge, and able to send nerve signals to adjust the size of arteries, the pressure and the flow rate of blood here and there. The brain takes all the oxygen it needs from the blood. Only then does it begin to consider what the other organs need.

While you're jogging, the brain will send a reasonable amount of blood down your legs to your feet, so your toes won't get especially cold. However, your arms don't fare as well. The arms are the lowest-priority item to the management center in the brain, and therefore the fingers receive very little blood, meaning less O2. Your fingers start sending messages to the brain saying, "Send more oxygen my way." You interpret this painful feeling as "I'm cold."

The foremost reason the brain skimps on providing blood to other organs is because the brain itself demands oxygen. The scalp contains lots of blood vessels (it's highly vascular) and can easily transfer heat to the outside, using up O2. The best way to keep from losing heat is via insulation, which means having lots of hair or wearing a hat. Heat loss through the scalp is the primary reason for feeling cold.

It has long been known that wearing layers of clothing make it easier for the rest of the body to stay warm. On two similar days, you can conduct an experiment upon yourself by jogging bare-legged one day and in sweatsuit pants the next, to observe how cold your fingers feel. By wearing a sweatsuit while jogging, your legs won't lose as much heat, and there will be more blood available to go to the arms, hands and fingers.

Even on very cold winter days, four layers will keep your main body warm. Some new synthetic fibers, like Gore-Tex®, breathe water vapor, weigh very little, and won't slow you down. But still you need to wear a hat! The key to comfort is keeping your brain oxygenated, to leave more blood to serve the rest of your body.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

"Celebrate Jesus" Event Scheduled At Local Church

Mount Bethel United Methodist Church in Kitzmiller will host "Celebrate Jesus" this Saturday, Dec. 5, beginning at 6 p.m. to kick off the holiday season.

Pastor Angela Cosner and her congregation invite the public to attend this special time of worship and reflection.

"During this time of year, many people experience a sense of rush," said a church spokesperson. "Mount Bethel invites to community to 'celebrate Jesus' with us as we take a break from distraction and busyness to focus on the depth of God's love and saving power."

This free event will feature several musical groups and soloists from the local area. In addition, the congregation will have the opportunity to sing Christmas carols.

The church is located at the corner of Kitzmiller Road and East Main Street.

A SPECIAL AWARD was recently given to Janice Hutchinson of Oakland for her 75 years of service to the Woodmen of the World, Lodge II, during the annual awards banquet held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. Presenting her with her award was Asa McCain, WOW president, who also served as the master of ceremonies. Hutchinson had become a member of WOW in 1934. Her policy was written by her father, Spencer Graham, former WOW state manager. Along with Hutchinson's award, other members were honored for attaining 50 years of membership, and Valerie Frazee, Friendsville, representative, gave a presentation on new insurance products.

Oakland Woman Sentenced To Three Years For Assault, Resisting Arrest

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Charlene Renee Brun, 40, Oakland, was found guilty for resisting and interfering with an arrest and for second-degree assault. She was sentenced by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert to three years with 18 months suspended for each charge to be served concurrently, three years of supervised probation, and fines that were suspended.

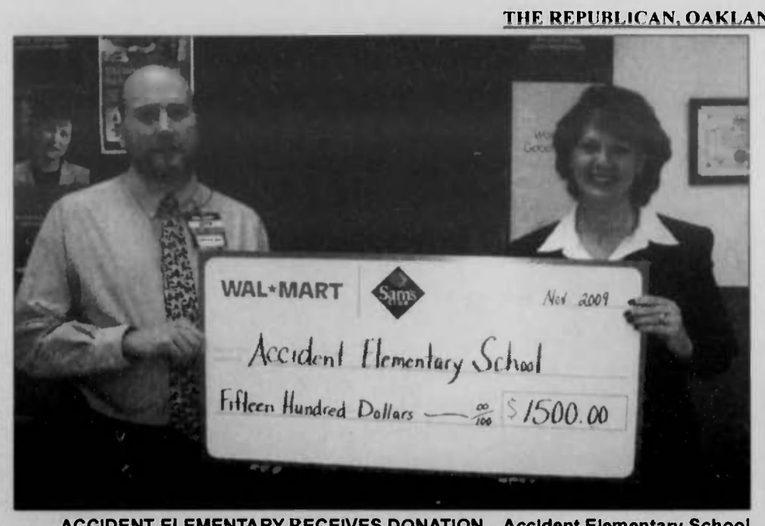
Officers responded to an Oakland residence in September for a destruction of property complaint, and upon arrival, made contact with the occupants of the residence. It was reported that Brun had come to the residence and punched out the back door.

Brun was observed to be about 40 yards away from the residence. While officers attempted to approach and speak with Brun, she allegedly became loud and aggressive. It was reported that alcohol was a factor in the incident.

As officers advised Brun that she was under arrest, she attempted to run away, but was taken into custody a short while later. She allegedly hit one of the officers in the chest. Officers transported her to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and it was reported that she was aggressive toward officers and hospital staff. She was not prosecuted on malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500, disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, and two charges of second-degree assault of a law enforcement officer.

In an unrelated hearing, Gregory Alan Dawson, 36, Swanton, was charged in August for three counts of second-degree assault, stemming from a domestic dispute. His charges were placed on stet with conditions being to continue with mental health counseling and to have no violent contact with the victims of assault.

In another District Court case, James Robert Collins, 40, Swanton, was charged with second-degree assault in August stemming from a domestic dispute with another adult. His charge was placed on stet with conditions of attending alcohol counseling, and anger management, and to have no violent contact with the victim of assault.



ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY RECEIVES DONATION – Accident Elementary School principal Karen Kamauff DeVore recently accepted a $1,500 check from John Sloane, assistant manager at the Oakland Wal-Mart. The money will be used to improve the students' general math knowledge and their performance on mandated state assessments by implementing a research-based program called Every Day Counts® to provide them with daily exposure to critical math concepts. Every Day Counts is aligned with the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics (NTCM) standards. In just 10-15 minutes a day, the program provides daily exposure to concepts such as place value, mental math, measurement, time, money, geometry, estimation, patterns and algebraic thinking, graphing, and statistics. The continuous learning experience offered by the program has proven to increase student math proficiency and test scores at many schools.

Alvin Osnayder Munoz, 19, Gaithersburg, was charged in July with controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession not marijuana, stemming from a traffic stop by GCSO and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. His charge was placed on stet with conditions being to complete 40 hours of community service.

Matthew Norman Swapp, 27, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of CDS manufacturing/distribution and CDS possession of marijuana. His charges stemmed from a GCNTF surveillance in May.

Angela Yvonne Shafer, 41, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession not marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia. She was charged in August after a traffic stop by GCSO.

Rebecca Lee Cone, 23, McHenry, was not prosecuted on a September charge of second-degree assault stemming from a domestic dispute.

Eric James Rutters, 29, Hopewell, Pa., was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of paraphernalia, stemming from a traffic stop in July 2007 by Maryland State Police.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Brittany Gene Harmon, 24, Md., was found guilty for a DUI per se charge from August, and was sentenced to 10 days with 10 days suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $250 in fines. She was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Thomas Joseph Clark, 41, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from July, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Bryan Keith Weimer, 22, Md., was charged with DUI and DWI in August. His charges were placed on stet with no conditions given.

GC Board Of Education To Hold Monthly Meeting

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 8, beginning at 4 p.m. with public comment. The board will then meet in closed session until 5:30.

Public agenda topics include action on the Driver's Education Program of Studies. Information items include an update on Power School, the Student Education Planning Guide, School Readiness Report, School Activity Funds Policy, and the Garrett FIRST LEGO League (FLL) qualifying tournament.

Time is set aside at 4 and 7 for public comment and participation on any topic. The public is invited to attend.

Christmas In The Village To Be Held Dec. 4 & 5

The 25th annual Christmas in the Village, sponsored by Spruce Forest Artisan Village, will be held on Friday, Dec. 4, from 4 to 8 p.m., and on Saturday, Dec. 5, from noon to 8 p.m. Admission to the event is free to the public.

Christmas in the Village features a variety of family holiday activities including a live nativity performed by the Oakdale Church Youth Group; storytelling and German Christmas carols at the House of Yoder; cookie decorating; and live holiday music.

Friday's holiday music schedule includes: Mtn. Friends Home School Group; Northern Garrett High School Band; Mark and Linda Treasure; and the Bittinger Mennonite Choir.

Saturday's schedule includes: the Frostburg State University Chamber Choir; Old Time Jam Music; St. John's Joyful Ringer; and the Beach Family Ringers.

The historic village is decorated with over 400 candle luminaries, old-fashioned wreaths, and greenery throughout. Unique, hand-crafted gifts are available at resident and visiting artists' log cabin studios.

The village is located on old Rt. 40 next to Penn Alps Restaurant, off I-68 in Grantsville. For more information, persons may call 301-895-3332.

RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH NAMED – The Southern High School RAM (Random Acts of Maturity) Perkins Student of the Month for November is senior Ryan Nathan Miller. He was nominated by Col. Ralph Sheaffer for showing the highest standards in JROTC. Sheaffer noted that Ryan took an individual medal in a recent JROTC competition. "When homework is assigned, he turns it in and is prepared for class," said Sheaffer. "Clearly, Ryan is an individual who deserves this recognition." Miller is the son of Dr. P. Daniel Miller and Cheryl Sheffel. From left are Sheaffer, Miller, and vice principal Brooks Elliott.

Days are filled with sadness and tears
Seems so different. We feel that Mom should still be here. When we reflect on Mom's Life, it has a special good and warm feeling.
Such as Sunday dinners, families, and friends always there.
Enjoying the time together. Children running in and out having lots of fun.
Laughing and talking around the table. "Mom's Delight."
And Christmas was such a special time.
Baking and cooking, the smell of food she made with her hands.
Decorations, traditions, families in every room, just made the home feel so warm.
Mom, always loved and took care of her family.
Memories are now our treasures to cherish— keep them and hold on to them.
Let us enjoy the days and seasons as if Mom were here,
How we long to have Mom here, and know it cannot be.
How awesome to know that Mom is spending Christmas with Jesus.
And that brings peace and comfort to all of us.
What a blessed hope! What joy! To see Mom again.

Mom, We love you, and miss you!

With rising prices, now is the time for families to conserve energy and control costs. And our Watt Watchers program can help by providing information about energy-efficient products and new technologies. Did you know that lighting accounts for about 20% of the average home's electric bill? But switching to LED lights can help control the size of your bill. To learn more, call 1-877-928-8928 or visit alleghenypower.com.

WATT Watchers Use Energy Wisely

Save energy all winter long.
- Switch to LED holiday lights
- Weather-strip doors and windows
- Keep heating registers clear
- Install a programmable thermostat

These programs support the EmPOWER Maryland Energy Efficiency Act.

AURORA/EGLON

CHRISTMAS SING

The 28th annual Christmas Melodies will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, this Sunday, Dec. 6, beginning at 2 p.m. It is sponsored by the Adult Fellowship Organization, who invites the public to join in the celebration.

AVFD CANDY ORDERS

This Friday, Dec. 4, is the last chance to place an order for hardtack candy from the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department. The pick-up date is slated for Friday, Dec. 18, at the fire hall between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Butterscotch, spearmint, wintergreen, anise, and cinnamon are the available flavors. Orders may be placed by contacting Patty at 304-735-3205 or 304-698-6723. The candy is $4/bag.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES

A buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be offered this Saturday, Dec. 5, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren from 3 to 8 p.m. It is sponsored by the Family Life Center building committee. The cost of meals is $7 for adults and $4 for children age 10 and under. Children pre-school age and younger may eat for free. There will also be a bake sale prepared by the Women's Fellowship.

TREE LIGHTING

The Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club and the Aurora Community Education Outreach Service will host the lighting of the community Christmas tree this Sunday evening, Dec. 6, at 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served at the close of the ceremony.

BROOKSIDE CHRISTMAS PLAY

Brookside Church of the Brethren will present the play Is Something Missing? this Sunday evening, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m. The public is invited to the service and for refreshments that will follow.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING

The Aurora Area Historical Society will host a Christmas open house and quarterly meeting this Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6, at 2 p.m. at the General Store/History House. There will be gifts for sale and an opportunity for attendees to learn how to make a foegel, a German paper star.

SENIORS REMINDED

Union District Seniors are reminded that their Christmas meeting and dinner will be held on Thursday, Dec. 10, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building around noon. Those attending are asked to bring not only a covered dish, but Christmas dinner items to be sent to the Terra Alta food pantry. Some suggestions are cranberry sauce, dressing, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, smalls heads of cabbage, dried beans, and evaporated milk.

PERSONAL

Hospice has been aiding in the care for Victor Imes. He, his wife Carol (daughter of the late W.E. and Abby Harsh), and their daughter Amber live in North Carolina.

A Thanksgiving dinner in the home of Jo-Ann Helton, Stemple Ridge, united the descendants of the late Roy and Loretta Snyder.

Shawn Rembold, Stemple Ridge, has been sick for about a month with the flu.

A dinner was recently held at the Union Ambulance squad hall, Aurora, to unite squad members, Aurora VFD members, Mt. Grove VFD members, and families of each group. Ham and turkey were accompanied by covered dishes.

Tom and Linda Lewis recently visited with their daughters and families, Julie Baker, husband Gary, and children Grayson and Madison, Virginia Beach Va., and Emily Young, husband Chuck, and children Noah and Carter, Martinsburg. They returned Saturday to their Eglon home, where their daughter Sara, Morgantown, spent the week.

Brookside Church Offering "Missing Peace" Program

The Brookside Church of the Brethren will present a Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m.

The program's theme is "finding the missing 'peace' of Christmas,'" organizers said.

For information about the program or for directions to the church, persons may call Rev. Scott Rush at 301-334-1633.

Christmas Market Set In Rowlesburg Saturday, Dec. 12

The Rowlesburg Revitalization Committee will host A Christmas Market at the Szilagyi Center on Saturday, Dec. 12. The hours of operations will be 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"There are many vendors offering unique and reasonably priced items from which to choose," noted a spokesperson. "There will be specialty items that you won't find in retail stores."

There will be live Christmas music and storytelling for children, as well as a designated area for children to make holiday crafts at no charge. The Greatest Generation Museum will be open with an exhibit on nativity scenes in one of the classrooms.

Bratwurst on the grill will be available, along with holiday soups, homemade rolls, and hot spiced tea or gluwein. All food items will be available for $2.50.

For vendor information, persons may call 304-329-1240.

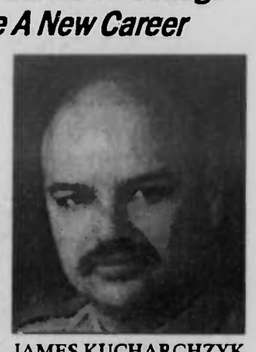
Injured Firefighter Returns To College At Garrett To Pursue A New Career

by Melissa Parker

James "Jim" Kucharchzyk had it all planned out. He was enjoying life as a firefighter and paramedic for the Cumberland Fire Department, as well as volunteering for the Frostburg Fire Department. He was doing what he loved and what he thought would be a lifelong career. Then something happened that would change his life forever.



JAMES KUCHARCHZYK

After responding to a fire near Frostburg, he stepped onto an unstable piece of wood, fell to the ground, and broke his ankle. What seemed like a relatively minor injury that would sideline Jim for a few weeks quickly took a devastating turn when he experienced serious complications during surgery. In the end, he would no longer be able to continue fighting fires because his injury prevented him from performing the required climbing that comes with the job. Faced with that reality, Kucharchzyk realized he would have to find a new career.

After much thought, Kucharchzyk made the daunting decision to return to college after more than 20 years. He had always been interested in computers and would play around with them at home in his spare time. He was interested in Garrett College because he had taught and taken continuing education classes at the college and knew some of the faculty and staff.

With that, in the fall of 2007, Kucharchzyk began his studies at Garrett with a major in computer applications for business and graphic/web design.

"James was a stellar student, and is quite a role model for other students who have their lives planned out, but for some reason or another are forced to step out of the box and change careers," said Terry Beachy, director of the Northern Outreach Center and adjunct professor at Garrett College. "Non-traditional students often hesitate to re-enter the educational realm, but James is quite a testament that it can be done. He was always upbeat, stuck to his studies, and really fit in well with the surrounding population."

Kucharchzyk quickly became a standout at Garrett. He was named to the dean's list, the honors list, and the merit list during his four semesters at the college.

Kucharchzyk also took the initiative to become a leader at Garrett.

"Jim worked endless hours to help bring the National Society of Leadership and Success to Garrett College," said Connie Meyers, program director for Continuing Education and Workforce Development and former advisor for the National Society of Leadership and Success. "It was such a pleasure to work with Jim. When I think of leadership at Garrett College, I think of Jim Kucharchzyk."

In fact, when the previous advisor of the leadership society left the college last semester, Kucharchzyk stepped into the leadership role and kept the society running. One of his reasons for doing this was the impact the society had on him.

"The leadership society gave me different ideas on how to better myself and stay positive," said Kucharchzyk. "It was nice to have all the members support one another and each other's accomplishments. That support helped keep me focused on my own short-term goals."

Something else that kept him focused and impacted his time at Garrett was the help of his two children.

"Back when I went to college the first time, I wasn't required to take math or

GC ORNAMENT CONTEST – The Green Awareness Committee at Garrett College held an ornament making contest, for which participants had to make Christmas tree ornaments out of recycled materials such as old holiday cards, old jewelry, clothing pieces, buttons, light bulbs, and various other items. Teaching participants how to make the ornaments were the four persons in the above photo. Seated, from left, are Ellen Sheaffer and Carolyn DuBose, and standing are Mary Dale and Elyzabeth Savage. Pictured above right and below are two examples of the finished products.

Garrett College Students And Staff Dreaming Of A "Green" Christmas

by Melissa Parker

It's rare to think of anything but a white Christmas, especially in Garrett County. But when folks at Garrett College learned of the annual Festival of Trees, they immediately envisioned a green Christmas. The college's Green Awareness Committee quickly adopted the event as its next project, signing on to decorate and donate a college tree with the theme "I'm Dreaming of a Green Christmas."

The Festival of Trees is an annual fundraising event in which festival visitors view and bid on decorated tree, wreath, centerpiece, and gingerbread house exhibits.

"The college's green tree is an avenue for bringing about green environmental awareness to our college community and the Garrett County community at large," said Ann Wellham, dean of marketing and enrollment management and member of the college's Green Awareness Committee.

To make the tree truly green, the committee decided that all ornaments would be made of recycled and repurposed materials. The committee held an on-campus ornament making day, where instructors were on hand to teach sessions on how to make recycled ornaments.

"The decorations on the tree are a good example of how using one's imagination can turn an every-day item into something new and unique," said Wellham. "Some of the items used to make the recycled ornaments include coffee filters, knock-outs from electrical boxes, light bulbs, old Christmas cards, salt shakers, puzzle pieces, wool sweaters, old jewelry, shower rings, and tassels from old curtains."

According to the committee's ornament guidelines, all parts of the ornaments had to be made of recycled or repurposed material; however, wire, glue, string, and tape were permitted to hold the ornaments together.

The college held a contest for the most creative recycled ornament.

"We did it as a contest so the students and staff could participate in making the ornaments," said Dana Shimrock, director of the library and chair of the Green Awareness Committee. "Sitting around tables in the cafeteria with students and staff creating original ornaments, talking, laughing, and sharing ideas was very rewarding."

Erica DeShields of Oxon Hill won the prize for best student ornament, and Ellen Sheaffer, GC's cataloger/systems librarian, won the prize for best employee ornament.

In addition to having ornaments made of recycled and repurposed materials, the committee chose to place the ornaments on a live blue spruce tree so that the tree's recipient could plant it and watch it grow.

This year marked the second annual Festival of Trees, a four-day event which featured many activities for families, including the exhibits and crafting workshops.

Thirty-two trees were decorated for this year's event. The trees were judged for best in show, and the Garrett College green tree came in second place. The event proceeds benefit the Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence shelter and resource center.

For additional information on green initiatives at Garrett College, persons may contact Shimrock at 301-387-3003 or dana.shimrock@garrettcollege.edu.

Real Estate Facts by...

Jeff Hovis

A LESSON FOR SELLERS

If you've found the right home, how can you be certain you aren't paying too much? Once you make your choice, it's quite likely you've also become well informed about property values. How is this so? Because before you made that choice, you probably looked at a variety of homes, possibly as many as six to twelve properties. And, your real estate professional will do a competitive market analysis for you on any home that you may be interested in. This will enable you to get the greatest value for your dollar.

Another aspect of your purchase further protects you from purchasing an overpriced home. Called an "appraisal," it's a required step in the mortgage approval process. Your mortgage lender, who is putting up the majority share of the purchase price, also wants to be sure the home is not priced above the market.

Thus, the lender asks a licensed appraiser to determine the home's value for the record. If the appraised value does not at least meet the purchase price, the lender may not approve the loan or, at the very least, may ask for a higher down payment. By reviewing a competitive market analysis with your real estate agent prior to making your offer, you will be more confident that the appraiser won't have a problem justifying the value.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

science, so I didn't have those skills this time around," said Kucharchzyk.

His daughter, who was in graduate school at Frostburg at the time, and his son, who is a student at Frostburg, helped him get through those classes.

Kucharchzyk said he had a good experience at Garrett. His favorite classes, he said, were the art classes. He enjoyed learning the different styles and techniques of art and design. He graduated cum laude with a 3.64 grade point average in May 2009. He earned an associate's degree in applied science in computer applications for business, and a certificate in graphic/web design.

James currently works in the IT department for Info Spherix as a field sight support specialist. He enjoys his new career so much that he's decided to once again go back to college for more education. He will begin in the spring at Allegany College of Maryland, taking more computer classes.

"I'm really interested in this field, so I'm going to take more classes to get deeper into computer technology," he said.

Kucharchzyk graduated from Allegany College of Maryland in 1983 with an associate of arts degree in automotive technology, although he never worked in that field. He volunteered as a firefighter in college, and when he graduated, he was more interested in emergency medical service and firefighting. He worked as a firefighter and paramedic for 19 years.

Kucharchzyk lives in Frostburg with his wife and son.

NMS Announces '09, '10 Yearbook And Shirt Sales

The 2009 Polaris yearbook is now available for purchase at Northern Middle School for $20/book. All students enrolled as middle school students during the school year, including sixth graders remaining in elementary schools, are pictured in the yearbook.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 12th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

BLOOMING ROSE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The Blooming Rose United Methodist Women will be holding their annual Christmas party this Saturday, Dec. 5, at the home of Betty Frantz, beginning at 1 p.m. All women of the church are invited. Secret sisters will be revealed and new names drawn.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

The Friendsville UMW will hold their annual Christmas party luncheon this Sunday, Dec. 6, at 1 p.m. at Perkins Restaurant, McHenry. All women of the church and guests are invited to attend. Gifts will be exchanged to reveal secret sisters, but new names will not be drawn for the coming year.

Those planning to attend are asked to telephone Carol at 301-746-5416 by Friday, Dec. 4, to make reservations.

FOOD DRIVE, SOUP/ BAKE SALE

The Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad is holding a food drive and soup and bake sale to benefit citizens of Garrett County through the Food Bank.

The food drive is under way and will continue through Sunday, Dec. 13. Drop-off boxes for non-perishable items are being placed in local churches and at the squad halls in Friendsville and Grantsville. Grantsville Elementary School students are involved in collecting food items also.

The soup and bake sale will be held Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Rescue Squad building in Friendsville from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. They will be selling chicken noodle soup and chili, both eat-in and take-out. Food items can also be dropped off for the food drive.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the bake sale can do so by dropping off baked goods at the squad building on Friday, Dec. 12. All proceeds from this event will go toward the Garrett County Food Bank.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

Friendsville's Christmas celebration will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5 (instead of the usual Friday), beginning with the trimming of the town tree at 6:30 p.m. Bows can be purchased in honor or memory of a loved one to be displayed on the tree. Forms can be picked up at S&S Market or by contacting any member of Friendsville Community Watch. Names will be announced during the celebration at the Friendsville fire hall.

All ages are invited to celebrate the season beginning at 7 p.m. at the fire hall with an evening of entertainment, games, refreshments, and crafts for sale. There will also be a special appearance from Santa, who will hand out the town treats. Pictures can be taken with Santa for $1 per picture or contribution of a canned good or paper product, which will be donated to the Dove Center.

This event is being sponsored by the Mayor and Town Council, Friendsville Community Watch, and Friendsville Vol. Fire Dept. All are invited to participate.

TOWN NEWS

Any persons interested in running for the office of mayor or one of five vacant council member seats is advised to contact Town Hall. The top three vote getters for council seats will each serve a 2-year term. The next two vote getters will each serve a 1-year term. Questions should be directed to 301-746-5919. The deadline to file is noon, Jan. 4, 2010.

There will be a public hearing in Town Hall beginning at 6:30 p.m. next Monday, Dec. 7, for Ordinance 2009-03, "Parking of Vehicles on Property Owned by the Town of Friendsville." The ordinance can be viewed on the Friendsville Post Office bulletin board, on the Town Hall front door, and in Town Hall.

The bathrooms in Friendsville Community Park are now closed for the season.

The next mayor and town council meeting is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m.

DECORATING CONTEST

The town council invites all town residents and businesses to decorate their respective homes/businesses for Christmas, as the council is again hosting a town-wide decorating contest.

Prizes for residences are: first place, $50; second place, $30; and third place $20. The first place prize for businesses is $25.

No residence is eligible to win first place two consecutive years. The judging will be held the evening of December 15, beginning at 5:30 p.m. The winners will be announced at 7:30 p.m. that same evening.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Friendsville Library will be offering free craft kits for children through the fifth grade during December. The kits may be completed in the library or taken home. There will be a different kit each week. Kits include a foam package picture frame, a mitten ornament, and a Christmas tree ornament. Persons may pick up kits at the desk.

A special Christmas story-hour program is tentatively scheduled for Monday, Dec. 7, at 6:30 p.m. Posters will be placed at the post office, in stores, and at the library with more information.

The Friendsville Library will close early (4 p.m.) next Tuesday, Dec. 8, and be closed on the following days: Thursday through Sunday, Dec. 24-27; and Friday and Saturday, Jan. 1-2.

REALTORS INDUCT NEW OFFICERS – The Garrett County Board of Realtors recently held their annual Installation Banquet of new officers and directors, with 2008-2009 GCBR president Doug McClive honoring all committee chairpersons for their dedication and commitment to the GCBR. Pat Kane was inducted as the new GCBR president, and McClive presented Kane with the incoming President's Pin. Officers from the Maryland Association of Realtors were also in attendance. MAR president Steve Meszaros swore in all the new officers and directors. In the photo above, left to right, are vice president Larry Smith, 3-year director Andrew Elswert, treasurer Beverly Everett, 2-year director Jim Wilmot, secretary Betsy Spiker, 1-year director Arlene Murray, past president McClive, new president Kane, 2-year director Mike Kennedy, and MAR president Meszaros.

4-H Club News

COUNTRY KIDS
by Derek DeWitt, reporter

The November meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was called to order by Briana Wagner. The group discussed the fruit basket that they will make for the elderly in Deer Park.

New enrollment forms and paper work were handed out.

The next meeting is planned for Sunday, Dec. 6, at the Deer Park Community Center. The evening will include a pizza party.

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
by Wesley Spaid, reporter

Ten new members joined the club at the October meeting, doubling the size of the club. At this meeting, the yearly program was planned, and enrollment cards and health forms were filled out by all members. Jesse Schalker reported on the Oct. 3 meal served to the Mountain Lions Club. Three members reported filling out county award forms, and members who exhibited at the Buckwheat Festival reported on their efforts.

Linda Lewis, leader, announced that raffle tickets for meat donated to the Preston County 4-H Foundation are now available. Devotions were given by the health committee, and the pledges were led by Danielle Blamble.

Jesse Schalker, Jonathon and Danielle Blamble, Trevor and Wesley Spaid, and Chad Vandevender recently attended County Achievement at the Preston High School cafeteria. They were accompanied by adults Jackie Blamble, Angie Spaid, Teresa Vandevender, and Linda Lewis. Receiving 4-H Project medals were Danielle in Goat, Wesley and Chad in Swine, and Wesley in Wood Science.

The club received a red club ribbon, and a blue ribbon for the secretary's book, and treasurer's book. The club also received a certificate for having 87% meeting attendance for a small club. Jonathon Blamble received a gold ribbon on his state 4-H promotion poster, and Jesse Schalker got a blue ribbon on his dairy poster entry. Six members entered the photo contest, and 12 photos went on to state competition.

Officers' training was held at the Terra Atta Community Building on Nov. 3. The following club officers attended: president Jesse Schalker, vice-president Jonathon Blamble, secretary Trevor Spaid, treasurer Danielle Blamble, reporter Wesley Spaid, song leader Savannah Amett, and recreation leader Sydnee Vandevender. Also attending were adults Jackie Blamble, Angie and Ron Spaid, Teresa Vandevender, Elaine Roth, and Linda Lewis.

The club's annual achievement program for the past year was recently held in the basement of the Maple Spring Church with members, families, and leaders in attendance. New officers were installed by leader Linda Lewis, who then explained the information that is included in the program guide. Jonathon gave out perfect and faithful attendance awards to Nathan Cussins, Jesse Schalker, Trevor Spaid, Danielle and Jonathon Blamble, Wesley Spaid, and Sydnee Vandevender.

Jackie Blamble awarded the Outstanding Younger Member award to Wesley Spaid. The Outstanding Older Member was Trevor Spaid. Our only outgoing member was Nathan Cussins. Trevor Lipscomb was our only first-year member. Danielle was recognized as the first member to complete talks and demonstrations. The Spaid family sold the most meat raffle tickets. The 4-H's were head: Trevor; heart: Nathan, hands: Sydnee, and health: Jonathon.

The meeting ended with a drawing of door prizes, handing out project folders, and eating finger food refreshments. In addition to those already mentioned, new members are Savannah Arnett, Derek and Samantha Chambers, Sierra Evans, Tyler Pomeroy, Alex, Chelcee, and Matthew Rinker, Sabryn Schoolcraft, and Brooke Uphold.

The next monthly meeting will be held on Monday, Dec. 14, when tray favor crafts will be made for Cortland Acres Nursing Home patients.

$1,000.00 REWARD
On or about November 13, 2009, someone entered property located two and one-half miles west of Oakland on Route 39 and removed a 8 x 12 sign connected to a billboard. Cost of replacement will be approximately $1,000.00.
The theft required entry to the property by 4WD and ripping off three sections of the sign. If you were a witness to this theft, please contact Tom Doyle at 301-334-4808 or the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911.
Wording of the sign was "HEAVEN OR HELL? IT'S YOUR CHOICE." Each section of the sign was standard 4 x 8 alumalite, which can be repainted. The first section contained an "H" at the top, "OR" in the middle and "IT'S" at the bottom. The second section contained "AVE" at the top "HEL" in the middle and "OUR" at the bottom. The third section contained "N?" at the top, "L" in the middle and "OICE" at the bottom. If you see these items anywhere, please call either of the above numbers.
A reward of $1,000.00 will be paid for information received which leads to an arrest and conviction of the responsible persons.

PROTECTING "TWEENS"

In an effort to inform "tweens" (children between ages 8 and 12) and their parents about the causes and prevention of noise-induced hearing loss, the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders (NIDCD) has launched a national public education campaign called "It's a Noisy Planet. Protect Their Hearing." Among the goals that the NIDCD wants to achieve is dispelling the myth that hearing loss is solely an age related condition. According to a survey conducted on the MTV Web site, nearly two-thirds (61%) of the teen and young adult respondents reported having experienced tinnitus (ringing in the ears) or hearing impairment after attending a concert. The NIDCD's campaign is designed to modify youngsters' music-listening habits, among other things.

For children as well as adults, good hearing is not something to be taken for granted. If you suspect a hearing problem for you or a family member, give us a call at AUDIBEL. We'll arrange a convenient, painless hearing test to determine the best way to proceed. We are committed to providing individual counseling to help those with hearing loss function more effectively in educational, social, and occupational environments.

PS The National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders encourages the use of ear plugs at concerts, sporting events, and movie theatres, where sound levels can reach the upper 90 decibels.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER
Town of Oakland Has Levels of Disinfection Byproducts Above Drinking Water Standards

Our water system recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct this situation.

We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Disinfection byproducts are formed by a chemical reaction of chlorine with the organic material in the water, such as leaves and algae. Testing results show that our system exceeds the standards, or maximum contaminant levels (MCL), for Total Trihalomethanes and Haloacetic Acids. The standard for Total Trihalomethanes is 80 parts per billion (ppb), and Haloacetic Acids is 60 ppb.

The average level of Disinfection Byproducts over the last year (January 2008 - December 2008) was:

Total Trihalomethanes 84 ppb
Haloacetic Acids 85 ppb

What should you do? You do not need to use an alternative (e.g., bottled) water supply. However, if you have specific health concerns, consult your doctor.

What does this mean? This is not an immediate risk. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. However, some people who drink water containing total trihalomethanes and haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

What happened? What is being done? Recently, the State of Maryland, Department of the Environment has made the byproducts limitations more stringent. Oakland has been working to lower the levels of total trihalomethanes and haloacetic acids over the past couple years in anticipation of the new requirements. Unfortunately, we have not able to bring the levels down to meet the new guidelines. As a result, we are doing a study on our water system to determine what changes or improvements are necessary to bring our system Into compliance. It Is the Town of Oakland's goal and expectation that this should be completed by the end of 2010.

JWCC MAKES DONATION TO DOVE CENTER – The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently donated funds to the Dove Center. JWCC member Heather Savage (right) presented the donation to Debbie Holler, the Dove Center's child specialist and school outreach counselor. The Junior Woman's Civic Club of Garrett County is a social and civic organization that meets the first Thursday of every month at 6:30 p.m. The object of this organization is the development of its members in intellectual endeavor and community service. The club is open to any woman 18 years of age or older. Those interested in joining the club should call membership chairperson Debbie Carpenter at 301-387-8199 or visit the web site at www.deepcreektimes.com/jwcc for meeting times and information.

HUSKY Notes

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Northern High School chapter of National Honor Society will be collecting school supplies for the Northern area elementary schools (Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Route 40) from Monday, Dec. 7, through Friday, Dec. 18. Donations may be brought to the Media Center. Boxes will be placed in homerooms for the supplies, and the homeroom collecting the most supplies will win a prize.

ASVAB UPDATE

Because of a conflict with the test administrator's schedule, the ASVAB test will be administered on Monday, Dec. 7, instead of Dec. 8. This test will take place in the morning and is being offered to all sophomore, junior, and senior students.

YEARBOOK DISCOUNT CARDS

The NHS yearbook staff will be selling discount cards, which offer discounts at a variety of local establishments. The cards cost $10 each, and can be used repeatedly. Cards may be purchased from any yearbook staff member or from Ms. Theriot in Room 216. They will be on sale until Friday, Dec. 11.

PET FOOD COLLECTION

Girls' varsity will be collecting dog and cat food through Friday, Dec. 4, for the Garrett County Humane Society. Anyone else who would like to help with this project should contact the school.

POINSETTIAS AND WREATHS

The plant science and greenhouse management class is growing a crop of poinsettias again this year. Those interested in making a purchase should e-mail Mr. McCrobie at rmcrobie@nh.ga.k12.md.us. The pots will be decorated with foil, and the cost is $4 each. The group will also be making pine wreaths this year. Those interested who have not ordered one yet should also contact McCrobie. The prices are $10 for a 14-inch, $15 for an 18-inch, and $20 for a 24-inch. Each wreath will be decorated with a bow.

DRAMA CLUB ACTIVITIES

The following Drama Club activities are scheduled for this year:

Dec. 3, 4, and 5 at 7 p.m. – Mrs. Bob Cratchit's Wild Christmas Binge (full-length play)

March 11 at 9 a.m. and March 12 at 1 p.m. – Drama Club Follies (teacher talent show)

March 31 and April 1 and 2 – Drama Club field trip to New York City

May 6, 7, and 8 at 7 p.m. – Thoroughly Modern Millie (school musical)

SCHOLARSHIPS

•Washington Crossing Foundation: This is a national scholarship program designed for students planning to pursue careers in government service. It is open to graduating high school seniors who are planning careers of service in local, state, or federal government. Application consists of an applicant prepared cover sheet, one-page essay, letter of recommendation from high school principal or guidance counselor, transcripts, and SAT or ACT scores. A full detail of application information is available in the Counseling Center or online at www.gwcf.org. The award amount is $500 to $5,000, and the deadline for submission is Jan. 15.

•KFC Colonel's Scholars Program: This program is dedicated to assisting students with financial need who plan to pursue a bachelor's degree at a public institution within their legal state of residence. It is open to graduating high school seniors who maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher. Applicant must be planning to enroll in a public, in-state college no later than Sept. 30, 2010, and pursue a bachelor's degree (may begin at a two-year public in-state school). Applicants must demonstrate financial need. An application may be obtained online at www.kfcscholars.org beginning Dec. 1. The award amount may be up to $5,000 per year, and the deadline for submission is Feb. 10.

•Ronald McDonald House Charities U.S. Scholarship Program: This scholarship was established to assist graduating high school seniors who are exemplary role models in their communities and demonstrate the initiative to fulfill their educational goals. Applicant must be under 21 years old, have a min. cum. GPA of 2.7 or higher, and reside within the boundaries of a participating Garrett County chapter. He/she must enroll in a two- or four-year accredited college, university or trade/technical school. A personal statement, letter of recommendation, and high school transcript with test scores are required. An application is available in the Counseling Center or online at www.rmhc.org. The award amount is a minimum of $1,000, and the deadline for submission is Feb. 16.

•Maryland JCI Senate: This scholarship was designed to assist graduating high school seniors with funds to help further their education. Applicant must be planning to enroll full time at an accredited two- or four-year college, university, or trade/technical school. Application requirements are letters of recommendation, a personal statement, and transcripts. Characteristics of self-development and community services will be considered. An application is available in the Counseling Center or online at http://tinyurl.com/yk3ju56. The award amount is $500, and the deadline for submission is Jan. 5.

•Baltimore Community Foundation/Christa McAuliffe Scholarship: This scholarship is open to any Maryland resident graduating from any high school who aspire to be a teacher. Applicant must have resided in Maryland for at least six months, have accumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher, and must be planning to pursue a teaching career in the state of Maryland. Application includes two essays. An application is available in the Counseling Center or online at www.bcf.org. The award amount is $1,000. The early application deadline is Feb. 15 and the standard deadline is April 1.

•Maryland Mensa: This is a scholarship essay contest that is open to the public, including people of all ages who are pursuing postsecondary education. Application requires an essay of no more than 550 words that describes applicant's career and vocational or academic goals. An application and detailed essay information including scoring emphasis are available in the Counseling Center or online at http://www.mensafoundation.org/scholarships. The award amount is $300 to $1,000, and the deadline for submission is Jan. 15.

JWCC MAKES DONATION TO DOVE CENTER – The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently donated funds to the Dove Center. JWCC member Heather Savage (right) presented the donation to Debbie Holler, the Dove Center's child specialist and school outreach counselor. The Junior Woman's Civic Club of Garrett County is a social and civic organization that meets the first Thursday of every month at 6:30 p.m. The object of this organization is the development of its members in intellectual endeavor and community service. The club is open to any woman 18 years of age or older. Those interested in joining the club should call membership chairperson Debbie Carpenter at 301-387-8199 or visit the web site at www.deepcreektimes.com/jwcc for meeting times and information.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Northern High School chapter of National Honor Society will be collecting school supplies for the Northern area elementary schools (Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Route 40) from Monday, Dec. 7, through Friday, Dec. 18. Donations may be brought to the Media Center. Boxes will be placed in homerooms for the supplies, and the homeroom collecting the most supplies will win a prize.

ASVAB UPDATE

Because of a conflict with the test administrator's schedule, the ASVAB test will be administered on Monday, Dec. 7, instead of Dec. 8. This test will take place in the morning and is being offered to all sophomore, junior, and senior students.

YEARBOOK DISCOUNT CARDS

The NHS yearbook staff will be selling discount cards, which offer discounts at a variety of local establishments. The cards cost $10 each, and can be used repeatedly. Cards may be purchased from any yearbook staff member or from Ms. Theriot in Room 216. They will be on sale until Friday, Dec. 11.

PET FOOD COLLECTION

Girls' varsity will be collecting dog and cat food through Friday, Dec. 4, for the Garrett County Humane Society. Anyone else who would like to help with this project should contact the school.

POINSETTIAS AND WREATHS

The plant science and greenhouse management class is growing a crop of poinsettias again this year. Those interested in making a purchase should e-mail Mr. McCrobie at rmcrobie@nh.ga.k12.md.us. The pots will be decorated with foil, and the cost is $4 each. The group will also be making pine wreaths this year. Those interested who have not ordered one yet should also contact McCrobie. The prices are $10 for a 14-inch, $15 for an 18-inch, and $20 for a 24-inch. Each wreath will be decorated with a bow.

DRAMA CLUB ACTIVITIES

The following Drama Club activities are scheduled for this year:

Dec. 3, 4, and 5 at 7 p.m. – Mrs. Bob Cratchit's Wild Christmas Binge (full-length play)

March 11 at 9 a.m. and March 12 at 1 p.m. – Drama Club Follies (teacher talent show)

March 31 and April 1 and 2 – Drama Club field trip to New York City

May 6, 7, and 8 at 7 p.m. – Thoroughly Modern Millie (school musical)

Local Woman, Man Sentenced In Drug Cases

A 22-year-old Oakland area woman was sentenced Monday in Garrett County Circuit Court in three drug cases to a total of four years in the Division of Corrections.

Heather Renee Nazelrod received four years for a charge of possession of heroin with intent to distribute and concurrent six-month sentences for two charges of possession of heroin.

Judge Jim Sherbin suspended 2½ years of the sentence and assessed a fine of $1,000. Nazelrod will be on probation after she is released from jail.

In the first possession case, Nazelrod was charged by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in March. A traffic stop and positive canine alert led to a search of the vehicle in which she was a passenger.

Controlled dangerous substance (CDS) paraphernalia was found in the car, and a quantity of heroin was located beside the car. The passenger, Guy Daniels Miller, later admitted he had possessed that heroin, the state's attorney said.

From this stop and arrest, officers obtained a search and seizure warrant for the Nazelrod/Miller residence along Corona Bayard Road. Additional quantities of CDS and paraphernalia were found in common areas of the residence, and Nazelrod was charged.

She was arrested for possession with intent to distribute heroin in the second case, which occurred in May. Based on information obtained from a confidential informant, Task Force officers were on the lookout for the vehicle in which Nazelrod was traveling and observed that car along Oakland Drive near Oakland.

A positive alert by the drug detention dog led to a search of the car and the occupants, with officers finding a large quantity of heroin on Nazelrod's person.

In the third case, Nazelrod was arrested and charged with possession of WEATHER OF ALL KINDS has been experienced in Garrett County this week, from high winds and ice to snow and yes, even sunshine and double rainbows, as shown above. Yesterday, Dec. 9, opened with an ice storm and high winds, followed by rapidly rising water in many areas. The winds combined with the ice caused trees to fall, telephone poles to snap, and some flooding. The roads were ice-covered early in the day, and that along with these other conditions resulted in the closing of the public schools. And the rollercoaster ride isn't over just yet, as the temperatures are to fall steadily today and the gusty winds are to continue. Tonight's high is predicted to be 8 degrees, with a wind chill of –11. So all are advised to bundle up. Winter has indeed arrived on the mountaintop. This photo was taken yesterday in Grantsville by Lisa Broadwater.

Stewart Sentenced To 20 Years For 23 Counts Of Embezzlement

Final sentencing was issued for an Oakland man who was charged with embezzlement on Monday in Garrett County District Court.

Judge Leonard J. Eiswert sentenced Bradley Allen Stewart, 61, to a total of 20 years in the Division of Corrections for 23 counts of embezzlement, with eight years of the sentence suspended. Five years were imposed for each count, with the sentences running consecutively in four counts and the remaining sentences running concurrently. With two years suspended in each count, the actual incarceration time is 12 years. After his release from prison, Stewart will be on probation. A total of $678,000 in restitution to a total of 149 victims was ordered.

Stewart had pleaded guilty to the charges in September and a pre-sentence investigation report was ordered for the sentencing hearing. Judge Eiswert also revoked Stewart's bond, and he has been in the Garrett County Jail since.

A number of victims had written letters to the court for sentencing and one victim's representative testified to the impact on his family member, stating, "She calls me every day to ask if I've heard anything or gotten any money back."

Stewart's attorney, Wil-

Police Identify Suspect Involved In Local Robbery

A suspect has been identified in the Nov. 11 armed robbery of Shoe Show, located in the Wal-Mart Plaza, Oakland.

Gary Ross LaTray, 50, Syracuse, N.Y., is being sought by authorities. An arrest warrant has been issued for LaTray charging him with armed robbery, robbery, first- and second-degree assault, and phony destructive device.

The suspect is also wanted by authorities in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia for similar crimes.

H1N1 (Swine) Flu Vaccine Available, Recommended For All Marylanders

Governor Martin O'Malley announced Tuesday that Maryland has expanded the distribution of H1N1 (swine) flu vaccine to the general population, adding healthy adults and seniors to the five target groups for whom the vaccine is currently recommended. Those target groups will remain a statewide priority as the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) reports a decline in flu activity following a late October second wave peak in H1N1 flu.

The Garrett County Health Department will hold clinics at its Grantsville office this Friday, Dec. 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; at the Oakland office next Monday, Dec. 14, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; and at the Grantsville fire hall on Tuesday, Dec. 29, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Appointments are also available for vaccinations at the Oakland office for various days and times throughout December. More information is available at the health department's web site at www.garretthealth.org or by telephone via the Flu Information Line at 301- 334-7697 or 301-895-3113.

"We have a window of opportunity that allows us to get this vaccine to every member of every family, providing greater protection against this flu for all Marylanders," said Governor O'Malley. "Getting more vaccine into the general population may help Maryland avoid a third wave of H1N1 flu activity, protecting our most vulnerable neighbors from serious health problems, hospitalization, and death."

According to DHMH, Maryland's "window of opportunity" is now because of three factors:

- Maryland is seeing a general decline in H1N1 flu activity, even though many Marylanders continue to get sick and the flu continues to spread.
- Vaccine shipments continue to increase every week, as DHMH orders 100% of the vaccine manufactured and made available by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Several Accidents Attributed To Icy Road Conditions

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to several weather-related motor vehicle accidents this weekend. The following incidents resulted in either minor injuries or citations.

Deputies responded to Hutton Road near Fingerboard Road at approximately 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Investigation revealed that Sheila Dawn Delauder had been traveling east when she reportedly hit snow and ice on the roadway. She lost control of her vehicle. There were no injuries reported, and Delauder was cited for the accident.

Deputies responded to Turkey Neck Road, Swanton, Sunday evening at approximately 7 p.m. Investigation revealed that Michael Timothy Hall, 20, Oakland, had been traveling west when he lost control of the 2001 Ford truck he was operating. The truck slid off the road into the yard of a private residence. Snow-covered roads were determined to be the cause of the accident, but Hall was cited for driving on a suspended out-of-state license. There were no injuries.

An accident occurred on Sand Flat Road near Pergin Farm Road at 9:45 a.m. Monday morning. It was revealed that Staci Janel Fitzwater, 18, Swanton, had been traveling west when she lost control of the 1995 Chevrolet SUV she was operating. The vehicle overturned and crashed into a tree before coming to rest in a ditch on the westbound side of the road. Fitzwater was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. Deer Park Fire Department also responded to the scene. No citations were issued.

Pa. Resident Sentenced For Burglary, Theft

A 24-year-old Salisbury, Pa., man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to four years in the Division of Corrections for a charge of first degree burglary and to a concurrent four-year sentence for a charge of felony theft. Bradley Keith Holler was also ordered to pay $900 in restitution.

Holler was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies with first degree burglary in May. The residents of a home along Valley View Lane, Frostburg (Garrett County), returned home and later observed a man sneaking around their residence. Investigation revealed that the man had entered the residence and had fled through a rear win-

PRATT PIECE CHOSEN FOR CHICAGO SHOW – A work of "encaustic" art created by local artist Sonia Pratt has been selected through a juried process to be among 31 works in a Chicago art show. The piece shown above is now on display at the Woman Made Gallery in the city, along with other pieces by women from around the world. Encaustic is an ancient technique in which pigment is added to molten beeswax, or sometimes animal or vegetable wax. The technique of mixing paint with wax produces highly textured works with many layers fused together. Pratt, who is now a full-time artist, taught art at Southern High School for 34 years. She resides near Oakland. See story on arts page.

Commissioners Approve Proposal For Inmate Health Care Services

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday awarded a request for proposals (RFP) to a Hanover company to provide health care services for county jail inmates. The board also awarded RFPs for the Hoyes Run Stream Restoration Project and an acid mine drainage remediation study.

By a majority vote, the commissioners approved Conmed Healthcare Management Inc.'s $94,831.58 proposal to provide services for Garrett County Jail inmates. Sheriff Gary Berkebile, Maj. Terry Schlossnagle, and jail administrator Lt. Mike Bittinger attended the bid award meeting.

The contract period will run from Jan. 19 to June 30, 2010. Conmed will retain health professionals to provide care at the jail on a 12-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week basis. A certified nursing assistant and a registered nurse will share that 12/7 coverage, and a doctor will make a two-hour sick call once a week at the jail.

Additionally, a qualified health care professional will be on call 24 hours per day, seven days per week when the other medical personnel are not on the premises.

The county will be responsible for any out-of-facility services, including hospitalization and pharmaceuticals.

Garrett County Purchasing Department agent Brian Bowers noted that the county's current fiscal year budget includes a $170,000 allocation for medical ex-

"THE MOST WONDERFUL TIME of the Year" is the theme for the 2009 holiday concert of the Garrett Community Concert Band, which will be presented this Sunday, Dec. 13, in the Garrett College auditorium, beginning at 2:30 p.m. According to conductor Moe Turrentine, the program consists of a wide variety of holiday tunes – traditional, contemporary, and classical. Among them will be "Greensleeves," "March of the Toys," "Sleigh Ride," "Fantasia for Christmas," the jazzy "Baby, It's Cold Outside," "A Chanukah Celebration," Bach's "Sleepers, Wake," and Mannheim Steamroller's "Fum, Fum, Fum." Tickets for the concert will be available at the door at a cost of $8 for adults, $2 for students, and free for pre-schoolers. There will also be available for purchase in the lobby a variety of musical gift items. The GCC Band, which consists of a membership with an age span of teens to 80-plus, is a non-profit organization that typically presents three concerts per year. Rehearsals are held on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. in the GC auditorium, and new members are always welcome.

G-FORCE Brings Home Two Awards From State FTC Championships

by Arlene Lantz, coach

G-FORCE, the Garrett County 4-H FIRST Tech Challenge Robotics Team, continued to inspire others as they competed in the Maryland State FTC Championship at the College of Southern Maryland this past weekend. They returned victorious to Garrett County with the Winning Alliance robot and the Think Award.

Over the past four months, the team has been busy designing, building, breaking, and redesigning a custom robot to compete in a brand new challenge. The 18"x18"x18" robot needed to complete a complex sequence of actions to release a ball chute, collect the balls as they roll out, and then shoot them into two different goals.

The team and their supporters took the robot to La Plata on Saturday to compete against 18 other Maryland teams. After a series of seven qualifying rounds, the team was the number one seed, which qualified G-FORCE for the first draft pick to form an alliance. G-FORCE selected the Tech Brick Team 7 from Owings Mills as its alliance partner. Together the two teams won the next four matches in a row to take the championship, and receive the Winning Alliance Award.

G-FORCE has built more than just a successful robot over the past year; the team has been building inspiration within the 4-H community nationwide. Over the past eight months, team members have engaged in over 1,000 hours of robotic community service, spreading the robotics message at demonstrations, tech camps, after-school programs, and at state and national 4-H events.

During the competition, the team is also judged on its ability to describe the key features of the team robot and the team's community outreach activities to a panel of judges. The judges also reviewed the team's engineering notebook, which documents the team's progress in designing its robot. Once again, the judges selected G-FORCE as one of their top picks, and awarded them the FIRST Tech Challenge Think Award.

This award is given to the team that best documents the "journey" the team took as its members experienced the engineering design process during the build season. The engineering notebook is the key reference for judges to help identify the most deserving team.

The Winning Alliance Award earned G-FORCE an invitation to the FTC World Festival in Atlanta, Ga., in April of 2010. The team will continue to work to improve the programming and robot performance over the next several months. G-FORCE also has several state 4-H robotic trainings and workshops planned in addition to the local SuGO Sundays and 4-H after-school programs the members enjoy helping with.

Those interested in seeing photos and video from the day should visit the team's web site at www.gforce2818.org and/or the GEARS web site at www.gearsinc.org. Persons can also Google "G-FORCE Team 2818" on YouTube.

The team extends thanks for support to the Garrett County 4-H, GEARS, National 4-H Council, Blackbear Enterprises, and Mark Craig of Craig & Associates.

Those interested in supporting the team's travels to Atlanta should contact Phil Malone at 301-387-2331.

HEALTH CARE EXPANSION CELEBRATED – The Maryland Health Care for All Coalition joined Garrett and Allegany county health and elected officials on Monday at the Grantsville Health Center to celebrate that 851 Garrett County residents and 1,798 Allegany County residents are among the more than 52,000 Marylanders who have benefited from the health care expansion created by the governor's Working Families and Small Business Health Care Coverage Act of 2007. Vincent DeMarco, president of the Maryland Citizens' Health Coalition, spoke at the event and emphasized that all western Maryland residents who may be eligible for coverage but are not yet enrolled can do so by telephoning 211. He noted that because of the aforementioned legislation, Maryland has gone from 44th to 16th in the country in health care coverage for adults. Pictured from left, front row (behind banner), are: Carol Bass, WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) coordinator, Garrett County Health Department (GCHD); Suzanne Gilbert, director of community outreach, Maryland Health Care for All Coalition; Crystal Moon, program enrollee; Senator George Edwards; and Delegate Wendell Beitzel. In the back are: Cindy Cassell, medical assistance care coordinator for the Allegany County Health Department (ACHD); Earleen Beckman, director of healthy families, GCHD; DeMarco; Margaret Wright, director of child health, ACHD; Karen Keefer, coordinator of special projects, GCHD; Rick DeWitt, director of human resources, GCHD; Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer; Tom Rosser, director of family investments, GCHD; and Robert Stephens, director of behavioral and family health, GCHD.

Oakland Driver Taken To GCMH Following Accident

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy responded to a single-vehicle accident on Garrett Highway that resulted in the transport of an Oakland resident to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred near Paul Friend Road on Tuesday at approximately 10 p.m. Investigation revealed that Jamie Lynn Friend, 24, had been traveling north when she lost control of her vehicle because of icy road conditions. The vehicle struck a ditch along the shoulder of the roadway.

Friend was taken by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH. No citations were issued for the accident.

Landfill To Be Closed On Sat. For Large Loads

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division along Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed on Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of trash beginning on Dec. 26 through March 13, 2010. The scales, office, and landfill will all be closed.

"This is a cost-effect benefit to the county because of the low number of customers that use the landfill and offices on Saturday during this time period," noted a division spokesperson.

The division will reopen for Saturday business on March 20, 2010, at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads, and until 4 p.m. for office business.

Homeowners may continue to bring their household trash and recyclables to the landfill on Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon.

Appliances will have a $5 bulk sticker fee for each item, and appliances with Freon will have a $10 (two bulk item sticker fees) for each appliance.

Applications for refuse site stickers will also be available on Saturdays from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours (Monday through Friday); or purchased at the Tax Collections Office in the county courthouse Monday through Friday.

Also available this year, previous sticker owners can purchase their refuse site stickers online at http://payments.garrettcounty.org.

W.Va. Man To Spend Time In Garrett Co. Jail

A 27-year-old Elk Garden, W.Va., man pleaded guilty in two cases in Garrett County Circuit Court this week. William Phillip Hebb received sentences totaling 18 months in the Garrett County Jail.

In the first case, Hebb pleaded guilty to one count of bad check uttering and received a one-year sentence. He had been charged by a local business in 2007, after passing four checks that were dishonored by the bank.

In the second case, Hebb pleaded guilty to possession of a controlled dangerous substance not marijuana charge and received a consecutive six-month sentence. He was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in July 2008 and charged with CDS violations and resisting arrest.

Deputies were looking for Hebb, as the court had issued a bench warrant for his arrest after he failed to appear in the District Court for the bad check case and he failed to appear in the Circuit Court for a previous possession of marijuana case.

After locating Hebb in Kitzmiller, deputies placed him under arrest, and he attempted to run. Deputies grabbed Hebb and effected the arrest. Four amphetamine pills and a smoking pipe were found in his pocket when he was searched after his arrest.

In other Circuit Court proceedings this week, Craig Pettis Clay, 41, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license and privilege. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Clay to one year in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended in favor of probation. Clay was also fined $1,000.

He was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police who stopped the vehicle Clay was driving on I-68 for a speeding violation. A check with the Motor Vehicle Administration revealed his license was revoked for a driving under the influence conviction in West Virginia.

In an unrelated case, Michael Alvy McCroskey, 35, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving while impaired by alcohol. Judge Sherbin sentenced him to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail, which he suspended.

McCroskey was placed on probation with conditions that include paying $575 in fines and costs.

He was charged by Maryland State Police in October 2008 after the vehicle he was driving was stopped for a speeding violation on Rt. 135. The trooper arrested McCroskey after observing signs he had consumed alcohol and administering field sobriety tests.

In other proceedings, a case against William Carlyle Sherwood Jr., 42, Kitzmiller, was placed on the stet docket in the Circuit Court. He was charged by investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office with child abuse and related charges after a juvenile reported events that had occurred in April.

"The court ruled last month that certain evidence obtained during the investigation was not admissible," State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch explained. "Therefore, the state elected to resolve the case with the stet, which requires Mr. Sherwood to have no contact with the victim."

OAKLAND'S FIRST WOMAN MAYOR SWORN IN – Peggy Jamison was officially sworn in Monday as Oakland's mayor, making history by being the first woman to take the position. She was sworn in by Tim Miller of Garrett County Circuit Court during the regular council meeting. She assumed the job of interim mayor when Asa McCain resigned several months ago from the post. Her position on the council will be taken over by Jack Rickman, who was also sworn in Monday night. He will serve until the March 2010 election. Terry Helbig resigned from the council earlier this year as well because of health issues, and Ryan Wolf was sworn in to take Helbig's place on the board. Wolf will serve until March 2011. Both men will be eligible to run for those council seats at the March elections. Jack Riley was appointed as the council president. The council holds its public meeting on the first Monday of the month at the Oakland Town Hall, located along Third Street.

penses for the jail. To date, $112,530 is available to cover the six-month contract period, leaving about $17,708 to cover out-of-facility services, dental services, hospitalization, and pharmaceuticals, according to Bowers.

The county's contract with Conmed will contain options for one-year renewal periods at certain fixed rates. If data from that period indicate those rates are in the county's best interest, the contract can be renewed. The commissioners, however, can rebid for medical services if the rates and Conmed's services are not to their liking.

Berkebile said it may sound strange to have a contract for only half a year.

"But for this particular issue, I think a six-month contract may be a good time to look over and view what goes on and then base your decision after that," he said.

Commissioner Fred Holliday made a motion to accept Conmed's six-month contract as presented, and Commissioner Denny Glotfelty seconded it. Commissioner Ernie Gregg opposed, as he wanted to make it clear that the county would review the contract before it was extended.

Two other companies, JPS Health Services and Southern Health Partners, also submitted RFPs to provide health care to local inmates. Both companies' bids were lower than Conmed's.

But a county selection committee ranked Conmed higher, based on such criteria as quality of service, experience, responsiveness, and cost proposals. Of a possible 600 points, the committee gave Conmed 457 points, Southern Health 401, and JPS 257.

Bowers said Conmed has a significant presence and proven track record in Maryland in providing inmate health care services. He added that Conmed references obtained by the sheriff's office were very good.

Maj. Schlossnagle also noted that Southern Health has no contracts in Maryland, while Conmed currently has contracts with 18 detention centers in the state.

The Garrett County commissioners published an RFP for inmate health care services following a Maryland Commission on Correctional Standards audit report in June.

Commission personnel had toured the Garrett County Jail in April. Their report stated the jail was 'found in compliance with the majority of standards for adult detention centers" and "tour observations revealed that the facility was sanitary and orderly." The document also stated that the jail is "managed by professional and dedicated personnel."

However, the commission staff had several concerns about the method of health care delivery at the jail.

Currently, the county contracts with a local doctor, who provides health care services for inmates

Undeserving... So Far...

President Barack Obama was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize during ceremonies today in Norway. He is the first sitting U.S. president in 90 years and the third ever to receive the prize, with Woodrow Wilson and Teddy Roosevelt being the other two. Jimmy Carter was also a recipient after he left office.

Approximately three quarters of the U.S. population believe that President Obama is undeserving of the prize, and for good reason. The announcement that he was going to receive the award occurred only months into the first year of his administration, long before he had time to accomplish much of anything, let alone something of the magnitude typical of the accomplishments of former winners. Even his service in the federal government prior to his election as president spanned only one term in the U.S. Senate.

When one looks back just at previous U.S. presidents, it seems that many more of them should have also received the prize, especially when comparing their actual accomplishments to those of our current president. Ronald Reagan, it seems, should have been selected, if for nothing more than his successful efforts in bringing down the Berlin Wall, marking an end to the Cold War. Ironically, Mikhail Gorbachev, president of the USSR at the time, did receive the award for that very reason.

One could make a case for Harry Truman to have received the award, for his controversial and difficult decision to utilize the atomic bomb. While it was a deadly act, there is no question that it abruptly restored world peace and without question saved perhaps millions of lives.

Even the maligned Richard Nixon could have been considered for the award for his successful efforts in finally getting us out of Vietnam and his reopening of diplomatic ties with China.

Thorbjorn Jagland, chair of the Nobel Prize selection committee, tried to defend the selection of President Obama, saying that the prize had "not just been used to honor specific achievements, but also to give momentum to a set of causes," adding, "The prize can thus represent a call to action."

Using that argument then, just about every U.S. president, along with hundreds of other world leaders, should receive the award, because among the goals of nearly all of them is to strive for and maintain world peace. (Perhaps we should just go ahead and give the Super Bowl trophy to the New Orleans Saints.)

It is, however, important to note that President Obama himself should not be criticized for having been selected to receive the award. Any blame for his selection should be leveled at Jagland and his committee, and not Obama. Further, it is commendable that the president intends to give the accompanying $1.4 milhon cash award to charity.

There is little question that Obama, like most of his predecessors, deeply desires world peace, and it is hoped by all of us that his efforts will someday justify his selection for the Nobel Peace Prize.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

By what right – by what duty – has the federal, or any governmental, body to dictate or manipulate insurance coverage, medical or otherwise, of its citizens? By what right has government to tax its producing citizens to give medical service to its non- or lesser-producers? The logical answer to both these questions is: none!

This, as with other forms of welfare, will produce more and more of those in need! What happens when the deadbeats out-populate the productive citizens who will support them?

As our country is sadly dying because of liberal, nitwit policy, some malevolent government such as China's will likely take over. Do the liberals think that for one minute China would feed our deadbeats? They would sooner turn them into feed for livestock or seafood.

To the Editor:

It's great that the local Rotary club(s) help individuals and families with gifts and food at Christmas, but not all people needing help get it.

Senior citizens (some who have worked hard all of their lives), and families with children get help, but not disabled individuals who do not have (cannot have) children, or who are not old enough. I know that senior citizens deserve it, but I also know that the community has various programs for the elderly to participate in, and I know that some families with children need help, but they also get help for each child, help because of more being in the household, and so on, and it's totally unfair to some who need help and cannot get it.

My wife and I are disabled. We didn't ask to be that way. It's bad that the Social Security Administration will not give a cost-of-living raise this year (although one can see the costs of living rising every day). It's worse yet when we are penalized by the system for being married and not just living together, for not being old enough to enroll in some programs, for not having children, and so on.

We cannot get help from the Rotary club(s) for those reasons either. We may not live to be senior citizens, and it angers me to see some young people who claim to be disabled working for cash under the table, living with one person and then another, and having three or four children by different mates, getting help. Why? Something is wrong with this picture.

To the Editor:

I read the book Call of Duty by Lt. Lynn "Buck" Compton and found some information that may be interesting to some of your readers. The following are quotes from the book:

"I find it easier to define true freedom – what we fought for in WWII and what we still fight for today – by pointing out what we fought against in the war. The Nazis of Hitler's Germany were officially known as the National Socialist Workers Party. It was a euphemism for a collectivist form of government, a government that wanted to erode personal freedoms. Following WWII, we have fought a series of wars, both hot and cold, against a similar type of collectivism. Sometimes it's called communism, sometimes socialism, sometimes terrorism. These are all terms for the same thing – collectivism – the idea that government can control production, distribution, and economic systems of a country better than the individual can.

"Our Constitution stands as a bulwark against collectivism and guarantees us a free-enterprise capitalist economy, where we are free to contract for and enjoy the fruits of our labor. Free-doms that we fought for and are being unthinkably and frivolously squandered today in many places. Every time our fellow citizens fall prey to class-envy arguments and the siren of socialism, we dishonor those who have fought and died in previous wars. Collectivism as an ideology promises to redistribute wealth through graduated income tax and estate tax. Collectivism sees nothing wrong with seizing private property without paying for it, all in the name of environmental protection. Collectivism ignores the precious blood that has been spilled in freedom's defense.

"Think of it this way: The Nazis were socialists. The Communists in Korea and Vietnam were socialists. The terrorists of today are ideological socialists – they're certainly not proponents of individual freedoms. Terrorists want to knock out our form of government, which allows freedom of thought, travel, religion, and speech. They want to do away with our social climate, which allows us the room for dissenting and controversial opinions and practices. They want to destroy our economy, which allows for individual successes based on initiative and hard work."

Sounds like America today. Some of you won't agree, and that's your freedom – for now. Lt. Compton fought with Easy Company in WWII. Read or watch the Band of Brothers and you will see what these men endured for freedoms that are being taken away today.

To the Editor:

I read and enjoy every word, every week, of the column, "Strange, But True" (puzzle/comic page).

However, I have a slight problem with one of the statements made by author Samantha Weaver in the November 19 issue of The Republican.

She wrote that the country of Finland "has more islands than any other nation on Earth," I believe that is a mistake. Instead, I believe that Indonesia has more islands than any other country in the world.

While the 2005 World Book, Volume 7, for example, credits Finland with having thousands of islands (page 108), and has about 6,500 islands in the Aaland group (page 114), I was unable to find an exact total of all islands in Finland. Now, if it had been posited that Finland has more lakes than any other country in the world, I would think that is true since Finland is credited with more than 60,000 lakes (page 113). Perhaps this was what columnist Weaver meant to write.

As to the number of islands a nation has, however, the 2005 World Book, Volume 10, states in the introduction to Indonesia that it is a country which consists entirely of islands, more than 17,500 (page 226), of which more than 6,000 are inhabited (page 233). Thus, since Indonesia has almost the same number of inhabited islands as Finland's total of almost all virtually uninhabited islands, Indonesia apparently wins the test of which nation on Earth has the most islands.

It would be interesting to Google a number of additional sources to verify exactly how many islands each country is credited with having, and see if columnist Weaver has made a rare error in her reporting.

It would also be interesting to Google all nations on Earth to see whether I am mistaken, and if there is any other country which has even more islands than Indonesia! I only thought of Indonesia spontaneously when I read "Strange, But True" and questioned the facts.

I draw attention to this error because it is imperative that articles found in newspapers maintain the traditionally high journalistic standards for fact-finding so as to both fight declining newspaper readership and slow the march of less reliable blog stories into our lives.

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey

heroin after Task Force officers executed another search and seizure warrant at her residence in June. Various items of paraphernalia with traces of heroin were found in common areas of the residence.

Co-defendant Guy Daniels Miller is serving 12 years in prison after pleading guilty in two cases in September.

In an unrelated case, Michael Duane Reed, 45, Accident, was sentenced to three years in the Division of Corrections for manufacturing marijuana. Reed had pleaded guilty in October, and sentencing was postponed for a pre-sentence investigation report to be completed.

Reed was arrested and charged in March by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force who executed a search warrant at his residence. Officers found 31 marijuana plants growing in a closet, along with various items of paraphernalia used to grow the plants, according to the state's attorney.

Flu Vaccine

(CDC).

•With well over one million doses of vaccine delivered to Maryland's five target populations, demand for vaccination appears to be on the decline.

"Vaccine remains the best protection against flu, and Maryland is far from finished with this pandemic," said John M. Colmers, DHMH secretary. "Although H1N1 flu is generally a mild to moderate illness, some Marylanders continue to experience serious symptoms, some still require hospitalization, and unfortunately, we will continue to see some die from complications."

"We will continue to emphasize the five target populations who are at higher risk of complications because they should get vaccinated," said Fran Phillips, deputy secretary for Public Health Services. "Opening up this vaccine to the general population means we will soon be shipping to local pharmacies, making it even more convenient for Marylanders in the target groups to get vaccinated."

According to DHMH, health care providers who primarily serve members of the target populations have been shipped the bulk of their vaccine requests. Local health departments have advised DHMH that sufficient supplies of vaccine are available to complete the planned school-based vaccination campaigns.

The five target populations include:

•Pregnant women,

•Parents, household contacts, and caregivers for children younger than 6 months of age,

•Health care and emergency medical services personnel,

•All people from 6 months through 24 years of age, and •Persons aged 25 through 64 years who have health conditions associated with higher risk of medical complications from influenza.

As of Tuesday, local health departments will be able to vaccinate anyone who seeks it, with a focus on reaching members of the five target groups.

Should the CDC's daily vaccine allocations to Maryland continue in sufficient amounts, there could be enough vaccine by the holidays so that anyone who wishes to get vaccinated may be able to find it at a time and place that is convenient. That could include a doctor's office, the local health department, and several retail pharmacies beginning as early as next week.

dow after the occupants returned. A sum of $40 cash was reported missing.

Deputies interviewed various persons in the community who had seen a man in the area and got descriptions of him and his vehicle. This later led to Holler, who admitted to the burglary and theft, the state's attorney said.

Deputies had investigated a burglary and theft from a residence along Maple Grove Road, Grantsville, in October 2007. A quantity of cash was removed from an envelope in the house. An anonymous tipster had named Holler as a suspect, but no further evidence was developed at the time.

Holler was fingerprinted when arrested for the recent case. Those fingerprints were compared to prints obtained in the 2007 investigation and were found to be a match. Holler also confessed in this case, the state's attorney said.

In an unrelated case, Jason Wayne Hale, 35, Swanton, admitted in Circuit Court to violating his probation in two cases. Two 30-day sentences were imposed.

Hale had been sentenced in 2004 to a total of one year in the Garrett County Jail for two driving under the influence offenses. He was placed on probation after serving part of that sentence, but he absconded from probation supervision.

Recently, he returned to Garrett County, where he was arrested on the outstanding warrants.

Inmate Health

one day per week. If the physician is unavailable on a particular day, a physician's assistant fills in. The other six days of the week, medical care is provided by the non-medical correctional staff, the audit report noted.

The document further stated that "on several occasions the physician and/or the physician's assistant may not provide medical services for two weeks."

Although the correctional staff has access to the contracted physician via pagers, "the majority of medical operations fall upon the correctional staff."

Procedures conducted by the staff have included triaging medical complaints, administering several types of medication, maintaining medical files, and collection of sick call slips.

"This undue burden upon the correctional staff compromises the medical department's ability to provide confidential and consistent medical treatment to the inmates," the audit report stated.

The commission, therefore, "strongly" recommended that the jail employ a full-time registered nurse who would be responsible for the daily maintenance of the medical department in conjunction with the physician.

"This position would ensure that adequate, consistent, and confidential medical services are provided," the audit report stated. "In addition to sufficient medical coverage, a delegating manager registered nurse could provide training for facility staff to become certified medication technicians. These trained staff members would be supervised to properly administer medications."

After receiving the audit report, the Garrett County commissioners and sheriff agreed to and committed to a plan of corrective action and compliance by the end of the calendar year, county administrative Monty Pagenhardt said.

The commissioners awarded two other RFPs on Tuesday. They unanimously approved Canaan Valley Institute's (CVI) proposal of $20,979 to provide engineering services for the Hoyes Run Stream Restoration Project.

The initiative is a partnership between the Maryland Department of Transportation's State Highway Administration (SHA), Garrett County government, and the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association.

Hoyes Run originates near Deep Creek Lake and discharges into the Yough River, which is a designated Wild and Scenic River, as well as a destination trout stream. Hoyes Run is unique in that brown, brook, and rainbow trout all reproduce in this small stream.

An SHA spokesperson recently noted that sediment resulting from bank erosion is a leading cause of the loss of habitat. Runoff from local roadways and new development in the area are increasing the erosion on the banks along Hoyes Run. In addition, large, mature native trees are succumbing to the bank erosion, creating further degradation of the stream bank as well as its fragile ecosystem.

SHA plans to stabilize and regrade the stream bank to create a more stable slope.

Funded entirely through an SHA Transportation Enhancement Program grant, CVI's portion of the project will be completed in four phases: study and preliminary design, final design, bidding, and construction.

CVI will subcontract with Highland Engineering & Surveying Inc. to provide land surveying services for the project.

Competitive bidding for the restoration work will occur in spring 2010, according to SHA.

By a majority vote, the commissioners also approved a $39,200 proposal from Downstream Strategies of Morgantown W.Va., to conduct an acid mine drainage remediation study.

Total funding available for the project is $40,000. County purchasing agent Bowers noted that funding for this project is as follows: Appalachian Regional Commission, $20,000; Maryland Bureau of Mines, $9,000; Maryland Department of Natural Resources, $8,000; and Garrett County, $3,000.

Of the four companies that submitted proposals, Downstream's was the highest. A local company, Century Engineering, submitted the lowest bid at $22,500.

Commissioner Glotfelty questioned why the selection committee recommended the highest bidder for the project. Bowers indicated that based on such criteria as quality and past experience, Downstream received the highest number of points, 452 of a possible 600, from the selection committee. That group included DNR and Bureau of Mines representatives.

Bowers also noted that Downstream had completed an acid mine study on the west branch of Susquehanna River that is very similar to the one to be conducted in Garrett County.

Glotfelty and Gregg voted in favor of Downstream. Holliday voted no.

SARA M. KYLE

Sara M. "Peggy" (Casteel) Kyle, 85, passed away quietly on Wednesday, Dec. 2, 2009, at Porter Hospice at St. Anthony Central Hospital, Denver, Colo.

Her husband, Sam B. Kyle Jr., a prominent attorney in Clarksburg, W.Va., preceded her in death in 1983.

Born in Oakland, in 1924, to Beural Ashby and Everett Casteel, Peggy graduated from Oakland High School in 1941. She and her lifetime friend, Rachel Sue Evans, attended and graduated from Mtn. State College in Parkersburg, W.Va.

Peggy worked briefly at the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D.C., before meeting and marrying Sam Kyle in Washington in 1946. Although she made her home in Bridgeport, W.Va., Peggy maintained her ties to Garrett County through friends and property at Deep Creek Lake throughout her life. She was active in many civic organizations and enjoyed traveling, art, and politics.

She is survived by her son, Sam Kyle III, and her daughter, Allison K. Priddy, both of Westminster, Colo.; her sister, Elaine Watson, Long Beach, Calif.; and her granddaughters, Erin Hazen, Chesapeake, Va., and Alexa Priddy, Salem, Ore.

Her ashes will be distributed by her closest friends and family members in 11 private remembrance ceremonies from the rocky coast of Pebble Beach, Calif., to her ancestral home in Garrett County, with each marking events, places, and interests that helped shape her joyous life.

PAUL D. DEAL

Paul D. Deal, 70, Salisbury, Pa., died Monday, Dec. 7, 2009, at Somerset Hospital, Somerset, Pa.

Born July 21, 1939, in Greenville Township, Pa., he was the son of the late Clarence W. and Myrtle C. (Meese) Deal. He was also preceded in death by two brothers, C. Delmas Deal and Darrell W. Deal.

He was a member of Greenville Lutheran Church.

He retired after 30 years of service as produce manager for Acme Markets. Following retirement, he established Deal's Nursery and Landscaping, which he then sold to Hoffman's Nursery and continued as a landscaping and nursery consultant with Hoffman's. He most recently worked for Level Acres Nursery and Landscaping.

He is survived by his wife, Carol J. (Briskey) Deal; one son, Michael E. Deal, Silver Spring; and one brother, Terry L. Deal, Salisbury.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Salisbury, where a service was conducted on Wednesday, Dec. 9, with the Rev. David E. Fetter officiating.

Interment was held in Greenville Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Greenville Lutheran Church.

ERIC M. AMMANN

Eric Maria Ammann, 83, much loved husband, father, grandfather, brother, and uncle, died at his home in Deer Park on Friday, Dec. 4, 2009.

Born Jan. 19, 1926, in Stuttgart, Germany, Eric resided in Deer Park since 1958. Eric was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church. An avid sailor, Eric (with his wife Mary as a partner) was the owner of Gordon Douglass Boat Company, the predecessor of Flying Scot Inc.

Eric is survived by his best friend and wife of 60 years, Mary Baseler Ammann; five children, Albert and wife Rhonda, Lawrence and wife Katie, Dorothy and husband Kimber, Margaret, and Paul and wife Becky; six grandchildren, Eric, Drew and wife Maria, Melissa and husband Tyler, Stephen, Paul, and Matt; four sisters, Brita and husband Luis, Ellen, Margaret, and Harriet; and one sister-in-law, Dorothee.

In accordance with Eric's wishes, his remains were cremated.

A memorial mass will be conducted at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, Oakland, on Saturday, Jan. 9, 2010, at 11 a.m.

In lieu of flowers, expressions of sympathy may be directed to Hospice of Garrett County, P.O. Box 271, Oakland, MD 21550.

Eric's family would like to express their heartfelt appreciation to Hospice, Dr. Thomas Johnson and staff, the nursing staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and all the countless friends and neighbors who have so generously lent their support during Eric's final days.

David Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

TIMOTHY F. WILLIAMSON

Timothy Frank Williamson, 32, McHenry, died on Monday, Dec. 7, at home.

Born Nov. 8, 1977, in Cumberland, he was the son of M. Frank Williamson Jr. and Doretta Patricia (Law) Williamson.

Tim had one sister, Jane D. Williamson.

Tim worked since he was 14 with his father in the family business, Action Hardware and Fasteners. He was an avid skier and a former member of the Wisp NASTAR Ski Team. He enjoyed the outdoors and mountain biking, and had obtained the level of Life in the Boys Scouts of America. He was an enthusiastic lifelong collector of popular culture memorabilia

Throughout his life, he was devoted to the care of his pets, and their companionship was important to him.

He shared his loving heart with his sweetheart, Katrina "Kate" Durst. Their relationship was blooming into something quite special.

Twice this fall he attended family reunions. With his father's family, he enjoyed sharing the lake activities. With his mother's family this Thanksgiving, Tim joined his family and his aunts, uncles, and cousins in Charleston, S.C., to celebrate his grandmother's 90th birthday. Everyone enjoyed his presence, and his smile will be dearly missed by the family.

He was a member of Zion Lutheran Church of Accident.

Arrangements are pending for a viewing at the Newman Funeral Home, Accident.

In lieu of flowers, expressions of sympathy may be made at a planned future memorial service.

Longest Night Service

Christmas is a time of rejoicing and sharing for most of us. But for some, it is a time of bittersweet memories of those who have been such a part of our lives and are now gone.

This is the season of joy, but it is also the time of the longest, darkest nights of the year.

This year, on the Longest Night of the year, we offer a quiet service to remember, share our pain with God, and renew our hope in the Light that is coming this Christmas.

Join us Monday night, December 21, at 7 p.m. for a time of reflection, music, and healing prayer. All are welcome.

"GIVE A GIFT THAT WON'T SIT IN THE CLOSET – HELP AN ANIMAL," requests Garrett County Humane Society president Lisa Baker. Her group is once again making gift giving "extra special" this holiday season. "Do you have someone on your list that has everything or doesn't want a gift?" Baker asks. "You can make a monetary gift to the Humane Society for us to use to help the neglected and homeless animals in this county." The group provides hundreds of spay/neuter vouchers for local pets each year, plus promotes adoptions from the county shelter through The Republican's Adoptables and on Petfinder.com. "For the last two years, we have been the only organization to respond to all animal neglect calls, numbering already over 150 this year alone," Baker noted. "To make a gift donation, please send the following information with your check to : GCHS, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. Please include the following information, which we will put in a Christmas thank-you card: Who the gift is from, who it is in memory/honor of, and the name and address of who should receive the gift card.

Adorable Adoptables

"I'LL BE HOME FOR CHRISTMAS?" Several pets are currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter this holiday season. They include a male white husky wearing a collar that was picked up as a stray in Lonaconing, a female hound mix with huge ears that was left at the shelter after hours, a female border collie with a collar but no tags that was picked up last week in Grantsville, and a large, very thin neutered male tabby that was found at Beckman's Peninsula. "There have been several adoptions each week, but there are always new dogs and cats coming in," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "We have black and dark grey cats, brown tabbies, orange tabbies, black/white tuxedos, and a calico. If you want to have a meaningful Christmas, then adopt from a shelter or rescue and save a life. With cold weather upon us, please provide adequate shelter with warm bedding for all your outdoor pets." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

12 DJS Youth To Graduate GC Program Friday

The Department of Juvenile Services and DJS Secretary Donald W. DeVore will celebrate the graduation of 12 youth from the Garrett College program offered at the Backbone Mountain Youth Center. The graduation ceremony will commence this Friday, Dec. 11, at 11 a.m. at the Garrett College auditorium, McHenry.

This program allows selected youth to take three college classes from Garrett College and earn up to nine college credits. The collaboration between the Department of Juvenile Services and Garrett College began in the fall of 2006. Courses offered to the youth typically include English, computer, and leadership classes. Since the program's inception, 106 youths have completed the program, with over 40% continuing their college education or pursuing careers in the workforce or military.

"This vital program gives youth a chance to explore new ideas and allows for additional growth and development," stated DeVore. "We recognize that education is critical to the long term success of our youth and want to afford them the opportunity for higher education."

Open also will be the Greatest Generation Society WWII Museum. The market is sponsored by the Rowlesburg Revitalization Committee.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Maple Spring Church of the Brethren invites the community to a Reason for the Season open house and party beginning at 2 p.m. this Saturday, Dec. 12. Activities will be provided for visitors of all ages.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

A play Welcome, King and selections by the choir, along with other Christmas worship, will be presented for the public at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. There will also be a candlelight praise service on Christmas Eve, Thursday, Dec. 24, beginning at 7 p.m.

SANTA VISITING

Santa will be visiting the Aurora Elementary School on Friday, Dec. 18, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. He will be giving treats to all visiting children before the Christmas program, which will take place at 7 p.m. that evening.

RECYCLING SATURDAY

Aurora School will be accepting recyclables this Saturday, Dec. 12, from 9 to 11 a.m.

BETHEL PLANS CHRISTMAS

Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run, will present a Christmas program on Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 p.m. All are invited to attend.

PERSONAL

Jane Bachtel, Eglon, has been a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she underwent surgery last week.

Jesse Gnegy Jr., Gorman, was taken to a Morgantown hospital for a heart attack on Friday. He underwent heart surgery on Monday. His older brother Paul is an Amboy resident.

Keith Wotring, Aurora, is a patient at a Pittsburgh, Pa., hospital, where he underwent back surgery.

Homer Huffman has returned to his Aurora home after being treated at GCMH for injuries sustained when he fell from a roof. He was repairing a leak and slipped on his way down the ladder. He fell to the porch roof and then to the ground, receiving fractures in his wrist and two vertebrae.

Many churches and private residences along Rt. 50 have lights displayed, including the Aurora Area Christmas Tree at the Aurora Community Building, which will be lit this Sunday evening, Dec. 13.

Bell Choir Slates Mt. Storm Concert

The Antioch Bell Choir will perform at Mt. Storm United Methodist Church on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall following the program.

Preston County Choir To Present Christmas Concert

The Preston County Choir will be presenting their "Christmas Concert" on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. at the Wesley Methodist Church in Kingwood and on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 3 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Terra Alta.

The group will sing a variety of Christmas selections, under the direction of Wayne Williams, with Kent Pomeroy at the piano.

CORTLAND STAFFERS SUPPORT FOOD PANTRIES – In lieu of personal Christmas gift exchanges, members of the staff at Cortland Acres in Thomas decided instead to brighten the holidays for needy folks in the Tucker County area by collecting and contributing much-needed food items and other essentials to local food pantries. Housing manager Kelley Young and office manager Denise Leary posed the idea to fellow staffers after learning that food pantries in Tucker County were running low on supplies. "This is a wonderful way to give to those in our community who are less fortunate than we are," said Young. The general public is also encouraged to make donations. Items will be accepted through the week of Christmas, when collections will be divided between the Parsons Food Bank and Mountain Food Bank. Donations may be left at the Cortland business office. All non-perishable food items or paper products are welcome, as well as hygienic items such as shampoo, toothpaste, tooth brushes, bar soap, deodorant, dishwashing liquids, toilet paper, tissues, and paper towels. Staff members pictured above, from left, are Connie Shahan, Wanda Trader, and Tammy Michael.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It is not terribly surprising that we got a real snowstorm at the beginning of December. Someone told me we got about six inches. It looks like we will get more because of the snow falling during the day (Saturday).

Brother Barry made the wrong decision to stay in Thurmont. There was only a light coating on the ground, but Barry tried to ski in his yard. He said it wasn't real skiing, but it made him sore. But today in Bittinger we have perfect cross-country skiing conditions. Plus, it is even sunny.

I don't know where my skis are. Anyway, I am too banged up from the fall on the ice on the way to our family's Thanksgiving last Friday. Plus, I got almost no sleep last night. So I am pleased to stay inside and watch an important Steelers game.

It was good to see quarterback Ben Roethlisberger back, but still no Troy Polamalu on defense. And we really could use him. If he were playing, the Steelers would have gotten a key interception.

This is way too close for comfort. And we just had a very scary moment. Two Steelers defensive players had a head-on-head collision. It looked bad for one, but then he was able to sit up.

I was never as disappointed about a Steelers game as I am about today's. I am in shock. They lost in the fourth quarter to the Oakland Raiders, 27-24, and it may mean the end of any hope for another Super Bowl win. That makes facing the long cold winter much harder, even if we do have the Winter Olympics in February.

The worst thing about today's game was that Claire rooted for the Raiders. She doesn't understand how lucky we are here in Garrett County to be a part of "Steeler Nation," and what a proud tradition the Steelers have. It makes me heartsick.

One evening last weekend, Boo had major trouble standing up. Her hindquarters seemed very weak, like Joey at the end of his life. I was so afraid she may be in her last days. That is hard to even think about.

But one day early in the week I was away from home all day. And she did the usual celebration when the car I was riding in turned in the lane. She always runs out and jumps up and down. When I am ready to get out of the car, she does a kind of dance featuring big jumps. And today, she frolicked in the snow with her mistress Claire. So I guess she is all right. Thank goodness. I can't imagine life without her.

Well, here it is 6 p.m. and it is pitch dark outside. I am fading fast. I hate winter!

With the state that the world and our nation are in, it is just too sad to even watch the news, even though lots of news stories are just lies promoting some special interests.

John McCain said President Obama got millions of dollars from the pharmaceutical industry. That does not make any sense. But McCain knows personally how lobby monies flow into the pockets of public office holders.

Do you believe the "Emailgate" scandal, the one alleged between top scientists expressing their doubt about global warming? It is totally bogus. I saw plenty of photographs of the melting of ice in the polar regions at the top of Mt. Everest. Is that just coincidence after more than a century of industry-belching pollution? I doubt it.

Does it make any sense that the Pentagon plans to leave billions of dollars worth of war machines in Iraq? No, it doesn't. Would they be worthless in Afghanistan and Pakistan? Who would get their dirty hands on them? It makes about as much sense as starting a major deep coal mine in Grantsville while the days of coal are pretty much over.

Of course, our elected representatives, Wendell Beitzel and George Edwards, are among those who don't believe in man-made climate change.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish will offer the Holden Evening Prayer worship service next Wednesday, Dec. 16, beginning at 6 p.m. at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger. This song service will be followed by a light meal and fellowship.

The parish will go Christmas caroling at Goodwill Mennonite Homc this Saturday, Dec. 12.

A Christmas tea will be served for the women of the parish at Emmanuel Lutheran Church at 2 p.m. this Sunday, Dec. 13. Those planning to attend are asked to bring a finger food to share.

Sarah Palin advocates that American leaders boycott the climate summit in Copenhagen. One reason is that she seems clueless about the real problems in the lower 48, like joblessness, all kinds of economic trouble, and states unable to keep their public servants, like policemen and teachers.

Among the people in Copenhagen is an elderly Eskimo who told about the devastating effect of the warming of our climate in Palin's community. She may see Russia from her house, but she can't see what is happening in her own state.

Too many Americans are clinging to the irrational belief that the climate changing is just a left-wing lie. But those Americans who believe in science know that it's a real big problem. And our country must bear much of the rcsponsibility for it. It's a big problem for our country, but not as big as for an island soon to be under the ocean, or the many poor African nations without water to grow any crops. Remember, Jesus loves all children in the world... black, brown, and red are precious to Him.

For some people, if you are not included in the base category of white Republican Americans, tough luck. The opposite attitude is the reason why President Obama won the Nobel Peace Prize, and why he deserves it, regardless of how many troops he sends into Afghanistan. The ordinary people of that nation don't want to see the American troops leave, because they will be at the mercy of the peoplc whom we are trying to defeat.

But the fact that he cares about them does not make him "our Islam president," which is what the extreme right call him. He is more Christian than any president since Jimmy Carter. Both really live their faith. Christ said, "Whatever you do to the least onc, you do to me." So even if they are out of sight like the starving African masses, how we treat them matters to Christ. To me, that is the most primary and most important mcssage of the Gospels.

I understand why some people object to abortion. We should reduce that as much as possible. But that doesn't mean that we can't use the thousands of unwanted frozen embryos to advance fctal stem-cell research when we have the huge potential to save lives or improve the quality of life for thousands of people like myself. Because strokes are among the many dreadful diseases, like heart attacks, diabetes, Parkinson's disease, and almost any kind of nervous disorder.

I can hardly imagine what my life would be like with some of my normal functions. I would not be in favor of harvesting embryos for research, but there are thousands of frozen embryos that are due to be destroyed. I do not understand why they couldn't be uscd by infertile couples, but they are not. But imagine if we could repair spinal injuries so thousands of paralyzed people could lead normal lives. That would be a wonderful thing, and a major savings in national health care. I hope cell research is adequately funded.

SUPPORT FOR LANDON'S LIBRARY – First United Bank & Trust, Oakland, announced this week that it has partnered with several local Garrett County businesses to support Landon's Library, a non-profit organization that is partnered with Dolly Parton's Imagination Library to present new, carefully selected books to every registered preschooler in Garrett County each month until their 5th birthday. Pictured are Landon's parents, Crystal and Brian Boal, with Phil Rodeheaver, president of marketing for First United. See story on page B-3 for more information.

MARIA AND DANNY TO PERFORM – Maria Rose and Danny Elswick will perform this Saturday, Dec. 12, in Oakland at 12:30 p.m. at the Historical Society gazebo. Maria and Danny have traveled overseas on 11 USO tours to perform for the Armed Forces. They can be seen frequently on the "Midwest Country" nationwide TV show on RFD-TV. They've released a DVD and 11 CDs, the latest of which is by Maria called Originals, featuring all her self-penned songs. Maria is a recipient of the "Presidential Point of Light" Award, has hosted her own TV show, and has appeared on numerous national TV and radio shows. Danny is the music and instrumental talent behind the duo's music background tracks, recording all instruments and backup harmonies in their own Mada Recording studio. Maria and Danny were recently inducted into the Midwest Country Music Hall of Fame and received the "Gospel CD of the Year" Award. They both host a radio show on WELD in Fisher, W.Va., every first and third Sunday at 5:30 p.m., which features their own recordings, along with many regional and national music guests.

Pratt's Work Part Of Internat'l Exhibit, "Cross Pollination," At Chicago Gallery

A piece of "encaustic" art by local artist Sonia Pratt was accepted for an international juried show in Chicago recently, and is on exhibit at the Woman Made Gallery. The piece is part of an exhibit titled "Cross Pollination." The pieces in the show were created by 31 women using what is known as the oldest painting technique, dating back to the 4th century B.C.

Pratt, who lives just outside of Oakland, is a retired teacher of the Garrett County public school system who now works full-time as an artist and has been exhibiting professionally for about 10 years. She looks mostly online for juried shows in which to enter her work, she said.

"I look for opportunities that are compatible with both the medium I am working with and the content of my art," Pratt said. "I look for high quality juried shows and submit my work."

The "Cross Pollination" exhibit is Pratt's second international show. The first was at the International symposium on Art/Culture/Nature in Flagstaff, Ariz.

The encaustic technique is done by layering beeswax in thin layers and fusing each layer with heat.

"I have been interested in the encaustic technique for a long time," the artist said. "I studied it in art history, both the ancient use of it and Jasper Johns' contemporary application. Two years ago I had a chance to take an introductory class at Arrowmont School of the Arts in Gatlinburg, Tenn. I have worked with the medium since then. It is a challenging technique because it is very different from any previous painting medium that I have used. I have learned to make my own paints and mediums and use local beeswax whenever possible.

"It gives my work a very earthy look. I also like the fact that I can be involved in the total process, from raw materials to the finished product," she said. "I am always learning something new about encaustic."

Pratt is planning to have a show at Garrett College next September featuring her encaustic work and other pieces.

Pratt taught art at Southern High School for 34 years, and served one year as a traveling art instructor. She graduated from Fairmont State University with a degree in art education/English. She has also studied at TICA (Teachers Institute in Contemporary Art), Art Institute of Chicago; Minneapolis College of Art and Design, Minneapolis; Minn., and at several other colleges and universities.

The exhibit at the Woman Made Gallery will be on display through Dec. 23. A reception for the 31 international artists was held on Nov. 20.

ASCI CONTINUES SUPPORT OF LOCAL ARTISTS – The Adventure Sports Center International will be hosting two artist's receptions this weekend to continue its support of area artists at its "Mountaintop Shop." A reception will be held this Friday, Dec. 11, from 6 to 8 p.m., and will feature award-winning artist Judith Becker, showcasing her watercolors, pastels and colored pencil paintings of landscapes, wildlife and florals. Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served, including cheese provided by Firefly Farms, Garrett County's internationally award-winning cheese makers. Elee Bookout will be honored at a tea reception this Saturday, Dec. 12, from 2 to 4 p.m., at ASCI, showcasing her pottery, shown above. Bookout has worked as a professional potter for over 50 years. Artist receptions will be held all winter at ASCI on Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. The receptions seek to promote local art and artisans, and will connect art collectors and gift shoppers with authentic works that speak of Garrett County's creative energy. All receptions are open to the public, and all art is for sale. For more information, persons may call ASCI at 301-387-3250 or e-mail asci@adventuresports-center.com.

Bittinger Church To Present Play

The Bittinger Mennonite Church will present the play "Jehovah Messiah" on Friday, Dec. 18, beginning at 7 p.m.

"This program goes beyond the norm of the conventional Christmas program," a spokesperson said. "More than just a story of a baby in a manger, this presentation demonstrates the forces of evil, helping us to see why Jesus came to save us."

Admission is free, and everyone is welcome. A free-will offering will be taken to help a couple with large hospital bills above what their insurance covered.

The program will be given at the Bittinger Mennonite Church/Gymnasium located along Route 495 on the south side of Bittinger. For more information, persons may call 301-895-5701.

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is still accepting submissions for its sixth annual Garrett County Vacation Guide Contest. The deadline for entries is Saturday, Dec. 19.

"Our residents and visitors capture a variety of terrific images of our wonderful county, and we are proud to show them off in our annual Vacation Guide," said Joyce Bishoff, interim chamber president.

Photos entered for the contest may be used by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce for two years. Credit will be given to the photographer whenever possible.

Entries for this year's contest should include the photographer's name, address, phone number, and e-mail address, and identified as being photos for the contest.

Entries are to be mailed to Vacation Guide Photo Contest, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, 15 Visitors Center Drive, McHenry, MD 21541, or e-mailed to photos@garrett-chamber.com.

SOUTHERN GOSPEL GROUP TO PERFORM – The Skyline Boys, a Southern Gospel quartet from Northern Virginia, will present two concerts in Garrett County this weekend. Both concerts are free and open to the public. A concert will be presented at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m., and the group will also perform this Sunday, Dec. 13, at 6 p.m. at Otterbein United Methodist Church, Swanton. A covered dish dinner will accompany the Sunday concert, beginning at 5 p.m. All are welcome to attend. The Skyline Boys began performing in 1995 at the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, at the beginning of the famous Skyline Drive. Over the years, the Skyline Boys have appeared all over the country and have made a name on television and radio. Though members have changed, the message has stayed the same. For questions or directions to either concert, persons should contact June McClosky at 301-387-2990.

Auditions For Charley's Aunt Slated At OTT

Our Town Theatre will hold auditions for Charley's Aunt, a British farce, which will be given at the Oakland theatre Feb. 14-21.

Auditions will be held in the theatre basement on Sunday, Dec. 13, from 1 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., and on Monday, Dec. 14, from 7 to 9 p.m. Persons who cannot attend at those times may make a special appointment by calling 301-334-5640.

The cast includes six men, three in their late teens or early 20s, and three aged 40 or above; and four women, three in their late teens or early 20s, and one aged 40 or older.

Written by Brandon Thomas in the early 1890s, the play is appropriate for all family members from age 8 and up, according to Jane Avery, director.

"Back in Victorian times, young, unattached gentlemen and ladies were never permitted to be in each other's company without the presence of a chaperone," Avery said. "It's 1890. Jack Chesney loves Kitty Verdun, and his friend Charlie Wyckham loves Amy Spettigue. They invite the ladies to lunch so they can flirt with them and use the pretense of introducing them to Charley's aunt from Brazil.

"But the millionaire aunt throws the boys into confusion by cancelling at the last minute. The problem is solved by stuffing their Oxford undergrad pal into a black satin skirt, bloomers, and a wig. As Charley's 'aunt,' this charming frump is introduced to all the guests, and classic comic confusion ensues."

Questions may be addressed to Avery at 301-334-5640, ext. 3. This play is funded in part by the grants from Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council, and is being produced through a special arrangement with Samuel French Inc

Dinner Theater Scheduled At Meadow Mtn.

A dinner theater will be held at Meadow Mountain Mennonite Church, near Swanton, on Sunday, Dec. 20, beginning at 6 p.m.

Church members will present the play In Bethlehem Inn, which depicts what may have happened at the inn the night that Jesus Christ was born.

The evening will include a meal, the play, special music, and Christmas carols by candlelight.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge, but a freewill offering will be taken. For reservations, persons may call 301-387-2763 or 301-387-5229.

Choral Society Offers Refunds For Sat. Tickets

Because of severe weather conditions, the Garrett Choral Society was forced to cancel one performance of its annual holiday concert, which was scheduled for Saturday evening at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church near Bittinger.

The Sunday afternoon concert was held as scheduled, at which Saturday tickets were honored.

Donna Callis, president of the society, said that ticketholders for the Saturday performance who were not able to attend Sunday's concert may contact her for a refund, or they may exchange their tickets for a charitable-donation tax receipt.

"We were disappointed that we had to cancel our Saturday performance," she said, "but decided to do so out of concern for the safety of our own members and those planning to attend.

"We are grateful for the continued support of our audiences," she added.

Those who wish to get a refund or a receipt may telephone Callis at 301-334-5971.

Kayla Lowdermilk Again Crowned Miss Md. Princess

Local resident Kayla Lowdermilk was selected as a 2009 Miss Maryland Princess and was officially crowned by Miss Maryland, Louise Schlegel, at Hagerstown's Valley Mall in June. This is Kayla's second year as a Miss Maryland Princess.

She is in the third grade at Yough Glades Elementary School and is the daughter of Joyce Lowdermilk, Loch Lynn, and Rickey Lowdermilk, Oakland.

In its fifth year, the Miss Maryland Scholarship Organization has selected young girls, ages 3 to 12, from across the state to serve as princesses. Each princess selected has a Miss Maryland contestant as a mentor for the year and participates in all Miss Maryland Scholarship Organization events.

The princesses were special guests at the Miss Maryland preliminary competitions and the crowning of Miss Maryland 2009-2010. They were also featured performers for the Miss Maryland Outstanding Teen Program at the Maryland Theatre in Hagerstown in June.

PUPPETS GO CODE RED AT PLEASANT VIEW – The Pleasant View Baptist Church are once again opening its doors for an all-new Christmas puppet show for the next two weekends. The church has hosted a Christmas puppet show annually for several years. This year the show will be presented at the church Dec. 11, 12, 13, 18, 19, and 20. Code Red, An E.R. Christmas is the title of this year's show, which will feature a colorful cast of 40 different Jim Henson style puppets. "The four main characters are waiting in the E.R. at 'Wise Mon' General Hospital for a friend who was in an accident. While waiting, they encounter a few interesting situations and get to know the hospital staff pretty well," a spokesperson said. "There will be catchy songs, special lighting and effects, a multi-level 40 ft. stage, and the wonderful message of Christmas." All seats for this family-friendly show are free but limited, so persons must make reservations. Many seats have already been reserved, but there are still seats available. To reserve seats online, persons may go to www.pleasantviewbc.org. Online reservations will be confirmed by e-mail. Persons may also call 301-334-8515. The Friday show times are 7 p.m. The Saturday show times are 2, 4, and 6 p.m., and Sunday's show times are 4 and 6 p.m. "The Pleasant View Baptist Church congregation considers this as their Christmas present to the community," the spokesperson said. "We welcome all to attend." The Pleasant View Baptist Church is located 2 miles south of Oakland along U.S. Route 219.

Christmas Program Slated At United Methodist Church

The Deep Creek United Methodist Ministries of Hoyes and Paradise will be holding their Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 13, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Hoyes Chapel.

The program is titled "A Simple Christmas Pageant" and is a "multi-generational pageant that is reminiscent of a slower, gentler time" stated a spokesperson. "The music and carols are familiar, and there are many opportunities for everyone to sing along."

A time of fellowship and refreshment will follow in the church fellowship hall. All are invited to come for the celebration.

All-You-Can-Eat Breakfast Offered By Sixth Graders

Northern Middle School sixth grade students and their parents will host an all-you-can-eat buckwheat and pancake breakfast at the school on Saturday, Dec. 19, from 8 to 11 a.m. The cost of the meal is $6 for adults, $4 for children ages 6 to 12, and free for children 5 and under.

Santa will also be visiting the breakfast. Pictures with Santa will be available, and various craft vendors will be selling holiday crafts.

All money raised will be put toward a one-week camp for the sixth graders at North Bay Environmental Learning Center on the Chesapeake Bay next spring. The community is encouraged to support the students. Those with questions or in need of additional information should contact Tonya Vernon at 301-616-4756.

GriefShare Series To Restart At St. Mark's Church

The GriefShare series of meetings will begin at St. Mark's Lutheran Church on Monday, Dec. 14, hosted by the church. GriefShare is a non-denominational Christian support program designed to help those who have lost a loved one, especially a child, parent, or spouse.

The program's 13 sessions will be held on Mondays at 7 p.m. in the church fellowship hall at 6 S. Second Street, Oakland.

Thousands of GriefShare grief recovery support groups are currently meeting throughout the United States, Canada, and several other countries, according to a spokesperson. Each session features a 30-minute video presentation highlighting one or more aspects of the grieving process, followed by guided individual and group discussion.

While the individual sessions do relate to each other, they are not completely dependent on each other, so those who miss a session or two will not feel left out, the spokesperson said. St. Mark's is offering the program to the community free of charge.

For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Loch Lynn Church Of God Choir To Present Concert

Loch Lynn Church of God Choir will present "Emmanuel" on Friday, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. and again on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 6 p.m.

"It is our hope that souls will be stirred by the majestic carol medleys, the tender cradle moments with Mary and her newborn son Jesus, and the passionate invitation to all to allow the infant King of all kings to call our hearts his home," commented a church spokesperson.

Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman and the congregation invited the public to attend. The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road, Oakland. For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-3221.

Lady Lakers Keep Pressure On In 60-50 Victory

The Garrett Lakers women's basketball team gave Potomac State fits with its constant defensive pressure, which allowed the Lakers to remain 10 points ahead in the final quarter for a 60-50 victory on Monday at home.

The Lakers hosted Guilford Technical College last Friday, and Harford Community College on Saturday, but results were not available.

Garrett led 41-30 at halftime and saw its lead grow to as many as 19 points midway through the second half. Points came from 11 different players, and Raven Brooks led the Lakers with 13 points, two of which were 3-pointers. She was the only player to score in double digits.

Leading Potomac was Chelsea Holcomb with her 15 points, scoring three 3-pointers. Teammate Brittany Skyles added 14 points, and Aisha Short contributed eight points, three assists, and two steals.

The Lakers are scheduled to host Columbus State Community College on Saturday, and will then take a hiatus until they face CCBC Dundalk on January 6.

SHS Stuns Keyser In Season Opener With 51-39 Victory

Heidi Welch and Mariah Stem each scored in double digits to lead the varsity girls' basketball team of Southern High School over Keyser, 51-39, in its season opener in Oakland last night.

The Rams kept a steady lead through each quarter, ending the first 13-11. With 15 points added in the second, Southern went into halftime with a 28-23 lead, and coming out of the third quarter, the Rams were up 37-31.

Welch not only recorded 16 points for Southern, but she was the only Ram to hit a 3-pointer, accumulating five in the contest, and also tacked on a free throw. Stem added 10 points and finished with five field goals as well.

Keyser's scoring was balanced, with Carley Grady leading with eight points. Brooke Mangold and Meghan Anderson each recorded seven points and three field goals.

NHS Boys' Basketball Falls In Season Opener To Allegany

Just as predicted by head coach Ron Opel, Allegany posed a great challenge for the Northern High School varsity boys' basketball team as the Huskies fell, 57-35, in their season opener to the Campers last night in Accident.

Northern just couldn't get past a low scoring game as it recorded just two points to Allegany's seven in the first quarter. The Huskies managed just eight additional points in the second quarter to end, 28-10, at halftime. The Campers pushed for a 16-9 third quarter to begin the fourth, 44-19.

"The first quarter was slow on both ends," said Coach Opel. "I was happy with the job our defense did; holding Allegany to seven points, I'll take that any night. But they started to roll and quite frankly, we didn't. We just couldn't get anything going offensively. That's pretty much the story of the game."

Garrett Rayner, Alex Smith, and Trevor Tombley were the high scorers of the evening for Northern with six points a piece. Smith also hit two 3-pointers and two field goals.

Allegany was led by Casey Roberts with his two 3-pointers, eight field goals, and 16 points. Teammate Jordan Grady scored 10 points and hit five baskets.

The junior varsity game was won by Allegany, but details were not available.

Northern will be on the road on Friday night traveling to Garrett County rival Southern, and will then host Bishop Walsh on Tuesday.

Huskies Open The Season With 63-49 Loss To Allegany

Monday's game turned into an unwelcome opening season loss for the Northern High School girls' basketball team as it was defeated, 63-49, by host Allegany, an unforeseen tough opponent this season.

The Huskies kept a one point lead after the first quarter, but then trailed in the second with 20 points to the Campers' 25. Northern was unable to relinquish the lead, remaining down in the third by eight points, to start the fourth 40-32.

Scoring high for the Huskies was Morgan Brosnihan with her 15 points, collecting five 3-pointers and five field goals. Northern racked up a total of 10 3-pointers out of a total of 17 field goals. Adria Graham had four 3-pointers to aid in her 14 total points, and Kaitlynn Fratz recorded 11 final points.

Allegany's Leah Wormack dominated the court with her game-high 27 points, 14 rebounds, and a pair of blocks. Bailey Ellsworth added 12 points and five assists, and Kelly Baker put up 10 points to go with her seven rebounds, four assists, and three blocks.

The Huskies' jayvee team fell 49-22 to the Campers' junior varsity. Allegany was led by Alexa Sivic's 20-point performance.

Northern is scheduled to travel to Winters Mill on Saturday.

2009 Rotary Christmas Project

The Oakland Rotary Club and the Grantsville Rotary Club are seeking your help with this year's project. This rewarding and challenging event allows more than 400 Garrett County families, with close to 800 children and 150 senior citizens, to enjoy a special Christmas celebration in honor of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

As many in Garrett County struggle in these tough times, Rotary and its many partners are blessed to be able to give the gift of service to others.

Join us by taking one of the gift tags on trees throughout Garrett County or by sponsoring a family or senior citizen. All donations are tax deductible, and 100% of your donation goes to those in need. Rotary members cover any and all expenses. Thank you and God Bless.

Daryl Walters, Chairman
Rotary Christmas Project

Ram Wrestlers Open By Crushing Frankfort, Defeating Harford Tech

The highly touted Southern High School wrestling team picked up where it left off at the end of last season, opening with two victories in a tri-match last Thursday evening on the Ram mats.

The defending 1A/2A state champion Rams embarrassed Frankfort, 74-6, and handed always talented Harford Tech a 48-27 defeat.

The Rams lost only the 103-pound match against Frankfort, with Cody Vargo gaining a pin for the Falcons.

Recording pins for Southern were Gavin Murphy in the 119-pound division, Dakota Workman at 135 pounds, Matt Slone in the 140-pound clash, Lex Ozias at 152 pounds, WVU-bound Brutus Scheffel at 160 pounds, Bubba Scheffel in the 171-pound bout, Derek DeWitt at 189 pounds, and Kevin Miller in the heavyweight division.

Southern's Nick Stewart won via a technical fall in the 125-pound division, Dakota Pritt won on a decision in the 130-pound match, and awarded forfeits were Davey Stewart (112 pounds), Louis Hardester (145), and Dale Marple (215).

In the match against Harford Tech, Rams earning pinfall victories were Davey Stewart, Nick Stewart, Slone, Ozias, both Scheffels (moving up to 171 and 189), and Marple.

Hardester and Brandon Pritt (160) both won by decision.

Gaining pins for Harford Tech were Ryan Beatty (103), A.J. Tutino (119), Brandon Gain (130), and Josh Smith (285), while Mark Massimini (135) won via a decision.

The Rams were scheduled to wrestle the Falcons again at Frankfort last night in another tri-meet, with Northern also competing, but that match was postponed because of weather conditions canceling school.

Southern will be back in action this Friday and Saturday at the annual Max Horz Tournament at Berkeley Springs, and will meet Moorefield and Keyser at Keyser next Wednesday.

liam Saltysiak, also presented a series of letters to the court and called four witnesses, all attesting to the community contributions of Stewart.

In his remarks, Judge Eiswert noted the tragedy to all involved, but stated the evidence showed Stewart had every intent to convert other people's monies to his own use.

Military Spouses May Qualify For Tax Exemptions

Comptroller Peter Franchot recently announced information for military spouses in response to recently passed federal legislation. Under the Military Spouses Residency Relief Act, signed into law on Veterans Day by President Obama, the spouse of a service member may be exempt from Maryland income tax in certain circumstances.

Military spouses may be exempt from state income tax on income from services performed in Maryland if the service member is presently in Maryland under military orders, the spouse is in Maryland solely to be with his/her spouse, and the spouse maintains domicile in another state. The military spouses act is effective for taxable year 2009 and thereafter.

"Military spouses make tremendous sacrifices for our country," said Franchot. "I'm happy to support the president's action to offer this benefit to the strong men and women who support their service member spouses. My office will make the process of claiming this exemption and subsequent refunds as simple as possible."

A spouse whose wages are exempt from Maryland income tax under the new act may claim an exemption from Maryland withholding tax. Affected spouses wishing to claim this exemption should file a revised Form MW507 with their employer. The form can be found at http://forms.marylandtaxes.com/09_draft_forms/MW507.pdf.

Additionally, any refunds for tax year 2009 can be claimed on a properly filed nonresident Form 505 with W-2s attached. The form will be available on the comptroller's web site in the coming weeks.

Currently, Maryland and a number of other states are collaborating to establish common guidelines for implementing the Military Spouses Residency Relief Act.

Interested persons may continue to visit the comptroller's web site at www.marylandtaxes.com for updated information.

DROPS 13-POINTER – One of the largest bucks taken so far this season by any local hunter is this 13-pointer, shot by Dave Opel of Grantsville near Mt. Davis, Pa., on the opening day of rifle season. Posing with him and his trophy are his grandchildren, Tiffany and Devon Opel.

BAGS 6-POINTER – Ten-year-old Jacob Toothman of Oakland shot this 6-point buck while hunting with his grandmother, Chrissie Spiker, on Youth Hunt Day in Garrett County on his grandparents' property in McHenry. A student at Swan Meadow School, Jacob is the son of Todd and Katie Toothman.

BAGS AN 8-POINT – Kaya Rinker, 12, a seventh grade student at Southern Middle School, bagged this 8-point buck during the recent Junior Hunt Day on a Red House area farm owned by her grandparents, Ralph and Glenna Miller. Kaya is the daughter of Kenny and Monica Rinker.

BAGS FIRST DOE – Tailor Mayne, 9, recently shot her first deer on Youth Hunt Day while hunting with her father. She just completed a hunter safety course with her twin sister Hannah and is a student at Yough Glades Elementary School. She is the daughter of Johnny and Melanie Mayne, Oakland.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are now nearing the conclusion of the 12th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to the fund this week. The donation period for 2009 has now ended.

"HERE'S LOOKIN' AT YOU, KIDI" might be the thought of this northern saw-whet owl, but it will be local birders who will hope to look at her during the 110th annual Christmas Bird Count (CBC), scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 19. The saw-whet is the smallest owl in the eastern U.S., with the female (larger than the male) measuring only 7 to 8⅛ inches tall. They are nocturnal birds, usually found in dense woodlands, often coniferous swamps. In winter they can be found roosting in small, dense pines. Their defense upon discovery is to sit still and not fly, leading people to believe they are "tame." According to local ornithologist Fran Pope, who took this photo, the saw-whet would be a rare find for the count, but one was reported during the count week period in 1990. The contact person for this year's count is Connie Skipper, who can be reached at 301-387-5227 or by e-mail at connieskipper@hohnet.com. See story for more details.

Christmas Bird Count Scheduled For December 19

The Oakland area portion of 110th annual Christmas Bird Count (CBC), the longest running citizen science survey in the world, will be held on Saturday, Dec. 19.

According to coordinator Connie Skipper, the local CBC is held within a prescribed circle with a diameter of 15 miles. The center point of that circle is the intersection of Bray School Road, Mayhew Inn Road, and Lake Shore Drive.

Skipper said that some birders spend the count day in the field searching for and recording each species of birds seen and heard, while others do so at their personal feeders for several hours.

While the count is scheduled for Dec. 19, Skipper said that counters may add additional species to their lists during count week, which is December 16-22. Persons interested in participating and those desiring more information are asked to contact Skipper by telephone at 301-387-5227 or via e-mail at connieskipper@hohnet.com.

The CBC, sponsored by the Audubon Society, typically involves tens of thousands of volunteers from Alaska to Antarctica. The data generated is considered vital to a variety of conservation efforts.

Among the recent Garrett County District Court cases heard by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert and visiting Judge H. Jack Price Jr., Christopher James Tabler, 19, Cumberland, was found guilty of theft valued at $500-plus, and was sentenced to three years, with two years, six months suspended and five days of credit for time served, 24 months of supervised probation, and fines that were suspended.

Garrett County sheriff's officers responded to a Finzel area residence for a reported burglary that took place in March. Investigation revealed that Tabler and two others had committed burglaries in Allegany County and at the Finzel residence on two separate occasions.

During the burglary, multiple doors and locks were damaged, and property stolen included coins, tool boxes, a generator, an air compressor, a laser level, and a socket set, with the total stolen amounting to $1,425.

Tabler was not prosecuted on charges of theft less than $100, malicious destruction of property valued at $500-plus, and two charges of first-degree burglary.

In an unrelated hearing, Mark William Myers, 26, Lonaconing, was found guilty for charges of second-degree assault and resisting arrest, and was sentenced to one year to be served concurrently and fines that were suspended.

Maryland State Police responded to a Lonaconing residence in July for a disorderly subject. It was reported that Myers had threatened to assault another adult that was at the residence. At the time of the investigation, troopers also learned that he currently had two outstanding failure-to-appear (FTA) warrants through the Allegany County sheriff's department.

While in pursuit of finding Myers, troopers observed him driving a truck, attempting to leave the property. It was reported that when Myers saw the troopers, he stopped the truck, got out and attempted to flee on foot. Troopers followed him into the woods and were able to restrain him.

During the attempts by troopers to place him in handcuffs, Myers allegedly assaulted the troopers. He was subsequently restrained and taken to the McHenry Barrack, where it was reported that he smashed his face into the holding cell door, resulting in a self-inflicted laceration to the forehead. He was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital. He was not prosecuted on four other charges of second-degree assault and two charges of resisting arrest.

In another district court proceeding, Timothy Hart Winkler, 26, Grantsville, was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) charge of inhaling a harmful substance, and was sentenced to 122 days with 122 days' credit for time served and fines that were suspended.

GC sheriff's officers were dispatched to a street location in Oakland in July for a report that Winkler and two other individuals were "huffing." Upon arrival, officers made contact with three witnesses who stated that Winkler and two others were activating an aerosol can, but that the three suspects had already left the scene.

The two individuals with Winkler, both juveniles, were subsequently located and admitted to being with Winkler, who had been huffing dust remover. Investigation revealed that Winkler had shoplifted the can of dust remover from WalMart. He was not prosecuted on charges of conspired theft valued at less than $500 and contributing to the condition of a child.

In an unrelated case, Jeffrey Neil Paugh II, 21, Oakland, was found guilty for violation of a protective order, and was sentenced to 90 days with 80 days suspended with three days of credit for time served, one year of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Paugh was charged after he allegedly made harassing calls to a victim who had filed a protective order against him. He also reportedly drove past the victim's house on numerous occasions. He was not prosecuted on eight charges of violation of a protective order, two charges of harassment, and one charge of stalking.

Franklin Lee Sanner, 36, Springs, Pa., was found guilty for a disorderly conduct charge, and was sentenced to 60 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

It was reported that in June 2008, Sanner had entered the Oakland Wal-Mart and while in the store, he began yelling and swearing. Multiple attempts were made by the store manager to calm him down. He eventually started to leave the store but then began to yell and threaten an employee. Once outside, Sanner remained aggressive toward the manager and store employee.

Sanner left the premises when he was told that law enforcement had been called. He was not prosecuted on charges of second-degree assault and two charges of trespassing on private property.

Brian Jeffery Georg, 20, Oakland, was found guilty for CDS possession of marijuana, and was sentenced to 60 days with 60 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

GCSO and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force conducted a traffic stop of Georg in October for traffic violations. Officers made contact with Georg, and while conducting the traffic stop, a K-9 scan of the vehicle was performed. A positive alert for the presence of drugs came from the vehicle, and Georg admitted to having some marijuana in the car.

A search of the vehicle revealed a bag in a backpack that contained approximately ½ lbs. of marijuana, and a burnt marijuana joint was located in the driver's door. He was subsequently arrested. He was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession with intent to distribute.

Dustin Charles Wiland, 23, Frostburg, was found guilty for driving a motor vehicle on a suspended license and privilege, and was sentenced to 60 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Wiland was charged in July after an investigation by MSP. It was reported that he had verbally and physically assaulted another adult while in a vehicle and later at the adult's place of residence.

It was also reported that Wiland took the vehicle without permission and drove to another residence. Troopers were able to locate him there and he was subsequently arrested. He was not prosecuted on charges of second-degree assault and driving a vehicle without the owner's consent with the intent to deprive the owner.

Thank You!

Thank you to the man who found Royce Moreland and called for medical help. And thank you to the Tucker County Police, dispatchers, and rescue squad, Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins, Randolph County Rescue Squad and Ruby Memorial Trauma Unit for the care Royce received following this accident on September 30. Your quick response and skilled care are what helped him to recover. He still suffers from some medical issues from the brain damage, but is getting much better. You will never know how much we appreciate the care and medical help he received.

Thank you to everyone who helped with, collected, baked and served the food, donated and cooked the meat and donated other supplies for the benefit dinner for Royce. A big Thank You to our church family at Fairview and everyone for the prayers, visits and monetary donations. Also thank you to the hay haulers and the helpers with the coal and wood. Also a big thank you to the truckers from Dailey (NewPage) wood yard that took their time and fuel to donate loads to Royce and haul for him. Thank you to everyone who donated to the raffle and bought and sold tickets.

The one thing we do realize is what great friends, neighbors and family we have. We could not have made it through this without your love and support.

Thank you again,
Royce and Vonda Moreland & Family

GOP Women Hold Annual Holiday Event

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women recently held their annual Christmas dinner at Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville, with members and spouses attending.

President Lois Rowe gave a welcome, and Ruth Umbel asked the blessing on the meal.

Following the dinner and fellowship, the reading of "Your Gift in Season" by Katherine Walden and the hymn "In the Bleak Midwinter" were given by Carol Frazee. Rowe read a Christmas prayer.

A short business meeting was also held to elect 2010 officers, which are Lois Rowe, president; Twila Mae Fike, vice president; Carol Frazee, secretary; and Lisa Herman, treasurer.

A collection was taken for the club's Community Christmas Project, in lieu of members exchanging gifts. The House of Hope was chosen to receive the donation.

The monthly meeting fruit basket was won by Hazel Klotz.

The evening concluded with Rowe thanking everyone for attending and wishing the group a Merry Christmas and good wishes for the coming year.

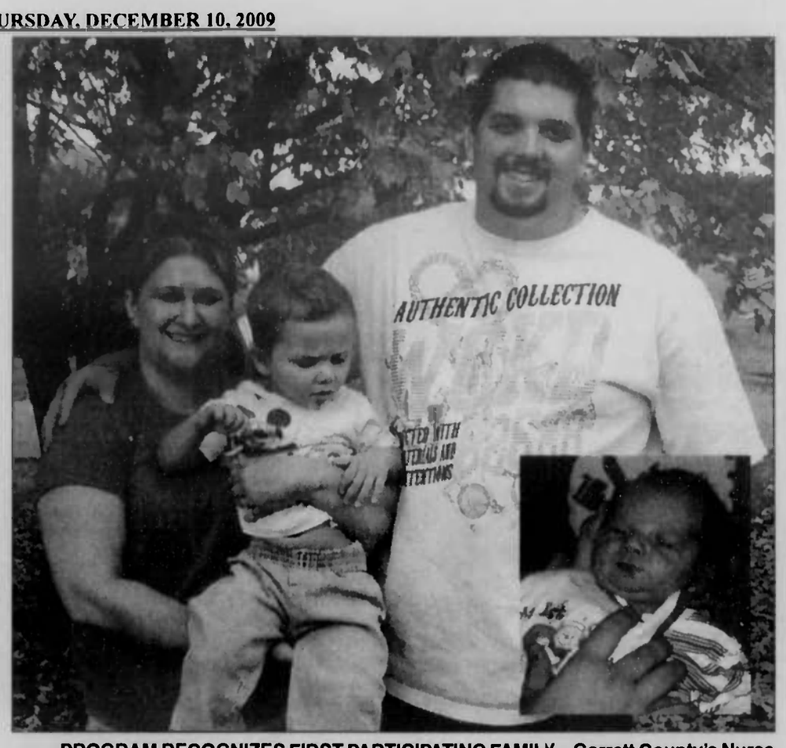
Lakeside Church Slates Christmas Musical Drama

Lakeside Assembly of God will present the musical drama Heaven's Lamb – Hope for Mankind on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 10:30 a.m.

"This Christmas story portrays God's special provision for mankind from creation until the end of time," said a church spokesperson.

The presentation will also feature solo, duet, quartet, and group specials, along with narration and pageantry.

Lakeside Assembly is located along Rt. 219 north of the Sand Flat Road intersection.



PROGRAM RECOGNIZES FIRST PARTICIPATING FAMILY – Garrett County's Nurse Family Partnership Program will celebrate its first graduating family on Wednesday, Dec. 16. At left, in a recent family photo, are Brittlany and K.J. Lynch holding their son Kevin John Lynch. At right is Kevin soon after birth. The Lynches were the first family to enroll in the program in August 2007. Nurse Family Partnership is for first-time mothers and offers free home visits by a specially trained nurse who provides education, support, and encouragement. The visits last until the child is two years old. Nurse Family Partnership is a Garrett County partnership for Children and Families/LMB Program administered by the Garrett County Health Department. DLLR Announces Procedures For New Federal Unemployment Benefits Claims

The Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation last Thursday began mailing notices to unemployed Marylanders who are eligible for additional federal unemployment insurance benefits under the Emergency Unemployment Compensation (EUC) bill recently passed by Congress.

"With more than 8,000 Marylanders exhausting their state benefits each month, these new federal benefits are a critical lifeline for people who have lost their jobs through no fault of their own and are struggling to provide for their families," DLLR Secretary Alexander M. Sanchez said. "We urge all recipients to read the instructions on the letters carefully."

Individuals who have exhausted 33 weeks of current EUC benefits will receive a letter providing notification of the additional weeks and providing instructions for filing a claim.

Individuals who are currently receiving EUC benefits will be notified by mail that they may be eligible for up to 47 weeks of benefits, that they should keep filing continuing claims, and that they do not need to contact a claims center.

The first week for which the additional benefits are available is the week ending Nov. 14.

These additional benefits are paid for entirely by federal funds and have no impact on the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. The trust fund pays up to 26 weeks of benefits to people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own. Federal benefits begin after state benefits have been exhausted.

Individuals should not contact claims centers before they receive a letter.

Any individuals who quit jobs to file for these benefits will have their claims denied.

It is important to note that Congress did not extend the EUC program, even though it provided additional weeks of benefits. Based on current law, EUC payments will begin to phase out after the week ending Dec. 26. It is uncertain what effect this will have on the continued payment of benefits, and it is not known whether Congress will extend the program.

Additional information will be provided later this month, based on Congressional action.

Year Milestone Of Imagination Library Marked

The one-year anniversary of the launch of Landon's Imagination Library, a partnership between the Dollywood Foundation (founded by Dolly Parton) and Landon's Library, was marked in October by representatives of several area agencies and contributors.

Through this program, Landon's Library, in conjunction with the Garrett Reading Council, provides a free hardback book in the mail every month to nearly 1,100 children ages 0-6 in Garrett County.

The community leaders at the October meeting included representatives from the Garrett County Health Department, the Garrett County commissioners, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Overlook Judy Center, Healthy Families Garrett County, the Ruth Enlow Public Library, and Garrett County Community Action. Each of these organizations have been instrumental in registering children for the program through their various initiatives, a spokesperson said.

A report on the success of the program was given by Bill Meagher, Brian Boal, and Dr. Brenda McCartney. The program is the first of its kind on a county-wide basis in the state of Maryland.

To date, Landon's Library has distributed more than 17,000 children's books in Garrett County in three years of operation. The number reportedly increases by over 1,100 books per month. Presently organizers estimate that approximately 75% of all eligible children ages 0-6 within the county are receiving monthly books through the program.

"It would be difficult to find a child in Garrett County in this age group who has not received at least one book through Landon's Library," the spokesperson said.

The program costs Landon's Library approximately $30 per child who receives 12 books per year.

In order to maintain the success of the program, local persons are asked to consider sponsoring a child or children for the program. Tax-deductible donations may mailed to Landon's Imagination Library at 704 Red Oak Circle, Oakland, MD 21550. Donors are asked to write "Imagination Library" on the memo line.

Persons who would like to sign up a child to receive the books through the Imagination Library are asked to visit www.landons-library.org.

ONE YEAR OF LANDON'S IMAGINATION LIBRARY CELEBRATED – A number of civic leaders in Garrett County met in October to mark the first completed year of Landon's Imagination Library, a program that provides a free hardback book each month to every child in the county from age 0 to 6. The program is sponsored through a partnership between the Dollywood Foundation (founded by Dolly Parton) and Landon's Library, along with the Garrett Reading Council. To date, the program has provided more than 17,000 books to Garrett County children. See story. In the first row, from left, are Cathy Ashby, Michelle Ford, and Karen Keefer. In the second row, same order, are Denny Glotfelty, Shane Grady, Dr. Brenda McCartney, Pam Nelson, and Don Battista. Third row: Bill Meagher, Brian Boal, Rodney Glotfelty, Earleen Beckman, and Charlene Bennett.

First United Bank Partners With Landon's Library

First United Bank & Trust recently announced it has partnered with several local Garrett County businesses to support Landon's Library, a non-profit organization that has been serving the local community for the past three years. Landon's Library is partnered with Dolly Parton's Imagination Library to present new, age-appropriate books to every registered preschooler in the county every month until his/her fifth birthday.

"Landon's Library has brought an amazing resource to the children in our community," noted market president Phil Rodeheaver. "First United is excited to support its endeavors by partnering with the local business community."

First United, along with 20 community-oriented businesses, is now collecting monetary donations for Landon's Library. The bank will then match the total amount of donations received by Jan. 10, 2010, up to $1,000.

"First United is committed to supporting the charitable organizations that make this community strong and is proud to have so many local businesses in this fundraising effort to support Landon's Library," stated a spokesperson.

Businesses participating in the fundraising initiative thus far are Boal & Associates, Brenda's Pizzeria, CN Metals, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, Four All Seasons Gift Shop, Get 'N' Go, Grand Central Station (all locations), Gregg's Pharmacy, Lakeside Creamery, Loch Lynn Service Station, Long & Foster Realty, Marvin's, Mattress Max, Nature's Own Home & Garden Center, Penn Alps, Pineview Veterinary Hospital, Railey Realty, Studio 24E, Trader's Landing Coffee House, Wendy's Towne Restaurant, and all local First United Bank & Trust offices.

American Cancer Society Council To Hold Meeting

The American Cancer Society Garrett County Leadership Council will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 16, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Health Department conference room.

Those interested may come and learn about the council and specific activities in Garrett County, as well as help thank local volunteers. The meeting is open to the public and will feature a potluck covered dish dinner. Those attending are encouraged to bring a dish to share.

For more information, persons may contact Donna McClintock Fost, council chair, at 301-334-7740 or 301-895-3113 or the American Cancer Society office at 301-722-2145.

Humane Society Has Gifts For Both People And Pets

The Garrett County Humane Society has a variety of gift items available for purchase this holiday season for both people and their pets.

Specialized Monopoly games are on sale now at Pineview Veterinarian Hospital in Oakland and Casselman Veterinarian Hospital in Grantsville. A limited number are also available at Studio 24E in Oakland.

Along with Dog-, Cat-, Horse-, Farm, Chocolate-opolys, this year's new versions are Bean- (coffee) and Earth-opoly. They sell for $24 each.

Also available at Casselman and Studio 24E are hardback Dog Treat and Cat Treat cookbooks for $10 each.

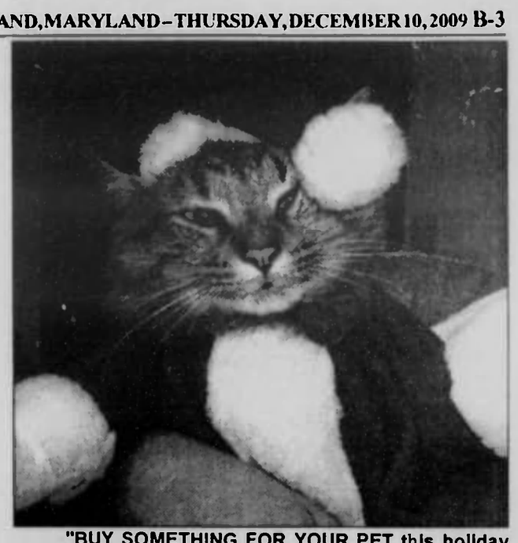
The GCHS is a non-profit, voluntcer organization dedicated to helping all neglected and homeless animals plus providing a year-round spay/neuter voucher program to county residents.

"This year one of our members attended and graduated from the East Coast Animal Control Officer Academy," noted society president Lisa Baker. "This will enable us to be more thorough when we respond to reports of animal neglect. Though we are volunteers, we are able to enforce the Maryland state laws concerning neglect, and when necessary, can and will prosecute serious offenders."

Baker added that the Humane Society is the only organization in Garrett County that responds to animal neglect calls.

"Your donation will help us to continue helping the sick and injured animals at the shelter, spay/neuter hundreds of animals so less have to be euthanized, and send our officer out 24/7 to help those that are neglected," she said.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.



"BUY SOMETHING FOR YOUR PET this holiday season and help the Garrett County Humane Society help other pets," requests president Lisa Baker. Her group has variety of gifts available for sale. See story. Pictured is Calvin, who was adopted from the local shelter. "He wishes you and your pets a meowy Christmas," Baker said.

Columbia Gas Offers Several Options For Energy Assistance

Columbia Gas of Maryland reminds local residents of the energy assistance programs available to limited and/or low-income households. Columbia Gas provides programs that enable customers to have options in paying their utility bills.

Programs available include the Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP) through which Columbia Gas serves as a link to federal energy assistance funds that provide help with residential heating costs. These energy grants do not have to be repaid by the customer. Enrollment guidelines are based on household size and income, and change each new heating season. MEAP applications are accepted year-round.

The Utility Service Protection Program (USPP) protects families with low incomes from utility cut-offs and allows MEAP eligible households to enter into a monthly payment program to help stabilize energy bills. MEAP grants are deducted from the estimated annual gas costs, lowering monthly budget payments. For households with back bills, special agreements with Columbia Gas are available to arrange for payment on the balance.

The Columbia Gas Fuel Fund provides energy grants to customers with low incomes for use in offsetting arrears or restoring service to terminated accounts. Heat Share funds are only available to customers who have exhausted all other available energy assistance programs.

For more information or to apply for MEAP, USPP, or Heat Share, persons should contact Columbia Gas at 1-800-537-7431.

Residents of Garrett County are also eligible to receive weatherization services through the Maryland Human Resources Development Commission's Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP). For more information or to apply for WAP, local residents should call the Maryland Department of Human Resources office in Oakland at 301-334-5413.

Columbia Gas Budget Payment Plans also allow customers to spread the cost of winter heating bills evenly across the year based on estimated natural gas usage. The budget year begins in May, but customers may enroll anytime during the year. For more information on Budget Payment Plans or to apply, persons may call Columbia Gas at 1-800-460-4332.

In addition to these programs, Columbia Gas provides several options for customers to pay bills: online, over the phone, automatic debit, and/or traditional mail-in payments. Columbia Gas of Maryland serves approximately 33,000 customers in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. Persons may visit the web site at www.columbiagasmd.com.

Changing "Seasons" of Life May Require Changes in Investment Strategy

As we make the transition from autumn to winter, you may be reminded that seasons don't just change on the calendar — they also change in your life. And as you move from one season of your life to another, you'll find that some of your goals may have changed. Consequently, as time goes by, you may need to adjust your financial strategies as well.

To illustrate the "seasonal" nature of your investment strategies, let's quickly go through a typical life cycle and look at the differing financial goals at each stage.

• Starting out — When you are beginning your career, you may not have a lot of money with which to invest, but it's important to try to put away something each month. If you have a 401(k) where you work, take advantage of it — your money is deducted, pretax, from your paychecks, so it's an easy way to start investing. And at this stage of your life, consider investing primarily for growth. Of course, when you invest in growth-oriented vehicles, you typically assume an above-average degree of risk because the price of these investments can fluctuate greatly over time. However, if you buy quality investments and hold them for many years, you may be able to overcome the "blips" along the way and benefit from the growth prospects these vehicles can offer.

• Middle years — During this season of your life, things have likely changed. Your kids may have already graduated from college or otherwise left home, so you may need to re-evaluate your life insurance needs. You're likely earning more money and have more available to invest — which means, among other things, that you should consider "maxing out" on your IRA and also putting as much as you afford into your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan. Because you may have a decade or more until you retire, you still may need considerable growth potential from your investments. At the same time, though, you might not want to invest quite as aggressively as you did when you started out, so you may want to increase the percentage of bonds and other fixed-income vehicles in your portfolio.

• Retirement years — Many people assume their expenses will drop when they retire. And some will drop — but others, such as health care, will increase. Furthermore, it's not at all unusual for people to spend two, or even three, decades in an active retirement — and during those years, inflation can be a factor. Consequently, even as a retiree, you'll find that growth-oriented investments are important, balanced with others that provide income. Furthermore, you'll want to manage the withdrawals you take from your IRA, 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan to help make sure you don't outlive your resources. At the same time, you should consider exploring estate-planning techniques, such as life insurance trusts, that can help you leave the legacy you want without burdening your heirs with heavy estate taxes. To help you meet these needs, work with your tax advisor and estate-planning professional.

The seasons of the year change every three months. The seasons of your life change much more slowly, but these changes can have a big impact on your financial situation.

I Will Give You Rest

Life brings with it a lot of stress and sometimes it piles up like never-ending snow in a blizzard! Continuous problems can send our souls to the brink of despair; without relief we are rendered weak and unable to function. Is there something we can do to make it better?

Turn to your Heavenly Father before your life becomes unbearable. Read His Word and you will be able to find joy and peace, even in the face of adversity. God can make you stronger than your problems. In Matthew 11:28, Jesus says..."Come unto me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Won't you worship each week at God's house? He is waiting to lighten your load.

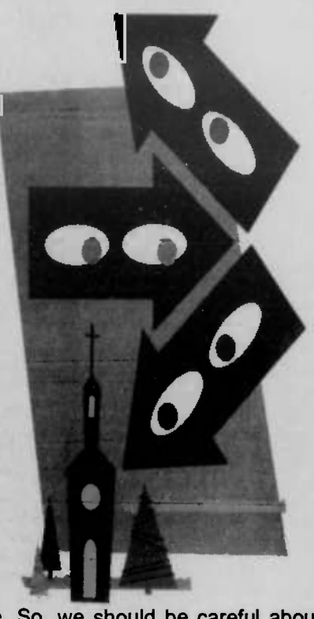
Guard Your Eyes



The eyes evoke desire more readily than the other senses. The mere sight of something or someone can plunge us into deep longing, so it is important that we be cautious about what we look at. Desire is truly the source of most of our suffering, and improper desires are a great source of human evil. Consider all the pain and suffering caused by greed and lust, which are often the direct result of seeing something that evoked desire. So, we should be careful about what we look at, and not tempt ourselves by putting ourselves in situations where we will see things which we know will evoke unwholesome desires. The eyes are indeed, the windows of the soul, and everything that we are exposed to visually, somehow enters or touches the soul. As the philosopher Nietzsche put it, "if you gaze too long into an abyss, the abyss gazes also into you." Thus we should guard our souls by guarding our eyes. Exercise a wholesome chastity of the eyes..

The eye is the lamp of the body. So, if your eye is sound, your whole body will be full of light; but if your eye is not sound, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light in you is darkness, how great is the darkness!

Prevention & Treatment for Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis (TB) is caused by a bacteria called Mycobacterium tuberculosis. This bacteria primarily infects the lungs, although other parts of the body can be infected. Signs and symptoms include fever, chest pain, cough, and muscle aches. Tuberculosis can be transmitted from person-to-person through coughing or sneezing. The spread of tuberculosis can be prevented by early detection and treatment of infected persons who have not yet developed active tuberculosis, but are infected with a latent form of the disease. The tuberculin skin test is a screening test that is commonly used for the diagnosis of tuberculosis. The test material is injected under the skin, and then the area is observed for interpretation of results 2 or 3 days later. The TB test is typically recommended for persons who may have been exposed to a person with TB or people with symptoms of TB.

Medications for treatment of TB must be taken every day for six months or longer. Initially, a combination of the following four drugs is recommended: isoniazid, rifampin, pyrazinamide, and ethambutol. These medications are all bactericidal, and work to kill the bacteria. Ethambutol is more bacteriostatic, and works to prevent bacteria from multiplying.

Another case for 'NCIS': What's Ziva's real name?

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Cote de Pablo

Q: The lady who plays Ziva in "NCIS" ... what's her real name, and what country is she from? –Al Cadena, San Antonio

A: The actress who bills herself as Cote de Pablo on the hit CBS show was born Maria Jose de Pablo Fernandez in Santiago, Chile.

Q: Is there any way to get "Friday Night Lights" without DirecTV? –Beth Gross, Chattanooga, Tenn.

A: As with last season, wait a few extra months, and those episodes will be on NBC. At this writing, no date had been set for the fourth-year episodes to begin showing up on broadcast television. They'll also be on DVD after that, as was the case with the show's third season, which became available on disc in May after its DirecTV and NBC runs.

Q: David Morse is extremely talented, yet we seldom see him since his series "Hack." Is he going to be in a new series anytime soon? –Jean Turner, Seattle

A: He almost had one this season. At least, it got to the pilot stage; he was in the ensemble cast of an intended serial titled "Empire State," but ultimately, ABC passed on it. In the meantime, Morse is staying busy with feature film work.

He was featured in director Kathryn Bigelow's much-praised war drama "The Hurt Locker" – which is slated to make its DVD debut in January – and he has completed the dramas "Mother and Child" (with Naomi Watts, Annette Bening and Jimmy Smits), "The Pond" (with Alicia Witt) and "Shanghai" (with John Cusack and Franka Potente).

Q: Last season on Fox, I think, there was a show called "Game Show In My Head." People off the street were asked to do unbelievable tasks for big amounts of money. I only caught a few episodes, then I heard no more of it. Will it resume, and when? –Don Foreman, Springer, N.M.

A: Actually, it was on CBS, and it won't be back. Last summer, the network canceled the show, whose executive producers included Ashton Kutcher – who hasn't had much luck making television series this calendar year, since the hastily axed CW modeling drama "The Beautiful Life: TBL" also was from his company.

Q: Will the movie "Convoy" be released on DVD any time soon? –Rick Schilmgen, Waukesha, Wis.

A: It already has been. The 1978 Kris Kristofferson-Ali MacGraw action tale, inspired by the hit song by C.W. McCall, was issued in 2003 by (we're not kidding here) Cheezy Flicks Entertainment. An Internet search of the words "Convoy" and "DVD" will help you locate it.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was American comedian Joey Adams who made the following sage observation: "If it weren't for the fact that the TV set and the refrigerator are so far apart, some of us wouldn't get any exercise at all."

• A butterfly's sense of taste is located on its feet.

• You know that smoking is hazardous to your health, but you might not realize all the different types of damage it can do. For instance, a shop in Great Britain required more than $400,000 in repairs to its roof due to a fire from a cigarette. A fire from an inadequately extinguished butt isn't at all unusual, but in this case it wasn't because the owner — or any other person — was careless. It seems a sparrow that had been building its nest in the store's eaves liked to use cigarette butts. The bird evidently picked one up that was still burning, eventually setting the building alight.

• Someone with too much time on his hands once determined that there are 293 different combinations of coins that will make change for a U.S. dollar.

• Every year, doughnut-maker Krispy Kreme uses a whopping 1 million pounds of sprinkles on its pastries.

• Coffee is one of the most-traded commodities on earth, second only to oil.

• If you, like many others, are trying to figure out how to meet that special someone, you might want to reconsider the use of personal ads. Those who study such things claim that approximately 35 percent of people who use personal ads for dating are already married.

• The shortest complete sentence in the English language is "Go."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Dec. 16, 1773, in Boston Harbor, Samuel Adams and the Sons of Liberty, disguised as Mohawk Indians, board three British ships — the Dartmouth, the Eleanor and the Beaver — and dump 342 chests of tea into the harbor in a raid known as the "Boston Tea Party." The value of the tea was $18,000.

• On Dec. 14, 1799, George Washington, the American revolutionary leader and first president of the United States, dies of acute laryngitis at his estate in Mount Vernon, Va. He was 67 years old.

• On Dec. 18, 1916, Betty Grable is born in St. Louis. Grable, trained as an actress and dancer, was voted "favorite pin-up girl" by American servicemen during World War II. Paramount famously insured her legs for $1 million.

• On Dec. 15, 1973, Jean Paul Getty III, the kidnapped grandson of American billionaire J. Paul Getty, is found alive near Naples, Italy. J. Paul Getty had finally agreed to pay a $17 million ransom after the boy's severed right ear was sent to a newspaper in Rome.

• On Dec. 17, 1944, U.S. Gen. Henry C. Pratt issues Public Proclamation No. 21, declaring that, effective Jan. 2, 1945, Japanese American "evacuees" from the West Coast could return to their homes. For the previous two years, 110,000 Japanese Americans had been relocated to remote internment camps built by the U.S. military.

• On Dec. 20, 1957, rock-and-roll star Elvis Presley receives his draft notice for a two-year stint in the United States Army. Refusing special favors, he was sworn in as an Army private in Memphis, Tenn., on March 24, 1958. Widely praised for not seeking to avoid the draft, Presley was seen as a model for all young Americans.

• On Dec. 19, 1986, Michael Sergio, who parachuted into Game Six of the 1986 World Series at New York's Shea Stadium, is fined $500 and sentenced to 100 hours of community service. However, Sergio was later held in contempt of court for refusing to reveal the name of the pilot who flew the plane. As a result, in May 1987, he was sentenced to six months in federal prison.

Q. I have in my possession three 1943 U.S. cents made of steel. One is stamped "D" and the other two have no mint marks. I would like to know how much they are worth. —Anita, Brockport, N.Y.

A. Your 1943 "D" coin was minted in Denver. According to the U.S. Coin Digest edited by Joel Edler and Dave Harper (Krause, $12.99), 217,660,000 were minted, and it is worth between 25 cents and $6.50, depending on condition. Your other two coins are valued between 25 cents and $4.75, again depending on condition. I contacted a coin dealer who said the steel pennies from 1943 are common, and he sells them in his shop for about 5 cents each.

Q. I collect amber glass and have a "justice balance scales" with a grape design and claw feet anchored to a marble base. I am wondering what it's worth? — Florence, Springfield, Ore.

A. Amber glass is any glass with a brownish-yellow or reddish-yellow color. The big questions are who made this piece and when? I showed the picture you sent me to several dealers, who seemed to agree that it probably wasn't early and would likely retail in the $50 to $75 range.

Friendsville Church Schedules Annual Christmas Cantata

The Friendsville Community Choir will perform the cantata "I'll Be Home for Christmas," arranged by Russell Mauldin, on Sunday Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at Friendsville United Methodist Church.

"The presentation is a combination of familiar classic songs and hymns, with captivating and heartfelt stories," said a choir spokesperson.

Choir members are as follows: sopranos – Carol Squires, Thelma Frantz, Leota Frantz, Betty Wilburn, Iris Echelberger, Becky Berkebile, Holly Wampler, Becky Sines, Hannah Sines, and Debbie Dewitt; altos – Sherry Fike, Carol Frantz, Hannah Fike, and Carol Frazee; tenors – Fred Fox, Danny Sines, and Jay Humberson; basses – Buddy Umbel, Bill Emory, Sam Friend, Lowell Echelberger, and Sam Wakefield.

The performance is under the direction of Cindy Frantz, with Pastor Don Clark as the narratior and Gene Fike in charge of the sound system.

Cantata solos will be given by Carol Squires, Hannah Fike, Carol Frazee, and Lowell Echelberger.

Additional special solos will be performed by Amanda Shaffer, Alison Sines, and Buddy Umbel.

Refreshments and a time of Christmas fellowship will follow the presentation in the church social room. The public is invited to attend the event.

Found Guilty

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) case was heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Glenn Edward Johnson, 19, Md., was charged in September with DUI and DWI. His charges were placed on stet with conditions being to complete 40 hours of community service.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

3G TECHNOLOGY

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. The new cell phones are coming out boasting about "3G" capability. What does that mean? What difference does it make?

A. 3G stands for "third generation," which, of course, is to be contrasted to first or second generation. Back in the bad old days, transmission rates over cell phones were adequate for transmitting voice conversations, but not much more. Essentially, 3G refers to better data-handling capacity and speed. With 3G technology, the amount of information that can be carried is much greater, so that large data files can be downloaded to your hand-held device.

High-speed transmission isn't needed for voice communications, so if all you want to do is talk, there's no special value in 3G. However, nowadays many people want to exchange large files (via a Blackberry, iPhone, etc.), and so the wireless networks need to provide not only good voice quality, but also fast and reliable data transfer. 3G brings that capability.

A good 3G Blackberry regularly achieves download speeds greater than 500 kilobits/second (kbps), and can get up to 1.5 mbps. By comparison, 2G services max-out at about 20 kbps. You won't notice a difference in voice service between 2G and 3G, but if you're frequently sending or receiving large files, the data-transmission difference is night and day.

To appreciate why it's special requires an excursion into the arcane world of signal transmission. There are many alternative technologies, include GSM (Global System for Mobile), TDMA (Time Division Multiple Access), EDGE (Enhanced Data GSM Environment), and CDMA(Code-Division Multiple Access). The dominant technology today in much of the world is GSM, which is desirable for its roaming capability. But CDMA is particularly useful for data transmission, hence in 3G phones.

Back during World War II, our side could prevent the Germans from jamming our signals by transmitting on several different frequencies, which was called "frequency hopping." That led to CDMA technology, which was later developed commercially by Qualcomm Corp. and is used in many cell phones today. You won't find "CDMA" in ordinary dictionaries. One description on the Internet includes these words: "CDMA does not assign a specific frequency to each user. Instead, every channel uses the full available spectrum ... CDMA consistently provides better capacity for voice and data communications than other commercial mobile technologies, allowing more subscribers to connect at any given time, and it is the common platform on which 3G technologies are built."

Many 3G networks use UMTS (Universal Mobile Telecommunication System), which is typically based on W-CDMA technology, meaning Widcband CDMA. The wider bandwidth of the spectrum allows much more data to flow rapidly than was formerly possible. Instead of requiring many seconds for a single photograph to come through, 3G systems make it seem like almost "real time."

Getting more subscribers to connect is what the cell phone business is all about. The major cell phone companies like Verizon, Sprint, AT&T, and T-Mobile run commercials promoting how well they provide 3G coverage. Not surprisingly, it's better in big cities than in rural areas.

But stay tuned for further developments in this rapidly advancing field. The competition between GSM and CDMA is fierce. Moreover, 4G, sometimes called LTE for Long Term Evolution, is already starting to come out.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Jerry W. Hanlin Retires From U.S. Air Force; Decorated For Superior Service

Col. David Parker, United States Army, presided over the retirement ceremony of Col. Jerry W. Hanlin from the United States Air Force, which was effective on Sept. 1.

At his retirement ceremony, Hanlin was presented the Defense Superior Service Medal for exceptionally superior service and major contributions to the national security of the United States.

Col. Hanlin served in the USAF for nearly 25 years, culminating in his final assignment at United States Pacific Command, Camp H.M. Smith. At that time, he was the chief, information superior at the Standing Joint Force Headquarters Pacific. There he was responsible for Operational Net Assessment, Effects Assessment, Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance, and Information Operations in support of Joint Task Forces and United States Pacific Command.

Hanlin received many awards and decorations during his service, including the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal with three oak-leaf clusters, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Air Force Commendation Medal, Joint Service Achievement Medal, Air Force Achievement Medal, and the Humanitarian Service Medal.

The colonel is a 1978 graduate of Southern Garrett High School. He earned an associate degree of arts in math and science from Garrett Community College in 1980, and then graduated from West Virginia University in 1983 with a bachelor of science degree in engineering of mines.

He earned a master's degree in information systems management from the University of Colorado in 1990. He also received additional education including numerous officer training courses at Air Command and Staff College, Armed Forces Staff College, and Air War College.

Upon his retirement from the United States Air Force, Hanlin now serves the United States Pacific Command in his new capacity as chief of staff at the Standing Joint Force Headquarters. He resides in Ewa Beach, Hawaii, with his wife Christine and two daughters, Megan and Jennifer.

Hanlin is formerly of Oakland, where his mother Letha and brothers and sisters Arthur, Joni, and Janet still reside.

COLLEGE/MILITARY REPRESENTATIVES

A representative from Potomac State College will have a display set up on lunch shifts on Thursday, Dec. 17. Those interested should talk with the rep or stop by the display to pick up information.

A representative from the U.S. Army will have a display set up during lunch shifts on Tuesday, Dec. 22. Those interested should stop by the display to talk with the rep.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Northern High School chapter of National Honor Society is collecting school supplies for the Northern area elementary schools (Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Route 40) until Friday, Dec. 18. Donations may be brought to the Media Center. Boxes will be placed in homerooms for the supplies, and the homeroom collecting the most supplies will win a prize.

YEARBOOK DISCOUNT CARDS

The NHS yearbook staff will be selling discount cards, which offer discounts at a variety of local establishments. The cards cost $10 each, and can be used repeatedly. Cards may be purchased from any yearbook staff member or from Ms. Theriot in Room 216. They will be on sale until tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 11.

POINSETTIAS AND WREATHS

The plant science and greenhouse management class is growing a crop of poinsettias again this year. Those interested in making a purchase should e-mail Mr. McCrobie at rmcrobie@nh.ga.k12.md.us. The pots will be decorated with foil, and the cost is $4 each. The group will also be making pine wreaths this year. Those interested who have not ordered one yet should also contact McCrobie. The prices are $10 for a 14-inch, $15 for an 18-inch, and $20 for a 24-inch. Each wreath will be decorated with a bow.

GARRETT COLLEGE NEWS BEAT

SPIRIT WEEK was held at Garrett College recently, featuring five days of activities designed to demonstrate support for the college's athletic teams. Above, students show their support for the men's and women's basketball teams. From left are Jamila Jones, Tenlesha McClain, Jaleesa McLee, Kelsey Reid, and Sharnice Resper. See story.

GC Students Get Into The Spirit

by Melissa Parker

It's that time of year when people are shopping for gifts, baking pies and cookies, and getting into the holiday spirit. Last week, though, Garrett College students had a different type of spirit in mind – they were gearing up to show their school spirit. It was all part of the college's 2009 fall spirit week, which celebrated GC's women's and men's basketball programs.

"Spirit Week is organized by our student-run hall council," said Kailee Craig, assistant coordinator of residence life and advisor to the residence hall council. "It's an opportunity for students to show their interest in the college's athletics and demonstrate their school pride."

The special week included a series of dress-up days, with students donning clothing to express each day's theme, which included college attire day, mismatched day, pajama day, and celebrity look-alike day.

Many students found the opportunity to dress differently from their usual attire entertaining.

"I'm a fashionable person, and my clothes always match," said one student who participated in mismatched day. "But today I get the chance to let loose and have fun in the spirit of the day."

Students participated in other activities throughout the week. One residence hall held a T-shirt-making program, as students designed shirts with supportive messages to wear to the basketball games.

Other students participated in a poster-making activity, creating signs to display during the games.

Spirit Week activities led up to a weekend of basketball. On Friday night, the women's basketball team went head to head with Guilford Community College. Garrett's Raizel Benn opened up the game by singing the National Anthem. The Lady Lakers fought hard, but in the end came up just short, losing 63-57.

Activities continued after Friday's game. The office of residence life organized a host of activities at the two residence halls, which included tailgating, pool tournaments, foosball tournaments, board games, and outdoor snow activities.

The weekend was expected to be topped off with two basketball games on Saturday, with the men's and women's teams taking on Harford Community College in a doubleheader. But because of inclement weather, the games were cancelled and will be rescheduled for a later date.

However, the weather didn't stop students from continuing the Spirit Week activities into Saturday. A homecoming dance was held as scheduled Saturday night, at which students danced the night away in the Lakers Café.

Craig points to many reasons why the college designated Spirit Week to show support for its athletes.

"A lot of residents who live in our dormitories are basketball players," she said. "We want to show our support for them. In addition, a lot of the residents miss their families, and this is an opportunity for them to become family to each other. This is about supporting our basketball teams. Even if one does not like basketball, we have to support each other as students and members of the community."

"We expect to keep on supporting each other in the coming semesters with basketball, baseball, and other college sports," Craig said.

For more information on GC Spirit Week activities, persons may telephone Craig at 301-387-6717.

Garrett's ABE Program Receives Recognition From Maryland DLLR

by Melissa Parker

Garrett College's Adult Basic Education program was recently honored at the 2009 fall ABE administrators' meeting at the University of Maryland Baltimore County, South Campus, in Baltimore. Garrett's program was given the performance award for the highest percentage of improvement in post-testing from 2008-2009. Garrett increased its post-testing performance by 11%.

Julie Yoder, interim dean of Garrett's Continuing Education and Workforce Development division, accepted the award on behalf of the college's ABE program. The award was presented by Patricia Tyler, deputy assistant secretary of adult learning with the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation (DLLR).

"It is wonderful that our ABE program has been recognized at the state level," said Yoder. "Our students are fortunate to have a dedicated staff of instructors and administrators who encourage them to succeed and help them achieve their goals."

The ABE program is designed to assist individuals, ages 16 and older, in preparing for GED testing and work toward obtaining their high school diploma. It is also intended to improve basic math and reading skills, as well as prepare parents to help their children with homework.

The state's ABE program recently transitioned from the Maryland State Department of Education to the DLLR.

ABE courses are offered at convenient locations throughout Garrett County. To learn more about the program, persons may telephone Patricia Baer, program director of the ABE program and coordinator of Garrett College's Southern Outreach Center located in Oakland, at 301-334-8304.

Farming On The Mountaintop

SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTED – Becky Berkebile was recently awarded a $1,000 scholarship sponsored by the Garrett County Farm Bureau. She is the daughter of Gary and Nancy Berkebile, Accident. They have a diversified livestock operation where they raise beef, sheep, and swine. Berkebile has been involved in the Farm Bureau at the local and state level. She is also a former Miss Farm Bureau. Currently, she is a senior at West Virginia University, where she is pursuing a degree in agricultural extension and education. She is a member of the 2009 WVU livestock judging team, the Collegiate Farm Bureau, Mountaineer Collegiate FFA, and Alpha Tau Alpha, which is an agriculture education honor society. She will graduate in May with a bachelor of science degree, and will begin to pursue her master's degree in the fall of 2010. Berkebile is pictured above with Paul Miller, president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. For more information about the Farm Bureau, persons may call 301-746-8616.

TIME IS MONEY

Whether buying or selling a home, the Offer To Purchase is the starting point for making the sale go through. If the sellers do not accept the offer outright, they may make a counter-offer, which the buyers may likewise aeeept or counter again.

In the interest of speed and suceess, it's best to keep counter-offers to a minimum. If you are trying to sell with urgency (and who isn't?), weigh the buyers' offer against your need to move quickly. Perhaps the value of the coneession is quite small against the profit you'll see upon a sale.

If you are asking $200,000 and receive an offer of $196,000, that's equivalent to just 2% less, which is like offering $.98 instead of $1. Similarly, buyers must also be realistie about the possible costs of "over negotiating" in today's rapidly changing economie atmosphere.

If you balk at the sellers' counter-offer now, and deeide to walk away and begin your home seareh over again, you could be facing higher interest rates and/or rising home priees. Today, time literally is money, and the longer you postpone your purehase, the more it will likely eost you.

Before making (or accepting) an offer, diseuss the offer and counter-offer process with your representative, so that you know what to expect and ean be more prepared to see the deal to a sueeessful elose.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

DEFENDANTS

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in all that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 06, Garrett County, Maryland, containing 7.93 acres, more or less, and described in a Deed from William Timothy Bush and Margaret Ann Bush, also known as Margaret H. Bush, to William Timothy Bush, dated March 5, 2009, and recorded March 20, 2003, in Liber No. 954, folio 856, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts necessary for redemption have not been paid although more than six (6) months and one (1) day from the date of sale has expired.

It is thereupon this 19th day of November 2009, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED, that Notice be given by insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three (3) successive weeks warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court by the 18th day of January 2010, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a final judgment will be entered foreclosing all right of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $14,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement within ten days of the ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all of the expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sale price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. Purchaser(s) acknowledge the obligation to settle within ten days of ratification of the foreclosure sale. In the event that settlement does not occur within ten days, the purchaser(s) shall be in default. Upon such default, Sub. Trustees shall file a Motion and Order to resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser(s). Purchaser(s) hereby consent to entry of such resale order without further notice. The defaulting purchaser(s) shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water and all public charges including electrical, sanitation and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, are to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents. (Matter #544648)

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
1563 Pleasant Valley Road, Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a Mortgage from Ray E. Miller and Rachel A. Miller, dated April 26, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1225 Folio 0157 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, with an original principal balance of $105,000.00, and an original interest rate of 10.59%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Rotunda Entrance at the Court House Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on December 29, 2009, at 2:00 p.m.

All that fee-simple lot of ground, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, encumbrances, prior deed(s) of trust and/or agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $13,000.00 in cash, cashier's check or certified check required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

Maryland Remains Wealthiest State, But Many Families Are Struggling

by Tina Irgang
Capital News Service

Maryland remains the wealthiest state in the nation, but income and health gaps are still a concern for blue-collar families here, a new report suggests.

The report, "The State of Working Maryland 2009," was published Friday by the Progressive Maryland Education Fund, a liberal advocacy group, and the Maryland Budget and Tax Policy Institute, a non-partisan think tank. Its findings are based on an analysis of current census data and other demographic surveys.

"Overall, Maryland continues to outperform the nation as a whole," said Neil Bergsman, the policy institute's director and one of the study's authors. "But we see that the bad national economy has hurt working people more than it has higher-income folks."

While census data show that Maryland has the highest median household income in the nation at $70,545, Bergsman said the wealth has not trickled into all parts of the state.

"There are some areas, like Baltimore City and Dorchester County, that are doing much worse than the national average" on indicators such as unemployment rates and median income, Bergsman said.

According to the report, Dorchester County's unemployment rate nearly doubled last year and has now reached 11 percent. Wealthier counties, such as Howard or Montgomery, have unemployment rates of about 5 percent. The national rate is 10 percent.

Poverty rates also vary widely, ranging from under 4 percent in Howard County to 19 percent in Baltimore City.

The report shows that while median income in the state has remained steady over the past year, hourly wages for those without a college degree have declined. As a result, the authors calculate, low-income families now spend up to 45 percent of their income on housing costs.

This steep rate is a result of Maryland's high cost of living, said Sean Dobson, co-author of the report and executive director of Progressive Maryland.

Dobson sees a "disconnect" between Maryland's wealth and its poor performance on key social indicators. This disconnect is particularly apparent in the report's findings on health: Maryland fares worse than the nation as a whole on the number of infants with a low birth-weight and on infant mortality.

"It's a glaring paradox: We have the highest median family income in the nation, but some of our health stats are actually worse than average," Dobson said.

The disparities on these health statistics are a matter of grave concern, said Lee Woods of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The department is working on a plan to expand access to family planning and maternal care in three key jurisdictions: Baltimore City, Prince George's County, and Somerset County.

"It will allow more women to access care earlier in pregnancy, and even more women to access care in general," Woods said.

Census figures averaged over the past three years indicate that 13 percent of Marylanders are without health insurance. The national rate is just under 16 percent, but some states, such as Massachusetts or Hawaii, have rates in the single digits.

Vincent DeMarco, president of the Maryland Health Care For All Coalition, said Maryland's health care situation has improved since the General Assembly passed an expansion of Medicaid in 2007. Before 2007, he said, Maryland ranked 44th on the number of uninsured residents per state. It now ranks 21st, according to the report.

"We expect the numbers to get better now that we've expanded our health care," DeMarco said. "We've made a lot of progress under Governor Martin O'Malley, but we need to do more."

The study also contains policy recommendations to fix some of the inequalities it points out. The authors suggest, among other things, raising the minimum wage in Maryland from the national average of $7.25 to $8.15.

In addition, they recommend increasing the transparency of stimulus spending by tracking the demographic distribution and wage levels of jobs the measure has created.

"We need to make sure more stimulus money gets in the hands of workers," Dobson said. "We should use tax dollars to create family-sustaining jobs."

Bernie Kohn, a spokesman for the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation, declined to comment on the feasibility of raising the state's minimum wage.

"As for stimulus jobs, the only data we have are the numbers of jobs themselves," Kohn said.

Kathy Snider, president of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce, said raising the minimum wage would be unwise in the current economic climate.

"This is not the time to be putting more people out of work," Snyder said. "Small businesses are suffering throughout the state, so why in the world would you recommend an increase in the minimum wage at a time when businesses are struggling to keep people hired."

TOYS FOR TOTS GATHERED IN OAKLAND – The Oakland detachment of the Marine Corps League assisted in a Toys for Tots collection effort at Wal-Mart recently. A day of shopping on Dec. 5 was dedicated to the local campaign, and several items were donated. Shown above center is Robert Heilig, Oakland, who is the commandant of Oakland's Marine Corps League, receiving a toy from Justin Hunt of Oakland, a Marine Corps veteran, his wife Alasha, and their daughter Ava. The Marine Corps Reserve officially launched the annual Toys for Tots campaign in 1948, which collects and distributes toys to children in need. The coordinator for Allegany and Garrett counties, John W. Parsons, a member of the Marine Corps League in Hagerstown, said that even though the donations have been slow recently, the groups collected over 8,000 toys last year.

WHEN HEARING LOSS LEADS TO ISOLATION

Even mild hearing losses have been found to negatively impact elderly individuals' functioning ability. Communication problems arising from hearing loss often stand in the way of receiving proper medical treatment, strain family relations, and restrict the enjoyment of leisure activities. All this is because people who cannot hear well tend to withdraw rather than face the embarrassment of frequent misunderstandings and inappropriate responses. Instead of attempting to answer questions they do not understand, they become non-communicative. This withdrawal from social situations continues on average of ten years before assistance is sought. A more immediate response could lead them toward fuller lives more quickly. With this in mind, family members and friends of hearing-impaired seniors should suggest they get a hearing test.

Hearing loss is often a result of aging, although it can also be caused (or made worse) by prolonged exposure to loud noise, illness, heredity, injury, and medications. Are you hearing less than you used to? Come visit with a hearing specialist at AUDIBEL, and find out why and what you can do about it. We're ready to help with comprehensive evaluations, custom fittings, follow-up support, expert repairs, and compassionate, personalized service.

P.S. New open-fit hearing instruments are comfortable to wear, are barely visible, and provide excellent results.

WE WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS! We at The Republican newspaper hope our readers are enjoying this 2009 holiday season. We urge all residents to shop locally, and to patronize our advertisers. Check out the sales and special offers noted in this publication, and stay in our towns to fulfill your Christmas wish lists. See, too, the many activities and events taking place in Garrett County this Christmas.

The annual Christmas season kick-off celebration took place in Oakland on Nov. 27, involving a parade, the lighting of the town tree, and the crowning of the Snowflake queen and princess. The honorees this year are Brittany Hostutler, queen, and Brooke Sisler, princess. The girls are pictured above as they are transported by Pleasant Valley Dream Rides in the parade. Santa was also part of the event, and all were serenaded by the Southern Garrett Marching Band. Photo by John McEwen.

Friendsville Church Schedules Annual Christmas Cantata

The Friendsville Community Choir will perform the cantata "I'll Be Home for Christmas," arranged by Russell Mauldin, on Sunday Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at Friendsville United Methodist Church.

"The presentation is a combination of familiar classic songs and hymns, with captivating and heartfelt stories," said a choir spokesperson.

Choir members are as follows: sopranos – Carol Squires, Thelma Frantz, Leota Frantz, Betty Wilburn, Iris Echelberger, Becky Berkebile, Holly Wampler, Becky Sines, Hannah Sines, and Debbie Dewitt; altos – Sherry Fike, Carol Frantz, Hannah Fike, and Carol Frazee; tenors – Fred Fox, Danny Sines, and Jay Humberson; basses – Buddy Umbel, Bill Emory, Sam Friend, Lowell Echelberger, and Sam Wakefield.

The performance is under the direction of Cindy Frantz, with Pastor Don Clark as the narratior and Gene Fike in charge of the sound system.

Cantata solos will be given by Carol Squires, Hannah Fike, Carol Frazee, and Lowell Echelberger.

Additional special solos will be performed by Amanda Shaffer, Alison Sines, and Buddy Umbel.

Refreshments and a time of Christmas fellowship will follow the presentation in the church social room. The public is invited to attend the event.

St. Mark's Annual Christmas Eve Service Set; Earlier Start Time Noted

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland has announced plans for its annual traditional Christmas Eve candlelight service. The service moves an hour earlier this year to 10 p.m. with a prelude of sacred traditional and contemporary music beginning at 9:30.

"We changed the time of the service at the request of several members who in previous years have been unable to attend because of the late hour," said Pastor C. Scott Robinson.

Known for its music ministries, St. Mark's Christmas Eve prelude will feature various vocal ensembles as well as selections on guitar, bass, flute, piano, organ, and oboe. The St. Mark's handbell quartet will also participate, and the choir, full handbell choir, and brass ensemble will provide special music and lead congregational singing during worship.

"Christmas is always special at St. Mark's," said the pastor, "and this year will be no exception."

The annual youth pageant will be part of the regular 10 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Dec. 20. The service on Sunday, Dec. 27, will feature carols and scripture readings.

The weekly Adult Forum at the church is suspended during Advent, and will resume Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. after Christmas. Robinson said the forum is currently focusing on the religions of the world, including a close look at the similarities and differences among various denominations of Christianity.

The public is invited to all events at St. Mark's, which is located at the corner of Second and Center streets, across from the library. For more information, persons may contact the church office at 301-334-2668.

Pet Memories Will Be Created During Christmas On Alder St.

by Mercedes Pellet, HART development director

HART for Animals Inc. will host a pet photo session with Santa Claus at Studio 24E on Friday, Dec. 11, from 6 to 9 p.m. during Oakland's Christmas on Alder Street celebration.

The county's animal groups traditionally host pet photo opportunities along Alder Street several times during the holidays. PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety) held a similar event on "Black Friday," and many four-legged loved ones happily sat with Santa for a special "pet memory" photo that was printed on-site and also could be e-mailed to the owner.

Pets are found in almost 70% of American households and are an important part of family holidays. Christmas, however, is not a good time to give animals as impulse gifts.

In fact, nobody should give a "surprise" gift of a pet to anyone. Owning a pet is a commitment in time and money that must be personally accepted by the adults in a family.

Animals bought as gifts because they "are so cute" at the pet store or because they were so sad-looking at the shelter – or when children are told they must care for the animal – many times end up at shelters or, worse, on the street or seriously hurt, because nobody had time for them.

Donations from the pet photo event will go to HART's Spay/Neuter Clinic, animal rescue and transport, and its Bumble Bee Road adoption center building fund. Holiday donations to HART can be made on the organization's web site, hartforanimals.org.

HART for Animals Inc. is a 501(c) (3) organization. For additional information its programs and clinic, persons may visit hartforanimals.org or call 301-387-SPAY (7729).

HOLIDAY PET PHOTOS TO BE AVAILABLE – HART for Animals Inc. will hold a pet photo fundraiser next Friday, Dec. 11, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Studio 24E in Oakland. Four-legged family members can pose with Santa Claus for a picture, which will be printed on-site and also can be e-mailed to their homes. The event is part of the town's Christmas on Alder Street celebration. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Max and Sarah. Seated on the sofa is one of Santa's elves (Isabella Pellet) holding Spencer and Santa (Gregg Elliott).

Happy Holidays!

St. Paul's Cookie Walk Slated For December 12

St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland will be holding its annual Cookie Walk on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the fellowship hall.

"Plastic take-out containers and plastic gloves will be provided," said a church spokesperson. "All you have to do is walk along the tables, choose the cookies you'd like to purchase, and chcck out."

Persons desiring more information may call the church office at 301-334-2391 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Let It Snow!

HELPING NEIGHBORS IN NEED – Shaffer Ford Sales Inc. In Oakland Is collecting items for 10 area famllies who are In need this holiday season. Pictured is the dealership's Karen Spady. GOBA, Oakland Main St. Hosting "A Great Small Town Christmas"

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) and Oakland Main Street is hosting a variety of events throughout the holiday season, all under the name of "A Great Small Town Christmas."

The celebration began on Nov. 27, but the remainder of the schedule is as follows:

Friday, Dec. 11: Downtown stores will host their fifth annual Christmas on Alder Street and offer specials from 6 to 9 p.m.

Santa Claus will be at the "Santa Shack" in the former Mumbles & Squeaks building, located along Second Street next door to the Decorator's Nook, from 7 to 9 p.m. to greet youngsters and hear their Christmas wish lists. Free photos of Santa will be given out, courtesy of Rodeheaver & Associates.

Free horse-drawn sleigh rides will be offered from 6 to 9 p.m., starting from Second Street.

The Garrett County Historical Society Museum will be open for visitors from 6 to 8 p.m.

The Garrett County Arts Council Gallery Shop (206 E. Alder St.) will host a reception for watercolor artist Jakkie Lease from 6 to 9 p.m.

HART for Animals will hold a pet photo session fundraiser from 6 to 9 p.m. at Studio 24E, located along Alder Street.

Jan Florist (114 S. Second St.) will host a greenery workshop from noon to 1:30 p.m. The fee is $35 to participate.

Saturday, Dec. 12: Free horse drawn sleigh rides will be available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Gospel recording artists Maria Rose and Danny Elswick will sing at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum gazebo (S. Second St.) at 12:30 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 19: Jan Florist (114 S. Second St.) will host another greenery workshop from noon to 1:30 p.m. The fee is $35 to participate.

ADD A BURST OF HOLIDAY COLOR – StatePoint Media offers creative, fun ways to decorate your home for the holidays, including an inviting color to the front door. See story.

Decorating Ideas To Transform Your Home For The Holidays

(StatePoint) Preparing your home for entertaining family and friends can swing from delightful to frightful during the holidays. This season, why not try your hand at simple do-it-yourself home projects that add warmth and color to the home while creating fun activities the whole family can enjoy.

With the right inspiration, you can easily spread holiday cheer and create a welcoming home environment for your guests.

"Design and color inspirations surround us in nature, in existing decor, and from within the family and its traditions," said Sue Kim, color trend and forecast specialist for Valspar. "Drawing on that inspiration, and with some quick changes to existing decor and a few strokes of paint, anyone can transform the appearance of their home in time for the holidays, creating a sense of warmth without a lot of effort."

Below are some entertaining, affordable and easy-to-implement decorating ideas for this year's holiday festivities.

 Create an Inviting Door: Make a unique first impression and add a burst of holiday color to the outside of your home. Apart from standard holiday lights and lawn ornaments, a unique display of holiday spirit can greet your guests at the front door.

First, start with a primer before painting the door a color of your choice to ensure the color layers on smoothly. Valspar's color experts suggest painting your door in a spirited red color such as Fabulous Red 1011-2.

Hoist a contrasting wreath onto the door to create a more defined look. Also, if your home has a stairwell when you enter, wrap it with garlands that match the colors on the door to carry the color into the interior of the home.

 Stencil in the Holiday Spirit: Stencil holiday-inspired designs onto otherwise plain pillows, placemats or a dining room tablecloth for a handmade and festive decoration. Fun craft projects like these brighten the mood and offer a family activity for the holidays.

You also can stencil around windows to add an elegant holiday-theme to a room instead of buying elaborate window treatments. You can either create your own homemade stencils or buy some at your local craft or home improvement store.

 Shimmer up the Table: Consider taking objects that you love from nature – such as pine cones, branches, leaves, or even sea shells – and spraying them with metallic colored paint.

Gold and silver can be popular during the holidays depending upon your theme. Place these objects in the center of the table on a beautifully rich colored table cloth so that they pop against the background, and set candles out on the table for a shimmery effect.

Bittinger Lutheran Parish Announces Christmas Events

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish has announced Christmas events happening at area churches during the month of December.

Christmas caroling has been scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Goodwill Home at 7 p.m. All members of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish are invited to participate.

The Emmanuel Women of the ELCA will be hosting a Christmas tea at Emmanuel at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 13. All women of the parish are invited to attend.

A mid-week Advent service will be held at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger on Wednesday, Dec. 16. The Holden evening prayer service begins at 6 p.m., and will be followed by a light meal. Rachel Stanton will present a program about her mission trip to Papua, New Guinea.

Christmas Eve candlelight services have been scheduled at each of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish churches: 6 p.m. at the Zion Lutheran Church in Jennings; 8 p.m. at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger; and 10 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church of Meadow Mountain. Everyone is invited to attend a service, and to bring friends, neighbors, and family members.

Christmas Trees Through The Ages

The National Christmas Tree Association has compiled the following facts about Christmas trees through the ages:

•In 1510, the first Christmas tree is decorated with paper, fruits, and sweets.

•In 1531, the first retail Christmas tree lots appear in German cities.

•By 1600s, Christmas trees are decorated with ribbon, tin shapes, small books, and lace, as well as food.

•In the 18th century, Christmas trees are decorated with lighted candles.

•In 1777, the tradition of the Christmas tree is brought to Colonial America by Hessian troops fighting for Britain in the Revolutionary War.

•In 1851, Mark Carr opens a retail Christmas tree lot in New York City, the first in the United States.

•In 1856, Franklin Pierce, the 14th U.S. president, brings the first Christmas tree into the White House.

•In 1923, President Calvin Coolidge starts the National Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony now held every year on the White House lawn.

Parents Need To Be Mindful Of Safety When Purchasing Toys

To boost sales, retailers are already starting their holiday sales and specials. But sometimes the best deal may not be the safest. As shoppers begin to purchase toys and gifts for children, they need to be mindful of what gift is the safest, especially for younger children.

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), there were an estimated 235,300 toy-related injuries treated in emergency rooms across the country last year. Most of the injuries were to the head and face and consisted of lacerations, contusions, or abrasions. And, 73 percent of the toy-related injuries reported were to children ages 14 and younger.

Although toy safety regulations and enforcement have been improved, the CPSC has had 38 toy recalls in 2009 alone. That is why Prevent Blindness Mid-Atlantic has declared December as Safe Toys and Gifts Month. The group is offering toy-buying and gift-giving tips to all those planning to purchase a gift for a child this year.

"We know that families are being more budget conscious this holiday season, and we want to make sure the money we do spend is spent wisely," said Tim Gresham, president and CEO of Prevent Blindness Mid-Atlantic. "We hope that everyone takes just a moment to really think about the gifts they are buying and make sure they are appropriate for a child's age and development level."

Prevent Blindness Mid-Atlantic suggests the following:

•Make recommendations to family members and friends about gifts that you feel are appropriate for your child.

•Inspect all toys as much as possible before taking them out of the box. Once opened, go through each part of the toy to make sure there are no small parts that could be choking hazards or sharp

St. Mark's Offering Children's Pageant, A Christmas Quest

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will present a children's pageant titled A Christmas Quest on Sunday, Dec. 20. The program will take the place of the sermon that day. The service begins at 10 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

The program involves about 20 children from the Sunday school program. The story follows the "quest seeker," played by Madison Shaffer, and her sidekick, played by Sam Kennedy, who go on a search for the meaning of Christmas.

The children will also present a musical piece on hand chimes, directed by Lynn Grimm, and with a saxophone solo by Alex McEwen. The chimes were donated to the church by Barbara Ponceroff in memory of her husband, Ray Ponceroff. Their son Nicholas will perform in the chime group.

The service will include Holy Communion, as well as an anthem by the St. Mark's choir, directed by Susan Peterson and accompanied by Grimm on dulcimer.

The pastor of St. Mark's is Rev. C. Scott Robinson. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Garrett Community Concert Band To Present Holiday Concert This Sunday

The Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Moe Turrentine, will present its winter holiday concert, this year titled "The Most Wonderful Time of the Year." It will be presented in the Garrett College auditorium, McHenry, this Sunday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 p.m.

The concert will include many Christmas selections, as well as a "Chanukah Celebration" composition. There will be traditional carols, as well as some classical numbers presented. "Sleepers, Awake" by Bach, Victor Herbert's "March of the Toys," the Mannheim Steamroller arrangement of "Fum, Fum, Fum," and a rendition of "Baby, It's Cold Outside," featuring a clarinet/tenor saxophone duet, are among the selections that will be performed.

Tickets, which will be available at the door, are $8 for adults and $2 for students. Attendees will also have the opportunity to purchase items at the band's holiday sales table in the lobby.

The band comprises members of all ages and a variety of musical backgrounds. New members are always welcome. Typically, the band presents three concerts per year, and conducts rehearsals at 7 p.m. on Tuesday evenings in the GC auditorium.

Merry Christmas!

Humane Society Has Gifts For Both People And Pets

The Garrett County Humane Society has a variety of gift items available for purchase this holiday season for both people and their pets.

Specialized Monopoly games are on sale now at Pineview Veterinarian Hospital in Oakland and Casselman Veterinarian Hospital in Grantsville. A limited number are also available at Studio 24E in Oakland.

Along with Dog-, Cat-, Horse-, Farm, Chocolate-opolys, this year's new versions are Bean- (coffee) and Earth-opoly. They sell for $24 each.

Also available at Casselman and Studio 24E are hardback Dog Treat and Cat Treat cookbooks for $10 each.

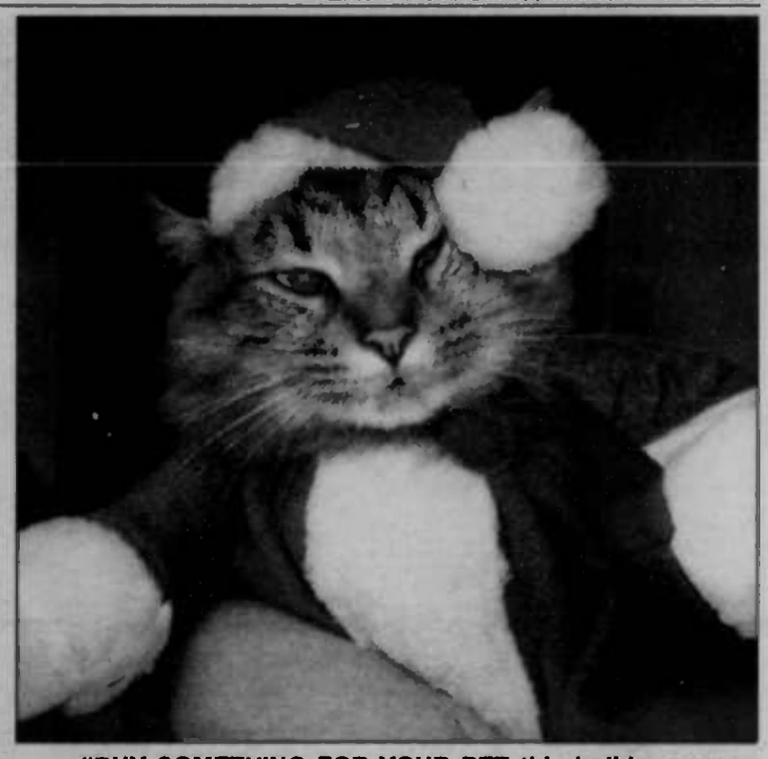
The GCHS is a non-profit, volunteer organization dedicated to helping all neglected and homeless animals plus providing a year-round spay/neuter voucher program to county residents.

"This year one of our members attended and graduated from the East Coast Animal Control Officer Academy," noted society president Lisa Baker. "This will enable us to be more thorough when we respond to reports of animal neglect. Though we are volunteers, we are able to enforce the Maryland state laws concerning neglect, and when necessary, can and will prosecute serious offenders."

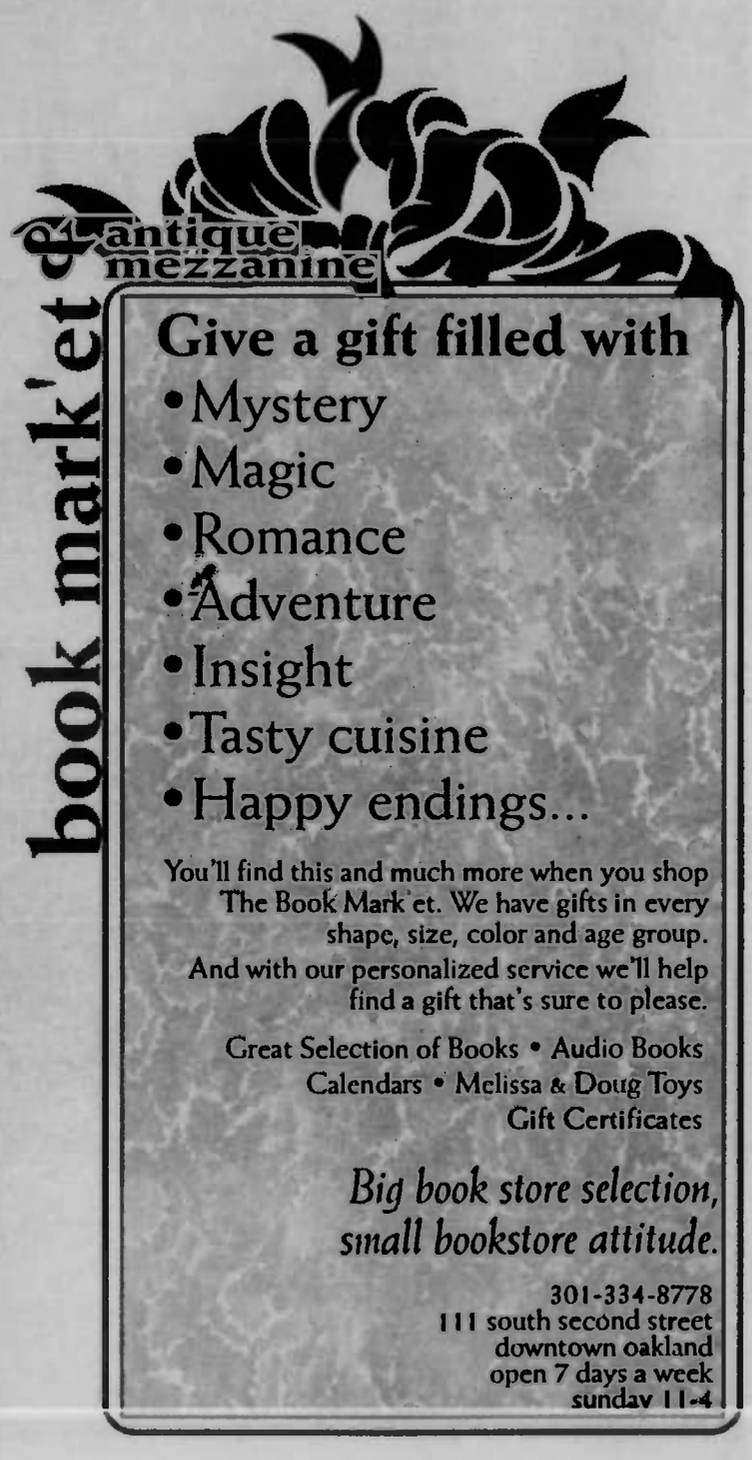
Baker added that the Humane Society is the only organization in Garrett County that responds to animal neglect calls.

"Your donation will help us to continue helping the sick and injured animals at the shelter, spay/neuter hundreds of animals so less have to be euthanized, and send our officer out 24/7 to help those that are neglected," she said.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.



"BUY SOMETHING FOR YOUR PET this holiday season and help the Garrett County Humane Society help other pets," requests president Lisa Baker. Her group has variety of gifts available for sale. See story. Pictured is Calvin, who was adopted from the local shelter. "He wishes you and your pets a meowy Christmas," Baker said.



Helpful Hints For Holiday Baking

(StatePoint) Deck the halls. Shop the sales. Clean the house. Who has time for holiday baking?

What most don't realize, however, is that by doctoring up a box of cake mix with a few of your own special ingredients, you can quickly whip up a holiday treat that will fool anyone into believing it's 100 percent homemade.

"With all those holiday chores piling up on your to-do list, holiday baking can turn any of us into a grinch. There are many tricks you can use to transform cake mixes into magical cakes that will fool your guests and even yourself," says Anne Byrn, author of the new book The Cake Mix Doctor Returns!

And taking those few extra moments to bake something yourself can be good for your family's soul.

"Now more than ever, with the stresses and demands of the outside world, the home and the kitchen are a refuge. Baking and sharing good food with those we love strengthens and renews us," she says.

Here are some ideas from Byrn's new book to help you turn ordinary cake mixes into extraordinary results:

* Top chocolate cakes with crushed peppermints for that candy cane zing.

* Turn a plain vanilla or yellow cake mix into a spice cake by adding your own cinnamon (one teaspoon), allspice (half teaspoon), and grou d nutmeg (quarter teaspoo..).

* Add eggnog and fruit preserves to a simple mix to lend any cake a holiday theme.

* Chocolate curls are the ultimate edible garnish. To make them, run a sharp vegetable peeler in one long stroke over the top of a bar or square of chocolate. The longer the stroke and the warmer the chocolate, the more elegant the curl.

* Top white or angel food cakes with shredded coconut. Tint it a festive color by shaking it in a plastic bag with a few drops of food coloring.

* Dust cocoa powder, cinnamon, or confectioners sugar over a cake using a fine mesh sieve. Get creative and sprinkle on patterns and designs using stencils.

* You can use milk, buttermilk, orange juice, or even brewed coffee instead of water in cake mixes. And adding vanilla, almond, lemon, and peppermint pure extracts can work wonders. A half teaspoon can transform any cake.

For more tips on how to transform ordinary cake mixes and for 160 year-round recipes, read Bryn's new book, The Cake Mix Doctor Returns!, or visit www.-cakemixdoctor.com.

"And remember, the less time you spend baking, the more time you can savor with family and friends," she adds.

"GIVE A GIFT THAT WON'T SIT IN THE CLOSET – HELP AN ANIMAL," requests Garrett County Humane Society president Lisa Baker. Her group is once again making gift giving "extra special" this holiday season. "Do you have someone on your list that has everything or doesn't want a gift?" Baker asks. "You can make a monetary gift to the Humane Society for us to use to help the neglected and homeless animals in this county." The group provides hundreds of spay/neuter vouchers for local pets each year, plus promotes adoptions from the county shelter through The Republican's Adoptables and on Petfinder.com. "For the last two years, we have been the only organization to respond to all animal neglect calls, numbering already over 150 this year alone," Baker noted. "To make a gift donation, please send the following information with your check to : GCHS, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. Please include the following information, which we will put in a Christmas thank-you card: Who the gift is from, who it is in memory/honor of, and the name and address of who should receive the gift card.

ering on the color with red, green, or blue tinted holiday glassware.

* Switch out the Color: Make a conscious effort to switch out colored pillows, throws, and even lampshades throughout the home. The powder room is most frequented by guests during a party, yet it is often overlooked or underemphasized while decorating.

Switch out hand towels and bath rugs for more holiday tones. Use stencils to add accents to lamp shades, or create a festive floor mat. Weave in other elements such as candles, soap, or lotions.

•Avoid toys that shoot or include parts that fly off. BB guns and air guns should not even be considered toys. Flying toys caused 9,600 injuries in 2008.

•Gifts of sports equipment should always be accompanied by protective gear (such as a basketball along with eye goggles or a baseball with a batting helmet with a face shield). In fact, 90 percent of all sports-related eye injuries can be prevented by using the appropriate eye protection.

•Educate yourself on what products have been recalled. Contact the CPSC at 800-638-2772 or go to www.cpsc.gov.

•Keep toys meant for older children away from younger ones. Closely monitor all activities to make sure smaller children do not have access to toys that are not at their age-appropriate level.

•Inspect toys for sturdiness. Your child's toys should be durable, with no sharp edges or points. The toys should also withstand impact. Dispose of plastic wrapping material immediately on toys as they may have sharp edges.

•Never give toys with small parts to young children. If a part of a toy can fit inside a toilet paper roll, the toy is considered a choking hazard and is not appropriate for children under the age of 3.

SOUTHERN GOSPEL GROUP TO PERFORM – The Skyline Boys, a Southern Gospel quartet from Northern Virginia, will present two concerts in Garrett County this weekend. Both concerts are free and open to the public. A concert will be presented at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m., and the group will also perform on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 6 p.m. at Otterbein United Methodist Church, Swanton. A covered dish dinner will accompany the Sunday concert, beginning at 5 p.m. All are welcome to attend. The Skyline Boys began performing in 1995 at the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, at the beginning of the famous Skyline Drive. Over the years, the Skyline Boys have appeared all over the country and have made a name on television and radio. Though members have changed, the message has stayed the same. For questions or directions to either concert, persons should contact June McClosky at 301-387-2990.

Christmas in New York

Poem by Loretta Hummel ©2009

Christmas in New York is my favorite time of year, the windows dance with snowflakes and Santa is so near.
But today my life changed forever,
for an old man I saw in fear.

The night seemed unusually bright,
the stars shone from the heavens that beautiful night.
The waves of a song were in the air.

He was playing Silent Night with a fiddle loud and clear.
The music brought tears to my eyes,
for he was dressed in ragged clothes.
But his music brought me sunshine, for my heart was set aglow.

Then I handed him my money,
for that song meant more to me than gold.
For Christmas is for giving when someone needs it so,
for Christ gave us his live because he loved us so.

Have a Merry Christmas

LATSHAW PRODUCTIONS CHRISTMAS SPECTACULAR, based in Greensburg, Pa., will present a holiday concert at 3 p.m. this Sunday, Dec. 13, at the Church-McKee Arts Center on the campus of Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va. The program is being sponsored by the Highland Arts Unlimited. Latshaw Productions has been specializing in family oriented programs, concerts, and special events since 1982. The company has produced more than 30 original musical revues, totaling nearly 4,000 performances. See story.

Highland Arts To Sponsor Latshaw Holiday Production

Area residents may want to take a break from the decorating and shopping and spend an afternoon in the joy of the Christmas season, as Highland Arts Unlimited presents the Latshaw Productions Christmas Spectacular.

Coming to Keyser for one show only, Latshaw will kick off its holiday performance at 3 p.m. this Sunday, Dec. 13, at the Church-McKee Arts Center on the campus of Potomac State College. An appearance by Santa Claus will add to the festivities.

Now in more than 20 cities across 10 states this show is becoming one of the area's most enjoyed holiday traditions.

Latshaw Productions is located in Greensburg, Pa., and has been specializing in family-oriented programs, concerts, and special events since 1982. The company has produced more than 30 original musical revues totaling nearly 4,000 performances.

Latshaw also has presented concert events with artists such as Johnny Cash, Tammy Wynette, the Manhattan Transfer, the Temptations, Glen Campbell, the Oak Ridge Boys, Frankie Avalon, Lee Greenwood, Connie Francis, the Lawrence Welk Show Orchestra, Glenn Miller Orchestra, the Platters, Coasters, and more.

They have staged concert and theater events in multiple

TOYS FOR TOTS GATHERED IN OAKLAND – The Oakland detachment of the Marine Corps League assisted in a Toys for Tots collection effort at Wal-Mart recently. A day of shopping on Dec. 5 was dedicated to the local campaign, and several items were donated. Shown above center is Robert Heilig, Oakland, who is the commandant of Oakland's Marine Corps League, receiving a toy from Justin Hunt of Oakland, a Marine Corps veteran, his wife Alasha, and their daughter Ava. The Marine Corps Reserve officially launched the annual Toys for Tots campaign in 1948, which collects and distributes toys to children in need. The coordinator for Allegheny and Garrett counties, John W. Parsons, a member of the Marine Corps League in Hagerstown, said that even though the donations have been slow recently, the groups collected over 8,000 toys last year.

Admission to Sunday's concert is free to HAU members. For non-members, tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for students. Children under 12 are admitted free with a paying adult.

Advance tickets are available at: Candlewyck Inn, Melody Music, Main Street Books, and Linda's Hallmark in Keyser; Anderson's Corner in Romney and Moorefield; from Clint Hillman (304-668-5418) in Petersburg; at the Saville Gallery in Cumberland; and at Main Street Books in Frostburg.

This year's programs are funded in part by membership contributions, grants from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts of the West Virginia Division of Culture and History, the National Endowment for the Arts, Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation, Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, and financial assistance from Potomac State College, the Mineral County Board of Education, and corporate sponsors.

Some Interesting Trivia About The Christmas Season

Did you know that:

•"Wassail" comes from Old Norse "ves heill," which means to be of good health. This evolved into the tradition of visiting neighbors on Christmas Eve and drinking to their health.

•A traditional Christmas dinner in early England was the head of a pig prepared with mustard.

•After he wrote A Christmas Carol, Charles Dickens wrote several other Christmas stories, one each year, but none were as successful as the original.

•Alabama was the first state to recognize Christmas as an official holiday in 1836.

•An artificial spider and web are often included in the decorations on Ukrainian Christmas trees. A spider web found on Christmas morning is believed to bring good luck.

•Ukrainians also prepare a traditional 12-course meal. A family's youngest child watches through the window for the evening star to appear, a signal that the feast can begin.

•Animal Crackers are not really crackers, but cookies that were imported to the United States from England in the late 1800s. Barnum's circus-like boxes were designed with a string handle so that they could be hung on a Christmas tree.

•Candy canes began as straight white sticks of sugar candy used to decorated the Christmas trees. A choirmaster at Cologne Cathedral, Germany, had the ends bent to depict a shepherd's crook, and passed them out to children to keep them quiet during the services. It wasn't until the 20th century that candy canes acquired their red stripes.

•During the Christmas/ Hanukkah season, more than 1.76 billion candy canes will be made.

•During the ancient 12-day Christmas celebration, the log burned was called the yule log. Sometimes a piece of the log would be kept to kindle the fire the following winter, to ensure that the good luck carried on from year to year. The yule log custom was handed down from the Druids.

•In southern France, some people burn a log in their homes from Christmas Eve until New Ycar's Day. This stems from an ancient tradition in which farmers would use part of the log to ensure a plentiful harvest the following year.

•Mistletoe, a traditional Christmas symbol, was once revcred by the early Britons. It was so sacred that it had to be cut with a golden sickle.

•The custom of singing Christmas carols is very old; the earliest English collection was published in 1521.

•The Puritans forbade the singing of Christmas carols.

•The first Christmas card was created in England on Dec. 9, 1841.

•The first printed reference to Christmas trees appeared in Germany in 1531.

•The tradition of Christmas lights dates back to when Christians were persecuted for saying Mass. A simple candle in the window meant that Mass would be celebrated there at night.

How To Keep Real Trees Safe, Fresh, Beautiful

The National Christmas Tree Association offers the following tips to help keep your real tree safe, alive with a fresh pine scent, and providing beauty throughout the holiday season:

•Select the freshest-looking tree available. To test for freshness, gently grasp a branch between your thumb and forefinger and pull it toward you. Very few needles should come off in your hand. Shake or bounce the tree on its stump. You should not see an excessive amount of green needles fall to the ground. Some loss of interior brown needles is normal.

•If not setting up right away, store the tree in water if possible and out of the sun and wind.

•The stand you use should hold at least one quart of water for every inch diameter of the trunk after the tree is in the stand.

•Don't add anything to the tree's water. Research has shown that plain tap water is by far the best. Some commercial additives and home concoctions can actually be detrimental to a tree's moisture retention and increase needle loss.

•Place the Christmas tree well away from heat registers, space heaters, fire places, wood stoves, televisions, computer monitors and other heat sources. These will speed up evaporation and moisture loss of the tree.

More information about the National Christmas Tree Association and live trees is available at realchristmastrees.org.

Preston Co. Arts Council To Host Third Open House

The Arts Council of Preston County will host its third annual Holiday Open House this Saturday, Dec. 12, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the council's gallery in the studio gallery of Gail Anderson, located at 137 South Price Street in Kingwood, W.Va.

"There are many great reasons to shop local this holiday season." said council president Amanda Lachowski. "By choosing locally made gifts you support artists living and working in your community, and your dollars stimulate the local economy. Friends and family will appreciate the uniqueness of a home-grown gift and shoppers will be impressed by the selection of high quality art made right here in Preston County."

The ACPC gallery showcases a variety of local art and music, including special holiday items, paintings, photography, felt art, porcelain and stoneware pottery, treenware and turned wood pieces, jewelry, baskets, and natural body products. Persons may shop the gallery while enjoying local music and homemade appetizers and desserts.

Entertainment will begin at noon with JoAnn Peterson performing vocal selection,s including old standards, big band, and contemporary favorites. A Preston High School horn quartet will perform at 2 p.m., followed by Geri Kasprowicz singing original songs at 4 p.m.

From 5 to 7 p.m., the gallery will be filled with local musicians for an authentic old time "jam." Among those expected to perform are: Bob Shank, Karen Wade, Sue Gimbal, Jim Wilson, Joey Damiano, and Scott Radabaugh.

Afterwards, visitors will be invited to attend this month's Laurel Mountain Coffeehouse concert at Monroe's Restaurant, which will feature Pat Wictor and West Virginia's own John Lilly. Reservations for the show are recommended.

Also available at the gallery are tickets for the Arts Council of Preston County's annual holiday tree raffle, featuring over $300 in fine-art ornaments, including custom pieces by Ridgetop Pottery, Clay Art by Gail, and Allegheny Treenware. Tickets are $2 each or 3 for $5, with proceeds benefitting match funding for local arts education programming.

For more information on the open house or to purchase raffle tickets, persons may telephone the gallery at 304-329-0017 or e-mail Info@PrestonArtsCouncil.org.

The Arts Council of Preston County is a non-profit organization.

'10 PACE Events Open To Public; Tickets Available

Plans have been finalized for the Mountain Maryland PACE (Positive Attitudes Change Everything) 2010, slated for Thursday, Jan. 28, and Friday, Jan. 29, at the Loews Annapolis Hotel in Annapolis.

PACE activities are not by invitation only, stress PACE 2010 Committee co-chairs J. Robert Smith, Allegany County, and David Moe, Garrett County. The general public is invited, and anyone may purchase a ticket.

Hosted by Cumberland–Allegany County Industrial Foundation Inc. and the Garrett County Development Corporation, there will be two PACE events. A reception will be held on Thursday from 6 to 8:30 p.m., and a breakfast is scheduled for Friday from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Both events will be held at the hotel.

The reception will feature classic hors d'oeuvres and an open bar, and the breakfast will have country-style offerings. Overall, the reception and the breakfast are business-social in style and atmosphere.

Now in its 34th year, PACE provides the opportunity to educate state legislators and state and federal government officials about Mountain Maryland, according to Moe.

"Local government officials, individuals involved in all types of businesses, and community leaders attend PACE and discuss all aspects of life in Mountain Maryland," he said. "Concerns can be addressed and challenges and issues are explained from the local perspective."

This year's theme is "Think Green–Think Mountain Maryland," and will feature a keynote speech by Gov. Martin O'Malley.

"Presenting and explaining the strategic needs of Allegany and Garrett counties has been and remains critical for Mountain Maryland," Smith said. PACE strives to do so, year after year."

Some of the businesses and groups scheduled to have informational displays during the PACE events include Bill's Marine, Clipper Wind Power, the Garrett County Chamber of

THE ATWILLS' ANNUAL GIFT – Once again, now for the 15th year, Scott Atwill, with help from his wife Helen, has created another fantasy land for children of all agea to enjoy this Christmas. Each year the Atwills design and construct a miniature town, complete with trains and boats and beautifully painted backgrounds. The little metropolis is located in the window of the George Littman building in Oakland, as it has been for 15 years. Local youth have come to expect the sight, and it is very much a part of their holiday experience and memory. The trains, which are G scale, snake in and about a busy town, with all sorts of events taking place, like weddings and children's games. There is a harbor as well, with boats coming in with loads of goods. There is even a flying plane, along with vehicles of every sort. The whole scene is certainly worth seeing — ask any local child about that. While constructing the neighborhood, Mr. Atwill said he would sometimes get the feeling he was on stage, and would turn to see a row of little heads at the window, all eyes on him. And now, with the scene completed and in action, there is hardly a time when there is not a person standing there watching, imagining life in the tiny town. Thank you, Scott and Helen, for giving such a lovely Christmas gift to all who pass by.

I-68 Accident Results In Driver Taken To GCMH

A two-vehicle accident on I-68 sent one driver to Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Sunday after a van collided with a tractor trailer. Maryland State Police responded to investigate.

Kenny R. Hollon, 50, Middletown, Ohio, was operating a 2005 Kenworth tractor trailer east on I-68 when his front left tire blew out, causing him to lose control of the vehicle. The truck jackknifed and lost its cargo load onto the center median, guardrail, and westbound lanes. Thomas P. Jacobson, 66, Enumclaw, Wash., was traveling behind the tractor trailer in a 2005 Dodge Caravan. Jacobson's vehicle collided with Hollon's truck after it came to rest across both lanes of traffic.

Jacobson was taken by Northern Rescue Squad to GCMH for treatment of injuries. Hollon is charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

Chamber Unveils "Third Night Free" Lodging Promotion

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is offering a "Stay 2 Nights, Get the 3rd Free" lodging promotion on its web site, visitdeepcreek.com, until April 1, 2010. Ten lodging companies, ranging from rental home properties to bed and breakfasts and log cabin style hotel suites, are participating.

"This lodging promotion is a terrific way to save on your winter trip to Wisp Resort and Garrett Coun-ty," said Sarah Duck, the chamber's marketing director.

She noted that with the extra day, visitors can "take advantage" of not only Maryland's only ski resort, but Garrett County's additional winter attractions, including horse-drawn sleigh rides, dogsledding, cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, and more.

For details about the promotion or more information about Garrett County, persons may visit the chamber web site or call 301-387-4386.

Local Medical Center Receives Federal Funding

Sen. Benjamin L. Cardin announced Monday that the omnibus appropriations bill that has passed Congress includes $650,000 for the Community Health Integrated Partnership Inc. (CHIP) to implement an electronic patient record system in nine federally qualified community health centers (FQCHCs) in Maryland. The Mountain Laurel Medical Center, Oakland, was one of those recipients.

"Our health care delivery system of the future will require that patient records be available electronically to ensure accurate and effective medical care without duplication of services," said Cardin. "I supported this funding because it will ensure better patient care, and it will help create a more efficient system that will save millions of dollars."

CHIP is in the process of deploying a new electronic patient record system in the 53 delivery sites of the nine participant Maryland health centers across the state.

According to Cardin, the system will provide the health centers with the tools needed to effectively and efficiently manage our health center population, the majority of which are below 200 percent of the poverty income level, have little access to comprehensive primary care, and have multiple chronic diseases

Invasive Algae Discovered In Savage River

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced yesterday that didymo, an invasive non-native algae, has been found in the Savage River below Savage River Reservoir.

DNA tests by fisheries managers earlier this year indicated the likely presence of this troublesome organism, but the findings could not be confirmed until DNR fisheries staff found a small mass of the material in late November near the Allegany footbridge.

"The confirmation of didymo in the Savage is troubling," said DNR Inland Fisheries director Don Cosden. "We are concerned about potential impacts to native brook trout populations here and upstream of the reservoir as well. We are also concerned that the algae could spread to the North Branch of the Potomac River below the Jennings Randolph Reser-

Man Killed In Tractor Trailer, Truck Collision

A two-vehicle accident on Maryland Highway on Friday afternoon resulted in the death of a West Virginia man. The accident occurred at the intersection of Rt. 135 and Mt. Zion Road.

Investigation revealed that Vernon Hess, 59, Mt. Lookout, W.Va., was operating a 2000 Ford truck and attempted to turn onto Rt. 135. Hess pulled the truck out in front of an eastbound tractor trailer driven by Edward Dillsworth, 71, Oakland. The 2001 Kenworth tractor trailer collided with Hess's truck.

Hess and passenger Jeffery Wayne Keith, 45, Swiss, were partially ejected from the truck and entrapped in the wreckage. Keith succumbed to his injuries at the scene. Hess was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad for treatment of his injuries.

Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the 4:20 p.m. scene. The operator of the tractor trailer was uninjured.

The incident remains under investigation, with charges pending completion of the investigation.

J. Christophel Gives Presentation On Dancing Classrooms

Jennifer Christophel, owner of Balanced Body Studio and Wellness Center, recently held a community meeting to present her desire to launch a non-profit organization, Dancing Classrooms Western Maryland, that will be incorporated into the curriculum of the Garrett County school system. Christophel recently trained in New York with the founder of Dancing Classrooms, Pierre Dulaine, to carry on his method of teaching.

The program is a 10-week, 20-session social development program for 5th and 8th grade children that is not intended to be an elective, but part of the school curriculum. Dancing Classrooms is not about teaching ballroom dancing. The dance is intended to be a tool for getting the children to break down social barriers, learn about honor and respect, treat others carefully, and improve self-confidence. It teaches them to communicate and cooperate, as well as accept others who may seem different from them.

Dulaine, who founded the original program, grew up in the Middle East and Palestine. He was very shy and timid as a boy, and felt that dancing was the one thing that made him learn

Failure To Yield Leads To Motor Vehicle Accidents

Two drivers were charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies with failure to yield when they pulled out in front of other vehicles. The accidents were unrelated.

Deputies responded to the intersection of Maryland Highway and G street on Saturday morning. Investigation revealed that a juvenile operating a 1998 Honda SUV had pulled out into the path of an eastbound vehicle. The Honda was struck by a 2006 Dodge truck operated by Bennie Shaffer, 68, Aurora, W.Va. Damage was done to both vehicles.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene. No injuries were reported. The juvenile was cited in the accident.

In a separate incident, deputies responded to the intersection of Garrett Highway and Oak Street Sunday evening. According to the investigation, the juvenile driver of a 1999 Ford Windstar entered the intersection from Ninth Street traveling south on Garrett Highway. A 2005 Jeep Grand Cherokee operated by Dwayne Teddy Van Meter, Elk Garden, W.Va., attempted a left turn from northbound

Health Officer Reassures Parents About Recalled H1N1 Vaccine

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Garrett County Health Department are issuing reassurances to parents about this week's national recall of pre-filled syringes of H1N1 flu vaccine for children from 6 months to 3 years old. The recall does not require any action for children who received the vaccine.

"We want to assure parents that the Garrett County Health Department did not have any of the H1N1 vaccine that has been recalled," said health officer Rodney Glotfelty. "However, it's important for parents to understand that according to CDC even if their child received a dose of the recalled vaccine at another location, they do not need to take any action other than to get the recommended second dose if they have not received it already.

"This is a non-safety-related voluntary recall," said Glotfelty. "The manufacturer is contacting providers who did receive vaccine from the four batches listed in the recall and asking them to return the unused portion."

The recalled vaccine was manufactured by Sanofi Pasteur and there are just four affected lots of vaccine packaged in pre-filled syringes being recalled.

Although the lots being recalled had passed all quality controls and met all specifications before they were shipped, the manufacturers routine quality assurance testing found that the potency of four lots had dropped below a pre-specified limit. The vaccine in these lots is still expected to be effective in stimulating a protective response despite this slight reduction in potency.

The Health Department will hold H1N1 flu vaccination clinics for anyone who wants to receive the vaccine at its Oakland office on Dec. 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and at the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department on Dec. 29, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Appointments are also available for vaccinations at the Oakland office for various days and times throughout December. All H1N1 flu vaccinations given by the health department are free.

H1N1 Vaccination Clinics Set For Dec. 21, Dec. 29

The Garrett County Health Department will hold H1N1 flu vaccination clinics at its Oakland office on Monday, Dec. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and at the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department on Tuesday, Dec. 29, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Appointments are also available for vaccinations at the Oakland office for various days and times throughout December. All H1N1 flu vaccinations given by the Health Department are free.

Garrett County followed the state's lead last week and expanded the distribution of the H1N1 flu vaccine to the general population, adding healthy adults and seniors to the five target groups for whom the vaccine is currently recommended.

The five target populations are:

- pregnant women;
- persons who live with or care for infants less than 6 months of age;
- health care workers and emergency medical services workers;
- persons 6 months of age to 24 years of age; and
- persons 25 to 64 years of age who have medical conditions that put them at higher risk for complication from flu, such as asthma, diabetes, or a weakened immune system.

More information is available at the Health Department's web site at www.garretthealth.org or the Flu Information Line at 301-334-7697 or 301-895-3113.

MISKE AND CHRISTOPHEL TAKE MORE FIRSTS – Local young ballroom dancers Victoria Miske and Benjamin Christophel competed in the Ohio StarBall DanceSport Championship in Columbus last month, and were highly successful in the competitions. Professional, collegiate, and amateur contests were held in the event, with more than 1,000 dancers competing in the DanceSport competition. Ben and Tori competed in a total of nine dance heats. Five heats were in the Pre-Bronze Division, which included the cha-cha, samba, rumba, paaa doble, and jive. The young pair took first place in all five of these dances. They also competed in four dance heats in the Bronze Division. These dances included the cha-cha, samba, rumba, and jive. They took first in samba and second in the other three dances. Both dancers belong to the Art & Style Dance Team of Art & Style Studio, Pittsburgh, Pa. They train locally under the instruction of Jennifer Christophel, Balanced Body Studio, Deep Creek Lake.

WILL IT "LOOK LIKE CHRISTMAS" THIS CHRISTMAS? Chances are good that another snowstorm, like the one that swept through the county earlier this month when this picture was taken, will come to the mountaintop over the next few days. So yes, Christmas will probably look a lot like Chriatmas, at least in this part of the world, with snow upon anow. Prognosticators say there are two fronts converging on this area, possibly bringing a fair amount of the white stuff and definitely more cold. Today the sky is bright blue and the air is sharp, with the high expected to be no more than 30 today, and 17 tonight. Photo by John McEwen.

Pa. Man Sentenced To 90 Days For Reckless Endangerment Charge

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, William Allan Mohney, 32, Fort Hill, Pa., was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for reckless endangerment, and was sentenced to 90 days with all being suspended, two years of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines.

Maryland State Police responded to a New Germany Rd. residence for a reported domestic incident in September. Troopers made contact with the victim of the complaint, and investigation revealed that after Mohney had dropped off a minor at the residence, a verbal argument ensued. It was reported that he pushed the victim and then made threats, at which point he was asked to leave by the complainant.

Once in his vehicle, Mohney then threatened the victim with a gun.

Mohney was not prosecuted on charges of first-degree assault, trespassing on private property, disturbing the peace, and two counts of second-degree assault.

In an unrelated hearing, Gerald Francis Cutter Jr., 26, Frostburg, was found guilty for theft valued at less than $1,000, and was sentenced to 90 days with 88 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Cutter was charged in October after MSP responded to Guy's Tire Shop in Grantsville for a reported theft. It was reported that the manager of the tire shop had made a stop at the bank and returned with $560 in cash in an envelope which was kept in a private office. The money in the envelope belonged to the manager and not the shop, and later in the day the manager reported it missing. After an investigation, Cutter admitted to taking the cash and stashing it in his vehicle. No other charges were filed.

In another court proceeding, James Johnson, age unknown, Eglon, W.Va., was found guilty for harassment as a course of conduct, and was sentenced to 90 days with all being suspended, two years of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines. Charges were filed in August after it was reported that Johnson had been harassing another adult since March. He was not prosecuted on a charge of telephone misuse by repeated calls.

Robert Harold Gainer, 44, Elkins, W.Va., was not prosecuted for a violation of a protective order charge, stemming from August 2003.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Philip Getty Reich, 48, Pa., was found guilty for a DWI by drugs or alcohol/alcohol and drugs charge from October, and was sentenced to 45 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Peter E. Ritchey, 39, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from September, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Diana Lynn Davis, 45, Md., was found guilty for a DUI per se charge from April, and was sentenced to 60 days with all being suspended, two years of supervised probation, and $57.50 in fines. She was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Samuel Olusegun Ayodece, 56, Md., was found guilty for failure to stop for a stopped school vehicle operating alternately flashing red lights, and received $175.50 in fines.

Mother And Baby Taken To GCMH Following Accident

A single-vehicle accident on Swanton Road sent a woman and infant to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday morning. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 9 a.m. accident.

Investigation revealed that driver John David Andrews, 29, Kitzmiller, had been traveling east when he lost control of the 2001 Buick he was operating. The vehicle crossed the oncoming lane and came to rest in a ditch on the westbound side of the road.

Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene. Passengers Rita Mae Andrews, 27, and an infant were transported to GCMH for treatment of possible injuries. Because of extreme weather conditions, no citations were issued.

Two Arrested In Connection With November Theft

Two Mtn. Lake Park men were arrested in connection with a theft that reported in November. The investigation into the theft of a billboard/sign along Hutton Road was conducted by Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies reportedly received a tip from an anonymous caller that led to warrants issued through the District Court commissioner's office for Joshua Adam DeWitt, 18, and Joshua Franklin Arnold, 18. Both turned themselves in to police last week.

Each is charged with theft plus $1,000, first degree malicious burning, malicious destruction of property plus $500, and conspiracy to commit theft plus $1,000. DeWitt 's bond was set at $1,500, and Arnold was released on personal recognizance.

WAL-MART GIVES $2,000 GRANT TO WARM THE CHILDREN – Warm the Children, a program administered jointly by The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, recently received a $2,000 grant from the Wal-Mart Foundation. Douglas Shears, assistant manager of the Oakland Wal-Mart, presented the donation recently to the WTC volunteers. Through the program, up to $125 is allocated for each eligible child to purchase new, warm winter clothing and footwear. The shopping for Garrett County's WTC program takes place at the Oakland Wal-Mart and at the Wal-Mart in LaVale. Pictured from left are Betty Ellington, volunteer coordinator and co-director of Warm the Children; Shears; and Barbara Frantz, president of the Civic Club of Oakland.

SQUAD AUXILIARY PRESENTS CHECK – At the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad's recent Christmas party, the squad's auxiliary presented a check to the organization. The monies were realized in fundraising events during the year. Five Local FLL Teams Qualify To Compete At State Championships

Eight FIRST LEGO League (FLL) teams competed at a Maryland State FLL Championship qualification tournament hosted by Northern Garrett High School last Saturday. An average of about 6 to 8 students composed each team, totaling approximately 60 students participating at the event from Garrett and Washington counties. Garrett Container Systems, Accident, as well as the Garrett County Board of Education sponsored the Garrett County Qualifier.

Of the eight teams participating, six qualified to go on to compete at the Maryland State FLL Championship at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) on Saturday, Jan. 30. Of those six, five are from Garrett County: two from Southern Middle School, two from Northern Middle School, and one from Accident Elementary School. A team from Washington County, known as the Nuclear Mindstormers, was the sixth qualifying team to compete at the state championship.

The Garrett County FLL tournament is one of nine qualification events throughout the state of Maryland to be held between Dec. 5 and Jan. 9. Approximately 64 teams will be competing at the state tournament. There will be over 120 teams competing in the nine qualifiers for one of the 64 spots at the state championship.

Garrett County school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets and Northern High School principal Gary Reichenbecher were both on hand and gave opening remarks to welcome teams and extend best wishes for all. UMBC graduate student Ricardo Pinto and Maryland State FLL judge advisor John Schnell attended the event to lend their support. Both have been tasked with coordinating the nine qualification events across Maryland on behalf of UMBC. Board of Education member Charlotte Sebold was also in attendance.

EIGHT COMPETED, SIX QUALIFIED – Eight FIRST LEGO League (FLL) teams competed at the Maryland State FLL Championship qualification tournament hosted by Northern Garrett High School last Saturday. Of the eight that competed, six of them qualified to go on to the state championship tournament, five being teams from Garrett County. See story for details.

Dr. Teets commended Northern High School and its staff for hosting the event. "I've experienced many FLL competitions in the past, and the effort and energy that our teachers put forward made this one of the most exciting I've attended," said Teets. "It's wonderful that we are able to provide this opportunity to our teams and the teams who have come up to compete with us from Washington County. We are grateful to all who helped make this a success, especially Garrett Container Systems for [its] support."

Event coordinator Sandy Rodeheaver credits the success of the event to all the many volunteers and the preparedness of the teams competing. "The judges had a very difficult time selecting the top six teams, as all teams exceeded everyone's expectations," noted Rodeheaver. Top honors went to Southern Middle team NeXT Gen, which received first place and won the Champion's Award. The Fiery SnowBricks from Northern Middle School were the second place runners up for the Champion's award. Other teams participating this year from Garrett County were the Polar Extremes, LEGO Rangers, K-Town Fuzzballs, and Accident Moovers. The two teams attending from Washington County were the Atomic Gigawatts Gears and Nuclear Mindstormers.

Garrett County schools have been participating in FLL tournaments for the past eight years in Pittsburgh, Pa., Baltimore, Atlanta, Ga., and Dayton, Ohio. More about FIRST and FLL can be found at www.usfirst.org.

Information about last weekend's local event can be found at http://sites.google.com/site/garrettqualifier/ or by calling 301-334-8926.

Two Arrested On District Court Bench Warrants

Two men were arrested on District Court bench warrants this week. The cases were unrelated.

Maryland State Police arrested Christopher Scott Garner last Thursday at approximately 4 p.m. He was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center, where the staff found a hydrocodone pill in his pocket. He was further charged with controlled dangerous substance possession not marijuana.

GCSO deputies arrested Shawn R. Graham at 9 a.m. Monday morning. He is charged with three counts of violation of conditions of probation. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Man Sentenced To One Year In Garrett Co. Jail

A 22-year-old Oakland area man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to a fourth degree sex offense charge. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Eric Robert King to one year in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended.

King is on probation for five years, with conditions that include paying $385 in court costs and registering as a sex offender.

King was charged in May after investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office learned that he had engaged in a relationship with an underage female in March of this year.

In other Circuit Court proceedings this week, Deborah Ann Smith, 41, Aurora, W.Va., pleaded guilty to driving an uninsured motor vehicle and to displaying tags issued to another vehicle.

Sherbin sentenced her to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended in favor of probation. Smith was also assessed fines and costs totaling $485.

She was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in February after her vehicle was stopped in Oakland for an equipment violation. The defects with the vehicle registration and insurance were discovered when Smith could not produce valid documents for the vehicle.

In an unrelated case, charges against David Spencer Glotfelty, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, were not prosecuted in open court by the state's attorney.

Glotfelty had been charged by the Garrett County Bureau of Investigation in April with first degree burglary and attempted theft of property valued at less than $100. The alleged incident occurred at a Mtn. Lake Park residence.

In other court proceedings this week, Cory Thomas Broadwater, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Judge Sherbin sentenced him to one year in the Garrett County Jail.

Six months of the sentence was suspended, and Broadwater will be on probation when released. Fines and costs totaling $400 were also assessed.

Broadwater was arrested and charged by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in February after they executed a search and seizure warrant at his then-residence in Mtn. Lake Park. Officers located five persons inside and seized a quantity of marijuana, the state's attorney noted.

Three Arrested For Driving On Revoked Or Suspended Licenses

Three drivers were charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for driving on revoked or suspended licenses and related charges. The following arrests were unrelated.

A vehicle was stopped by deputies on Dennett Road for mechanical problems. Charles Howard Burgess II was identified as the driver, and investigation showed that he was driving on a suspended license. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Deputies stopped a vehicle operated by Tony Lynn Hebb, 28, Oakland, on Paul Street, Loch Lynn. The 2000 Dodge Intrepid Hebb was driving was displaying West Virginia tags belonging to a different vehicle. Investigation led to Hebb being charged with driving on a revoked license, driving an unregistered vehicle, driving an uninsured vehicle, driving a vehicle with registration that belongs to another, and driving without a license. He was taken into custody and later released on bond.

In another incident, deputies responded to a single-vehicle accident on Broadford Road. Felipe Sey, 26, Guatemala, was operating a 2003 Ford and lost control on the icy roadway. The vehicle slid off the road and struck an electric pole. No injuries were sustained. Sey was discovered to be without a license. He was taken into custody and released on bond.

Man Arrested For Violation Of Protective Order

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a man Wednesday after responding to a Third Street residence for a complaint. David Franklin Dever is charged with violation of a protective order and CDS paraphernalia. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Great Questions...

The controversy surrounding wind turbines took an interesting turn last week when, in a 76-page ruling, federal judge Roger Titus (who happens to be a part-time resident of Garrett County) declared that a 122-turbine facility being built along 23 miles of mountain ridges in Greenbrier County, W.Va., would violate the federal Endangered Species Act by killing legally protected Indiana bats. Titus ruled that 40 turbines now under construction can be completed, but no more could be erected until the developer obtains an "incidental take" permit from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. These permits actually allow projects to kill endangered species, but in order to get them, applicants must agree to take steps to minimize and mitigate the harm their activities will do to the protected animals.

A subsequent editorial in the Baltimore Sun questioned whether or not the ruling would prompt wind opponents to raise similar objections about projects planned in Garrett and Allegany counties. The opinion rendered by Titus included a map that shows the endangered bats have also been found in Garrett County. Construction on four wind projects in Maryland, two of which will be located atop Backbone Mountain in Garrett County, is supposed to get under way this coming spring, thanks to a recent ruling by the Public Service Commission that seemingly cleared the way for construction of the projects.

This ruling also puts the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, an agency whose mission includes the protection of endangered species, in an awkward position. Current Maryland law exempts any industrial wind plant project from a comprehensive environmental review process if its generating capacity is limited to 70MW or less. This exemption was passed two years ago after being pushed by Wayne Rogers, a well-connected entrepreneur who has been a generous donor to Democratic campaigns across the state and the country, is a former state Democratic Party chairman, served as chairman of Governor O'Malley's Energy Transition Team, and just happens to be president of Synergics LLC, the company that will build one of the two approved projects in Garrett County. (Could there possibly be a conflict of interest here?)

When Rogers/Synergics submitted their original application to build a facility in Garrett County, the DNR submitted extensive comments that the turbines would threaten the mourning warbler, which is also on the Endangered Species list. The DNR also opposed the aforementioned legislation, to no avail. However, after its passage and enactment, and Rogers' subsequent filing for an exemption for the Garrett County project, the DNR was strangely silent, and submitted no concerns whatsoever about the mourning warbler or any other species.

So now Judge Titus's ruling adds the Indiana bat to the list. Will the DNR continue to remain silent?

Former Maryland state senator John Bambacus, an ardent opponent of wind turbines being placed in Garrett County, has via a personal letter directly challenged DNR secretary John Griffin on this matter.

"Does the DNR agree that it no longer has any role to play in protecting threatened and endangered species as these might be affected by the installation and operation of 70MW or smaller wind projects?... even if the wind energy project might result in harm to species listed by DNR as endangered and thus heretofore protected under the state's Nongame and Endangered Species Conservation Act?"

Great questions. We anxiously await your response, Mr. Secretary.

To the Editor:

When I was a young girl, I fell in love with theatre when I watched Neil Flannigan play Lord Fancourt Babberley at the Blue Bam. I was hooked. The play, Charley's Aunt, which was written in the early 1890s, doesn't have a "mean bone" in its script – it is a ridiculous, fast-paced farce which will draw out the belly laughs from an audience and put a spring in their steps during a cold, gray February that so often haunts our winters. I've been busy getting it ready for audition, and then found to my despair that I simply didn't have enough auditioners to cast the play. I need six men: three in their late teens or early 20s, and three age 40s or above; and four women, three in their late teens or early 20s, and one age 40 or above.

Farce is difficult to direct – the stage timing is so important; it takes a lot of prep time from the director because comedy is a serious business. I was feeling downhearted after auditions, and then it hit me! "DUH! Well, Jane, why are you having auditions during the busiest weeks of the year – when people are just nuts from doing everything from attending all sorts of performances and services, to socializing, to shopping, to reflecting, to getting ready for all of the festivities."

What I neglected to say in last week's article about auditions is that I don't intend to hold rehearsals for Charley's Aunt until after the first of the year. If you think you might be interested in reading for a part, please call me at the theatre (301-334-5640, x3) and I will schedule you for an audition at your convenience.

If I still don't have a cast by Christmas, I will simply put on my nightcap and kerchief and have a long winter's nap. Thanks, and a Merry Christmas to all.

To the Editor:

An organization known as Clean Currents, run by Washington, D.C., wind salesman Gary Skulnik, is selling snake oil to Marylanders in the form of Renewable Energy Credits (REC), hoping that electricity consumers will purchase them in the expectation they will be saving the planet by allowing wind generation to reduce their consumption of carbon dioxide, a surfeit of which some think is precipitously warming the globe. The logic is that if a wind turbine spins in skittering ways that ultimately produces 1,000 kWh of electricity (Maryland households use about 13,000 kWh of electricity annually), an REC is created, allowing those who purchase it, in this case the duped consumer, to believe he or she is offsetting "1,350 pounds of CO_2" that ostensibly is emitted by a coal unit not operating because it is displaced by the wind energy.

There is, however, no actual measurement that validates such a proposition.

Simply because a wind turbine spins does not mean it is saving any CO_2. Or that it is even displacing fossil fuel. It could be displacing hydro-, or even nuclear, which emit no carbon dioxide. More likely, it's displacing natural gas units that produce half the CO_2 coal does. Even if it does displace natural gas or coal, the volatile wind energy must be followed and balanced by fossil-fired units that are themselves emitting CO_2 in a highly inefficient manner; the consequent heat rate penalties produce a lot of CO_2. The REC does not account for these emissions.

Clean Currents also states: "The more clean renewable energy from sources like wind power or solar, the less power generated from fossil fuels like coal or natural gas. RECs represent the environmental attributes from 1,000 kilowatt hours of clean energy!"

Unless Skulnik's organization provides real-time chronological load dispatch analyses at 15-minute intervals showing how all the thermal variables perform in any wind integration scheme, it cannot substantiate its claims about how wind is offsetting carbon emissions in electricity production. The burden of proof is also on Clean Currents to demonstrate that less power is generated by fossil fuels specifically because of the presence of wind energy. Such proof does not exist. Skulnik's RECs are the contemporary equivalent of the church indulgences once sold to hasten the exit of souls from Purgatory.

When salesmen, using tax laws and interstate commerce, cannot substantiate their claims for service, law enforcement should be compelled to prosecute for fraud.

To the Editor:

This is in response to last week's letter by Richard Otto. Several things came to mind after reading his letter, and I thought I'd share a few of them.

According to a Harvard study, over 44,000 people in the United States die each year because of a lack of health insurance. Now if we are to protect life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, I'd have to say that 44,000 people are denied the first part of that plan.

After 9/11, we "rolled" to avenge 3,000 lives that were lost that tragic day. Countless lives and treasure were expended for those 3,000 people and yet, Mr. Otto, the fact of 44,000 people dying each year in the richest country in the world because of a lack of health insurance moves you almost to blame them. I dare say, Mr. Otto, that if one of those 44,000 were your mother or child you would not feel the same way.

The more basic question that should be asked is whether we have a moral obligation to help our own people. If we are the Christian nation so many people talk about, then explain to me how your attitude jives with that of Christ. Would Jesus just sit by and watch 44,000 people die for lack of care? Is that the teaching of the New Testament? Is that the Way? Would Christ embrace the multi-billion dollar insurance cartel? Would all the money they have spent to stop health care reform been better spent helping some of the 44,000 people who will die in the next year for lack of coverage?

I hope that when you tum in on Christmas Eve you feel the Christian spirit of sharing that marks the season, and remember that there but for the grace of God go you, Mr. Otto.

To the Editor:

There you go again.

•Jimmy Carter, 2002 NPP awarded for working toward peace in the Arab-Israeli conflict. Sure glad that one is solved.

•Desmond Tutu, 1984 NPP for working to stop apartheid – Nelson Mandela, F.W. de Klerk finally resolved in1994.

•Woodrow Wilson, 1919 NPP for League of Nations, to prevent any more world wars. That didn't work out too well either. .

The above three Nobel Peace Prize winners all failed to achieve the goals they received the prize for. This same failure applies to other winners also. The prize is not just awarded for accomplishments, it is also awarded for effort to individuals they think will make a difference in the world. Once again, I have attached the committee's statement for you to publish.

"The Norwegian Nobel Committee has decided that the Nobel Peace Prize for 2009 is to be awarded to President Barack Obama for his extraordinary efforts to strengthen international diplomacy and cooperation between peoples. The committee has attached special importance to Obama's vision of and work for a world without nuclear weapons.

"Obama has as president created a new climate in international politics. Multilateral diplomacy has regained a central position, with emphasis on the role that the United Nations and other international institutions can play. Dialogue and negotiations are preferred as instruments for resolving even the most difficult international conflicts. The vision of a world free from nuclear arms has powerfully stimulated disarmament and arms control negotiations. Thanks to Obama's initiative, the USA is now playing a more constructive role in meeting the great climatic challenges the world is confronting. Democracy and human rights are to be strengthened.

"Only very rarely has a person to the same extent as Obama captured the world's attention and given its people hope for a better future. His diplomacy is founded in the concept that those who are to lead the world must do so on the basis of values and attitudes that are shared by the majority of the world's population.

"For 108 years, the Norwegian Nobel Committee has sought to stimulate precisely that international policy and those attitudes for which Obama is now the world's leading spokesman. The committee endorses Obama's appeal that "Now is the time for all of us to take our share of responsibility for a global response to global challenges."

I've enjoyed your recent columns. But, I appreciate the choice of our commissioners regarding windmills. I hope they continue to look forward by bringing windmill technology to the area as businesses and programs in the schools. Let's train our people to manufacture, build, repair, dismantle, and run windmills.

About Ms. Cosner's letter about freedom and collectivism, let's get clear on the true meaning of socialism, fascism, democracy, and capitalism – check your dictionaries please. Nazi Germany used the title, but did not practice socialism – Hitler "inspired" his people to act for the good of the nation within a fascist system. Our Year Without a Santa Claus

I am sad to report that this year no one in my house believes in Santa Claus. This saddens me. I was hoping for one more year. Anyone who knows me knows that lying isn't my strong suit, but there was something different about the whole Santa thing. It's more than just make believe, it's magic, and when Carter, who is 8, said, "I've figured it out, you and Dad are Santa. I can just smell it." I didn't admit it right away. He said, "It just doesn't make sense. It's impossible for some guy to do all that in one night." My reply was that he was magic, to which Carter quickly retorted, "Magic isn't real either, Mom."

I still haven't come right out and said he is right. Although I have to admit, I gave up the façade of the Easter Bunny and Tooth Fairy pretty dam quick. Seriously, who believes in those two? I never pushed the bunny idea, and once I was busted while leaving the money for the Tooth Fairy, I was slightly relieved. No more worrying about forgetting to leave the money, which I had done at least once. Now, when Carter starts to pull a tooth he asks, "Can I get my money now or do I really have to wait until it comes all the way out?"

But Santa was something that I wanted to hold onto for at least one more year. I have one very strong childhood memory of lying in bed and I would have bet everything I had that I heard hooves on my roof. I swear I did. Then there was the year that I was pretty sure I didn't believe but was afraid to admit it out loud. What if I was wrong, I admitted it, and that was the year I didn't get anything? The horror!

Tyler, who is 11 and oh so wise beyond his years, said to me, "Isn't it better that we stop lying to him?" I never saw it as lying exactly, it was just fun to believe in something – something we all believed in whether we were pretending or not. Hopefully, my boys will have a few strong magical memories from when they believed in Santa too. So, whether they want to believe or not, we'll still watch the Polar Express and I know I will get chills when the main character is the only one who hears the sleigh bell ring.

The excitement, the beauty, the wonder of it all – I hope everyone still holds a piece of something magical in them.

NAMED TO SENIOR CITIZEN HALL OF FAME – Garrett County resident Jane Sealing was recently inducted into the Maryland Senior Citizens Hall of Fame. One person from each of the state's 23 counties was inducted during a presentation at Glen Burnie. After rearing four children, Sealing worked for the state of Maryland for the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in Baltimore, then as the director of purchase and contracting for the Finan Center Hospital in Cumberland. She volunteered for 22 years with Garrett County Hospice, where she served as director of bereavement. It was not unusual for her to give aid and counseling to over 100 grieving families each year, according to a spokesperson. Sealing is also a deacon and Eucharist minister, serving at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Fulton, St. Francis Catholic Church, also in Fulton, and presently at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger. She was married to the late Don Sealing for over 60 years. Sealing is pictured above, center, at the awards ceremony. At right is Maryland Secretary of Aging Gloria G. Lawlah. (The man at left was not identified.)

people, from farm to factory. Hitler and Stalin played on their citizens' fears, using terroristic tactics against such groups as the Jews and the Ukrainians.

Democracy unites its citizens for the good of the nation, in a healthier way. We the people join together to do together what we cannot do alone. We are the government, as we have the right to choose our representatives, who in turn, govern. We have majority rule, but the president represents all the people and must honor the needs of the minority. Our representatives pass laws to keep order, provide safety, and provide the money, through taxation, for services that benefit the citizenry – highways, schools, roads, the military, the ability to hold elections, etc. Democracy thrives as we collect together and cooperate – even by paying taxes.

Think how the local town governments were so negatively impacted by the low gasoline tax revenues recently. Paying taxes can be seen as one's patriotic duty, as we have a representative government. Of course, capitalism has its faults, as recent history shows.

I don't think we'll see socialism or communism in this country. We have seen terrorism in the past from our own people – McCarthyism, the brutal Jim Crow laws, and keeping women from voting, for example. I think banding together is the natural order of things – from reefs, to forests, to herds, from family, to church, to community action, to the stars in the sky.

Let's preserve our way of life by working together, helping each other out, and getting to know our own history through reading many books. Let's keep our hearts and minds open for the good of all.

Sincerely,
Cynthia Knight

To the Editor:

This holiday season, we at PETA hope caring people will help provide comfort and joy to a lonely dog chained outside by becoming an "Angel for Animals" sponsor.

Many dogs are forced to live in the bitter cold, without shelter. They often suffer from frostbite, and whatever drinking water they have usually freezes. PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) does everything it can to persuade people to bring their dogs indoors, often with success, but some people refuse.

In order to help as many "backyard dogs" as possible, PETA builds and delivers hundreds of sturdy, straw-filled doghouses every year. The doghouses are often the only "home" these dogs have ever had, and it's humbling to see how four walls, a roof, and a fluffy bed of straw can make such a difference in their lives.

But we can't do it alone. Share the warm feeling of helping a dog in need by becoming an "Angel for Animals" or by giving the gift of a doghouse sponsorship to a loved one. Visit www.HelpingAnimals.com online for details, and have a happy and humane holiday!

Sincerely,
Heather Moore

To the Editor:

It's upsetting that Garrett College doesn't offer hospitality programs such as culinary, baking and pastry, or restaurant management. We all could benefit highly from such programs.

We have many restaurants such as Pine Lodge Steak House and Wendy's Towne Restaurant. There are well-known chain establishments such as Denny's, and many fast-food restaurants like McDonald's, Burger King, and Arby's. Stores such as Foodland, Wal-Mart, and Arrowhead Market have bakeries.

Other major restaurants include DC Bar and Grill Restaurant at the Wisp and the Will O'the Wisp. Nemacolin Woodlands Resort in Farmington, Pa., isn't far way, nor is the Canaan Valley Resort in Davis, W.Va. With all these establishments, it's a wonder why local workers don't have a way to train professionally. There is only one person at DC restaurant with a culinary degree, and he admits that the degree significantly raised his pay.

The college had culinary studies once, and students really enjoyed the program. Some of the students worked in the cafeteria, and it was stated that the food was much better and was offered at a lower cost. The college would have to pay a salary to a chef instructor and the classrooms to conduct such classes; however, if working in the cafeteria part-time were part of the completion of the program, then the school would benefit by not having to hire people to work in the cafeteria.

Even if students were taking only a few classes as electives, they would become more comfortable in kitchens. Everyone should be able to make at least a few things in the kitchen; we can't all live off cold cereal and processed foods.

Garrett College isn't just a little community college anymore, and it's time to expand. If more students pursued a culinary degree because it was easier to obtain, they might want to continue to stay in the area because of the number of restaurants and tourist attractions nearby. Garrett County would keep some of the students who would otherwise be moving, it would gain more residents because of better hospitality, and it would bring more outside county residents to the college seeking these programs.

If people just understood how great these programs would be, we could all come up with a plan for the president, and Garrett College could be the home of hospitality programs once again.

GOP WOMEN HOST CHRISTMAS PARTY – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club held its annual Christmas party and auction recently. About 30 members and guests were in attendance at the covered-dish meal, which was followed by a program of shared humorous political stories. Auction items, including the wreath shown above, were donated by those in attendance. Garrett County commissioner Fred Holliday served as the auctioneer. He is shown at right, portraying a certain bearded Christmas character, along with Lou DiCarlo, who served as "Santa's helper." Proceeds from the auction will benefit the club's established civic projects. Persons interested in becoming a member of the club are encouraged to call 301-387-4026. Photo by Nancy Jordan.

Bird

In loving memory of our dear father and brother,
Robert C. Bird Sr.,
who passed away 30 years ago today.
December 20, 1979.

Our hearts still want to cry.
We know not the reason, only God knows why.
But even now, Dad, as you live with God above
we still and always will have the memories of your love.
Our hearts still ache with sadness and secret tears still flow.
What it meant to lose you the world will never know.
If all the world was ours to give,
we would give it, yes, and more
To see your face again, come smiling through the door.
When we are sad and lonely and everything goes wrong we seem to hear you whisper, "Cheer up and carry on."
Each time we see your picture you seem to smile and say, "Don't cry, I'm only sleeping till we meet again someday."
May you always walk in sunshine, Dear, with God's love around you glow.
For the happiness you gave us no one will ever know.
It broke many hearts to lose you
but you did not go alone,
Because part of us went with you the day God called you home.

Sadly missed by sons, daughter,
Sister and brothers.

In Memory of
RICK RECKNER
who was taken from us on Dec. 20, 1985
HELEN RECKNER
Nov. 3, 2008

When our family gets together
There are two we fail to see
And it fills our heart with sadness
Thinking how it used to be.
But just beyond the hill we know
They wait for us in God's eternal light.

Loved & sadly missed by Dad, Ron, Randy, "Jake," Brenda Ronnie and Jeremiah

OBITUARIES

Robert Jackson Shaffer, 87, Cresaptown, died on Sunday, Dec. 13, 2009.

Born Dec. 18, 1921, in Brookside, W.Va., he was a son of the late Jay Camden Shaffer and Dora (Selders) Shaffer. He was also preceded in death by his first wife of 53 years, Helen Miller Shaffer, in Dec. 2000; four sisters, Josephine DeWitt, Helen Hauser, Marian Rice, and Lois Shaffer, who died in her youth; and four brothers Dale Shaffer, Glenn Shaffer, Kenneth Shaffer, who died during World War II, and Richard Shaffer, who died at birth.

He was a resident of Cresaptown for over 60 years. He retired at the age of 62 from Sears Automotive Department. He was an active member of Calvary Baptist Church most of his adult life. He joined the CCCs with his brother Glenn and then the Army for World War II.

In addition to his second wife Sarah, whom he married in 2002, he is survived by two daughters, Debra McKenzie, York, S.C., and Donna Ramsey, Gastonia, N.C.; one grandson; one great-granddaughter, and numerous nieces and nephews in the Oakland and Fairmont areas.

A funeral service will be conducted at Faith Evangelical Free Church, Mtn. Lake Park, on Friday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Patrick McKenzie officiating.

Friends will be received at the church one hour prior to the service.

Interment will be held in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Scarpelli Funeral Home, Cumberland, is assisting the family.

Adorable Adoptables

DECKED OUT FOR THE HOLIDAYS – "This female blue tick hound (above left) will have a blue Christmas if she doesn't get adopted soon," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "She is very laid back and has been at the Garrett County Animal Shelter for weeks." Also in need of homes are a female hound-shepherd mix that was picked up as a stray and wasn't wearing a collar or tags, a young male black/white cat, and a nice female calico and her black male feline buddy (not pictured). Also at the shelter are two pregnant canines that were brought in and a chocolate Lab that was picked up as a stray. Last week's featured hound mix and black dog were taken to rescues by HART, along with a few other dogs and kittens, making much needed room at the shelter. The Siamese mix and several other cats were adopted. The orange tabby featured in last week's Adoptables was happily reclaimed by his owners, who said the cat ran out of the house and was missing for three weeks until they saw his picture in the paper. "If you don't find the pet you want at our local shelter, please visit www.Petfinder.com and view hundreds of other homeless pets, including dogs, cats, rabbits, hamsters, ferrets, farm animals, and reptiles," said the spokesperson. For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

F. BLAINE GLOTFELTY

F. Blaine Glotfelty, 88, Accident, died Wednesday, Dec. 9, 2009, at Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville.

Born June 3, 1921, in Accident, he was a son of the late Howard and Lula (Broadwater) Glotfelty. He was also preceded in death by one brother, Hubert Glotfelty; and one sister, Ruth Glass.

He was a farmer and a member of McHenry United Methodist Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Mary Cessna, Bedford, Pa., and Grace Boldt, Akron, Ohio.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Accident/McHenry.

A service was conducted in the McHenry United Methodist Church on Sunday, Dec. 13, with the Rev. Kevin Gooding officiating.

Interment will be in the Bumble Bee Ridge Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Hospice of Garrett County.

SALLY H. DURRANT

Sally H. Durrant died on Wednesday, Dec. 9, 2009, and was cremated the following day.

At her request, no service was held.

Memorial contributions may be made in her name to provide research efforts conducted by the Thomas E. Starzl Transplantation Institute or the Hillman Cancer Center.

She was reared in Garrett County by Robert T. and Mildred B. Hoffman, both deceased.

She is survived by her husband, Robert E. Durrant; one brother, R. Thomas Hoffman; and a remarkable collection of former students whose loyalty and sense of purpose were her greatest treasure.

Though she earned a law degree from the University of Pittsburgh and was licensed to practice law in Pennsylvania and Ohio, her passions were poetry and working in the public schools as a teacher and administrator. Mrs. Durrant taught and lived in accordance with Churchill's declaration: "Success is not final, failure is not fatal. It is the courage to continue that counts."

At her cremation, Mrs. Durrant wore one of her "We the People" state championship T-shirts and jeans. She carried with her a ceramic heart made for her by Andy Bullen, a charm bracelet given to her by the faculty at Hampton High School, and three of her particularly favorite books: Far from the Madding Crowd, Plato's Republic, and East of Eden. She rested her head on a yellow pillow made by a Shaler Middle School student which said "Mrs. Durrant is number one."

Mrs. Durrant had expressed thanks to the doctors and nurses who cared for her.

Professional services were entrusted to the care of D'Alessandro Funeral Home and Crematory.

FERNE M. BELMONTE

Ferne M. Belmonte, 90, Swanton, died Tuesday, Dec. 1, 2009, at Goodwill Nursing Home, Grantsville.

Born July 18, 1919, in Boone, Iowa, she was a daughter of the late Joseph and Anna (Crewson) Martin. She was also preceded in death by her brother, Charles Harold Martin; and four sisters, Vye Olive Martin, Ethel Arneta Frost, Grace Emma Patrick, and Bessie May Bishop.

Ferne had worked as an administrative assistant, in public affairs for Pittsburgh (Pa.) Public Television. She was very active in fundraising for PPT and also for the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre.

A full-time resident since 1985, she was an active and founding member of GLAF (Garrett Lakes Arts Festival), a charter member of the Mtn. Laurel Garden Club, the Oakland Civic Club, the Deep Creek Yacht Club, the Women's Club of Oakmont, Pa., and a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

She is survived by her husband, Mike Belmonte, Swanton; one son, Michael Martin Belmont, Pittsburgh; one daughter, Lauren Gibbs, Boca Raton, Fla.; and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held on Monday, Dec. 21, at 10 a.m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, with Rev. Chip Lee officiating

Expressions of sympathy may be made in the form of memorial donations in her name to the Ruth Enlow Library, 6 N. Second St., Oakland, MD 21550

David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

Editor's Note: This obituary appeared in the Dec. 3 issue of The Republican. At the time a memorial service had not yet been set.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Last week's big snow/ice storm was quite a shock to everyone's system. It accumulated so deep and hard on my deck, I couldn't get my front door open, and of course, Boo really wanted to go out. I tried to open it at about 6:30 a.m. – too early for anyone to help me. In fact, when I get up between 5 and 6 a.m., it is very lonely. I am always dying to talk to someone, but no on one else is awake at that hour, except dairy farmers, who are busy doing their morning milking, so they are unavailable.

But Cheryl Bender told me that her husband Tim gets up around 6:30. So I called him, and he was nice enough to clear the snow.

Speaking of Cheryl, she scheduled a 20-mile run on Saturday. Luckily, the weather was pretty good. She is busy training for a marathon in January in Florida. She will be joined by another Garrett County gal, my former student Sheila (Bender) Miller. She is living in the neighborhood where Cheryl and Tim have their Florida house. I can't say I envy them, but whatever turns you on. I will certainly root for Cheryl 100%.

A few years ago, my friend Lesa Whittemore did a marathon, and she said she hoped she would finish last, because there will be lots of people who finish the race, but only one can finish last. That is a somewhat unusual goal, but Lesa always has a unique point of view. That is one reason I enjoy our friendship.

I am pretty sure that few Bittinger folks were overjoyed about the miserable performance of the Steelers against the worst team, the Cleveland Browns, last Thursday night. I'm glad I forgot it was on, because it was plenty painful to just watch the highlights, or in this case, the lowlights, on the news on Friday morning. I saw each of the eight sacks of Big Ben Roethlisberger. Eight! So I guess that is just about it for this year's playoff hopes for the Steelers.

Claire's chosen team is the Baltimore Ravens. Not even Cousin Courtney bothers to root for them. I know a handful of misguided Redskins fans around here, such as Gary Buckel and my cousin Nadine.

Speaking of football, a former WVU/Giants football player Jeff Hostetler does an annual good deed of donating a good bit of money. Cheryl Bender and her family go to Chestnut Ridge Community Church in Morgantown to help wrap the gifts that will be given to needy families.

I got my first group of carolers last evening, from the new church on Beachy Road, Pillar of Life Mennonite Church.

Last weekend was not good for running around. A storm covered the road with a thin coating of ice.

Goodwill Mennonite's residents will not by shortchanged by special Christmas entertainment. The Bittinger Lutheran Parish performed Christmas carols last week, and then this week, the Accident Community Band will perform there, too.

A celebration was held for Kathryn Bowser at the Bittinger fire hall last Saturday. She turned 88. Besides her Bittinger friends, she also enjoyed the presence of quite a few out-of-town family members, including her son Henry Bowser and family, and Mrs. Wayne Gomer and family.

I was not aware that Kathryn shares a birthday with my late little brother Scott, Dec. 13. Of course, there is a wide spread of years. Kathryn was born in 1921, and Scott in 1960.

Another family member also has a birthday around this time. Carol Bass's is on Friday, Dec. 18. It is exactly one week before Christmas. Thus, her name. That is the same day when I hope my college daughters will come home, unless they have too many important holiday parties on Friday. If so, they will come on the next day. I can't wait to see them, even if I am far from ready for Christmas. Claire did put our tree up, but I am still waiting for the arrival of some mail-order gifts. And I have not yet set foot in any stores.

The weather is pretty good and it is about time to run out to get Carol's birthday present, and the only kind of Christmas shopping is in a bookstore.

The holiday period is always difficult for people who have experienced lots of losses: my marriage, so that means my family. This week was sad because it is Hanukkah. I used to very much enjoy our celebration of that Jewish holiday, even though it required eight extra gifts for my three daughters.

It is almost the end of the Advent season. So last Wednesday evening, Holden services were held at Emmanuel followed by a soup meal. It did not get a huge turnout because of the poor weather.

I was delighted to learn this year's Christmas Eve candlelight service schedule. It begins at Zion Lutheran Church in Jennings at 6 p.m., and Emmanuel gets the prime time, 8 p.m. It will be at 10 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain. That time slot is very hard for me. It is hard to stay awake for it. But this year, I got lucky. The parish invites everyone to attend and bring a neighbor, a friend, and your family.

This Sunday, Dec. 20, Bittinger Lutheran Parish will offer child care services at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The movie The Best Christmas Pageant Ever will be shown, cookies will be baked, crafts will be made, and parents will be given an opportunity to spend the afternoon wrapping, shopping, or sleeping in preparation for what's coming. Please feel free to drop off your children, let your friends know of this gift (their children are welcome, too), or if you are interested, come be an "elf" and help care for the children.

Today, there was a story from Nevada about a pregnant woman ready to deliver, but ER staff ignored her for several hours. So she went home, and the baby was born in her bathroom. Sadly, it did not survive.

It is sad that some Republicans, who are anti-abortion, do not go as far as to ensure that a pregnant woman has access to prenatal care, or a doctor to deliver her baby. Of course, the mother-to-be was a poor African-American woman without insurance, so her baby was not so precious or valuable, I guess. That's sad. I know the ER is overwhelmed with uninsured people trying to access the only kind of health care they can.

People hate and fear others from different races, religions, or cultures. The fear and distrust results from never associating with the "others." That applies to both racist and homophobic attitudes.

In Nazi Germany, gay people were required to wear a yellow triangle badge. So those who are anti-gay share something that was very close to Hitler's heart. Hitler had hate and prejudice for many kinds of people, not just the Jews.

I wonder if people in the big finance world realize that they have a very heavy burden of blame for the unfavorable place the economy is in. Or they think they are victims because maybe they did get a huge bonus. They really count on that several million dollars to buy a BMW car for their 16-year-old daughter for a Christmas present.

One of the most interesting subjects of discussion and study in my class at Garrett College was the ethics pertaining to hunting. A major element of that study was how primitive man and Native Americans dealt with it, including their deep respect for their prey. They went as far as performing a ritual in honor of their dead prey. And it was necessary to use every part of it, so its death was not wasteful.

I don't know if family values are so important to Americans as they pretend they are. It is dragged out to either support or oppose just about anything. Certainly, infidelity and divorce harm the institution of marriage more than two same gender individuals who want to pledge their lifelong connection to each other and live up to their vows. Maybe they would even choose to adopt an unwanted child. There are way too many of those.

Most couples want to adopt a perfect beautiful newborn baby, perfectly blonde with big blue eyes. Not older children and those with some kind of handicap or problem. How many nice middle class families would be willing to take in a baby born with HIV or one who is drug-dependent – neither one the TREE PLANTED IN HONOR OF DR. GRANT – Garrett County Memorial Hospital is the recipient of a newly planted 6.5 foot Norway spruce tree that was donated in honor of Dr. Bowie Linn Grant by the Grant family. Dr. Grant, now retired, served as a physician at the hospital and in the community for many years. The new tree will replace the outdoor tree used in previous years to represent the hospital foundation's Tree of Lights program. Through the program, individuals may purchase a light for $5 to be placed on the tree in honor or memory of someone during the holiday season. The Tree of Lights is one of several foundation programs organized by the Annual Gifts Committee. The group also oversees the Leighton Cradle Roll, Year End Appeal, Gifts from the Heart, and Partners in Health programs. These initiatives generate funds that are used to purchase equipment for the hospital that is vital to patient care. Pictured above, left to right, are Kathy Greaser, GCMH Foundation director; Regina Gearhart, Annual Gifts Committee chair; Dr. Grant; and William B. Grant. Below is the Annual Gifts Committee. Seated are Pam Trydahl and Ann Leighton; standing are Barbara Frantz and Gearhart.

Stranger In The Manger Offered At DC Baptist

The Deep Creek Baptist Church will present the play Stranger in the Manger, written by Sue C. Smith and John Crumpton, on Dec. 20 at 6 p.m.

The program is a rhyming play that explains how Jesus came to the Earth, a church spokesperson said.

For more information or directions to the church, persons may call the chureh at 301-387-5688 or 301-387-5768.

St. Mark's Sunday School To Give Christmas Pageant

The Sunday school children of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will present a pageant titled A Christmas Quest on Sunday, Dec. 20. The program will take the place of the sermon that day. The service begins at 10 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

The program involves about 20 children from the Sunday school program. The story follows the "quest seeker," played by Madison Shaffer, and her sidekick, played by Sam Kennedy, who go on a search for the meaning of Christmas.

The children will also present a musical pieee on hand chimes, directed by Lynn Grimm, and with a saxophone solo by Alex McEwen. The ehimes were donated to the church by Barbara Ponceroffi in memory of her husband, Ray Ponceroffi Their son Nicholas will perform in the chime group.

The service will include Holy Communion, as well as an anthem by the St. Mark's choir, directed by Susan Peterson and accompanied by Grimm on dulcimer.

The pastor of St. Mark's is Rev. C. Scott Robinson. For more information, persons may eall the ehurch office at 301-334-2668.

"WHAT IF IT WERE YOU?" At a recent Garrett County commissioners' meeting, the Pandora's Box Teen Health Theater Troop performed a skit called "What If It Were You?" The skit was written to instill empathy within communities by putting oneself in the place of someone who has AIDS. The goal of those involved in the skit is to raise awareness about access to care and community stigma of those with AIDS. World AIDS Day is observed each year on Dec. 1 to increase awareness and understanding of HIV/AIDS as a global challenge. "The 2009 theme, 'Universal Access and Human Rights,' reminds people that HIV has not gone away, and there is much to be done to connect persons to treatment and to promote prevention," said a Garrett County Health Department spokesperson. Seated, left to right, are Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Denny Glotfelty, and Fred Hollday. Standing are Linda L. Lewis, GCHD outreach worker; Pandora's Box members Lisa Laure, Aaron Callis, Kelsey Skipper, Cody Laure, and Kelsey Perando; Donna McClintock, GCHD social worker and Garrett AIDS Council chair; and Cindy Mankamyer, GCHD RN. Pandora's Box is funded through the Corporation for National and Community Service and the Garrett County Arts Council, and is sponsored by the GCHD.

Oakland Church Welcomes New Minister

BILL AND LAURA DAYTON

Oakland Church of Christ welcomed its new minister, Bro. Bill Dayton, in September. He has been preaching for more than 23 years.

Dayton was born in Picton, Ontario, Canada, and was reared in western New York. After working for General Motors for 16 years, he attended the Northeast School of Biblical Studies in Clifton Park, N.Y., and received his bachelor's degree through the American Bible College in Oklahoma.

His wife Laura has a degree in education and has taught children for morc than 20 years.

The Daytons live in Mtn. Lake Park. They and their congregation invite the public to attend the Oakland Church of Christ, which is located at 1300 Memorial Drive, Oakland.

CDL Training Slated At Truck Driving Institute

Garrett College is now accepting applications for the next series of commercial driver's license (CDL) training courses, which will be held at the Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute near Grantsville.

Weekday and weekend class options are available. The weekday class will begin on Jan. 25, and the weekend class will start on Jan. 23.

The training is all-inclusive, offering classroom, yard skills, and over-the-road training. Training for both Class A and Class B are being provided.

"Within a matter of weeks," said Terry Beachy, director of Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center, "graduates can be on the road reaping the rewards of the trucking industry."

The Class A program consists of 320 hours of training over a 15-week period for weekday students and a 20-week time frame for those choosing the weekend option.

The Class B program is offered ovcr a three-week period. This training will qualify students for entry lcvel positions as a driver in over-the-road or local driving vehicles.

Financial assistance in the form of government grants and student loans may be available to qualifying individuals for Class A.

For more information or to register for this course, persons may contact Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

THE TATTOOED LADY: A HISTORY

by Amelia Klem Osterud

C. 2009, Speck Press, $27; 154 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

You likc to think of yourself as a pretty even-keel kind of person, but this had you doing one of those head-shaking double-takes.

The swagger caught your eye first, followed by black leather, but it was the tattoos that kept you looking, slack-jawed. The art covered arms, shoulders, peeking stomach, and probably other assorted body parts, too. Somebody put a lot of work into that ink, and it took more than just a few minutes.

That had to hurt. You thought about asking her, but she walked away before you could say anything.

Though it's common now, there was a time when that ink would've gotten her branded as a hussy, or worse. Read more in the new book The Tattooed Lady: A History by Amelia Klem Osterud.

While tattoos have been present on bodies throughout history, during the late 1800s even scientists thought that tattoo-wearing was linked to criminal and immoral behavior. By the time Irene Woodward and Nora Hildebrandt (the first "tattooed ladies") decided that having a body full of ink would be an ideal situation, society had relaxed.

But not by much. This was the Victorian age when women covered ankles, legs, and arms as a matter of modesty. It was, therefore, pretty racy stuff when Woodward, Hildebrandt, and other inked ingénues sat displayed in a circus sideshow, wearing bloomers, camisoles, and not much else. In many cases, only men were allowed to pay money to gaze upon such a scandalous sight.

Still, many women decided to undergo the sometimes weeks-long transformation from unmarked to totally tattcd, a process that couldn't be reversed. Once a woman got a tattoo or two, there was no turning back.

So why did they do it? Mostly, perhaps, for the money; a tattooed lady could make $100 a week at the sideshow, while the "average working-class family made between $300 and $500 a yea" She might have gottcn needled to take control of her own future. Or, as many women claimed, they may have just been fascinated by tattoos.

At any rate, Osterud says, those tattooed ladies were "gutsy," and their boldness gave turn-of-the-century women the nerve to "start questioning the social codes that kept them confined."

People who've gotten tattoos say that once you get one, you'll want another because sporting tattoos is addicting. So is this book.

Author Amelia Klum Osterud's fascination with tattooed ladies (and circus people, by extension) is infcctious, and it's hard not to be caught up by her excitement in this unique dual-take on women's history via circus themc.

But solid rcsearch is only half the appeal. The other half comes with the rare and unusual photographs that grace nearly every page of The Tattooed Lady, including pictures of the ladics, as well as sideshow troupes and a few tattooed men. Parents beware, though. There is some slight, almost chaste, 1920s-era nudity inside.

If you're a carny at hcart, if you enjoy reading about women's history, or if you're thinkin' about inkin', grab The Tattooed Lady. This book is plenty sharp.

HELIUM EFFECT ON VOICE

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. In the play The Wizard of Oz, some of the Munchkins were talking with real high voices. The actresses had helium balloons in their hands and would take a whiff just before speaking. It was very funny to listen to them. But how does it work? How does helium produce the high-pitched sound?

A. The effect of helium is not only entertaining, but is a terrific example of one branch of physics, the Kinetic Theory of Gases. It's a way of demonstrating that "air" is actually a mixture of atoms and molecules of very diffcrent sizes.

Helium is an inert gas with an atomic weight of 4. The two main components of air are diatomic molecules with atomic weights of 28 for nitrogen and 32 for oxygen, and the average for air is 29. That's over seven times as massive as helium. Store that in memory for a few minutes.

Sound, including voices, is a tiny disturbance in air, with molecules either bunched a little closer together or spread a little farther apart. That back and forth motion of molecules is repeated thousands of times, and becomes a wave that propagates forward; that's what we call sound. The human ear hears sound, and the human larynx (in the throat) produces sound. Air coming out from the lungs and passing through the larynx is set into vibration by the vocal cords. Ordinary breathing goes on without vibrating the vocal cords, and hence produces no sound Wheezing is a form of breathing that includes vocal cord vibration, and thus makes a sound.

Vibrating air that rises upward from the larynx encounters the mouth, tongue, teeth, and lips, and the shape of them converts it into speech or singing. As in a musical instrument, the particular sounds comprising a voice (words or musical notes) depend on a combination of frequencies, a fundamental plus overtones. But it all starts with the waves of vibrating air coming up through the larynx.

The simple law of physics that governs waves relates the wavelength (λ) and the frequency (f) to the speed of sound C: $C = f\lambda$. The speed of sound in air is about 343 meters/second, so the way to get a different frequency is to vary the wavelength. Changing your finger positions on a stringed instrument like a guitar or violin causes the different frequencies of the musical notes.

Every human larynx is slightly different, and the mixture of fundamental plus overtones produced gives us each a distinctivc voice. A small child has a higher voice because the larynx is small, but once grown, the shape of the larynx and the length of the vocal cords pretty well determine the fundamental wavelength. Tightening your vocal cords enables some dramatic variations in the overtones, such as when singing "Only Yooooooooo." It's the tongue and lips that produce the intelligibility of speech.

However, what if the speed of sound could be changed? Even with the same basic shape determining λ, if C could be doubled the frequency would also be doubled. When sound containing high frequencies leaves someone's mouth, the listener hears a voice composed of higher frequencies – a high voice.

This is where the Kinetic Theory of Gases comes in. The speed of sound in a gas is determined by the mass of the molecules; C varies inversely as the square root of M. (Think MC^2 = not E, but some constant.) If you switch to a gas with different M, you'll change C, and hence change the frequencies in a voice. Now recall those molecular masses. The ratio of the square roots of the masses is $(29/4)^{1/2} = 2.7$. Sure enough, the speed of sound in pure helium is 965 m/sec, which is nearly triple that of air (343 m/sec).

So, if you can arrange for about half the molecules in your windpipe to be helium, you can expect the mixture of gases to have its sound-speed about halfway in between. With that speed of sound, the frequencies in your voice will be somewhere near double their normal values. You have a Munchkin voice.

But pretty soon the helium will leave your throat, returning the air to normal with its usual speed of sound, and the effect will vanish. To get another whiff of helium just before talking again, carry around a balloon filled with helium.

But don't overdo it! Helium is an inert gas, and doesn't do anything at all to your body. But it displaces oxygen (which nitrogen does too), and you would faint if your lungs were starved for oxygen.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are now nearing the conclusion of the 12th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwcar for Garrett County childrcn in need. Because thc program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to thc fund this week. The donation period for 2009 has now ended.

AURORA/EGLON

MAPLE GROVE CANTATA

As continuation of Union District Advent services, the choir at Maple Grove Assembly will present a cantata titled "Tree of Light" this Sunday, Dec. 20, at 6 p.m. at the church. The Rev. Majorie Lauver will give the evening message from scripture. The public is invited to join in the pre-Christmas celebration.

SANTA IN AURORA

The Santa treat sponsored by the Mtn. Lions Club will be held from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the Aurora School. It will be followed by the school's Christmas program at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

WELCOME, KING

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, will present a play, Welcome, King, and selections from the choir this Sunday evening, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to the presentation and for refreshments that will follow.

CHRISTMAS EVE AT MAPLE SPRING

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will hold a Christmas Eve service on Thursday, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m. There will be scripture, poems, readings, special Christmas songs, and candle lighting. Everyone is invited to attend.

UNION SENIORS

A total of 23 Union Seniors attended the Dec. 10 Christmas dinner. Devotions were presented by Dee Douglas, who read "A Psalm of Christmas," and "Christmas Shopping in Heaven's Grocery Store." She closed with "A Family Prayer" written by her mother in poetic form.

Nurse Galena handed out Food and Fitness information and took with her the food items for the Terra Alta Food Pantry brought by members for the occasion.

David Teets was recognized as the December Senior of the Month. Shirley Parsons will be responsible for devotions at the Jan. 14 meeting. President Janice Tackett closed the meeting by wishing each attendee a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

AURORA SCHOOL DINNER

The community dinners being held at each school took place last Saturday morning, with approximately 300 people attending the Aurora School event. The Board of Education and school and county faculty and officials were introduced, and the school chorus provided musical entertainment. All of this followed a morning without electricity, by planned repair at the substation and notification on Friday. Thanks goes out to those in charge of dinner preparations for coming through in a timely fashion.

PERSONAL

Keith Wotring, Aurora, returned to Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center following back surgery, but was found to have pneumonia and was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Claud Poling, Stemple Ridge, has been a patient at Monongalia General Hospital receiving treatment and has not yet been able to return home.

Word from Victor Imes is that he is now in a Hospice Center. Staying with his wife and daughter, Carol and Amber, is Carol's brother, Don Harsh. Their home address is 5630 Port Allen Drive, Fayetteville, NC 28312, for those interested in sending some encouragement. Victor is suffering with cancer of the esophagus.

Jesse Gnegy is reportedly making progress as he recuperates from heart surgery.

Pastor Gary and Bonnie Meeks are in Ohio visiting with their relatives there. They expect to return to Eglon this week.

Preston County Math Field Day was recently held at the Kingwood Community Building. Fifth grader Michael Parsons placed third in the fifth grade competition. Andrea Rupp, attending East Preston, also received third place in grade 8. Dylan Radford was named first alternate from grades 10 through 12. The top three contestants in grades 4, 6, and 7 through 9 will enter a regional competition, as well as the top 10 of grades 10 to 12. Congratulations to each who won and those who tried their hardest.

TERRA ALTA

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT

The recent ice storm has caused some damage to the playground equipment at the town park. The Terra Alta mayor has assessed the damage. He and Loretta Wotring, TABI (Terra Alta Betterment Inc.) president, looked at the equipment and took pictures. A tree fell and broke three sections of the equipment. The town will turn the damage in to the insurance company so that repairs may be made as soon as possible, according to a spokesperson.

HOLIDAY MEALS

There are elderly individuals and couples in the Terra Alta area who will not have a home-cooked feast this Christmas season. Persons who would like to provide these individuals with a meal are asked to call City Hall at 304-789-6664 to make arrangements to do so.

BITTINGER

I was once involved in a search for adoptive parents for a baby belonging to a student of mine. It was remarkable how often a childless couple wanted to know whether it was bi-racial. That profoundly shocked me.

Obama admitted that he was far from being as worthy of winning the Peace Prize as the other greats like Nelson Mandela, Gandhi, Mother Teresa, and Martin Luther King. It was clear that he gave lots of thought to the meaning of this prize and its history, and the philosophies of war and peace. And we know he gave lots of thought about escalating the war in Afghanistan. The role of war is to achieve peace; the idea of a "just war."

Obama cited the battle against the Nazis, stating that it could not be fought with just words, because there is true evil in the world and it can't be confronted with anything but military might. Some things are so important that they deserve to be fought for. Basic human rights must be defended by any means necessary.

He is very well aware of the cost of war. Our young men paid by their blood for a better world. It was not to pursue their own agenda or to enlighten self-interest. It is good for America to exist in a stable and decent world. America did not enter the war lightly, but with thoughtfulness, fully aware of its cost.

When he accepted the Nobel Prize, Obama delivered a second address at a dinner. He gave the credit to his mother for winning the most prestigious prize in the world. Her hard work to give him the best possible future and pass down her values to Barack and his sister.

She must have been one awesome woman. To have the courage to marry an immigrant from Kenya when that wasn't done. As a young white girl from Kansas, it is remarkable that she was that open-minded. And he spoke about the impact that Nobel prizes had on history.

His major "lecture" was qualified as legendary for all time. That is not just my opinion, but several world leaders share it.

Someone called Obama's speech "realistic idealism," like something that might be delivered by Kennedy. If you didn't see the "lecture," you must see it on the Internet. I know it is on MSNBC.

His performance embodies all the greatest American qualities: strength with high ideals and the desire to spread our blessings to the rest of the world. I was never as proud of America as I am today.

I don't get the obsession with using Facebook to broadcast to the whole world the personal details of people's lives. I know that publicity-mad Virginia couple who sneaked into the White House dinner posted a lot of photographs. And I think it is past time to just say "no" to all those stupid reality television programs. And to treating personal gossipy stories about celebrities like the most important news story by news programs.

I admit I was always a big fan of Tiger Woods since my little Caitlin was 3 years old and repeated his name over and over again with relish. I also enjoyed seeing an African-American dominating a sport that was always exclusively for wealthy country-club types.

It is kind of funny that the justice of the peace refused to marry that biracial couple because he was concerned about "how things would be for their children." The fact that they were biracial did not damage Tiger Woods and Barack Obama. But I'm not sure that the average American can tell them apart. But believe me, the first lady didn't chase her husband with a golf club.

Real Estate Facts by...

BEGIN PACKING YESTERDAY

Getting ready for a big move? You can't begin preparing too soon, because the average move takes over 200 hours! Count on your real estate representative to provide advice and guidance during this seemingly monumental task.

Your first decision is whether to hire a moving company, or rent a moving van and ask friends and family for help. If you're using the pros, solicit quotes from several local companies who can visit your home and offer an accurate quote.

Next, begin sorting piles of items you'll want to sell in yard sales, donate to charities, or haul to the landfill. This is a great opportunity to give back to the community, and make a few bucks on the pieces you'll sell. Anything you eliminate now will lower moving costs later.

DO create an inventory of your belongings, in case you need to file an insurance claim for lost or damaged goods. Allow the professionals to do your packing, because if you don't, those items that you wrap and pack won't be covered by the mover's insurance policy.

Finally, invest in additional insurance with the movers and storage facility, if needed. It only costs about $10 for every $1,000 in high value items, so it's worth it for your peace of mind. Ask your agent for more details to make your move as stress-free as possible.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call at the office or on my cell at 301-501-DALE

Rams Defeat Huskies In Season Opener; Edged, 50-47, By Falcons

In its first outing of the season, the Southern High School boys' basketball team upset Garrett County rival Northern for a convincing 53-37 victory last Friday, with 15 of its 17 points during the fourth quarter coming from the foul line. The win was short-lived, however, as the Rams were edged, 50-47, by Frankfort on Tuesday.

In the game against Northern last Friday, Southern trailed in the first quarter by one point to start the second quarter, 8-7. The Rams gained control of the game before halftime to lead 23-21. Southern increased its margin in the third quarter by outscoring Northern, 13-9, for a 36-29 lead. The Rams pushed for a 17-8 scoring lead in the fourth quarter for the win.

Wyatt McBee led the Rams with his 11 points, three of which were three-pointers, and Joe Kisselovich added 10 points, shooting 6-for-8 from the foul line.

Northern's Garrett Rayner led all scorers by getting 14 points, and teammate Matt Gibson followed with nine points and seven assists.

The Ram jayvees dropped, 43-34, to the Huskies' junior varsity. Billy Fazenbaker recorded 12 points for Southern in the loss. Northern was led by Patrick Sines, who had a triple-double with 13 points, 10 rebounds, and 10 steals.

Kisselovich recorded 19 points and was 3-for-3 at the foul line in the game against Frankfort on Tuesday night, but it wasn't enough for a win. The Rams trailed, 12-9, in the first quarter, but narrowed the gap to 23-21 by halftime. The third quarter ended with Southern trailing by seven points, but then outscored Frankfort in the fourth quarter, 17-13, to finish three points behind.

McBee had three of Southern's four three-pointers, and Ethan Brady and Calvin Hilliard each finished with seven points apiece.

Leading Frankfort was Logan Wolford with his 19 points. He was a perfect 7-for-7 at the foul line. Teammate Marcus Weaver added 10 points in the win, and sank two three-pointers. Dusty Myers grabbed nine rebounds, and James Jones pulled down eight for the Falcons.

The Ram jayvees were edged, 28-26, by the Falcon junior varsity, with Aaron Shotwell collecting eight points for Southern. Aaron Lehman and Matt Grogg each had six points for Frankfort.

Southern is scheduled to play Mtn. Ridge tonight in a make-up game, and will travel to Keyser tomorrow evening. The Rams will then host Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, with the junior varsity game beginning at 6 p.m. and tip-off for the varsity game at 7:30 p.m.

Huskies Fall To Rams, 53-37; Gain 57-49 Win Over Spartans

In a defensive struggle, the varsity boys' basketball team of Northern High School fell to Garrett County rival Southern, 53-37, last Friday in Accident, but managed to pull ahead of Bishop Walsh after a third-quarter tie score to win, 57-49, at home.

See other story for more details of the Northern, Southern game.

Against the Spartans, the Huskies saw a promising start as they led 11-8 after the first quarter, and had a four-point advantage by halftime. The pressure was on in the third quarter when Northern saw its lead shrink to nothing as Bishop Walsh tied the score, 40-40, going into the fourth. The Huskies upped their offense and managed to outscore the Spartans, 17-9, by the game's end.

Matt Gibson led all players with his 22 points, three steals, and three assists. He shot 7-for-7 from the foul line and put up the only three-pointer for the Huskies. Teammate Trevor Tombley finished with 12 points, and Garrett Rayner scored 10 in the win.

Bishop Walsh was led by Quincy Redmon with his 13 points and single three-pointer. Pat Jones had four field goals, two of which were three-pointers, to account for his 10 points.

The Huskies' junior varsity team suffered a loss to the Spartan jayvees, but details were not available.

Northern is scheduled to host Salisbury in a varsity only game tomorrow with tip-off at 7:30 p.m. The Huskies will then host Moorefield on Monday with the junior varsity game set for 6 p.m. and the varsity to follow at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Girls' Basketball Team Claims 54-33 Win Over Hampshire

Even though they trailed by three points in the first quarter, the Southern High School varsity girls' basketball team knew that patience would get them a win, and indeed it did as the Rams claimed a 54-33 dominating victory over Hampshire Monday night at home.

Southern picked up its offense in the second quarter, outscoring the Trojans 14-5, to lead 23-17 by halftime. The Rams boosted the margin to 42-25 in the third quarter to secure the lead.

Emillee Bosley came away with a game-high 17 points for Southern, and was the only player to hit three-pointers, finishing with three. Mariah Stem finished with 12, and teammate Laura Griffin collected eight rebounds for the Rams.

Leading Hampshire was Katlyn Orndorff and Lindsey Miller with six points each.

Southern's junior varsity team lost, 40-24, to the Hampshire jayvees. Hannah Horne scored eight points for the Rams, and Autumn Chaney finished with 17 for the Trojans.

Southern is scheduled to compete in the John Marshall Tournament on Friday and Saturday, and will then host Tucker on Wednesday.

NHS Takes On Winters Mill, Records 63-50 Victory; Fratz Dominates Court

Kaitlynn Fratz dominated on the court with 32 points, half which came from foul shots, as she led the Northern High School varsity girls' basketball team to a 63-50 victory over Winters Mill on Saturday night in Westminster.

Fratz was 16-18 from the foul line and also had six field goals, two of which were three-pointers, to lead the Huskies. She was followed by Adria Graham, who finished with four baskets including two 3-pointers to account for her 10 points, and Kierstin Butler netted a single three-pointer.

Northern led by two points, 14-12, after the first quarter, and 30-26 at halftime. The Huskies outscored Winters Mill in the third quarter, 19-3, for a 49-29 lead going into the fourth.

Winters Mill was led by Bollinger and Sturgle, each scoring 11 points in the loss. Sturgle netted three 3-pointers while Bollinger had one. Cyr recorded one to account for Winters Mill's five 3-pointers.

The Northern jayvee team lost, 44-30, to the Winters Mill junior varsity. Sydney McFarland scored eight for the Huskies, while Heather Benson grabbed six rebounds.

Northern will be on the road tonight to Keyser, and will then travel to Musselman on Saturday. The Huskies will end their week before the Christmas holiday with an away match against Frankfort on Monday.

GC Women Fall To Columbus In Final Semester Game

In the final outing before winter break, the Garrett College women's basketball team fell, 61-54, to visiting Columbus State last Saturday, dropping the Lakers to a 2-4 record for the season thus far. Head coach Thea Garland knows what the team needs to work on: turnovers.

"We struggled again with turning the ball over too much," said Coach Garland. "That's been a problem for us for most of the season, and hopefully we can iron that out before next semester."

The Lakers were paced offensively by Raven Brooks and her 12 points. Janay Collins added 10 points, and Raizel Benn aided the team with seven rebounds.

Columbus led 29-23 at the half, and were kept in steady tempo by Chelsea Chasen, who scored 25 points, one of which was a three-pointer. Brianna Dylan followed with her 20 points, recording five three-pointers for the win.

The Lakers will play again on Wednesday, Jan. 6, when they visit CCBC-Dundalk with tip-off at 6 p.m.

Northern Matmen Crush Falcons Before Being Edged By Miners

The wrestling team of Northern High School crushed host Frankfort last Wednesday (Dec. 9), finished 11th in the Max Horz Invitational at Berkeley Springs over the weekend (see other story), and were edged at home last night by Mountain Ridge (specific score not received)

In the easy win over Frankfort last Wednesday, the Huskies won 11 individual matches, all by pinfalls.

No information was received on the matches won by the Falcons.

Gaining pins for the Huskies in the loss last night to Mountain Ridge were Carlos Howard at 125 pounds, Matt Thomas (130), Ryan Doerr (140), Tyler Owens (145), and Adam Moranduzzo (152).

Recording pinfalls for the Miners were Jacob Taylor (103), Lenny Vega (112), Cody Clise (119), Tom Patterson (135), and Jake Roberts (285).

The Huskies are scheduled to host Allegany next Tuesday, with competition to begin at 7 p.m.

First-place individual finishes by both Brutus and Bubba Scheffel led the Southern High School wrestling team to an 8th place finish in the highly competitive annual Max Horz Invitational, hosted this past weekend by Berkeley Springs High School.

The Northern Huskies, paced by Adam Morranduzzo's individual title, placed 11th as a team.

Brutus Scheffel, a three-time Maryland state 1A/2A champion, moved up a weight class and, with a late takedown, edged defending West Virginia Class AAA champion Evan Thompson of Cabell Midland, 3-2, in the 160-pound division final.

His younger brother Bubba, also a defending Maryland champion, also stepped up in weight and captured the title in the 171-pound division by outpointing Shane Cockerville of Dematha, 5-1. It was Scheffel's third straight Maz Horz championship.

Morranduzzo and Southern's Lex Ozias, both defending state champions, met each other in the title bout of the 152-pound division, with Morranduzzo eking out a 3-2 decision.

Morranduzzo was named the tourney's most outstanding wrestler, as he defeated two state champions en route to the title.

Also finishing second for the Rams was Davey Stewart, who fell on points to Tito Onyekweli of Dematha in the 112-pound division final, 5-0.

Northern's Matt Thomas placed third in the 130-pound division, gaining a 6-1 decision over Cody Landis of James Wood in the consolation round.

Also earning points for the Huskies' team total was Justin Meyers, who placed fourth in the 275-pound division.

Fifth places were recorded by Southern's Anthony Cervi (215) and Northern's Dylan Day (160), while Southern's Dale Marple (189) finished sixth.

As a team, Southern finished with 128 points, while Northern recorded 86. Host Berkeley Springs won the team championship with 189.5 points, and Dematha placed second with 178.5.

The Rams also wrestled last night at Keyser against the Golden Tornados and Moorefield, but no results of that tri-match were received as of this morning.

The Rams will vie at Hampshire next Wednesday.

The Huskies rolled over Frankfort last Wednesday night, but were edged last night at home by Mountain Ridge. See separate story.

Lakers Whip Westmoreland, But Fall To Harcum And Monroe; 7-5

The Garrett College men's basketball team will take a 7-5 record into the new year, as the Lakers concluded their first semester of action this past weekend.

Coach Dennis Gibson's squad whipped host Westmoreland College last Thursday evening in Youngwood, Pa., 75-62, but then dropped both of their games in the Quality Inn Classic in Frederick over the weekend. The Lakers were steamrolled by Harcum Community College, the nation's #6 ranked team, on Saturday, 101-73, and were topped by Monroe CC of New York on Sunday, 87-71.

Leading the Lakers past the Westmoreland Wolfpack last Thursday was freshman wing Jordan Gipson, who more than covered for the injured Shawn Greenfield, Garrett's leading scorer.

Gipson paced a Laker rally after his team trailed at intermission, 38-34, and wound up with a double-double performance – 21 points and 11 rebounds.

Garrett took the lead just two minutes into the second half and never relinquished it.

Also reaching double figures in scoring for the Lakers were Mario Lloyde with 12 points and Joe DuBuche with 10.

Greenfield, who went out of the contest with a knee injury, was replaced by freshman Jeff Stem.

"Jordan obviously had a very good game," said Coach Gibson. "He led our comeback. And Jeff Stem also did a nice job taking over at point guard after Shawn got injured."

Pacing the Wolfpack's scoring effort was Vlad Eric with 15 points. Ryan Houser and Dave Vaughn were close behind with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Harcum CC justified its #6 national ranking against the Lakers Saturday night, leading by only three points at intermission, but then taking complete control in the second half after Garrett's shooting went cold.

Gipson again led the Lakers with another double-double night, recording 18 points and a dozen rebounds against the much taller Harcum players.

Another freshman, 6'5 guard Kory Gibson, netted 15 points, and teammate Lloyde, a 6-6 forward, reached double figures with 10 points.

Stem and Goodwin shared point guard duties in place of the injured Greenfield, scoring nine and seven points, respectively.

"We handled Harcum's press for the most part," Coach Gibson said, "but we made too many mistakes in the half court and would not settle into our offense. That's what pressure does to a team, and our guards need to be more confident with the ball and running our offense. We also need more assists, as we are getting only about seven a game, and we need 10 to 12 per night.

"On the bright side, I thought we played with them in stretches, and if we play with a better understanding, we can win games at this level," he said.

In Sunday's contest with Monroe, also an NJCAA powerhouse, the Lakers fell behind in the early minutes and were never able to recover. They trailed the 9-2 Mustangs at halftime by a 44-28 margin.

Gibson led Garrett's scoring effort with 17 points, Stem finished with 13, Dubuche scored 11, and Gipson and Ibrahim each contributed 10 points. Ibrahim grabbed a team-high seven rebounds.

The Lakers were pounded on the boards, outrebounded by a 2-1 margin (61-30).

Leading the Mustangs in scoring were Jeriel Henriquez with 18, Ryan Lobban with 13 plus 10 rebounds, and All-American center A.J. Mathews, Paul Scotland, and Terric Harris with 10 each.

The Lakers had a 50% night at the foul line, making good on only nine of 18 attempts, while the Mustangs drained 22 of 35 opportunities.

"Our poor free-throw shooting got us into trouble early," said Coach Gibson. "We missed two one-and-ones, and Monroe converted both of them into points. We soon found ourselves trying to dig out of a hole."

In describing the Lakers' overall efforts to date, Gibson said, "We are having trouble finding consistency, which is because of overall inexperience as well as some of the injuries we're dealing with. We just haven't been able to mesh very well yet."

The Lakers will take a holiday break and return to action on Wednesday, Jan. 6, at Dundalk.

CHEERLEADERS WIN REGIONAL CONTEST – The Western Maryland Xtreme All-Star Cheerleaders traveled to Martinsburg, W.Va., this past Sunday to compete in the Martinsburg All-Star Matchup, a cheer and dance regional championship. The Senior Team took home a first-place win and is now invited to compete in the Battle at the Capitol in Washington, D.C., in March. Additionally, the Mini Team came in second place, Angel Folk won first place in the Individual Tumbling Contest, and Jaiden Harvey won first place in the Individual Cheerleading Jump Contest. "I'm very proud of the girls and all of their hard work and dedication," said Coach Jessica Crosco. "I am very excited about the upcoming events, especially for my mini girls. Every girl on the team except one (age 5–8 group) can do a back flip. These girls will go a long way as they get older and grow as a team." Her assistant coaches are Shasta Spiker and Tonya Schoolcraft. The team will travel to the Maryland Cup Championships in Upper Marlboro in January, and will then go to the U.S. Final Destination National Championships in May. Pictured, left to right, above in the first row are Sydney Tichinel, Avery Root, Keele Flanigan, Harleigh Wildesen, Madison Crosco, Olivia Crosco, Rachael Tichinel, Jordyn Warnick, Kallee Brandon, Kyla Slaubaugh (behind Kallee), and Natalie Ashby. Second row: Coach Spiker, Kearsin Losh, Hannah Hintz, Alexis Schoolcraft, Sydney Spaulding, Tiffany Thomas, Angel, Chelsea Crosco, Jaiden, Lindsay Thomas, Alison Mullan, Mikala Spiker, and Sabryn Schoolcraft. Third row: Regina Crosco, Lauren Keefer, Hali Gebhardt, Taylor Hamilton, Olivia Gaither, Coach Crosco, and Coach Schoolcraft. Pictured below are first-place winner Jaiden, daughter of Paul and Amy Harvey; and second-place winner Angel, daughter of Harmony Carr and Lonnie Folk.

voir, a prime trout fishing habitat."

Didymo is an algae diatom that sometimes forms dense mats. According to DNR, it is not a threat to human health, but it can cover the stream bottom and suffocate beneficial organisms. It can also create difficult fishing conditions, fouling lines and terminal tackle.

The mats may persist even after the algae die, causing habitat damage for an extended period of time. Didymo, also called "rock snot," looks slimy, but feels like wet wool or cotton, and can be white, brown, or yellow.

Didymo first turned up in Maryland in 2008 in Gunpowder Falls below Prettyboy Reservoir. Subsequent monthly DNR surveys in the Gunpowder watershed have shown that densities peak in late winter, particularly in the Falls Road area. It is too early to tell how didymo may impact aquatic insects and other important organisms in the food web, according to DNR.

Didymo has been spreading rapidly into clean, cold streams along the Eastern Seaboard for the past few years. These streams are prime habitats for trout and the organisms that support them.

Didymo's appearance in popular trout fishing areas indicates that it is being spread by anglers. Felt-sole boots used by anglers are understood to be a major contributor. DNR is encouraging anglers to replace their old felt-soled boots with the new sticky rubber-soled models, which are much easier to clean and disinfect.

Anglers and outdoor enthusiasts can help prevent the spread of this and other unwanted aquatic invaders by thoroughly cleaning and drying all gear that has been in the stream. All dirt and debris should be scrubbed away before leaving the area.

DNR has set up wader wash stations at some key access areas where anglers can disinfect boots in a 5 percent salt solution as they leave the stream.

DNR also recommends washing with a salt solution or with common dish detergent when anglers returns home to avoid carrying didymo to their next fishing destination.

Christmas Eve Service Set At Shepherd Of Hills

Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church will hold its Christmas Eve worship service on Dec. 24, at 5 p.m. in the Sitzmark Room of Will O' the Wisp, with the Rev. Donald R. Thomas officiating. Special Christmas music will begin at 4:45 p.m.

Designed as a worship opportunity for the community, the candlelight Communion service will include many Christmas hymns and special music provided by instrumentalists Ruth Seib, Sammi Bessey, Marcene Huebner and Judy McCaughey, and the Praise Ensemble (vocalists) of Shepherd of the Hills.

Will O' the Wisp is located at 20160 Garrett Highway on US 219, ½ mile north of the traffic light at Glendale Road. The Sitzmark Room is located on the lower level. Handicap entrance access is by car at the rear of the building; enter at the patio doors.

Weekly services are held at Garrett Eight Cinemas on Sundays at 9:30 a.m.

For further information, persons may contact the church at 301-387-0400 or visit the church website at www.shepherdofthehills-lutheran.org.

ASCI's Little Otter Discovery Room Now Open For Kids

The Mountaintop Shop at the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) is now home to the Little Otter Discovery Room, where children can play with imagination-powered toys, games, and puzzles for free. The opening of the Little Otter Discovery Room coincides with the debut of "Asci," the river otter, the Adventure Sports Center International's new mascot. Asci will be mingling with skiers at Wisp Resort throughout the winter and will be welcoming rafters and kayakers coming to the whitewater course in the summer.

The Little Otter Discovery Room can be found inside ASCI's Mountaintop Shop, which is next to its artificial whitewater course at the top of Wisp Resort. Little Otter will be a warm break for skiers with young children or an easy indoor place for children to play. Adult supervision is required, but it is a great place to catch up on reading, surf the 'net (free WiFi), or shop at the Mountaintop Shop. Asci (the mascot) will be available for holiday photos on Saturdays, or upon request with a 24-hour notice.

Another outdoor adventure program for young children will be Animal Tracks, a guided activity for those under 12 years old. Through this activity, kids learn about wildlife and explore the mountaintop. Animal Tracks will begin this Saturday, Dec. 19, at 11 a.m. at the Mountaintop Shop.

Parents are welcome to play in the Little Otter Discovery Room or sign up for Animal Tracks (regularly $5 a person), but they may also shop for gifts and art at the Mountaintop Shop. This Friday evening, Dec. 18, from 6 to 8 p.m. ASCI will host an artist reception featuring local jewelry artisan Connie Quarrick Hall, who specializes in wire and sheet metal creations. Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served, including cheese provided by Firefly Farms, Garrett County's local and internationally award-winning cheese makers.

This Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m., award-winning potter Elee Bookout will be honored at a tea reception at ASCI showcasing her work in porcelain and clay with a wide variety of finishes and styles.

Artist receptions are held at ASCI all winter on Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. The receptions seek to promote local art and artisans, and will connect art collectors and gift shoppers with authentic works that "speak of Garrett County's creative energy," noted a spokesperson. All receptions are open to the public, and all art is for sale. For more information, persons may call ASCI at 301-387-3250 or e-mail asci@adventuresportscenter.com.

The Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) is a not-for-profit charitable organization formed to promote adventure tourism and healthy outdoor lifestyles. Located at the top of Wisp Resort, ASCI operates the world's only mountaintop river park and has taken over 30,000 people rafting since it opened in 2007. ASCI offers guided adventures in whitewater rafting, kayaking and canoeing, rock climbing, rappelling, mountain biking, eco-caching, and more.

ASCI programs are designed for families, groups, and individuals of all skill levels and backgrounds. ASCI also hosts races and special events, including the 2009 U.S. Rafting National Championships. For more information about ASCI programs and events, persons should call 301-387-3250, e-mail asci@adventuresportscenter.com, or visit www.adventuresports-center.com.

Longest Night Service
Christmas is a time of rejoicing and sharing for most of us. But for some, it is a time of bittersweet memories of those who have been such a part of our lives and are now gone.
This is the season of joy, but it is also the time of the longest, darkest nights of the year.
This year, on the Longest Night of the year, we offer a quiet service to remember, share our pain with God, and renew our hope in the Light that is coming this Christmas.
Join us Monday night, December 21, at 7 p.m. for a time of reflection, music, and healing prayer. All are welcome.

GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT SUCCESSES – Outreach workers from the Garrett County Health Department recently worked with community planning groups and local worksites to encourage tobacco users to quit for 24 hours. The effort was conducted in honor of the Great American Smokeout on Nov. 19. A total of 40 Garrett County residents pledged to quit, and 23 were successful, according to the Health Department. Each successful quitter was awarded a 10-pound turkey, compliments of Browning's Foodland and the Health Department. This marks the fifth year in a row that Browning's has sponsored Garrett County's Great American Smokeout project. Pictured are two of the eight members of the Garrett County Department of Public Works who were successful at quitting for the day of the Smokeout. From left to right are Jamie Workman, Ron Harvey, and community outreach worker Kathy Elliott. For information about quitting tobacco, persons may call the Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-311s.

WEPCO STAFF SUPPORTS WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM – The staff at the Oakland WEPCO credit union donated $500 to the Warm the Children program this week. The staff members engage in a donation process all year in which they give a few dollars every week in exchange for being allowed to wear jeans on Fridays. The staff annually supports both Warm the Children and the Relay for Life. Warm the Children is a program operated by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican newspaper, and provides winter clothing and footwear for local children in need. Pictured from left are Mary Sincell McEwen of the newspaper, David Wildesen, loan officer, and Jennifer Hebb, collections officer.

Driver Falls Asleep At Wheel On I-68; Charged With DUI

Maryland State Police responded to an accident on I-68 East for a single-vehicle accident at approximately 7 a.m. this morning.

Investigation revealed that the driver of a 2001 Mitsubishi Eclipse, Zachary Barton, 20, Cresaptown, had fallen asleep at the wheel and drove into the median. The vehicle struck the guardrail and overturned. He was slightly injured, but refused treatment. He is charged with driving under the influence, negligent driving, and violating a license restriction.

Barton was released to a family member after being processed at the MSP, McHenry Barrack.

Holiday Travel Expected To Be Up By 4 Percent

The American Automobile Association (AAA) is projecting 87.7 million Americans will be traveling 50 miles or more (round-trip) away from home during the year-end holidays. This is a 3.8 percent increase from the 84.5 million Americans who traveled during the same Christmas/New Year period one year ago, and is the largest projected increase for any major holiday this year.

The number of travelers by automobile is projected at 77.7 million; an increase of 4.4 percent compared to last year, while those traveling by air is forecasted to increase, but at a lower rate of 2.9 percent, with 4.2 million estimated to fly. The number of those traveling by "other" means, including, trains, watercraft, buses and multiple-modes of transportation, is projected at 5.8 million. Last year, the total number of travelers during the year-end holidays was 84.5 million; a decline of 4.7 percent from 2007.

In November, the time when most people make decisions regarding year-end travel, average national gasoline prices were over 50 cents more expensive per gallon than they were in November 2008.

Average spending will be $1,009 and average distance traveled will be 791 miles.

Americans are expected to spend approximately $1,009 per household on travel during the Christmas/New Year period. The largest average share of all spending will be on transportation.

HELPING TO WARM THE CHILDREN – The Garrett County Early Childhood Professional Association made a donation of $200 to the Warm the Children campaign recently. The campaign is a function of The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, with the purpose of providing new winter clothing and footwear to local children in need. The donation period has now come to a close, although the shopping is continuing. So far the program has assisted more than 350 children, according to organizers. "Members of the Early Childhood Professional Association are well aware of the positive aspects of our program, and have always been supportive of the effort. We are very grateful for that," said Mary McEwen, WTC director at the newspaper. She is pictured above left with Kathy Lilly, treasurer of the early childhood organization.

St. Mark's '09 Christmas Eve Service Slated

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland has announced plans for its annual traditional Christmas Eve candlelight service. This year the service will begin an hour earlier than in the past, with a musical prelude starting at 9:30 p.m. and the service beginning at 10 p.m.

"We changed the time of the service at the request of several members who in previous years have been unable to attend because of the late hour," said Rev Dr. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of the church.

The musical prelude will feature a number of St. Mark's members performing either on instruments or vocally. Jacki Skeweris will play "O Holy Night" on oboe, and Pastor Robinson and Susan Peterson will present "I Wonder as I Wander" on guitar and flute.

"Straw Against the Chill," a song by Bob Franke, will be performed by Mary McEwen and Robinson, and Susan Peterson, Suzie Sincell, Adam Sincell, and Don Sincell will sing "Mary, Did You Know?"

"Ave Maria" will be sung by David Peterson, accompanied by Skeweris on oboe, Michael Broderick on organ, Peterson on piano, and Jamie Peterson on bass guitar. A handbell quartet, "Noel Nouvelet," will be presented by Lynn Grimm, Laura Robinson, Pat Michener, and Nan Gangler. Broderick will also play an organ piece. (This schedule is subject to change, a spokesperson said.)

The service will then begin at 10, and will include special music and Holy Communion.

St. Mark's choir, under the direction of Susan Peterson, will sing a Christmas anthem, and the handbell choir, directed by Lynn Grimm, will also play. A brass ensemble will provide special music and lead congregational singing during worship. The congregation will be provided with candles for the culmination of the service.

"Christmas is always special at St. Mark's," said the pastor, "and this year will be no exception."

The annual youth pageant by the Sunday school children will be part of the regular 10 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Dec. 20. (See separate story.) The service on Sunday, Dec. 27, will feature carols and scripture readings.

The weekly adult forum at the church is suspended during the holidays, but will resume Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. after Christmas. Robinson said the forum is currently focusing on the religions of the world, including a close look at the similarities and differences among various denominations of Christianity.

The public is invited to all events at St. Mark's, which is located at the corner of Second and Center streets, across from the library. For more information, persons may contact the church office at 301-334-2668 or go to stmarksoakland.org.

the self-confidence needed to be successful. After performing all over the world, Dulaine decided he wanted a way to pass on this gift. He volunteered in Manhattan, N.Y., teaching ballroom dancing before establishing Dancing Classrooms in 1994 with fellow performer Yvonne Marceau and Otto Cappel, founder of the American Ballroom Theater Company. Most recently, their influence has extended into film, with the release of the major motion picture Take The Lead. The film, starring Antonio Banderas as Dulaine, was inspired by Pierre's teaching experience in schools.

"It brings out the best in you," stated Dulaine about the program. "It's not about the steps...it's about what is between the steps."

Dancing Classrooms uses a curriculum-based teaching approach to achieve social awareness and build self-esteem. Students are taught the vocabulary of various contemporary social dances, including the merengue, foxtrot, rhumba, tango, swing, and waltz in a classroom setting. Each class in the series introduces new steps, reinforcing what has been previously learned through practice and repetition.

"The program utilizes ballroom dancing as a vehicle to change the lives of not only the children who participate in the program but also the lives of the teachers and parents who support these children," stated Jo Jo Graham, executive director of Dancing Classrooms Northeast Ohio.

The teaching philosophy of Dancing Classrooms is one of inside out versus outside in. "The program is not just about teaching dance, it's about teaching pride, confidence and respect," said Graham. "We take the dance that is inherent in students' bodies and help them to bring it out, not force it in, enabling students to increase their self-esteem as they learn."

It is Christophel's goal to pilot Dancing Classrooms in 3 to 5 schools by the 2009-10 school year, with the school district as a funding partner, as well as local businesses, foundations, corporations, and individuals. Financially, the program requires approximately $50,000 to $100,000 for a pilot school year. This funding helps to pay for daily operations and the recruiting, training, hiring, and managing of teaching artists.

Christophel is a certified ISSA fitness therapist, Vaganova ballet teacher, and sports conditioning specialist. She is a nationally certified Pilates teacher, as well as a professional ballroom teacher and competitor.

Dancing Classrooms served 40,500 students in 400 schools in the following cities during the 2008-09 school year: New York City, N.Y., Omaha, Neb., Fort Worth/Dallas, Texas, Newark, N.J., Toronto, Canada, Philadelphia, Pa., Long Island, N.Y., Fort Myers, Fla., the Florida Keys, Cleveland, Ohio, Monterey, Calif., Lake Charles, La., and Geneva, Switzerland. The following communities are planning to bring Dancing Classrooms to their children in the 2009-10 school year: Baltimore, Denver, Colo., San Francisco, Calif., and Winston-Salem, N.C.

St. Paul's Church Announces Several Holiday Services

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will host various seasonal worship services and activities. The public is invited by Rev. Jennifer Johns-Gooding, pastor of the church, to participate during Advent and Christmas. Regular worship services take place each Sunday morning at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Child care is provided at all worship services.

A live Nativity scene will be presented on the lawn of the church this Sunday, Dec. 20, from 4 to 9 p.m. Many members and friends of St. Paul's will dress in costumes, portraying the wise men, shepherds, angels, Joseph, Mary, and the infant Jesus, with live animals. On that same evening at 7 p.m. the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Tom Shelton, will present its annual Christmas candlelight program, a musical portrait titled "Christmas Mosaic" by Marty Parks.

Rev. Johns-Gooding welcomes the community to a "Blue Christmas" service on Monday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. This service is designed to give comfort and reassurance to people who are experiencing grief, loss, depression, loneliness, or hopelessness during the holiday season.

The annual Christmas Eve candlelight worship service will take place at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary, which will be decorated with poinsettias given in honor of or in memory of loved ones.

Throughout the season of Advent, members of the church have performed various mission projects related to Christmas. They have made special cards and fruit baskets and delivered them to shut-ins while Christmas caroling. They have also chosen angels from Angel Trees and bought gifts for needy families, children in Garrett County, and for the Burlington United Methodist Family Services.

The women of the church recently held a cookie walk at which approximately 200 dozen cookies were sold to raise money for missions. Members of the church also provided food and served it at the community Joy of Christ event. St. Paul's Youth participated in the Landon's Library Christmas Pageant, Let's Give a Little Jesus, and on the third Tuesday of each month, St. Paul's delivers dinners to approximately 145 needy people in the Oakland area.

CHOIR TO PRESENT "CHRISTMAS MOSAIC" – The Chancel Choir of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland will perform Marty Park's Christmas Cantata "Christmas Mosaic" this Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. A nursery will be provided. The church is located at 318 East Oak Street. For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-2391. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Ann Leighton, Carol Slagle, Mary Ann Rose, Wiiletta Mateer, Laurie Grant, Dorene Rogers, and Tom Shelton. Second row: Marie Watkins, Pat Michener, Pat Shelton, and Joan Lambert. Third row: Judy Church, David Church, Herb Lambert, Bill VanSickle, Karen Winkelvoss, Jay Umstot, Wayne Caple, Herb Leighton, Bill Meade, and Betty Pritt. Not pictured are Lynda Durst, Helen Earles, Janie Jones, and Sylvia Emery.

Group Announces Gun Raffle Winner

The Mount Beulah Restoration Association Inc. held the drawing for a gun raffle during a general meeting on Dec. 3 at the Grantsville Senior Center.

"Bucky Hall of Oldtown was the winner," said an association spokesperson. "Thank you to all who participated."

Proceeds from the fundraiser will be used to restore the historic Mount Beulah Church, located along Twin Churches Road in New Germany.

Methodist Ministries Announce Christmas Eve Candle Service

The Deep Creek United Methodist Ministries of Hoyes and Paradise will hold their Christmas Eve candlelight communion service beginning at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 24, at the Paradise Chapel, located on Sand Flat Road.

The pathway to the church will be lit with luminaries, and the center aisle will have candlelight at the end of each pew. Pastor Amy Chesla will deliver the Christmas message, and Pastor Sam Wachter will give a special children's message.

"The service is always an inspiration to all who attend with the hearing of God's word and the celebration of that Word made flesh," noted a spokesperson. "With candles to provide the light and with the Christmas carols to provide the music, we celebrate this wonderful story of God's gifts to us all."

HUSKY JROTC PARTICIPATES IN OPERATION PENNIES FOR HEROES – The Northern High School Army JROTC senior class recently initiated Operation Pennies for Heroes, in order to raise money to send gift packages to deployed service members throughout the world during the holiday season. The Husky cadets wanted to show their sincere appreciation to all the service members deployed who have made personal sacrifices and face danger on a daily basis. The cadets placed donation cans in every classroom throughout Northern High School, as well as in some local businesses such as Keyser's Ridge Auto/Truck Stop, the Hill Top Fruit Market, and Ledos Pizza. "We want to remember our soldiers not only during the holidays but all year long," noted senior JROTC Instructor Eric Sheetz, Ltc. "The Husky cadets say thank you and please come home soon." Those with a relative or local friend who is deployed are asked to send the soldier's name and address to the NGHS JROTC, so a gift package may be sent while supplies are available. The Husky Battalion would like to especially thank and recognize all the deployed heroes, veterans, service personnel, and fallen soldiers and their families. Above, from left, are Cadets Ltc. Kari Wingrove, Maj. William Gibbs, Maj. Kim Riggin, Csm. Cameron Barone, 1st Sgt. Laura Casteel, Tyler Rogers, and Barrack Uphold.

GC Drug Free Coalition Gives Holiday Tips

by Sandy Sutton

During the upcoming holiday season and throughout 2010, the Garrett County Drug Free Community Coalition encourages residents to become involved in the driving habits of family, friends, and co-workers. December is National Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month, which is sponsored by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"Impaired driving is no accident," notes a spokesperson. "Impaired driving incidents are crashes; predictable and preventable with your help."

During December, Garrett County residents should consider what they can do to stop impaired driving, as well as what can be done by communities to make streets and highways safe from impaired drivers.

Those who drink and drive after holiday festivities make the period between Thanksgiving and New Year's one of the year's most deadly and dangerous seasons because of alcohol-related crashes. But much of the danger could be prevented if drivers follow five simple precautions:

- Plan ahead and always designate a sober driver before the holiday celebration begins;
- Stay where you are and sleep it off until you are sober;
- Don't even think about getting behind the wheel of a vehicle if you've been drinking;
- Take the keys and never leave a friend who is about to drive while impaired; and
- Remind guests to plan ahead and designate their sober driver, always offer alcohol-free beverages during the event, and make sure all guests leave with a sober driver.

For more information about National Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month, persons may contact the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Students Of The Month Named At Southern High

Faculty members at Southern High School have recently named the following Students of Month for November: Rachel Reichard, English; Abby SanJulian, math; Brittany Judy, science; Alexis Markwood, social studies; Conor Forrester, career and technology education in drafting; and Briana Wagner, journalism/yearbook.

Reichard, a sophomore, is the daughter of Lori and Randolph Reichard, Mtn. Lake Park. Recognized for her work in English, she received the Success Award in the eighth grade and has also been a member of the Honor Band. Her future educational goals are to attend Drexel University in order to obtain a master's degree in library and information science, with a minor in photography.

SanJulian, a sophomore, is the daughter of James and Anette SanJulian, Oakland. Honored for her work in math, she is very active in her church youth group at the Loch Lynn Church of God. She says that ministry through drama music is her passion. She also volunteers on a regular basis at the Early Head Start program in Grantsville. In her free time, she enjoys horseback riding. Her future educational goals are to attend a four-year college and to major in religious studies and veterinary medicine.

Judy, a sophomore, is the daughter of Curtis and Stephanie Bowman, Oakland. Nominated for her work in science, her goal is to pursue post-secondary studies in art and child care.

Markwood, a junior, is the daughter of Mike and Tammy Markwood, Oakland. Selected for her work in social studies, she is currently a probationary member of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society. She also participates on the outdoor track and field team and is member of the yearbook staff. She hopes to maintain good grades through the remainder of her high school studies in order to continue her education at a four-year college.

Forrester, a senior, is the son of Elizabeth and John Forrester, Swanton. Chosen this month for his work in drafting, he was selected as Student of the Month for history in his freshman year. He has played on the school's soccer team for four years and has earned the following awards: Striker Award in ninth grade, Most Valuable Player and first-term All-Area in eleventh grade, and All-Star in twelfth grade. He is also a member of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society. He plans to attend West Virginia Wesleyan College for three years and then transfer to either West Virginia University or the University of Virginia for another two years. He wants to study physics and engineering.

Wagner, a sophomore, is the daughter of Jan Wagner, Swanton. Awarded this month for her work on the school's yearbook staff, she has also played volleyball on the school's team for the past two years. Her teammates know her as the team cheerleader because they say she lifts their spirits when the team is not doing well, and she tries to get everyone fired up. She has also participated in the 4-H program for the past eight years, and she is currently president of the Country Kids 4-H Club. She has participated in the 4-H fashion show, and one year received a trophy in her category for Best of Show. Upon graduation from high school, she plans to attend college in order to earn a degree in marine biology, with a minor in oceanography.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Air Force Airman Pamela J. Griffin recently graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Griffin is the daughter of Denise Collins of Oakland, and is a 2009 graduate of Southern High School.

BASKETBALL SEASON TICKETS

Southern High School is offering season basketball tickets for the 2009-10 season. The athletic department is offering several packages this year. Season passes to boys' or girls' games will be $40 or a season pass can be purchased to attend all boys' and girls' games for $65. Those interested should contact Joy Thrasher at 240-321-4550 for more information or to purchase a season ticket.

PROM PREVIEW

Southern's prom preview will be held on Saturday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. A variety of gowns will be provided by the Queen's Choice in Morgantown, W.Va., and tuxedos will be provided by Marvin's. Hair and make-up will be done by the Cutting Edge. Students are encouraged to stop by and catch the runway show, as well as several local vendors. There is also a chance to win a beauty basket from the Cutting Edge. Tickets are $5 and sold at the door. All proceeds go to the prom.

HELP NEEDED FOR WINTER BALL

The annual Winter Ball Dance sponsored by the senior class will be held this Saturday, Dec. 19. Senior class advisors and students are meeting Friday evening before the dance to make decorations. They need a lot of help, and this is an open invitation to be a part of the decorating committee. Depending on the number of participants, they will either meet in Ms. Sanders' classroom or spread out into the hall. They also need help decorating the cafeteria on Saturday before the dance. Those in need of more information should call Sandi Smith at 301-334-3086.

ASVAB AND PSAT RESULTS

Sophomores will receive their PSAT scores during advisory on Jan. 15. Students and parents may visit the web site listed on the score sheet for answers to commonly asked questions. Juniors participated in an ASVAB score interpretation session at the beginning of this week. Juniors are encouraged to share his/her results with parents/guardians and visit www.asvabprogram.com for help with choosing careers to match interests and academic strengths. A 99 is a perfect score. The military entrance minimum acceptable score is a 31. Guidance counselors may be contacted at 301-334-1660 with questions about the ASVAB or PSAT.

FSU COMPUTER SCIENCE PROGRAM

The computer science department at Frostburg State University is inviting students interested in computer science and technology to an information session at FSU. The session will be held in Lowndes Hall 206 on Tuesday, Feb. 2, at 7 p.m. Interested students need to sign up in the Guidance Office if they want to attend.

SENIOR PDAS

Senior PDA (Public Displays of Affection) information has been mailed to current SHS senior parents. Any parent who has not received an information packet should contact Maria Zumpano at shsyearbook@sh.ga.k12.md.us. Senior PDA orders are due April 15. IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE CHRISTMAS! – Christmas trees and other decorations are going up at Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the holiday season approaches. Volunteers with the GCMH Loar Auxiliary have been busy sprucing up the hospital with wreaths, ornaments, lights, and more provided by the group's fundraising efforts. From left are Betty Croston, Jim Shay, Betty Wolford, Denise Shay, and Jim Croston. Volunteers not available for the photo were Lisa Malone and Phyllis Gank. Loar Auxiliary volunteers operate and staff the hospital's gift shop in addition to holding a variety of fundraisers throughout the year.

Habitat For Humanity Sets Annual Meeting

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity Inc. will hold its annual meeting on Monday, Jan. 18, at 6 p.m. at the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect members of the 2010 board of directors. All members and interested persons are welcome to attend the meeting.

The meeting will be followed by the regular January board meeting, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

Persons planning to attend are asked to RSVP by Monday, Jan. 11. Those desiring more information may telephone 301-533-0600 or e-mail habitat@garrettcac.org.

Gains Scholarship At Allegany CM

The Allegany College of Maryland Foundation recently announced the awarding of scholarships to a dozen students for the 2009-10 academic year.

Among the recipients is freshman Brittany Murray of Frostburg, pictured, who was awarded the Rev. George Hazen Memorial Scholarship.

A general studies major, Murray is 2009 graduate of Northern High School. She is the daughter of Michael and Jackie Murray.

EMT-B Classes To Be Offered At Garrett Coll.

An EMT-B course will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Garrett College beginning on Jan. 26, 2010. Sessions will be held from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. at the McHenry campus and are tentatively scheduled to end in June.

The course will provide the required knowledge and skills for EMT-B certification in Maryland, a college spokesperson noted.

The classes are funded through the Maryland Fire & Rescue Institute and are offered at no cost to providers affiliated with local rescue or fire services.

The pre-registration deadline is Jan. 6. To pre-register or to obtain additional information, persons may call 301-387-3069 or 301-895-4310, ext. 3069.

The Friendsville library will be closed from Thursday, Dec. 24, through Saturday, Dec. 26, and Friday, Jan. 1, and Saturday, Jan. 2.

The Kitzmiller library will be closed from Wednesday, Dec. 23, through Friday, Jan. 1, reopening on Monday, Jan. 4.

A list of all Ruth Enlow Library closings and events are available online at relib.net.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

The Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting at the church on Dec. 9.

The Bible study, titled "Moved to a New Address," was led by Leota Baker and opened with the singing of a hymn. According to the study leader, the lesson "showed how the shift from being slaves to sin and death to being servants of God is another way of describing the complete change in the life situation of the baptized."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

A thank-you letter was received from Our Savior's Lutheran Church for the package of Christmas gifts the Zion women sent for the Rocky Boy Native Americans in Box Elder, Mont.

A gift offering was received from Viola Meyers, a former member of Zion's women's auxiliary. An offering was also sent to the local Warm the Children program. An annual report of all offerings and projects of the group was given.

Monthly meetings will be canceled for the months of January through March.

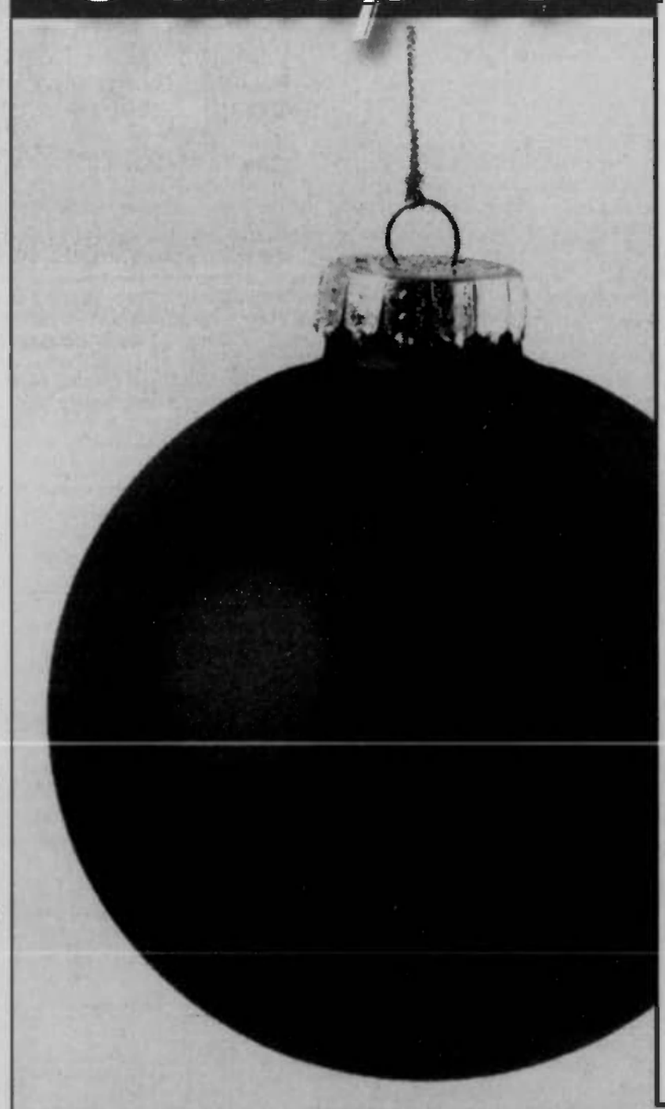
Sweet and Simple



This holiday season, won't you choose to concentrate most of your focus on the honored Guest? Gifts of smiles and laughter, time spent with family in reminiscent conversation, and fellowship with our friends and neighbors will be remembered more than a perfect house with over-the-top decorations. After all, only Christ was perfect. Why not let your sentiments echo those of Luke in Acts 14:17 "...He provides you with plenty...and fills your hearts with joy." Won't you worship God's Son this week in the humble spirit of His birthplace? Discover the joy of keeping it "sweet and simple".

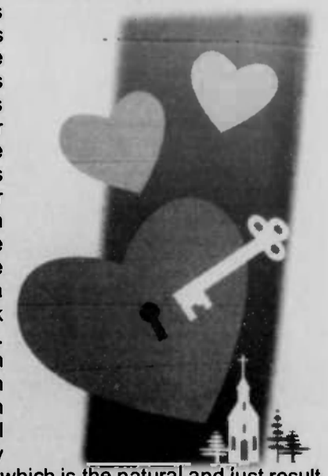
Medications for This Skin Condition

Rosacea is a chronic condition that mainly affects the face. It causes redness of the cheeks, nose, and forehead. Papules, pustules, cysts, and nodules also may develop on the face, which make it look similar to acne. Other signs and symptoms may include a burning or stinging sensation and swelling. Rosacea also may affect the eyes. Resulting conditions called blepharitis and conjunctivitis may occur. Redness of the face may be triggered by alcohol intake, spicy foods, extreme temperatures, and emotions.

Although there is no cure for rosacea, there are treatments available for improvement of associated signs and symptoms. A mild facial cleanser, such as Cetaphil, is often helpful. A sunscreen should be used when appropriate. Avoidance of triggers is also recommended to prevent flare-ups. Benzoyl peroxide is recommended for relief from inflammation. Metronidazole, an antimicrobial that can be used as a gel or lotion, may be prescribed to treat redness and inflammation. Azelaic acid is also an antimicrobial available as a cream or gel and may be prescribed for mild to moderate rosacea. If these medications do not work to improve papules or pustules, tretinoin cream may be prescribed.

Instant Karma



Karma is sometimes described as the total effect of one's actions on one's fate or destiny, or the rule of cause and effect as applied to our actions. The notion that sin will be punished and virtue rewarded is a simple way to think about karma. Religions which believe in reincarnation believe that we will return to earthly existence in a form which is the natural and just result of our actions in the previous life. If you have a penchant for stepping on insects, your just reward might be to come back as an insect, and be dutifully stepped on. Religions like Christianity and Islam, which believe in a heaven and hell which are essentially a reward or punishment for a good or bad life, are in effect, a version of the karma doctrine. But perhaps, karma is instantaneous, that is, perhaps every action carries its own reward or punishment within itself. If you lie and steal, the Immediate punishment is that you have thereby harmed yourself by becoming a liar and a thief. Likewise, every good deed carries with it the instant reward of making you a better person. Karma is also a mechanism for learning. That is, we soon realize that treating others in a mean and nasty fashion has the natural consequence of attracting meanness and nastiness. Whereas, loving kindness tends to attract loving kindness.

Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap.

The nurse is still in: 'HawthoRNe' will be back

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: What happened to "HawthoRNe"? Will it be back? –Frances Lewis, Dallas

A: It will, probably toward summer, which was when TNT premiered the medical drama starring Jada Pinkett Smith this year. The cable network has ordered 10 more episodes.

Q: Last year, I became a huge fan of the reality show "The Mole," but I've heard that it might not return. Is this true? –Mark Poblocki Jr., Akron, N.Y.

A: It is, at least as it stands now. ABC announced last spring – eight months after the fifth season had concluded – that the contest, which originally was hosted by Anderson Cooper before he moved to CNN, would not be returning.

Q: Have any "Frasier" episodes been released on DVD? I wish to buy them as a Christmas present. –Mary Walker, Littleton, Colo.

A: Depending on how many you want to buy, someone could have a good or really great holiday. All 11 seasons of Kelsey Grammer's former NBC sitcom are available on discs from Paramount Home Entertainment, in individual boxed sets or in two collections (one including the first three seasons and the final one, and the other encompassing the first five seasons and the last one).

Q: We enjoyed "Shark Tank." Has it been canceled? –Gerda Zeck, Redmond, Wash.

A: According to Robert Herjavec, who was among the "Sharks" hearing new business pitches on the show's first season, ABC has ordered more episodes of the series. However, as of this writing, no air dates had been set for them.

Jada Pinkett Smith

Q: Will the series "The Game" be available on DVD? Also, I heard that BET was trying to pick up the show. Is this true? –Yolanda Hughes, Queenstown, Md.

A: The first of the former CW show's two seasons already is available on disc, and the second is due Jan. 19. While BET has been showing repeats of the existing episodes, talk of the cable network producing new ones remains just talk, at least for now. CBS Television Studios has been involved in talks with BET about the rights to resume production of the show since its cancellation by The CW last spring.

Q: ABC Family has a show called "Lincoln Heights," but I haven't seen it available on DVD yet. Will it be released anytime soon? –April Stevens, Clinton, N.C.

A: Very soon, in fact. The first season of the drama series – about a policeman and his family in an inner-city neighborhood – is scheduled for a February release by the label Shout! Factory.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was French author, philosopher and journalist Albert Camus who made the following sage observation: "Nobody realizes that some people expend tremendous energy merely to be normal."

• According to records kept by the Social Security Administration, the name "Barack" was ranked 2,409th in 2008, up more than 10,000 spots from 12,535th in 2007.

• Large cities often use high-occupancy vehicle (HOV) lanes in order to encourage carpooling and help reduce traffic congestion. As soon as the lanes appear, however, people start getting creative about ways to get around the restriction. Pregnant women have claimed to be carrying an extra passenger even when all the other seats are empty, and more than one person has placed a mannequin or inflatable doll in the front seat in an effort to fool authorities. Recently, an undertaker in Los Angeles went to court to appeal a judgment against him, claiming that the body in a coffin in the back should count as a passenger.

• Are you a hypergelast? If you are, it's nothing to be ashamed of; in fact, it might mean you're the life of the party. A hypergelast is someone who laughs a lot.

• Moore's Law is not good news to those of us who might be a bit technologically challenged; it states that computer technology doubles in complexity every 18 to 24 months.

• Those who study such things claim that, when it comes to accidents involving household appliances, you're more likely to be injured by a washing machine, but if you are injured by a clothes dryer, it's more likely to be fatal.

Thought for the Day: "Happiness is an imaginary condition, formerly attributed by the living to the dead, now usually attributed by adults to children, and by children to adults." — Thomas Szasz

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Dec. 24, 1851, a devastating fire at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., destroys about two-thirds of its 55,000 volumes, including most of Thomas Jefferson's personal library. Today, the collection, housed in three enormous buildings in Washington, contains more than 17 million books.

• On Dec. 23, 1888, Dutch painter Vincent van Gogh, suffering from severe depression, cuts off the lower part of his left ear with a razor while staying in Arles, France. He later documented the event in a painting titled "Self-Portrait With Bandaged Ear"

• On Dec. 27, 1900, prohibitionist Carry Nation smashes up the bar at the Carey Hotel in Wichita, Kan., causing several thousand dollars in damage and landing her in jail. Nation became famous for carrying a hatchet and wrecking saloons as part of her anti-alcohol crusade.

• On Dec. 21, 1937, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" debuts. The film, created by Walt Disney's animation company, was the first feature-length animated movie. The film became a classic, and box-office receipts recouped the film's cost of $1.5 million by the end of its first year in circulation.

• On Dec. 26, 1946, in Las Vegas, mobster Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel opens The Pink Flamingo Hotel and Casino at a total cost of $6 million. The 40-acre facility wasn't complete. Because gamblers had no rooms at the hotel, they took their winnings elsewhere. The casino lost $300,000 in the first week of operation.

• On Dec. 22, 1952, the first Corvette sports car, a running production-ready prototype, is completed. The name "Corvette" came from a type of small, maneuverable warship used by Allied forces in World War II.

• On Dec. 25, 1996, 6-year-old JonBenet Ramsey is killed in her Boulder, Colo., home. John and Patsy Ramsey, her parents, called police at 5:52 a.m. the following morning to report their daughter missing. JonBenet's body was found under a blanket in the basement that afternoon.

Charm Bracelet

Q. I have a silver bracelet that has four charms on it: a pack of Chesterfield cigarettes, and the likenesses of Bing Crosby, Perry Como and Arthur Godfrey. What can you tell me about it? — Dorothy, Prince George, Va.

A. Charm bracelets were especially popular throughout the 1940s and '50s. Charms that are especially desirable include ones depicting Disney characters, including Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Donald Duck and Snow White; entertainers such as Frank Sinatra, Mae West and Elvis Presley; and other souvenir charms purchased at World Fairs and other important events.

A charm of Eisenhower issued during his 1952 campaign recently sold online for $25. I contacted a jewelry expert, Janet Lawwill. According to Janet, your charms are unusual and should be worth at least $25 each if sterling and in reasonable condition, and less, of course, if they are not. Her contact information is www.sparklz.com, and jewel@sparklz.com.

Once-Booming Western Maryland Going Green To Fight Recession

by Tina Irgang
Capital News Service

Until a few years ago, things were looking up for western Maryland. A sound national economy and a desire for country living brought workers from Baltimore and Washington to the fringes of the state, causing the demand for domestic and commercial real estate to skyrocket.

But since the beginning of the recession, this trend has reversed. As a lack of job security and the high costs of commuting drive workers closer to urban centers, western Maryland hopes to strengthen its local economy by embracing green jobs.

Frederick has been the most successful of the western counties in this regard. Its population has grown by 49 percent since 1990 – and the local economy's emphasis on green technology means the county will continue its ascent, said Randy Gray, a local business development specialist.

"Back in the '50s and '60s, Frederick County had more of a heavy industrial image," Gray said. "There's still manufacturing here, but it's gone mainly within the last 10 years to this clean bioscience technology."

Frederick's success is also a product of its proximity to Washington, D.C.

"When D.C.'s doing well, it brings Frederick up with it," said Anthony Stair, associate professor of economics at Frostburg State University. "You see the growth extend outward. I think it's also hit Hagerstown a little bit, but it hasn't gotten to Cumberland yet."

Indeed, Frederick County has far surpassed its western neighbors in terms of wealth. Between 2006 and 2008, Frederick households had a median income of nearly $80,000, far above the Maryland average of $70,000.

At the same time, Washington County households had an average income of about $53,000 annually, and Garrett and Allegany households earned $45,000 and $37,000, respectively. In addition, the Census Bureau reports, about 13 percent of Allegany and Garrett County and 9 percent of Washington County residents lived below the poverty line. In Frederick, the number is less than 5 percent.

Development through local green industries, such as Frederick County has experienced, could prove a solution to the woes of other western counties, said Andy Moser, assistant secretary at the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation. The problem, he said, is that the area is caught in transition.

"Western Maryland was home to a lot of manufacturing," Moser said. "A lot of these manufacturers have pretty much moved out of that area."

Most moved abroad or to different parts of the U.S. to lower production costs and remain competitive, Moser said.

In addition, the westernmost counties of the state remain at a disadvantage simply "because they're farther removed from population centers and major employers."

But the area's rural character could also be an asset: Allegany's and Garrett's open country lends itself to green technology, such as wind energy.

Moser is optimistic that western Maryland's former employers "will be replaced in the future by other ones, but we just haven't seen it yet."

So far, it seems the western counties lack incentives to make their residents stay. Garrett County saw a 6 percent population growth during the 1990s, which turned into a net loss after 2000. Allegany County has lost more than 3 percent of its population since 2000.

Washington County fared slightly better, but found itself facing problems when the recession set in.

Up until then, the county had seen steady population and economic growth.

"Basically, the way the economy was going at the time, we were getting a number of people," said Michael Thompson, director of the county's planning department. "Prices got so high in the metro area and Frederick, and here they could buy a house for less money."

The influx quickly began to show. Washington County's economy normally grows at around 0.7 percent a year – by 2005 that number had more than doubled, Thompson said.

But the county lacked incentives to make people stay when the economy declined and the cost of commuting became an issue for many families. The local job market was not attractive enough for a highly skilled work force.

"They just can't get the big salaries locally," Thompson said.

Brien Poffenberger, president of the county's chamber of commerce, said the influx of Marylanders working in Washington and Baltimore led to a significant housing and retail boom in the area, turning Washington County into an exurb, or long-distance suburb, of both cities.

When the recession reversed this boom, local construction companies and contractors were hit particularly hard.

"Both residential and commercial (construction) were really on fire, and that has just gone away," Poffenberger said. "It's led to really severe cutbacks in payroll."

Among those cutting back was Hagerstown commercial contractor Building Systems Inc. Owner George Stone said the downturn forced the company to reduce its work force by half.

The intense competition for rare contracting jobs in the recession also means local businesses such as his have to go up against bidders from Baltimore and elsewhere.

"In a normal economy, they would have worked in the Baltimore area, they would not have come this far west," Stone said. "Now that there's less work everywhere, everyone's trying."

Meanwhile, Allegany and Garrett counties are trying to help along economic recovery and maintain their workforce by taking a leaf out of Frederick's book.

David Nedved, an economic development representative with the Allegany County government, thinks green technology could be a viable strategy for pulling people and jobs into his county, saying the government has discussed establishing a windmill turbine plant in the area.

He also said he hopes Allegany's low cost of living will continue to lure people away from the urban centers as economic recovery trickles down.

"We are seeing people moving into this area from the more urban areas downstate," Nedved said. "The trouble is we're in the middle of this huge recession."

In Garrett County, natural resources are key to a local economy based heavily on the hospitality industry, according to Frank Shap, a development specialist with the county.

Over the years, Garrett's economy was bolstered by second-home owners and retirees attracted by the county's natural beauty, but the recession has diminished this source of income, said Michael Bello, who owns a photography business in McHenry.

"Home building and everything right now is down in Garrett County, like it is everywhere," Bello said. "That certainly affects everybody's business. Even the visitors, while they're still coming, are not spending as much while they're here."

As a result, Garrett has worked to diversify its economic portfolio to include specialty manufacturing and green technology. Down the road, Shap hopes, the county's experience with natural resource extraction will attract the biofuel industry.

Meanwhile, Garrett is investing in its future, Shap said, by providing incentives for the next generation of local workers to stay. Among other things, the county created a special scholarship program at Garrett College a few years ago which covers tuition and fees for recent Garrett County high school graduates.

"We cannot rely on hospitality alone," Shap said. "Work force skill development is very important for us to keep our economic growth."

LONG & FOSTER MAKES DONATION TO GCMH – Bob Carney, manager of Long & Foster Realty, recently presented a check in the amount of $750 to Kathy Greaser, director of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. "We are pleased to help the community in which we serve," stated Carney. "Our agents and their families live here, work here, and play here. GCMH is an essential part of our community, and the services that the foundation provides are priceless." Donations to GCMH are used toward purchasing equipment that is vital to patient care. "Long & Foster has been a long-time supporter in our community," said Greaser. "We greatly appreciate their ongoing support of the foundation's fundraising efforts." More information about the GCMH Foundation is available by calling 301-533-4041.

HIGH-FREQUENCY HEARING LOSS

It is estimated that one-third of the population suffers from high-frequency hearing loss that diminishes the ability to understand conversation. This type of loss usually compromises the listener's ability to properly discern between consonants, even though vowel sounds can be heard clearly. As a result, those with high-frequency listening deficits cannot understand conversation. Fortunately, the digital technology employed by many hearing instruments helps listeners overcome this problem by enabling hearing instrument specialists to program the instrument in accordance with the listener's individual type of hearing loss. In the case of those with high-frequency hearing loss, the high frequencies are specifically amplified to address the listener's unique hearing loss pattern. As a result, consonants can be heard as clearly as vowels.

Your ability to hear is as unique as your fingerprints. Age, noisy environments, heredity, medical conditions, and childhood and adult illnesses can combine to produce different types of hearing losses in different people. When you need help with your hearing, we hope you'll turn to the services of a hearing specialist at AUDIBEL. We'll find the hearing instrument best suited to your hearing abilities. Call us to arrange a comprehensive hearing test.

P.S. The first noticeable symptom of high-frequency hearing loss often involves an inability to clearly hear children's voices, which are inherently high-pitched.

'Tis the Season to Be...Stressed Out!

by Melissa Parker

It's almost a wrap on the fall semester at Garrett College. But before students can enjoy time with family and friends during the holidays and get a much deserved break, they have to make it through one more obstacle: finals week.

Garrett students are making all the preparations to come away from the finals week experience with their GPAs intact and their heads held high. One case in point is Jeremy Sidebottom, who has spent most of the fall semester studying so that he could make it to finals week without being overstressed by all the exams.

"I have no stress at all because I've been studying all semester and doing my homework, so I'm not worried about finals," said Sidebottom, a sophomore from Tunnelton, W.Va. "I think I'll do great. I just need to get through some last-minute preparations."

Sidebottom is a bit of an anomaly when it comes to a stress-free finals week, though. For most students, with finals come loads of stress. A week full of exams alone is enough to make a student stressed to the max, but add that to being a freshman and experiencing finals for the first time, or to taking an English exam when French is one's first language.

IT'S FINALS WEEK at Garrett College, a time of significant stress for many on the campus. Above, Sheena McComble does a little cramming in preparation for one of her exams.

"I'm really stressed because English is not my first language," said Alice Abiya, a freshman from Cameroon. "I've spent a lot of time studying and missed out on a lot of things because of studying."

But finals week is naturally an anxious time for students.

"Students are very stressed," said Carolyn Deniker, professor of allied health. "I think that it's part of the whole process."

Stress may be a likely part of finals week, but what do students do to offset the pressures of finals? Thankfully, many seem to be balancing their studying with taking regular breaks and making use of stress relievers. Sidebottom finds this balance with some of his favorite hobbies.

"I enjoy painting and drawing," he said. "I also take breaks from my work so that I don't over-stress myself."

Abiya, who plays basketball for the college, looks to sports for relief

"I had a basketball game over the weekend," she said. "It was a great chance to relieve all the stress I've been facing because of finals."

Abiya also mentioned that GC's professors are helping her get through the week, as well as the language arts and math labs.

The college is doing its part in helping the students prepare and make it through this taxing time of the semester. The college residence halls began 24-hour quiet hours the weekend before finals to ensure that students have an appropriate study environment.

The library staff is working to keep noise levels to a minimum as well.

"We're trying to keep the library as quiet as possible," said Ellen Sheaffer, GC's cataloger/systems librarian. "We're fully staffed in case students need to finish assignments or have computer problems. Group-study rooms are available so students can study cooperatively."

In addition, the college cafeteria is doing its part to relieve the anxiety of finals week. Throughout the week, the cafeteria is giving out cookies, apples, oranges, assorted sodas, bottles of water, and coffee for students free of charge.

"I think that it's important to do this for students because when they come out of finals, they need something to refresh and refuel them," said Tony Rodnicki, director of food services.

The professors are going the extra mile to help students prepare as well.

"We had a review session last week, when I gave students the opportunity to ask questions," said Deniker. "So I think my students will be okay. The final is weighted, so that relieves some of the pressure for them."

Students are taking notice of the extra help being offered during finals week.

"I like the round-the-clock quiet hours in the dorms," said Sidebottom. "I also like the study groups that have been created by professors, and the fact that the professors are giving their time to help with last-minute preparations."

The fall semester will officially end with the last day of finals this Friday, Dec. 18. Until then, students will likely remain a little stressed; except for Sidebottom, who's learning yet another hobby to keep himself stress-free: making origami, which he says can be "very relaxing, once you learn how to do it."

Garrett College Recently Earns Maryland Green Registry Status

Garrett College was recently accepted to the Maryland Green Registry. The college earned this status as a result of taking the necessary steps to reduce its impact on the environment. With this new standing, Garrett is now part of an expanding group of organizations working toward a sustainable Maryland through sound environmental practices.

"We believe that it's important for Garrett College to participate with other community colleges in the Maryland Green Registry to demonstrate our commitment to a sustainable environment," said Josephine Gillman, dean of administration at the college. "The health of our local resources is critical to the well-being of the community and the county."

In order to be accepted into the Maryland Green Registry program, the college had to show a commitment to reducing its environmental impact. The college submitted a profile indicating the steps it is taking to achieve this.

One of the first actions the college took in an attempt to "go green" was to establish the Green Awareness Committee, which meets on a monthly basis. The committee consists of staff and faculty members, and students. The goal of the committee is to create awareness among all at the college of the need to act in a responsible manner to protect the environment.

The committee promotes environmental awareness through activities such as Earth Week, which this year included a tree-planting day, road clean-up day, swap day, and a black-out day. The committee works on an on-going basis with the college community to reinforce college-wide recycling efforts.

Garrett is also a member of the Mountain Maryland Green Committee, which comprises the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, local businesses, and local organizations that all have the same goal of environmental sustainability in the county.

In addition, the college has adopted an environmental policy statement which emphasizes the importance of operating in an environmentally sensitive manner.

The college also gets credit for having a Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology (NRWT) program, which strives to graduate technicians who are prepared for employment in the field of natural resources management and environmental protection. Additionally, the NRWT program has monitored and restored many wetlands and streams in and around Garrett County over the last 10 years.

To add to this initiative, the college currently recycles paper, aluminum cans, plastic bottles, toner cartridges, light bulbs, motor oil, tires, and batteries. In addition, the college stays in line with storm water management guidelines by keeping pollutants out of storm drains, integrating pest-management practices, and keeping fertilizer applications at minimum rates.

The Maryland Green Registry is designed to encourage businesses and organizations to help build a smarter, greener, and more sustainable Maryland by putting green practices to work within their organizations. The registry is a voluntary, self-certification program that offers tips and resources to help organizations set and meet their own goals on the path to sustainability.

The registry consists of over 100 businesses and organizations in the areas of higher education, state government, financial services, medical offices, and many others.

For additional information on Garrett's Maryland Green Registry membership, persons may telephone contact Gillman at 301-387-3091.

In Memory of Rich Humberson Jr.
May 3, 1964 — December 11, 2005

My son, "Little Rich," the one that I have been so proud of for so long, the one that taught me more than I taught him, the one that when we would divide anything you would take about 1/3 and give me 2/3. Just a phone call away and I called lots of times. You would come help me every time. You were always there for me and your mom. Son, you led me home lots of nights. Son, everybody I talk to thinks so much of you and that makes me so happy and so very proud. Son, after your mom passed away, you and your family gave me so much love, kindness, and respect, and I say thanks, and what an honor it is to have you for a son.

Son, you cast a large shadow; I am walking in it and I cannot find you. Rich, memory lane is a long and neverending road, as is sorrow. Rich, so many unsaid words, so many unfinished things still to do.

We all talk about the one set of footprints in the sand – Son, when I see that one set, I know that it is when you are carrying me. Son, it has been 4 years since I last gripped your hand and saw your face and clear blue eyes. But son, I Corinthians 13:12, this is what I am waiting for -- to see you and your mom. Son, you were the fifth commandment. Son, the Bible tells me God will only tempt me what I can be tempted. I keep telling Him the load is heavy, "raise me up." Son, it is just like David said, the boy cannot come to me, I shall go to him. Son, I know you are watching me from a far away place, but I keep waiting for you to call, which always says you're just checking in.

Son, I have asked God if the angel will fly again.

Son, I love you,
Love always, Dad

GARRETT COUNTY LANDFILL WILL BE CLOSED ON SATURDAYS

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division on Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of trash, beginning on December 26, 2009, thru March 13, 2010. The scales, office and landfill will be closed. This is a cost effective benefit to the County because of the low number of customers that use the Landfill and Offices on Saturday during this time period. Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division will reopen for Saturday business March 20, 2010 at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads; until 4 p.m. at the office.

Homeowners may continue to bring their household trash and recyclables from 8 a.m. until noon. Appliances will have a $5 bulk sticker fee for each item. Appliances with Freon will have a $10 (2 bulk item sticker-s fee) for each appliance. Applications for refuse site stickers will be available from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours, Monday through Friday; or purchased at the Tax Collections Office in the Courthouse Monday through Fridays. Also available this year, previous sticker owners can purchase their stickers online at:

FROM FRIENDSVILLE WITH LOVE – Students at Friendsville Elementary School recently stuffed 100 Christmas stockings to share with the troops. Ninety-six of the stockings were sent to Afghanistan in care of Capt. Eric Livengood, who is the son of Friendsville Elementary teacher Judy Livengood. He plans to share them with his platoon. The other four stockings were sent to other Friendsville soldiers stationed throughout the world. After stuffing the stockings, the students walked the packages to the post office to have them shipped. Students and staff members are pictured above at the post office. The activity goes along with the caring and giving character traits for the months of November and December. Students also wrote letters, colored pictures, made cards, and made ornaments to place in the stockings. Each stocking contained candy, pens, pencils, notepads, foot powder, DVDs, popcorn balls, food, flavored water packets, magazines, toothpaste, and toothbrushes. Sponsors for the stockings included Friendsville Woodmen of the World Lodge 45, Freedom Chapel Church, S & S Market, Friendsville Pharmacy, area churches, residents, and families, and staff and students of Friendsville Elementary. Below left, from left around the table, are Bethany Umbel, Trey Frazee, Phillip Frye, Rileigh Lowdermilk, Katy Fresh, Judy Livengood, Michele Clevenger, Sarah Groves, A.J. Goldberg, Colby Lowdermilk, and Ally Kisner. Below right, on the way to the post office are, principal Janet Gregory, Matthew Hoover, Jacob Frazee, and Gavin Yutzy.

CANTATA SCHEDULED

The Friendsville Community Choir will present its annual Christmas cantata at the Friendsville United Methodist Church this Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

In support of the Northern Rescue Squad's recent food drive, the offering that evening will be divided between the building fund and the food drive. The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be shared following the cantata.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be Holy Communion during the 9:45 a.m. worship this Sunday, Dec. 20.

An Advent service will be held at St. Paul's in Accident next Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 7 p.m.

A joint parish Christmas Eve service will be held Thursday, Dec. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at Grace Lutheran in Friendsville.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD

The Laurel Run youth group will present its Christmas program, "The Rehearsal," this Sunday, Dec. 20, at 6 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

MERCY CHAPEL

Mercy Chapel along Mill Run Road north of Friendsville will hold a candlelight Christmas Eve service on Thursday, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m. All are welcome to attend this traditional service.

TOWN NEWS

Any persons interested in running for the office of mayor or one of five vacant council member seats is advised to contact Town Hall. The top three vote getters for council seats will each serve a 2-year term. The next two vote getters will each serve a 1-year term. Questions should be directed to 301-746-5919. The deadline to file is noon, Jan. 4, 2010.

Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle is eligible to file for re-election, along with council members Julia Sines, Lois Kahl, and Thomas Fike, whose 2-year terms are expiring in 2010. There are two vacant seats that are to be filled for a 1-year term.

The town will begin recycling the first Monday of each month instead of the first Friday, as previously collected. Persons are asked to have items curbside by 9 a.m.

LIBRARY NEWS

The following DVDs have been donated by the Friendsville Library Quilters: Puppu Party, Mist, Discovering the World of Animals, and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs for children; and Visions of the Sea, Shergar, In the Blink of an Eye, Not Easily Broken, Most Wonderful Time of the Year, and Only Once for adults.

PERSONALS

Leroy Robinson notes his appreciation to those who sent him cards during his recent illness.

Wilma Wakefield recently celebrated her 80th birthday. She notes her appreciation to all who sent cards and letters, of which she received a total of 96.

FOOD DRIVE, SOUP/ BAKE SALE

The Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad held a soup and bake sale on Saturday at the Rescue Squad building. The event raised over $500 for the Garrett County Food Bank. Matching funds from the squad will also be donated.

Organizers express their appreciation to all who supported this effort in any way.

Report Says Md. College Student Debt Averaged Over $18K in '08

by Laura Gurfein
Capital News Service

While some college students would do anything to avoid going into debt for their education Amanda Merson decided to take the plunge.

"Paying off that debt hopefully won't put me in a cardboard box, but I know it will be worth it in the long run," said the 21-year-old Loyola University Maryland senior, joking about having to live on the streets.

Despite financial aid, scholarships, a Pell Grant, becoming a resident assistant to offset housing costs, and receiving assistance from her parents and grandparents, Merson estimated that she has accumulated $17,000 in federal loan debt to pay for her private school education so far.

Merson's situation is similar to most Maryland students, according to a new study ranking states on student debt.

Students at Maryland's four-year public and not-for-profit private institutions faced an average debt of $18,647 upon graduation in 2008, ranking 37th in the nation, according to a report released last week by the Project on Student Debt.

The report comes at a crucial time for Maryland's public universities, as the University System of Maryland's Board of Regents debates maintaining the in-state tuition freeze for an unprecedented fifth straight year, pending the state's fiscal year 2011 budget.

However, with budget cuts still possible for the current fiscal year, a tuition hike is not out of the question, according to the board.

"The USM's ability to maintain the tuition freeze is an issue that the board will be evaluating," system Chancellor William E. Kirwan said in November.

Neighboring District of Columbia reported the highest average student debt upon graduation at $29,793. However, nearly all undergraduate institutions in the district are private and have high tuition rates.

Utah reported the lowest debt at $13,041, bettering second-ranked Hawaii by more than $2,000.

The report noted that students in northeastern states faced the highest amount of debt, a fact it attributed to the abundance of private institutions in the region. Students in western states, where most attend public universities, accumulated the lowest debt upon graduation.

The University of Maryland, Eastern Shore, was highlighted in the report's list of lowest-debt schools. Graduating students there averaged only $8,500 in debt in 2008, but 89 percent, a relatively high proportion of graduates, faced some debt upon graduation.

An estimated 44 percent of students at the University of Maryland, College Park, faced the highest debt for a public university in the state at an average of $20,091 upon graduation in 2008, when tuition and fees for residents were set at $7,969 for that school year.

The only other Maryland public university with debt rates higher than the state average upon graduation in 2008 was the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, which averaged $20,002 and had nearly 50 percent of students facing debt.

Students at these universities are feeling the financial pressure.

"I've been fighting for financial aid since I first got to college and have been stressed come the end of each semester in regards to how I'm going to finish paying it off," said Heather Kopf, a student government member at the Baltimore County campus, said in an e-mail. "I wish I had looked into my options ahead of time of payment plans and different loans with lower interest rates" when applying for college

As expected, students at most of Maryland's private colleges by graduation had accumulated debt well beyond the state average. Students at Mount St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg graduated in 2008 with $27,230 in debt, while students at Merson's Loyola University Maryland accumulated $26,340 in debt. About 77 percent of students at Mount St. Mary's had debt at graduation while only 71 percent owed money at Loyola.

To help students understand their loan obligations and payment options, Loyola requires "exit counseling" to all students receiving financial aid through the university, according to vice president and director of financial aid Mark Lindenmeyer.

The only private institution whose students had lower debt than the state average was Goucher College in Baltimore at $16,729 and about 50 percent of students with some debt. Goucher's tuition for the 2007-2008 school year was $31,082.

Merson, who described herself as being from "a lower socio-economic background," ultimately chose Loyola over Towson, a public university with much lower tuition, because of its intimacy and opportunities.

"I chose a school with a higher price tag, but I knew that I would get so much more out of it rather than going to a school where I would just be a number," Merson said.

ACCELERATED READERS RECOGNIZED – Yough Glades Elementary School students are soaring with their Accelerated Reader Program. The program is designed for students to read particular books and take tests regarding the comprehension of their selection. In return, they accumulate points and are able to purchase items from the accelerated reader store periodically throughout the school year. Their names are placed in a point club displayed at the school. In the front row are Tristen Neel (10 pts.), Alison Meeks (5 pts.), Madison Sweitzer (15 pts.), Haley Bosse (5 pts.), and Regina Roberts (10 pts.). Second row: Sasha Uphold (10 pts.), Sierra Tichnell (25 pts.), Roger Dixon (10 pts.), Courtney Alexander (10 pts.), Madison Shaffer (15 pts.), and Megan O'Neill (10 pts.). Third row: Kristopher Tusing (10 pts.), Zane Thomas (10 pts.), Keaton Upton (10 pts.), Alexx Grady (5 pts.), Kayla Lowdermilk (10 pts.), Jessica Bow (15 pts.), Elisha Burkey (10 pts.), Ariel Georg (10 pts.), and Talon Uphold (10 pts.). Fourth row: Sheyenne Tichnel (10 pts.), Luke Adams (10 pts.), Wesley Dixon (15 pts.), Shanie Gnegy (15 pts.), Regan Harvey (15 pts.), Quinn Thomas (15 pts.), Tailor Mayne (10 pts.), and Zach Slaubaugh (10 pts.). Back row: Lauryn Moon (10 pts.), Brianna Hartsell (10 pts.), Isaac Graham (10 pts.), Mariah Riley (10 pts.), Hanna Park (10 pts.), Emily Tichnell (125 pts.), and Jessica Thayer (15 pts.).

STUDENTS RECOGNIZED – Students were recently recognized at Partners After School @ Loch Lynn. Zendll Bittinger was named Student of the Month for November. "Zendll is always willing to help others and always comes to the program prepared," said a group spokesperson. Zendll and six other students had perfect attendance for the month. In the front row are Todd BeMiller, Jessica Bow, and Taylor Reams. Back row: Brent BeMiller, Kayla Harris, Bittinger, and Jacob Green. The Partners After School @ Loch Lynn is a collaborative effort between Garrett County Community Action, Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, the Maryland State Department of Education, Garrett County commissioners, and HUD. The program is also a service learning site. Anyone wanting more information about the program may call 301-334-0723.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Local Couple Attends Dairy Industry Event

Terry and Jill Hauser, dairy farmers from Oakland, recently attended the National Milk Producers Federation's (NMPF) Young Co-operator (YC) Leadership and Development in Grapevine, Tex.

The Hausers were among nearly 30 YC members of Dairy Farmers of America Inc. who attended the meeting. It was held in conjunction with the joint annual meeting of NMPF, the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, and the United Dairy Industry Association.

At the meeting, the Hausers were selected to serve as vice chairs and represent DFA on NMPF's YC Advisory Council. The committee helps to plan next year's NMPF YC meeting and travels to Washington, D.C., in the summer to visit with legislators to discuss issues impacting the dairy industry.

At the conference, the Hausers participated in a variety of workshops and presentations with topics ranging from family relationships on the farm to leadership development and animal well-being. They also participated in the joint annual meeting program, which featured diverse topics such as the current dairy economic situation, opportunity for growth in the international market, and meeting unmet demand.

DFA's YC program is for those who play an active role on a DFA member farm and are between the ages of 18 and 40. The program is focused on personal and professional growth, learning the latest innovations in the industry, and networking with peers. Through meetings and exposure to other industry organizations, DFA YCs become leaders and ambassadors for DFA and the industry.

The Hausers milk 400 Holstein cows on 500 acres. They are fifth generation dairy farmers, and the farm has been in Terry's family for more than a century. In addition to milking, they also farm 200 acres of corn silage and hay.

Dairy Farmers of America Inc. is a dairy marketing cooperative that serves and is owned by nearly 18,000 members on more than 10,000 farms in 48 states.

FSA DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES BCAP IMPLEMENTATION

West Virginia acting state executive director for the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA), Douglas Cyphers, announced that biomass conversion facilities may begin to apply for qualification under the Biomass Crop Assistance Program (BCAP). This allows producers or owners of eligible material who sell to these facilities to apply for matching payments under the collection, harvest, storage, and transportation (CHST) component of BCAP.

"BCAP will provide financial assistance to owners of eligible material who deliver the material to qualified biomass conversion facilities that use biomass to produce heat, power, bio-based products, or advanced bio-fuels," said Cyphers.

An eligible material owner may be eligible for a matching CHST payment for eligible material delivered to a qualified biomass conversion facility which will be paid at a rate of $1 for $1 per dry-ton equivalent received from a qualified biomass conversion facility, not to exceed $45 per dry-ton equivalent. An eligible material owner may receive payments for a period of two years. The purpose of the matching payments is to assist biomass producers with the CHST cost of delivering biomass to a qualified biomass conversion facility.

For example, if a qualified biomass conversion facility pays a producer $30 per dry ton for biomass, the material owner or producer would be able to apply for a matching payment of $30 per dry ton from FSA.

An added benefit of BCAP is the reduction of fuel loads on forest and range lands that reduce the risks associated with wildfires and other natural disasters. Contractors who harvest the forest thinning on National Forest System land may be eligible to apply for a matching payment for those materials sold to a qualified biomass conversion facility; however, they must work with the Forest Service and conform to any rules, permits, or other guidance applicable to the National Forest System.

Biomass conversion facilities may become "qualified" by signing an agreement with FSA state offices. The agreement generally provides the framework that facilitates the making of CHST matching payments to eligible material owners or producers who plan to deliver biomass to that facility.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
1563 Pleasant Valley Road, Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained In a Mortgage from Ray E. Miller and Rachel A. Miller, dated April 26, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1225 Folio 0157 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, with an original principal balance of $105,000.00, and an original interest rate of 10.59%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Rotunda Entrance at the Court House Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on December 29, 2009, at 2:00 p.m.

All that fee-simple lot of ground, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, encumbrances, prior deed(s) of trust and/or agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $13,000.00 In cash, cashier's check or certified check required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 09-DP-1922, NPDES Permit MD0059064:

Brookfield Renewable Power, Piney & Deep Creek, LLC, 2000 River Rd., Clarion, PA 16214, submitted an application for renewal of a permit to discharge an average of 47,000 gallons per day of noncontact cooling water from a hydroelectric generating facility, located at 14 Riverview Ter., Oakland MD, 21550, to the Youghiogheny R. (Use III-P waters).

The Department proposes to continue the requirement for daily visual checks of the discharge (and operation of alarm systems) for oil.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by January 11, 2010. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Mr. Michael Richardson, Acting Chief, Industrial and General Discharge Permits Division, and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by January 11, 2010 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination.

Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Richardson at the above address, on or before January 21, 2010. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Richardson at 410-537-3323 or 800-633-6101 by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Richardson at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Richardson at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page.

TROOPS TO RECEIVE CARE PACKAGES – The Garrett County Military Family Support Group recently packed and shipped 90 boxes to local troops stationed in Iraq and Afghanistan. The boxes contained food, personal hygiene items, and letters from several school classes and were sent to 12 men and 2 women from Garrett and Preston counties who are currently serving in the armed forces. The items in the boxes have been collected over the past month from various businesses, individuals, and organizations and were shipped out just in time for the soldiers to receive them for Christmas. "The packages are greatly appreciated by the troops and it lets them know their family and friends back home are thinking of and supporting them," said a spokesperson for the group. The pictured individuals who helped are Turner Ashby, McKenna Bolyard, Barbie Butler, Evelyn Butler, Jackie Chapman, Angel Cheshire, Sherrie, Miranda, Brandon, and Russell Dillsworth, George and Barb Gaffney, John and Vicky Hinebaugh, Tamara Hull, Tammy Lewis, Seth Matthews, Cathy Menker, Alex Meyer, Angie Meyer, Ralph and Anna Marie Miller, Arlene Murray, Randy Nairn, Larry and Sharon Shlossnagle, Abby and Holly Schlossnagle, Shella Shaffer, and Paranda Uber. The following individuals, businesses, and organizations donated to the cause: Nu-Finish Collision Center, VFW Post 10077, Deer Park Sportsman's Club, Garrett County Marine Corps League, Oakland Elks Lodge, employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, CareFirst of Cumberland, Risk Management of Cumberland, Oakland Dollar Tree, and Englander's/Dottie's Grill. The group also extends thanks to the Oakland Post Office employees.

IT'S ON ITS WAY "OVER THERE" – The Garrett County Marine Corps League, the VFW, and members of the Deer Park Sportsmen Club joined together in a donation effort for soldiers overseas. They raised over $500 in food, eye drops, and toothbrushes to send to Garrett County troops in Afghanistan and Iraq. Above, left to right, are Paul Everly, VFW; Shella Shaffer, Garrett County military family support group; Chuck Nolan, Marine Corps League; and Steve Green, Deer Park Sportsmen Club.

VISIT NATIONAL CEMETERY – Thirteen members of the Garrett County Military Family Support Group recently visited Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., to pay their respects to fallen troops. The group watched the Changing of the Guard ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and then toured the cemetery to find specific gravesites. One of the sites visited was of the six Vietnam Marines who were recently recovered. Members of the group also found graves of family members that served in the Navy during WWII, as well as two fallen comrades with whom they served in Iraq. The group also visited the Vietnam Memorial Wall. Pictured from left, beginning with the front row, are George Gaffney, Russell Dillsworth Jr., Brandon Dillsworth, and Sherrie Dillsworth. Back row: Ralph Miller, Barb Gaffney, Anna Marie Miller, Sharon Shlossnagle, Cathy Menker, Larry Schlossnagle, and Randy Shaffer, Not pictured: Shella Shaffer. "The Military Family Support Group is a voluntary organization that helps families meet the challenges of military life," noted a spokesperson. Families get together through the group and share many types of practical and emotional support. Through communication, families are provided a chance to ask questions and express ideas and concerns. The group usually meets once a month at the Southern Rescue Squad building, Mtn. Lake Park. The next meeting is slated for Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 p.m. To join, persons are asked to contact the group with their service member's name, rank, and place of deployment. For more information, persons may contact Mel or Cathy Menker at 301-334-5906, Shella Shaffer at 301-616-6109, or Larry Schlossnagle at 301-746-5723; or visit the web site at www.supportlocalmilitary.com.

St. Paul's Church To Offer "Blue Christmas" Service

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will hold a "Blue Christmas" service on Monday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. This service is designed to serve those who are experiencing grief, loss, depression, loneliness, or hopelessness this Christmas

"We are living in complicated and economically challenging times with the unemployment rate over 10%, making this one of the most difficult Christmas seasons we've faced in a very long time," Rev. Jennifer Johns-Gooding, St. Paul's lead pastor, explained. "Mental health professionals tell us that every form of mental health difficulty and depression worsen during this season of the year."

Musical features will include piano and flute. Scripture lessons are intended to be comforting and hope-inspiring. No reservations or special attire are necessary, and a nursery will be provided.

St. Paul's is located on the corner of Oak and Fourth streets.

Allied Health Info Night Set At GC Campus

Garrett College invites current and prospective students to participate in Allied Health Information Night on Thursday, Jan. 7, at the college, beginning at 6 p.m.

Students interested in pursuing credit or non-credit education are encouraged to attend. Non-credit career opportunities will be presented by the Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division relating to Medical Coding and CNA programs.

The credit portion of the evening is specifically designed for students who initiate their enrollment at Garrett and then pursue transfer into an allied health field at Allegany College of Maryland.

The program has been planned in cooperation with the Allegany College of Maryland Office of Admissions and allied health faculty.

"This program will be very beneficial for individuals interested in getting specific information about the various allied health career programs, as well as details regarding program and transfer requirements," said Rachelle Davis, director of admissions at Garrett.

Programs that will be discussed include pre-nursing, pre-occupational therapy assistant, pre-physical therapy assistant, pre-medical assistant, pre-medical laboratory technology, pre-radiology technology, pre-dental hygiene, and pre-respiratory therapy. Program options for students to obtain clinical experience through Garrett County Memorial Hospital will also be discussed.

Information Night participants will have an opportunity to hear from a panel consisting of students who began at Garrett College, successfully completed the required courses for graduation from Allegany College of Maryland, and are currently working in the field. In addition, students will be able to speak with Garrett College and Allegany College of Maryland admissions representatives and professors who teach in the allied health field.

The program will be held in the Learning Resources Center at Garrett College in Room 511. For more information, persons may contact the Garrett College Office of Admissions at 301-387-3044 or admissions@garrettcollege.edu, or the Office of Continuing Education and Workforce Development at 301-387-3069 or julie.yoder@garrettcollege.edu.

A NEW TRANSPORTATION MUSEUM, an architect's rendering of which appears above, will be constructed next year along Liberty Street in downtown Oakland. The Garrett County Historical Society project will be funded through the Community Trust Foundation with a grant from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Foundation. The building will comprise nearly 10,000 square feet. See story for details.

Naylor Foundation Grant To Make Transportation Museum A Reality

Thanks to a substantial donation from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Foundation to the Community Trust Foundation, the Garrett County Historical Society will break ground next spring in downtown Oakland for the construction of a transportation museum.

The nearly 10,000-square-foot structure will be located along Liberty Street between St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and Success Floor Covering. According to Robert Boal, president of the historical society, the exterior of the two-story building will be adorned with architectural elements of the facades of three businesses that were located in the town, as well as an early rendition of the Oakland Fire Department.

"The façade on the east end of the structure, facing St. Matthew's, will be that of A.D. Naylor's blacksmith shop," Boal said. "The east end of the front along Liberty Street will have the façade of Martin's Livery Stable, that we believe was originally located at the corner of Oak and Third streets. The center front façade will be that of Lawton's Auto Dealership, which was located along Second Street where Englander's is today. And the west end of the front will be the façade of the fire hall, which was originally located in the old town hall along Third Street."

Boal added that the society "took liberties" with the fire hall façade, which will be enhanced with a bell tower, something that was not present on the original fire hall.

The first-floor interior of the building, which will consist of 6,000 square feet, will house a rendition of the Naylor blacksmith shop (which ultimately became Naylor's Hardware) and the transportation museum.

"We have had this dream for about 10 years," Boal said. "We have a number of wagons and various antique vehicles either in our possession or on loan, but we simply do not have the space to display them."

Among those that will be on display are the Oakland VFD's antique American LaFrance fire engine, a carriage that served the Deer Park Hotel, a 1916 Model-T Ford, and a sleigh and surrey owned by the Naylor family.

"Quite a few other owners of antique autos have agreed to lend them for display," Boal said, adding that the building will have garage doors, allowing for easy access to move vehicles in and out of the building whenever necessary.

The second floor, which will comprise some 3,600 square feet, will house a

GCCAC Opens Recruitment For Early Head Start Program

The Garrett County Community Action Committee Early Head Start program will be holding open recruitment for the Oakland area center-based program and for an early care home-based program. Applications for the open recruitment will be accepted until Jan. 13, 2010 in the Oakland area.

The Early Head Start expansion will be targeting children ages 6 weeks to 3 years old for the center-based program, and prenatal mothers or infants for the home-based program. According to a spokesperson, it is a benefit to the family to apply now as slots will be filled immediately with eligible children/families.

Early Head Start is designed to provide low income children ages 6 weeks to 3 years old with comprehensive services to meet their emotional, social, health, nutritional, and psychological needs. Children with disabilities are eligible, and 10% of the total enrollment is set aside for those with special needs. Families who have children with disabilities are encouraged to apply for the program. All families within the income guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services are eligible.

The following information will be needed in order to have a complete application: proof of family income (pay stubs, tax forms, em-

More Than 2 Million Marylanders Projected To Travel Over Holidays

Nearly 2.1 million (2,069,000) Marylanders, over a third (37 percent) of the state's population, are projected to travel 50 miles or more roundtrip this Christmas/New Year's holidays.

"The 2009 year-end holiday forecast reflects the largest number of Maryland travelers for any of the major holidays of this year," said Ragina C. Averella, AAA Mid-Atlantic manager of public and government affairs. "Additionally, it is the second highest number of local Christmas/New Year's travelers we've seen over the past 10-year period. However, despite the incredible volume of travelers, our projection reflects a 4 percent decline compared to that of the 2008 holiday, which had the highest reported volume of residents traveling this decade."

Last year nearly 2.2 million (2,155,000) Marylanders traveled for the Christmas/New Year's period, according to data from IHS Global Insight, which conducts travel research for AAA.

"Coming off an increase in Thanksgiving travel, Americans overall seem willing to continue their travel plans for another holiday, given the nationwide projected 4 percent increase for this Christmas/New Year's period," said Averella. "However, it seems that many Marylanders are still dealing with a variety of financial woes, including joblessness and the foreclosure crisis, and thus are picking and choosing which holiday they will celebrate miles from home. If Marylanders traveled at Thanksgiving, as it seems many

Service Issues Deep Creek Lake Safety Warning

As temperatures freeze area waterways, the Maryland Park Service reminds anyone enjoying winter activities on Deep Creek Lake, or any frozen body of water, to use caution, particularly at night.

"Snowmobilers, ice fishermen, hikers, and cross-country skiers traveling on the frozen lake should always exercise caution," said Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area assistant manager Mark Spurrier. "Wearing a personal flotation device could prevent a tragedy.

"Anyone who encounters people, pets, or wildlife that have fallen through the ice is asked to call either 911 or the Department of Natural Resources at 1-800-628-9944 for assistance," he added.

Road salt and abrasives plowed from highway bridges may affect the quality of the ice underneath, and unseen snowdrifts can act as ramps and cause sleds and snowmobiles to become airborne, leading to a loss of control and accidents.

Deep Creek Lake is a part of the designated off-road vehicle trail system permitting use by registered snowmobiles only. Permits are available by mail or at any of the local state park offices during normal business hours.

Snowmobiles may operate at night if equipped with working headlights and taillights. Snowmobilers may

LOCAL MAN WINS "KING SIZE" CASH – When Kevin Loule stopped to buy a sandwich at BFS Foods, Oakland, during his lunch break last Thursday, he never imagined he would leave with anything more than a full stomach. That all changed when he decided to purchase a Maryland State Lottery King Size Cash scratch-off ticket. After lunch, he scratched the ticket and saw that he had won $250,000. The 51-year-old Oakland area resident immediately called his wife. "She asked me if that meant she could have $100 for Christmas shopping," Loule said. "It took me a minute to realize that she must have thought I said $250, not $250,000. When she realized, she started screaming." The Southern States technician was born and reared in Garrett County. Prior to this win, the largest lottery prize Loule had collected was $5,000. He plans to pay bills, save some money, and have a "great Christmas" with his winnings. Loule was the first Maryland Lottery player to win the top prize on this new ticket. Photo courtesy of the Maryland State Lottery.

Allegheny Power Schedules Electric Service Disruption

Allegheny Power will disrupt electric service on Tuesday, Dec. 29, from 9 to 10 a.m. in the Oakland, Hutton, and Red House areas.

"We regret the inconvenience, but the service interruption is necessary so we can make upgrades to the electrical system and improve reliability in the area," said a company spokesperson.

The service interruption will affect approximately 1,320 customers located in the following areas:

•Areas south of Oakland (along Rt. 219) from Cork's Cars to the West Virginia state line. The area also includes Rt. 50 west to the Commissioners Receive Dept. Of Public Utilities Update Report

Garrett County Department of Public Utilities director Linda Lindsey presented an update report to the county commissioners on Tuesday on the status of various water and sewer projects, including those for Crellin, McHenry, Mtn. Lake Park, Thayerville, and Friendsville.

Crellin Water

The director reported that the second well for the Crellin Water Improvements Project has been connected to the system. Additionally, the new water softeners and high-service pumps have been installed, the building insulated, and new electrical and plumbing components completed.

Lindsey said the remaining project items, installation of a new emergency generator and security fencing, will have to wait until spring when the weather improves.

Commissioner Denny Glotfelty asked about the capacity of the new well and water usage in Crellin. Lindsey said the well has a 30,000 gallons a day capacity, while the community uses only about 8,000 to 10,000 gallons a day.

McHenry Water

Lindsey reported that installation of the McHenry Water System's new Ridgeview Valley water storage tank has been completed and is now online.

She added that the construction contract for the chlorination building along Gravelly Run Road is about 95 percent completed.

"The contractor is wait-

Christmas Trees May Be Recycled At GC Landfill

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division is inviting local residents to participate in Christmas tree recycling at the Garrett County Landfill during the months of January and February.

Trees will be accepted between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the landfill, located at 3118 Oakland Sang Run Road.

Residents are asked not to deposit their trees at sites that have accepted them in years past – Grantsville Town Hall, Southern athletic field parking lot, or any of the county's refuse and recycling sites – at any time during the months of January or February.

Christmas tree recycling is available to Garrett County residents free of charge. A residential disposal permit is not required to participate in this program or any other recycling program in Garrett County.

Christmas trees may also be recycled at home by placing cut branches and needles under trees and shrubs as a temporary winter mulch, or by chopping them up and adding them in compost piles.

"Please remove all tinsel, garland and ornaments before recycling Christmas trees at home or the landfill location," requests county recycling coordinator Kim Madigan.

Persons with questions regarding the free recycling programs in Garrett County are asked to contact her at 301-387-0322 or kmadigan@garrettcounty.org.

DARE To Be You Prog. Encourages Local Vounteerism

The DARE to be You volunteer project began in June under the coordination of Hannah Steele, AmeriCorps member and summer intern of the Garrett County Heath Department. DARE is drug abuse resistance education, and DARE to be You is a program for parents and their preschool-age children that has existed in Garrett County for eight years, serving many families.

"During the summer I attended the National Service and Volunteer Conference," said program coordinator Sandy Sutton. "It was here that the idea was sparked that it would be great to get the DTBY families involved in volunteerism under the coordination of an AmeriCorps member."

The families began their Thanksgiving project in June by creating centerpieces and condiment holders. These items were made to be given to senior citizens at the Mary Browning Senior Center, who have been generous and have hosted the DTBY program since 2002. The DTBY families members took the holiday items to the senior site during the Thanksgiving holiday. They placed their holiday items on the tables, shared Thanksgiving recitations, and ate lunch with the seniors.

"I was pleased as I looked around the room. There was much conversation and laughter between the children and the senior citizens," said Sutton. "Many thanks go out to the DTBY families and to Hannah Steele for her guidance with the project."

Sutton feels that the benefits of volunteerism for the families are that they spend quality time together, share core values, learn life skills, and make meaningful contributions to their community while creating a legacy of volunteering. "We hope that the project has helped families continue to volunteer during the Christmas holiday and beyond."

DARE TO BE YOU PROGRAM SUCCESSFUL – The Garrett County Health Department's DARE to be You project has proven successful in several ways, including making volunteering in the local community a priority for preschool and school-age children and families. Above, from left, are Nathan Parsons, Edna Wonderly, Tammy Burns, Casey Burns, Melanie Burns, Leah Marquez, and Alysa Marquez. Not present for photo: Erica Robinette and Carma Kile.

did, given AAA Mid-Atlantic's 4 percent projected increase, it appears some residents are now choosing to stay home for Christmas."

Even in the face of much higher gas prices than those of a year ago, over 1.8 million Marylanders will take to the roads.

"The majority of residents (87 percent) traveling, will drive to their holiday destination. This reflects a 3.4 percent decline compared to that of last year's holiday when the state's average price at the pump was 87 cents lower than today's price. It seems that the cost of gasoline might be the biggest single economic factor for the decrease in auto travelers," Averella said.

A 5 percent decline in residents traveling by air is even higher than the projected auto travel decrease. Only 5 percent of Marylanders (approximately 95,000) are projected to fly to their holiday destination.

"As with Thanksgiving travel, many Marylanders are again choosing to avoid flying to reach their destination for this upcoming holiday, preferring to take other modes of transportation that perhaps are less restrictive and more inexpensive," said Averella.

Marylanders choosing other modes of transportation, including trains and buses, consist of 8 percent (168,000) of travelers.

AAA's projections are based on research conducted by IHS Global Insight. AAA has been reporting on holiday travel trends for more than two decades.

For purposes of this forecast, the Christmas/New Year's holiday travel period is defined as trips that include roundtrip travel of 50 miles or more away from home during the period from Wednesday, Dec. 23, to Sunday, Jan. 3.

Man Charged With DUI, DWI, And Related Charges

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested an Oakland man late Sunday evening for driving under the influence of alcohol and related charges.

Deputies initially responded to a report of a stolen vehicle. The vehicle was located on Sincell Street, Oakland, at which point a male suspect was observed entering it. He was immediately stopped and identified as Clifford Frank Elliott, 37.

Through contact made with Elliott, it was determined that the vehicle had not been stolen, only taken without permission. Elliott was reportedly intoxicated and subsequently arrested. He is charged with DUI, DUI per se, driving while impaired, and unlawful taking of a motor vehicle without the owner's permission. He was released until his court date.

GC Commissioner Urges Participation In 2010 Census

The U.S. Census Bureau is currently recruiting temporary, part-time local census takers for the 2010 Census, which will take place in early spring.

Garrett County commissioner Ernie Gregg said it would be in the best interest of all local citizens to take advantage of not only the census count, but also the jobs that it will bring.

"Garrett County is perceived by the U.S. Census Bureau as historically undercounted," Gregg said. "To help ensure an accurate count, the Census Bureau is in the process of hiring a large number of county citizens to aid in this effort."

Although temporary, the commissioner said, the work pays well and can be a welcome source of income for many residents. These jobs offer flexible hours, paid training, and reimbursement for authorized work-related expenses, such as mileage incurred while conducting census work. Plus, census takers work in their own communities.

Gregg noted that the 2010 census count will be a primary source in determining allocation of funds from the federal and state government for project and general revenue sharing.

"On a national basis, this is over $300 billion, apportioned in many cases by population count," the commissioner said.

The fact is, he added, tax dollars will flow from local citizens and businesses to the federal government.

"The reallocation of these federal dollars to projects important to the county, as well as general funding, is the only way these federal tax dollars are returned to the county," Gregg said. "The census count can be an important factor in our securing our fair share of these funds."

There are four census recruiters (all local residents) assigned to help Garrett County recruit hundreds of residents for the spring census jobs.

Applications are currently being accepted, and assessment testing is underway through January to fill the census taking positions. Information on job opportunities is available by calling the Garrett County One-Stop Job Center at 301-334-3972 or 301-245-4137 or the U.S. Census Bureau at 1-866-861-2010, or by visiting 2010censusjobs.gov.

STUDENTS DESIGN MINI-GOLF COURSE – Debbie Brenneman's science students at Northern Middle School recently designed and put together an 80-hole golf course in the school gymnasium using recycled materials. The students studied the matter and sports materials module from CASE (Center Advancement for STEM Education). They chose the golf course as the culminating activity after studying matter, mass, density, weight, and the ways temperature can affect different substances and the composition material. It was a nine-week unit of study, and the golf course will be used in the future for field day and at Hickory Environmental Education Center. Tractor And Car Collide With No Injuries Reported Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Boiling Spring Road on Saturday for a report of a motor vehicle accident involving a farm tractor and a passenger car.

The tractor was being operated by John Logan, 58, Oakland, and was being used to clear snow from a driveway. William Cowgill, 35, Oakland, was identified as the driver of the car, which collided with the tractor on the main road. No injuries were reported. The investigation is continuing.

Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene.

Land Grants For Abandoned Mine Areas Increased

Secretary of the Interior Ken Salazar announced this week that the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement (OSM) is making $369 million available to states and Native American tribes to restore abandoned coal mines, an increase of over $70 million from last year.

The 28 eligible coal-producing states and tribes receive these grants by formula, based on both their past and present coal production. The 21 non-certified states, those that have active reclamation programs, will use these grants to fund projects that fill mine shafts and address other safety hazards and environmental problems resulting from lands mined and abandoned or left inadequately restored before the passage of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

The state of Maryland is to receive a total of $2,630,409, while West Virginia will receive the greatest amount of any of the states – $ 49,917,175. Pennsylvania has been allotted $43,807,638, the second largest amount, followed by Kentucky, which will receive $37,591,345.

"These grants have consistently provided well-paying jobs in America's economically depressed coal mining areas," Salazar said. "It is estimated that OSM's Abandoned Mine Lands program created thousands of new jobs last year alone, and this year's increased funding will put more Americans to work and help them find their way out of this recession. Restoring lands and waters affected by past mining practices keeps jobs in areas hard hit by the economic downturn."

"Over the past 30 years, OSM, working with states, tribes, and our Good Samaritan partners, has reclaimed more land and restored more streams than any other federal agency," said Joe Pizarchik, OSM director. "Since its inception, OSM and its state and tribal partners have invested over $6.8 billion to reclaim more than 220,000 acres of abandoned mine lands."

Despite this progress, Pizarchik says that considerable work remains to eliminate health, safety, and environmental problems caused by past mining practices.

"I encourage our partners to re-examine the remaining environmental problems and look at them as renewable energy opportunities," Pizarchik added. "For example, can an abandoned mine be reclaimed to prepare a site for renewable energy? Can water tainted by acid discharges from an abandoned mine be treated and used as a source of geothermal energy?"

The Abandoned Mine Land program is funded through fees assessed on annual coal production and pays the costs of these reclamation projects. The 21 non-certified states apply to OSM for specific reclamation projects throughout the fiscal year, which ends September 30, 2010.

The seven certified states and tribes, those that have completed their reclamation programs, can use these funds for any purpose; therefore, the FY 2010 Budget proposed to terminate these grants to reduce the deficit.

Funds Allocated For Surface Coal Mining Programs

The Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement (OSM) announced Wednesday the availability of more than $68 million in grants to help 28 eligible states and Native American tribes operate their surface coal mining regulatory programs.

This is an $8 million increase from the previous fiscal year.

"This year's increased funding provides the states and the tribes with resources to protect human health, safety, and the environment," said OSM deputy director Glenda Owens. "The funding will also provide stable, well-paying jobs for coal-producing states and tribes."

States and tribes receive grants to establish and administer regulatory programs on non-federal lands on a 50/50 match basis. If a state or tribe elects to administer an approved regulatory program on federal lands, OSM will reimburse the state for up to 100 percent of the costs incurred.

The primary use of these grants is to protect the welfare and health of the citizens and the environment during coal mining. Recipients use the funds for permitting, inspection and enforcement.

The state of Maryland's share of the allocation is $713,664. West Virginia will receive $11,929,525, while neighboring Pennsylvania's allotment will be $12,599,014, the largest amount among the 28 eligible states and tribes

They Clearly Understood...

Everyone knows that Christmas is all about giving, and Garrett County is about to receive a unique and incredibly generous gift from two folks who are no longer walking the earth, but to whom Garrett County – and particularly the town of Oakland – were extremely important.

Howard Naylor was one of several grandsons of Alonzo (better known as A.D.) Naylor, who was the founder of Naylor's Hardware in Oakland. Like many descendants of A.D., Howard went right into the family business as a young man. But after he and his wife Audrey reared five children in Garrett County, they decided to take another path by becoming educators and moving their family to Idaho. Both passed away there a few years ago, but left behind a robust estate, and guidelines for establishing the Howard and Audrey Naylor Foundation.

Under the leadership of sons Lonnie and Bart Naylor, a number of sizable gifts have already been awarded by the foundation, with the most recent being a grant to the Garrett County Historical Society. Those funds will be used to finance the construction of a transportation museum in Oakland, as reported on the front page of this newspaper today.

Now, there may be some Scrooge-like individuals out there who conclude that there are more worthy causes to which these monies should be directed. "A museum?" one might ask. "The GC Historical Society already has a museum. How will this benefit the county's job situation, or its economy in general?"

Well, Howard and Audrey Naylor clearly understood that learning and education are among the primary keys to success – of an individual, a community, and society in general. That's why their foundation has also made substantial contributions to Frostburg State University, West Virginia Wesleyan, and Davis & Elkins College, all ear-marked to enhance student education programs, specifically those that are directed toward educating persons with special needs.

They also understood the great value in preserving history, for both the enlightenment and enjoyment of present and future generations. Oakland and most of Garrett County have an amazingly rich, distinctive past, which if ever forgotten would constitute an absolute tragedy.

And in response to the aforementioned Scrooge, this new museum will have a domino effect that will indeed contribute to the economic vitality of Oakland and Garrett County. Not only will it enhance the education of our residents, but it will be yet another interesting attraction for tourists to the community, who will spend both time and money while they are here.

As an aside, the foundation has also contributed a handsome gift to the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, as the Naylors likewise understood and appreciated the tremendous value of the performing arts.

So "Merry Christmas!" to all of us from the Howard and Audrey Naylor family, to whom we extend the utmost appreciation for such a wonderful gift to our community and to future generations of our own families.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation to the Allegheny Power linemen and the tree trimmers for their unselfish dedication. They worked through the night and day December 8 -10 in unpleasant weather to restore power to all of their customers, including us.

Their unselfish will to do their job is much appreciated. The next time we all complain about the electric being off, think about how you would feel being out working on tall poles with the rain, sleet, snow, and/or wind all around you.

Although we don't like it when we don't have electricity, these guys are out there doing their job in all kinds of bad weather.

Much appreciation from,
Chuck & Lois Friend

To the Editor:

... My wife and I would like to thank all of the people of Garrett County who were part of Michele Eggleston's life over the last year and a half.

Michele, Matt, Eli, and Ian have been an important component of our life over the last nine years. When they made the decision to move back to Garrett County, we were heartsick, but knew that God had a plan. Our comfort was in prayer.

When Michele was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, the picture became clearer. The nature of your community is much different than that of Cecil County. The level of caring and care giving that we observed has been truly special. As Phil McGraw said, "When someone is in trouble, we don't call; we show up at the door."

Sometime ago, at a graduation party, I was afforded the opportunity to say a few words prior to blessing the food. The focus was on the special characteristics of Garrett County's people. They have a sense of community and commitment that was present when our country was first formed. The precious gift is truly a God incident, for Jesus gave us a new commandment, which is "to love one another."

On behalf of the Lutzes, Egglestons, and Glotfeltys, we thank God for His gift of love, in which by grace reveals the true nature of His glory.

God Bless
George and Paula Lutz

To the Editor:

The senior citizens at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland would like to express our heartfelt appreciation to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for donating the television to the center, and the fresh fruit for Meal on Wheels.

On December 21, a representative from the sheriff's office presented the television and a check for the fruit purchase to the senior center. The magnanimous gesture is especially thoughtful in light of the economy, budget cuts, and the increasing needs of Oakland area seniors.

The senior center is often the only social outlet for area seniors. The television was a much needed resource, for which all are thankful. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Alma Hebden

To the Editor:

I ask the Garrett County commissioners, what happened to snow plowing in Garrett county? I know that budgets are tight, but not clearing our roads because of budget cuts is not the answer. What is the value of a human life?

Our roads department is falling apart. Every year it gets worse. Take the money from somewhere else and let them do their jobs.

I used to brag about the job they did here clearing the roads after a snow storm, but not anymore. It's really the opposite now.

Please do something to correct this issue before it gets any worse.

Charles J. McLaughlin
Oakland

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to Mr. McLaughlin's correspondence to the Board of Commissioners relative to the Garrett County Roads Department, since his opinion was also forwarded to The Republican.

Funds for this fiscal year are limited, but the county has not and will not forgo the safety of the county roads for this financial shortfall. We have implemented variable-shift start times and other creative practices to assure that cost-saving snow removal operations are in place.

His comment that the roads department is "falling apart and every year it gets worse" cannot be substantiated and is therefore rejected.

During the most recent snow storm, the Garrett County Public School System has not experienced one delay or cancellation. The superintendent of schools has personally conveyed his appreciation for the efforts of the county roads department over the past several weeks.

All of our employees are dedicated, determined, and committed to their positions with county government, and I am proud of their hard work.

Monty Pagenhardt
County Administrator

To the Editor:

During this holiday season, I think a lot about the people for whom I am grateful to have in my life.

There is one man in Oakland who has touched my family with his kindness and knowledge, and his love for his community. He is business owner and pharmacist Milton Proudfoot.

Milton has cared for my family for years, and I don't know what I would have done without him. I came to realize many years ago that he is as important to me as my physician.

Thank you, Milton, for everything you have done for us. Merry Christmas, and may God bless you in everything you do.

Brenda Alexander

To the Editor:

I was in a scooter accident on June 11, 2008, at Rt. 560 and Stanley Baker Farm Road, just outside Loch Lynn.

There was a lady who was traveling up the road in the other direction, and who saw the accident. The police office who investigated the accident did not get her name or number. I would very much like for her to call me.

There was also an EMT who stopped and assisted me, and I also did not get his name.

My name is Paul Burns. My telephone number is 301-533-0325. I sincerely hope that one of these two people, or anyone else who witnessed the accident, will give me a call.

Paul Burns

To the Editor:

Another great question: Do you think the electric power plant developers get "Incidental Take" permits to kill the 30,000 people who die every year from coal-fired power plants? Do they need to renew the permit every year? Do they pay per person they kill, or do they get a group rate?

I think maybe the 30,000 people they kill every year are more endangered than those poor Indiana bats that you wrote about last week. I am sure life in Garrett County will never be the same without them. Just think: no more bat festivals, no special day to count bats, not even the Bat Parade! (That was such a hit.)

Now I want to let everyone in on the secret thing they do at these power plants. This is such a great secret that scientists don't even talk about it in public. (Psst... don't tell any one else.) They boil water in these plants.

There. I have said it out loud. That's right; they actually take water and boil it.

Now think about this – The best, the brightest, the most educated amongst us have convinced all of us that the best way to boil water is to burn coal. Except for the "neucular" option? (That's the way "W" pronounced it.) That would be a great choice, but where in Garrett County do we bury the waste? Maybe we put a little sticker on our windshield and we can bury our own.

I would also like to fill everyone in about Copenhagen (the city, not the chew). The whole world sent representatives to discuss climate change. I know some of you think global warming is a hoax, and believe me, it takes a lot of smoke and mirrors to get all that the ice to melt.

I wrote this in a humorous vain because nobody takes any of this seriously. Besides, we are all out here in the Appalachians Mountains living the good life.

Oh, by the way, ask a well driller why you need to treat your well water.

Remember, you are either part of the problem or part of the solution.

Merry Christmas.

Barry Krewson
retired carpenter

To the Editor:

I have a few comments to make concerning some of our government's recent expenditures.

I heard on the nightly news recently that our government allotted some $900,000 to some research group to study the living habits of ants. This doesn't seem like logical spending to me when there are all kinds of people across this nation losing their jobs, their homes, and their health care. I think people's needs should take priority over the study of ants.

I don't agree with our president sending 30,000 more troops to Afghanistan either! Even the commander in charge of running the war effort recently said he didn't think that this decision was going to win the war unless our men could capture or kill bin Laden. The cost of the war already is astronomical without sending additional troops.

If we're trying to eradicate terrorism from the world, I think we're fighting a losing battle, because terrorism is going to be with us the rest of our lives to some degree, just like cancer and other diseases are going to be around.

I don't approve of our president offering to pay those we're fighting to lay down their arms. What's going to happen when the money runs out? This attempt to capture or kill bin Laden is getting out of hand. In order to catch him and bring him to justice, we have to go about it a different way than what we're doing.

I also have a problem with our government borrowing so heavily from China to keep our country going and to fund this war effort. Pretty soon we're going to have to sign over our country to the Chinese to make payment to them on what we owe.

I recently heard how we are lending money to smaller countries to help them out with their carbon emissions. If we have money to lend to others, why do we have to keep borrowing? It doesn't make sense to me!

May God bless our troubled nation and give our president wisdom to run things in the right direction. Merry Christmas, everyone, and hope and pray for a happier new year.

Ken Livengood concerned citizen

To the Editor:

On the weekend of December 12-13, someone shot 16 windows in our home, which is being constructed off Sanders Lane. In addition to the physical damage, this person has prevented us from moving into our home this week and has caused fear in the minds of four young children.

What type of person wants to make children afraid to live in their own home? Should a 2-, 4-, 7-, and 13-year-old be afraid at night while lying in bed trying to go to sleep? If this event was planned, we can only imagine the moral sickness this person carries. We are more concerned for this troubled person than we are for our own difficult situation.

Based on evidence at the scene, consider the following: The perpetrator used a pressurized BB pistol. It was probably a handgun with a clip that holds around 16 silver BBs. He (or she) might own or know about a variety of guns. He may be a thrill seeker who plans adventures. The person is most likely above 6 feet tall. He may have replaced his boots within days after the event for fear of leaving prints on our porch. It seemed planned, as if the perpetrator knows us and has some sort of jealousy or anger toward us.

We want to let everyone in the Oakland area know about the danger of this individual and of leaving one's house alone. Do not assume you are safe. Take measures to protect yourselves.

We would like to thank many people. TFC J.M. Arnold was very professional and courteous. Roger Sines of Roger Sines Construction has been fantastic in helping us to literally pick up the pieces and move onward. Our neighbors and local security companies have given valuable information and assistance. Our fellow staff at Yough Glades Elementary and Southern Middle schools have been comforting, supportive, and helpful, by giving us information on how to deal with the situation and protect ourselves. We also thank our wonderful family for allowing the six of us to stay a little longer.

My wife and I chose Garrett County to raise our family because we believe it is the best place to live. We would like to challenge our community to keep Garrett County the safe and special place that it has always been.

Jon and Robyn Nazelrod

To the Editor:

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners was the last agency to oppose massive wind projects on public lands, well after Senator Edwards, the Chamber of Commerce, the county board of realtors, and both the Democratic and Republican committees. They did so begrudgingly. From the beginning, the commissioners sought to become business partners with a limited-liability wind company, browbeating the sanitary commission to change its mind about permitting wind projects on county land (a move helped at the time by Denny Glotfelty, who served on the commission).

Indeed, when the original agreement with the sanitary commission was about to expire a few years ago, Ernie Gregg signed a longer term extension. The public record shows that Fred Holliday chaired an economic development committee (that included developer Karen Myers) on wind and public lands. This committee stridently urged that wind projects be built on state lands.

The county commissioners unanimously supported all three limited-liability wind projects targeting the county, including the new Synergics project along Roth Rock a few months ago, a project headed by a fundraiser for the state Democratic Party that worked with wind lobbyist Cas Taylor to pass a law "deregulating" the wind industry in the mountains of Maryland – but not along the Chesapeake Bay, the state's richest wind area. This law predictably now subverts another law requiring the state through its Department of Natural Resources to protect endangered wildlife species, an issue rightly identified by The Republican.

Last year, the commissioners insisted that the county development plan include language about the importance of wind technology in the county, despite not having a clue about its performance as a source of energy. Not once in eight years of cheerleading for wind have they held a public inquiry about the impact of massive wind projects on health, safety, property values, viewshed protection, revenue potential, vulnerable wildlife, hunting, or energy effectiveness.

Their trollish support for this daffy, environmentally treacherous technology is a shameful commentary about how poorly led this beautiful county is. Both their pretentious words and harmful actions join with the Obama administration as it attempts to make people believe, across many issues, that pigs can fly.

Garrett Countians know better – and deserve far better.

The Staff of Sincell Publishing Remembers...

The staff of The Republican/Sincell Publishing Company, full of Christmas cheer (and, frankly, in desperate need to fill space on these pages this quiet week!), decided it would be fun write about memories of holidays past, specifically about gifts received that were perhaps unexpected, possibly unwanted, definitely unusual. Some are remembrances not of the gifts themselves, but the circumstances surrounding them. So read on, enjoy the stories, and know that you are wished a very merry Christmas and a wonderful new year by the people in this office.

Wisdom Gained

The best Christmas gift I ever received was the baby doll I got when I was in the first or second grade. The doll itself was not anything unusual, but how it was delivered was certainly memorable. I saw "Santa Claus" get the gift out of the attic on Christmas Eve and place it under the tree. When Santa went to bed, I crept out my bed and looked at what "he" had left. Instead of being disappointed in learning the truth about Santa, I felt I had received a special secret/gift that I was sure no one else in my class had gotten for Christmas. — Renee Shreve

My uncle once gave me a solid, quarter-inch thick plated steel box, welded completely shut. He said if I could get it open, I'd see what was inside. That kept us busy for months! We tried to bust it on rocks, throw it, whatever we could, trying to get it open. We finally worked on it with a hacksaw. We sawed on it for three days. He had filled it with nuts and bolts – just stuff to make a rattling sound. But it was fun, trying to get it open all that time. That had to be the most unusual gift I ever received.— Matthew Veechioni

The Falls

In the early 1960s, my mom's parents lived in Niagara Falls, New York. My parents, sister, brother, and I would travel to see them at Christmas, along with my aunt, uncle, and their three kids. My uncle had a white station wagon, and all six of us little kids would pile in the back and leave for New York. We usually traveled at night and slept most of the way. My grandparents lived on 7th Street in Niagara Falls. The huge falls was only 7 blocks from their house, and I still remember waking up to the sound of the waterfall on Christmas. As a small child I thought the falls was the biggest waterfall ever and that also meant we were at Grandma's house... I can't remember the different gifts we received, but I know the best gift was going to Grandma's. — Lisa Broadwater

Cheesy Christmas Music

When I was living in High Point, N.C., right after college, I was working as a delivery driver for Domino's Pizza, so I would often listen to cassette tapes in my car while I drove around. My girlfriend at the time (who is now my wife) could not come and visit me at Christmas, but she sent me a tape of all her old favorite Christmas songs, painstakingly recorded from her parents' LPs, with her talking and sort of DJ'ing in between them, announcing each song and what it meant to her. It was, as she put it, "a whole tape of cheesy Christmas music." It had old classics, like "The Christmas Song" (i.e., "Chestnuts Roasting") by Nat King Cole; funny ones, like "I Yust Go Nuts At Christmas" by Yogi Yorgesen (which was all done in a fake Swedish accent); and ones that were unintentionally funny, like "Jolly Old St. Nicholas" by Maurice Chevalier, which was in a real French accent so thick you could cut it with a knife: "Jollee Old Sant Neekolas, Lcen Yoreer Zees Way..."

She even included some recordings of the Garrett Choral Society's holiday concert from the previous year (which would put it at about 1984), including herself and several family members in the chorus, and she also did some of her own Monty Python-inspired spoken-word comic portions. At the end of the tape, she said, "I love you, John. Merry Christmas!"

After listening carefully to it at home, I put the tape in my car and listened to it every evening while delivering pizzas, until I could practically recite the whole tape, and until I finally was able to come home and visit her right at Christmas. I still have the tape, and we still listen to it every year, and now our three teenage sons are familiar with it too. It was the best Christmas present ever, and listening to it remains one of my most cherished holiday traditions. — John McEwen

My Own Space

When I was 14, my main Christmas gift was getting a room all to myself. I felt so lucky to live in a farmhouse with my mom, dad, and three younger sisters — and to actually get my own separate bedroom. What a treasure!

— Donna Aspinall

The Square Shooter

In the early 1970s my grandparents gave me a Polaroid Square Shooter camera. It was the top of the line camera back then and took color and black and white photos that developed in minutes. It was so much fun taking Christmas pictures of my family and getting to see them right away. I have never parted with that camera. It is still in safekeeping. — Marla Reams

You Want What?

When I was pretty little, I really wanted a life-size doll, one almost as tall as I was at the time. So in my mind, I figured a ventriloquist doll would be the best thing to ask for, and I imagined a girl doll with long hair that I would be able to comb and fix up, and we would be friends, the same size even. But I was way ahead of the game, I figured, asking for a ventriloquist doll because they are all huge! And that would be perfect.

So I kept asking for it every time I saw Santa Claus that year, I wrote it on my list, I answered the adult-required "So what do you want from Santa this year?" question the same, "A ventriloquist doll." I do remember that my mom was perplexed by it. "You mean you want a doll you can make talk? A real ventriloquist doll?" When I remember that now, I wish so much that I just would have clarified a tiny bit. Just a few words would've cleared it all up. But I would just nod and say "YES" as resolutely as a little girl can.

So when I saw the big box on Christmas morning, I thought, "Woo! There she is!" And I ripped off the paper to find... Howdy Doody. Yikes! Not exactly what I had planned! Heck — nothing like I had planned! This thing had hard, plastic, bright red hair and a face full of huge freckles! And my poor parents. I know they saw my face fall... Oh, I tried. I made nice with the thing, tried to play a little, all the while his dopey face grinning at me incessantly. Oh, man, that was a bummer. For all involved, I might add. Geez-o-pete. Clarify, people! Be sure to clarify!

One of the best gifts, however, was just last year, when my three gangly teenage boys put their money and their minds together to give me a ring. A lovely, just-my-style ring with my birthstone. I could not believe they picked out something so "me," which they did completely on their own, and I have worn it every day since last Dec. 25. I do so love those boys of ours. — Mary Sincell McEwen

No Peeking!

The year I realized peeking wasn't worth it: My brother had wrapped a present for me and had it under the tree before Christmas. The anticipation of which cassettes he had purchased was more than I could handle, so I unwrapped it, peeked, and rewrapped it before anyone came

GCSO Notifying Citizens Of Local Scams Reported

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office was recently notified of two scams reported locally and reminds citizens to be on alert.

One recipient received a telephone call from a person posing as a family member who needed money wired to the caller because that person was arrested and needed bailed out. The impersonator told the victim that he/she would have a lawyer call back on where to send the money. The recipient then received a follow-up call and was instructed to send the money to Quebec, Canada, via Money Gram.

In an unrelated incident, another recipient received a letter in the mail from a company identifying itself as "Consumer Sweepstakes Promotions." A check accompanied the letter, and the recipient was instructed to cash the check and forward it so the lottery winnings could be released. When the recipient didn't respond, he/she received a phone call requesting the same.

GC Sheriff's Office Reports Two Motor Vehicle Accidents

Two motor vehicle accidents that both involved injuries were reported by the Garrett County sheriff's office on Wednesday, Dec. 23.

Deputies responded to the Shallmar Road area for an accident with unknown injuries at approx. 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Upon arrival, it was found that Ruth Dale Tuel was being treated by Kitzmiller Fire and Rescue as a result of the accident. Investigation revealed that Tuel was operating her 2005 Chevy when she lost control due to icy road conditions. This caused her vehicle to strike a telephone pole located along the east bound shoulder, and her vehicle then proceeded over an embankment. She was not transported to the hospital and minor injuries were reported.

In the other motor vehicle accident, GC sheriff's officers responded to the Hutton Road area and found that Patty Ann Gallagher was traveling west on Hutton Rd., and was traveling at a speed greater than reasonable.

Gallagher was transported by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries. She was cited for speed greater than reasonable.

New Arrivals

The birth of one baby, a girl, was announced this week.

A daughter, Audrey Nicole, was born to William and Whitney (Snyder) Smith, Swanton, on Dec. 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

ing on Allegheny Power to complete the power installation to the site in order to finish the remaining work," Lindsey said.

The director also reported that the new airport water storage tank was filled with approximately three feet (30,000 gallons) of water for testing. She said it appears that there is either a leak in the piping under the tank or in the tank itself. The contracted company that did some of the piping under the tank will be on site soon to test for the leak.

"They're going to get that inspected and corrected," Lindsey said.

Mtn. Lake Water

The construction contract for the new Mtn. Lake Park water lines and well connections is approximately 50 percent complete, the director told the commissioners. The contractor requested a winter shutdown period, which will begin on Monday, Dec. 28, and end approximately on April 15, 2010.

Lindsey said the contractor is attempting to complete the tie-in to the new water storage tank this week so that the tank can be filled and placed in service.

She also noted that the company will leave some equipment on site. That way, if there is a break in the weather, the equipment operators can return and perhaps do some of the remaining work during the shutdown period.

Thayerville Water

The director reported that proposals for engineering design and construction phase services have been received for the new Thayerville Water System and are currently being evaluated by DPU.

Friendsville Sewer

The director also reported on the status of the Friendsville Sewer Inflow and Infiltration Project. All construction work is complete, except for final street paving, which will occur in the spring.

She noted, however, there may be one change order on that project. One portion of the old line is "extremely" full of roots and may need to be cleaned out. The estimated cost of the work is $3,000.

Lindsey added that a flow reduction at the Friendsville treatment plant during rain events has been noted.

"So, we know we have some water problem areas," she said.

The Garrett County commissioners' next public meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 5, 20 0, beginning at 9 a.m.

From GC Student To GC Employee

by Melissa Parker

Many Garrett College graduates go on to take some pretty fascinating and successful journeys. Some are awarded full scholarships to prestigious four-year universities; one is the director of an outdoor adventure program at a major university; some go on to play intercollegiate sports at Division I colleges and universities; one even went into politics and became a senator.

But sometimes the most obviously successful GC graduate can be found sitting right in one of its very own offices.

As one of Garrett's newest graduates to go on to join its staff, Kalie Ashby says she always liked the atmosphere at Garrett as a student, and that's ultimately one of the main reasons she decided to apply for employment at the college.

"Garrett provides such a personal atmosphere," said Ashby. "You feel like an actual person, not just a statistic, both as a student and as an employee."

Ashby is the new office assistant for the president's and foundation offices. Before she gained employment at the college, however, she began her journey at Garrett while she was still a student at Southern High School.

In fact, she completed her freshman year of college while she was still a senior there. She was able to accomplish this through college credit programs offered at Garrett to local high school students. Ashby took advantage of distance learning courses offered through Garrett, as well as evening classes at the college.

After graduating from Southern in 2006, Ashby began full-time studies at Garrett. She said that GC was the obvious choice because it was close to home, convenient, and she liked the small college atmosphere."

Thanks to numerous scholarships she received from Gear-Up, the GC Foundation, and others offered at her high school, in addition to grants, Ashby did not need to use the Garrett County Scholarship, which is offered by the Garrett County commissioners. She had enough scholarship money and financial aid to get through two years at Garrett, two years at Frostburg State University to finish her degree, and one semester of graduate school.

"I've been very blessed," Ashby said, regarding her college financial situation.

Ashby graduated from Garrett in 2007 with her associate of arts in business administration degree, just one year after she began attending full time. She transferred to Frostburg to study accounting, and graduated in 2009 with a bachelor of science degree. She immediately entered Frostburg's Master of Business Administration program, and is scheduled to graduate with her MBA degree this spring.

"I loved being a student at Garrett College, and hated that I had to leave to finish my degree elsewhere," she said. "There are people at the college who go out of their way to make your experience great, which is what they did for me. The people here helped make the transition from high school to college so easy for me, and they made me feel very welcome."

Ashby was born and grew up in Oakland. Like many residents in a small town, she has a strong tie to family and community. She finds support from her husband, parents, grandparents, and church family at Crellin Assembly of God, all of whom she calls her "great family."

Ashby got married in the summer of 2007. She and her husband recently bought a house in Crellin, where they currently live. Her strong tie to family and community run so deep that she plans to remain in Garrett County

"We love it here, especially where we live," Ashby said. "It is beautiful."

Since Ashby is only a part-time employee at Garrett, she hopes to get hired fulltime at the college once she completes her MBA.

"I really like working at Garrett," Ashby said. "I would love to eventually teach classes at the college so that when my husband and I decide to have kids, I can be home in the summers and have a better schedule."

Speaking of children, they are also on Ashby's "to-do" list. What does she envision herself doing in five years? "Hopefully working at Garrett and having a baby," she said.

For now, though, Ashby will continue her hard work in the president's and foundation offices.

"I am very glad to be back here as an employee, and hope to help the president's office and the Garrett College Foundation in any way that I can," she said.

FROM THE CLASSROOM TO THE OFFICE – Kalie Ashby enjoyed her time so much as a student at Garrett College that, after completing her bachelor's degree, she returned to the McHenry campus as an office employee. She is now within months of earning her master's degree. See story.

This will be
Steven Callis's
6th Year in Heaven

He would say to his family and friends,
"Please don't sing sad songs for me,
Forget your grief and fears,
For I am in a perfect place,
Away from pain and tears.
I'm far away from hunger
And hurt and want and pride.
I have a place in Heaven
With the Master at my side.
My life on earth was very good
As earthly lives can go,
But Paradise is so much more
Than anyone can know.
My heart is filled with happiness
And sweet rejoicing too.
To walk with God is perfect peace."

Sadly missed,

FSA ANNOUNCES MAL AND LDP PRODUCER ELIGIBILITY

The Preston County Farm Service Agency announces the Marketing Assistance Loan (MAL) and Loan Deficiency Payment (LDP) eligibility requirements for crop years 2009 through 2012. An eligible producer is a person or entity who has complied with eligible annual program requirements.

These requirements are as follows: 1. reporting acreage for applicable crops, 2. completing Form AD-1026 – Highly Erodible Land Conservation and Wetland Conservation Certification, and 3. completing Form CCC-926 – Average Adjusted Gross Income Statement.

A CCC-926 is not needed at the time of loan disbursement, but is required if the MAL is repaid under the marketing loan gain provisions or upon request of LDP benefits. Foreign persons or foreign entities are ineligible for MALs, marketing loan gains, or LDPs.

The applicable Form CCC-902 – Farm Operating Plan for 2009 and Subsequent Program Years is needed at the time of MAL disbursement or LDP request to determine foreign person status. Producers who apply only for MAL or LDP will need to complete the U.S. citizenship and certification portions of CCC-902 to certify U.S. status.

Producers wishing to receive further information on MAL and LDP producer eligibility may visit the Farm Service Agency office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza; telephone, 304-329-1923; fax, 304-329-3056; and e-mail, eric.mccartney@wv.usda.gov.

DEADLINE NOTED FOR LOAN DEFICIENCY PAYMENTS

The Preston County Farm Service Agency reminds all sheep producers that they have until January 31, 2010, to apply for Loan Deficiency Payments (LPDs) on wool and unshorn pelts produced during the 2009 crop year.

Eligible producers must have beneficial interest in the pelts, have owned the lambs for at least 30 calendar days before the date of slaughter, and sell the unshorn lambs for immediate slaughter.

Lamb slaughter companies, order buyers representing lamb slaughter companies, and processors are ineligible for LDPs on unshorn pelts produced from unshorn lambs purchased from eligible producers.

Producers must also comply with wetland conservation and highly erodible land conservation provisions on all land they operate or have an interest in. The pelts must also have been produced by an eligible producer from live unshorn lambs of domestic origin in the U.S.

To obtain further information or to obtain an LDP for 2009 wool or unshorn pelts, persons may visit the Farm Service Agency office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza; telephone 304-329-1923.

NEW DAIRY ECONOMIC LOSS ASSISTANCE PAYMENT PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack has announced the implementation of the new Dairy Economic Loss Assistance Payment (DELAP) program. The 2010 Agricultural Appropriations Bill authorized $290 million for loss assistance payments to eligible dairy producers.

"Through this program, eligible dairy producers will receive economic assistance that will help stabilize their operations during these tough economic times," said Vilsack. "I have personally heard from hundreds of struggling dairy farmers from all across our country who have been hit hard by declining prices over the past year, and now, we'll be able to offer them help."

Milk prices declined substantially through early-to-mid-2009, with the national price for milk averaging $16.80 per hundredweight (cwt.) in the fourth quarter of 2008 and averaging $12.23 per cwt. in the first quarter of 2009, a 27 percent decline. On average, the price U.S. dairy producers received for milk marketed in the summer of 2009 was about half of what it cost them to produce milk.

"The dedicated employees of the Farm Service Agency deserve a great deal of credit for acting quickly to provide this critical assistance to America's dairy farmers," said Jim Miller, under secretary of USDA Farm and Foreign Agricultural Services.

Eligible producers will receive a one-time direct payment based on the amount of milk both produced and commercially marketed by their operation during the months of February through July 2009. Production information from these months will be used to estimate a full year's production for an operation to calculate the payments, using a 6-million-pound per dairy operation limit.

Dairy producers who have production records at the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office because they participated in another FSA dairy program do not need to apply for the program. FSA will use existing production records for February through July 2009 to calculate and issue their payments.

Producers who have not provided production data for those months to FSA, and have not already been contacted by FSA to provide such data, have until Jan. 19, 2010, to apply. FSA officials estimate that more than 95 percent of eligible producers will receive benefits without having to fill out a new application.

A national per hundredweight payment rate will be determined by dividing the available funding of $290 million, less a reserve established by FSA, divided by the total pounds of eligible milk production approved for payment. Based on current information, FSA estimates that 875 million cwt. of milk production will be eligible for payment. The reserve will cover new applicants and appeals. The expected payment rate is approximately $0.32 per cwt.

To be eligible for DELAP, the dairy producer and the dairy operation in which the producer has a share:

- Must have produced milk in the United States and marketed milk commercially at any time from February through July 2009;
- Must have milk production data for those months; and
- Must certify to all milk production produced and marketed by the dairy operation during that time.

Also, any dairy producer who has an annual average adjusted gross nonfarm income of more than $500,000 for calendar years 2006 through 2008 is not eligible for DELAP.

For more information and eligibility requirements on the new DELAP program, persons are invited to visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza; telephone 304-329-1923; or e-mail, www.fsa.usda.gov.

Through much of this past year, USDA took a number of steps to provide relief to dairy farmers around the country. Some of these steps include:

- USDA reactivated USDA's Dairy Export Incentive Program (DEIP) to help U.S. dairy exporters meet prevailing world prices in addition to encouraging the development of international export markets in areas where U.S. dairy products are not competitive due to subsidized dairy products from other countries.
- USDA spent approximately $1 billion in fiscal year 2009 on purchases of dairy products (Dairy Product Price Support Program) and payments to producers (Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC).
- USDA increased the amount paid for dairy products through the Dairy Product Price Support Program (DPPSP). USDA estimates that these increases, which were in place from August 2009 through October 2009, increased dairy farmers' revenue by approximately $243 million.
- In March, USDA transferred approximately 200 million pounds of nonfat dry milk to USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, which will not only remove inventory from the market, but also support low-income families struggling to put nutritious food on their tables.

home one day. He got me the cassettes I wanted: Quiet Riot and Bonnie Tyler (how 1980s!). I felt awful until Christmas when I officially got to open it. Actually, I still feel bad about it. I felt so guilty and I realized that not knowing what was in the package was as much fun as the present itself. From that day forward, I never peeked. Still haven't and that was about 25 years ago. So, Merry Christmas, but don't peek! — Beth Bowers

The Littlest of Five

It was tradition on Christmas Eve for my family to open our gifts when the clock struck midnight. We kids would wait upstairs and listen and peek down the steps and sometimes we'd even hear Santa on the roof! Finally, Mom and Dad would yell to us upstairs and would say in excitement, "Santy came!" We would make our way through the door, all at the same time I might add, and make our way to the steps so excited! Being the youngest of five children, I was so small, I would always get sandwiched in between my brothers and sister, and I don't think my feet ever touched a step going down! But then somehow I ended up downstairs! Finally, when I made my way around the corner, my eyes seemed to work better than ever! I had struck it rich! There was a Mighty Mouse bop bag, way taller than me, that I could punch, so I could learn the craft of punching my brother when I got picked on, a new sled that I would surf in the snow on, and Santa had brought me the best ever Coca-Cola fountain machine! It was red and white, complete with little Coca-Cola glasses. It was so cool and it really dispensed pop! Little did I know then all these years later, I would have a desire to have and collect antique Coca-Cola items. Thanks, Mom and Dad, for all the wonderful Christmases! — Connie D. Reams

One Important Call

Every year, when I was a kid, our family and all the neighbors' families would go next door to Catherine and Bill Eggars' house for a Christmas Eve party. It was always a fun and memorable time – almost as good as Christmas Day! One year I was sick on Christmas Eve and couldn't go to the Eggars' party. I was so disappointed because that was one of the highlights of my Christmas. My dad stayed home with me, and to cheer me up managed to have Santa Claus call me all the way from the North Pole! I told him about being sick and not being able to go to the party, and he asked me what I wanted for Christmas. I immediately told him, "A Troll House!" I'd seen it in the Sears & Roebuck toy catalog, and knew I couldn't live without it, and I was sure I had forgotten to tell Mom and Dad I wanted it. I promised Santa milk and cookies and carrots for Rudolph, and happily went to bed.

Christmas morning when I unwrapped the Troll House, I was speechless. I was so happy to have the wonderful gift, but what made it even more of a surprise was that I had actually talked to Santa Claus on the phone the night before and he'd brought me the exact toy that I'd asked him for.

I'll never forget the Troll House. I played with that thing for years. But more importantly, I'll never forget how special my dad and his Santa Claus friend, aka Guy Wm. Hinebaugh, made that one Christmas for me.

— Lisa Rook

Toys Back Then, and Tiny Hands

I remember the grief and anxiety I had a as a child, caused by months of wondering whether the special gift would materialize. I remember my first record player with a colorful plaid top, an annoying plastic Mickey Mouse with a wind-up tail that caused him to jump when the tail revolved, a Flintstones action set with buildings and a plastic mat, and a toy 1960 black Cadillac with tail fins. I so wanted a Man From U.N.C.L.E. gun with attachments that I practically died waiting for it. I remember my brother giving me the Imagine album by John Lennon.

Once my parents gave me a small reel-to-reel tape recorder that I am sure they eventually regretted giving me. I recorded everything and played it back over and over until I got yelled at. One Christmas I recorded a news story about the destruction of my Plasticville train garden culminating with carnage caused by what sounded like a huge toilet flushing.

One thing I still think about was the gift of a refrigerator-door-quality school project from one of my kids. It was just two hand prints and some text to the effect that "by these tiny hand prints I would remember when they were small." I thought at the time, despite my hard-wired cynicism, that I probably would remember those hand prints with sadness. My two boys are grown, they are my best friends, and I cling to the tiny hands. — Richard Hill

The Best News

About two weeks before Christmas in 1992, my husband Reuben and I found out that we were going to be parents for the first time. We managed to keep the secret until Christmas Day, and bought special "aunt," "uncle," and "grandparent" cards for family members. They were handed out before the presents, and it was great to watch everyone open them, get a puzzled look, and then finally realize what we were telling them. — Brenda Ruggiero

For the Love of Barbie

One of the Christmas gifts I remember best (because I still have it) is a red, metal, 3-foot-high doll clothes trunk. There is a family photo of me as a 5- or 6-year-old, dressed in my brand new cowgirl outfit, astride a St. Bernard-size stuffed dog. Not quite the pony that I wanted. The doll trunk stands in the background next to the Christmas tree and most certainly came with one of the two dolls I remember receiving.

After several years and the addition of four brothers, who tortured and mutilated every doll I ever owned, I put away the "girly" toys and joined the crowd. The red trunk went into storage, where it languished until my mom forced me, way back in the '80s, to take it or trash it.

I took it. When Richard and I decided after having two sons that we weren't going to have any more kids, I regressed to my "girly" toys. I bought every Barbie that had combable hair—the longer the better. I bought Barbie clothes. I hauled out the red trunk and filled it with the Barbies and their clothing and boyfriends that I played with. Yes, played with. In the evenings after a day full of trucks, cars, stick guns, and wrestling, I would sit in our living room combing Barbie and her friends' hair and dressing them in the latest fashions.

As our sons grew older, Barbie would sometimes have play dates with He-Man, GI Joe, or even Ray or Egon. Then sports, band, and girls came along, and we were all too busy to play. The trunk went into the closet and eventually to our basement. I still bought Barbies but packed them away without opening the boxes, until I decided that was silly behavior. I haven't bought any for years.

Today at lunch time I was going out to run some errands. When I asked Richard if he needed anything from Wal-Mart, he said "Yea, buy yourself a Christmas present from me!" I laughed and just shook my head, but guess what I bought? And she has 100+ poses! — Melodee Hill

Barbie's New House

I think the most surprising and unique gift I've ever received was the doll house my dad made for my sister and me. He apparently stayed up all night Christmas Eve building it. It had different types of wall paper in each room, a fire place, and the roof would lift up so you could get to the upper levels. It was so much better than those plastic mansions other kids had. Our Barbies had quite a life in that house! — Angie Sincell

The Original Gift Bag

I remember one Christmas that my brother Ben had evidently run out of time and did not have any of his gifts wrapped. He appeared in the living room Christmas morning with a wrinkled brown grocery bag, the top of which had been rolled closed. He handed the bag my sister, who opened it and removed her gift. He then said to her, "Can I have the bag back now?" My sister handed him the bag, he took it back upstairs, after a few moments came back downstairs, and handed the bag to the next family member. That process was repeated until he had dispensed all of his gifts to the family. (You would think that a trained magician could have done a bit better than that.) — Don Sincell pictorial exhibit on the history of Deep Creek Lake, with the first assembly-line model of the Flying Scot sailboat (#4) in the center.

"We have over 6,000 visitors a year at our current museum, and about half of them are visitors who are staying at the lake," said Boal. "Many of them ask about the history of the lake."

The second floor will also have a room for educational purposes, where Power Point programs, film showings, and the like can be held during evenings and at other designated times.

The building will be located on the former site of Pritts Garage, now owned by the Garrett County Community Action Committee, and parking will be provided on adjacent ground owned by First United Bank & Trust. Boal said that both owners have each agreed to give the historical society a 99-year lease, at a rate of $1 per year.

"Obviously, we are very grateful to Community Action and the bank for their generous offer, which makes our project possible," Boal said.

The Howard and Audrey Naylor Foundation, established in their memory and coordinated by their sons Lonnie and Bart Naylor, is providing the major portion of funding for the project, working through the Community Trust Foundation, which is based in Cumberland.

"My parents were both educators who loved history, travel, the outdoors, and Garrett County," said Bart Naylor. "They were also fortunate from a financial perspective, and very much wanted to establish a foundation that would provide and enhance educational opportunities for future generations. This museum project represents an intersection of so many things that were important to them, including family, history, business, the town of Oakland, and education.

"My dad was so connected to transportation. He was a pilot, plus he and mom loved to travel. So a transportation museum really makes sense. Plus, the Naylor blacksmith shop was there to provide shoes for the horses that were used for transportation, and that shop later became a real family business," he said.

"I know that my parents would be very happy to support this most worthy project," Naylor added.

Boal also noted the historic significance of the Liberty Street location, as the first Naylor's Hardware building which was destroyed by fire in the mid 1970s was located just across the street from the museum site. Two other buildings were also destroyed in that blaze.

"We think the museum will represent an exciting rebirth of that section of town," said Boal.

According to builder Steve Gnegy, the basic plans for the project are in the hands of engineers, who will create working drawings and attempt to keep the project within budget.

Boal said that they hope to break ground in March, "if Mother Nature cooperates," and the building should be completed by next fall.

The Naylors are working with the Community Trust Foundation, a non-profit agency that, according to its web site, "provides the administrative services, sophisticated investment management, professional advice, and stewardship that help communities maximize their charitable giving and investing."

Trish Yoder, executive director, said that her agency is the vehicle through which many private family foundations operate to dispense funds to desired projects.

"We have the IRS established controls in place, so it is far easier from a tax standpoint for the caretakers of private foundation funds to work through us," Yoder said.

Yoder works for a volunteer board of directors, which includes Shane Grady, president, Bill Grant, and Ernie Gregg representing Garrett County. The agency funds projects in Garrett, Allegany, and Mineral counties.

Yoder commended Bart and Lonnie Naylor for their generosity through their parents' foundation.

"Their parents were such givers, and they have taken the torch from them and continued their legacy by giving so much to the community," she said.

"This project will be a win-win for the whole region," said Boal. "It will help make Oakland even more of a tourist destination than it already is, and will add so much to what we already have in that area of town – our present museum, the Deer Park Hotel façade and gazebo, the railroad station, and the art gallery."

Boal said that once the building is completed, there will be opportunity for the public to contribute to the museum in the form of furnishings and historical items that may be suitable for display. He said that the spring issue of the society's publication, The Glades Star, will be devoted to the museum project.

Serving with Boal on the new museum committee are Clifford DeWitt, Junior Ferguson, Steve Gnegy, Troy Gnegy, Ernie Gregg, and Terry Helbig.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO TROOPS – Dee Gilsan is pictured standing next to her home, which she decorated this Christmas in support of American troops. A tree adorned in yellow ribbons signifies the await of their safe return home. "I wish all troops a Merry Christmas and only hope that they can be brought home safely," stated Gilsan. During the recovery from 9/11, she painted a flag on her lawn to show her pride in America, "home of the free because of the brave." Her nephew, Travis Shelby, did the artwork, which she was proud to display.

TOWN NEWS

Any persons interested in running for the office of mayor or one of five vacant council member seats is advised to contact Town Hall. The top three vote getters for council seats will each serve a 2-year term. The next two vote getters will each serve a 1-year term. Questions should be directed to 301-746-5919. The deadline to file is noon Monday, Jan. 4.

Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle is eligible to file for re-election, along with council members Julia Sines, Lois Kahl, and Thomas Fike, whose 2-year terms are expiring in 2010. There are two vacant seats that are to be filled for a 1-year term.

The town will begin recycling the first Monday of each month instead of the first Friday, as previously collected. Persons are asked to have items curbside by 9 a.m.

PERSONALS

Shirley Drent notes her appreciation to all for their prayers, cards, visits, and phone calls during her recent illness.

A SEASON OF KINDNESS
by Helen Steiner Rice

May the kindly spirit of Christmas spread its radiance far and wide,
So all the world may feel the glow of this holy Christmastide.
Then may every heart and home continue through the year
To feel the warmth and wonder of this season of good cheer.
And may it bring us closer to God and to each other Till every stranger is a friend and every man a brother.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to our family and friends,

SHS Boys' Basketball Team Keeps Wins Coming; Records Three AMAC Victories

The wins just kept coming this week for the boys' basketball team of Southern High School as the Rams recorded a close 39-33 victory over Mtn. Ridge in last Thursday's Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference game at home, and then went on to hand Keyser a 46-41 AMAC loss in Keyser on Friday night.

The Rams tacked on another AMAC victory on Tuesday evening at home as they dominated Bishop Walsh, 51-34.

According to head coach Jon Hegeman, there is still work to be done, but he feels that the season looks promising.

"We have not played a complete game yet, but we are improving every game," said Coach Hegeman. "Our defense has been good in three of our four games. We have had good contributions from everyone on our roster. The season is young; however, we are headed in the right direction."

With many players able to play in multiple positions, the Rams have a versatile crew for the season, which will be to their advantage. Being a deep team was noted by Coach Hegeman as one of the team's strengths as well as being athletic, quick, and able to put on defensive pressure.

Southern worked a strong defense in the game against Mtn. Ridge by outscoring the Miners 13-3 in the first quarter. Mtn. Ridge came back stronger in the second, racking up seven points to the Rams' four to end 17-10 at halftime. Mtn. Ridge had the advantage in the third quarter, adding 12 points, but still trailed 28-22 to Southern, and both teams added 11 points in the fourth quarter.

Ethan Brady made six field goals and three foul shots to account for his 15 points of the night, and teammate Calvin Hilliard ended with nine points for the Rams. Wyatt McBee made the only three-pointer for Southern.

Mtn. Ridge's Ryan Delaney scored eight points, the highest allowed. Montana Bradley had seven, and Tyler Whitaker and Cody Sindy each recorded six in the loss. Whitaker claimed the single three-pointer for the Miners.

The Southern jayvees were not as victorious as they fell, 35-22, to the Mtn. Ridge junior varsity. Matt Friend led the Rams with nine points, and Caleb Fazenbaker scored 14 points in the win for the Miners.

It was a close game through all quarters in Friday's game against Keyser. The score was 9-9 going into the second quarter, where the Rams finally pulled away from the Tornadoes for a 23-18 halftime score. Keyser closed the gap and remained just three points behind Southern in the third quarter to start the fourth 31-28. The Rams outscored the Tornadoes, 15-13, in the fourth quarter for the win.

Joe Kisselovich led Southern with his 15 points, shooting 7-for-9 from the foul line, and teammates Hilliard and D.J. Ritchie each collected nine points. McBee prevailed as the only Ram to sink a three-pointer.

Keyser was carried by Wes Washington's 15 points. He was perfect from the foul line, sinking 4-of-4 baskets, and made five field goals, one of which was a three-pointer.

The Rams' junior varsity team suffered a 63-33 loss to the Tornado jayvees. Friend racked up 11 points for Southern, and Corey Armstrong had 15 for Keyser.

Against Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, Southern built up an eight point lead in the first quarter to start the second, 14-6, but the Spartans caught up by three points for a 23-20 halftime score. The Rams kicked it up a notch to widen the margin to 39-25 at the end of the third quarter.

Kisselovich had a big night for Southern, scoring 12 points, and Hilliard was close behind with his 11. Teammate Brady finished with 10 points in the win.

Leading Bishop Walsh and all players was Connor O'Rourke as he recorded six field goals and was 4-for-4 from the foul line to accumulate 18 points.

The Rams' junior varsity team fell, 49-22, to the Spartan jayvees. Aaron Shotwell put up 11 points for Southern, and Devin Hawley had 15 points for Bishop Walsh.

Southern is scheduled to host Smithsburg, St. Mary Ryken, and Stafford at the Snowball Classic on Tuesday and Wednesday. Junior varsity game times will be at 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., and tip-off for varsity will be at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

UNDER HEAVY PRESSURE Is Southern High School's Calvin Hilliard (#34) as he attempts a lay-up during the varsity boys' basketball team's home game on Tuesday against Bishop Walsh. The Rams defeated the Spartans, 51-34, and Hilliard was one of the top scorers of the night. He is surrounded by teammates, left to right, Ben Myers (#11), Ethan Brady (#33), and Joe Kisselovich (#35). Pictured below, Brady (#33) gets into position with a little more room to move to put up some points. Kisselovich (#35), back left, and Brady were also top scorers in the match against the Spartans. ASCI Offering Snowshoe Tours Of Marsh Mountain

The Adventure Sports Center International in McHenry will offer snowshoeing tours of Marsh Mountain for children and beginners, and backcountry tours of the Fork Run Recreation Area for more advanced adventurers.

Tours are by reservation only, and on weekends are free for Garrett County school students. Space is limited. Interested persons may call ASCI in advance at 301-387-3250 to secure a spot.

Another special outdoor adventure program is Animal Tracks, a guided activity for children under 12 in which participants learn about the adaptations of animals in the mountains of Monster Paws," animal-themed snowshoes for children.

Animal Tracks is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. on Saturdays, and reservations are required.

ASCI is also home to the Little Otter Discovery Room, where children can play with imagination-powered toys, games, and puzzles for free. Adult supervision is required, but free WiFi is available for multi-tasking parents and guardians.

Children will be periodically visited by Asci the river otter, the Adventure Sports Center's new mascot.

Asci will also be mingling with skiers at Wisp Resort throughout the winter and will be welcoming rafters and kayakers coming to the whitewater course this summer.

Located at the top of Wisp Resort, ASCI is a charitable 501(c)(3) organization that was formed to promote adventure tourism and healthy outdoor lifestyles.

NHS Girls' Basketball Team Records 65-55 AMAC Victory Over Keyser

The fourth quarter made all the difference as the varsity girls' basketball team of Northern High School pulled away from Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference opponent Keyser with a 65-55 victory last Thursday night in Keyser.

The game against Frankfort on Monday was postponed.

The Huskies struggled to keep the lead through the first and second quarters, staying just two points ahead in the first, 12-10, and only three points in the lead at halftime, 30-27. Northern lost the lead by the end of the third quarter and trailed by one point, 48-49.

Kaitlynn Fratz and Tara McKenzie combined for 50 points in the Huskies' victory. McKenzie was 8-for-8 from the foul line and connected with one 3-pointer to aid in her 27 points, and nabbed eight rebounds in the win. Fratz put up two 3-pointers, hit seven field goals, and made 7-of-12 from the foul line to score 23. She also led the Huskies with her five assists.

Elizabeth Yaider recorded 15 points and 12 rebounds for a double-double to lead the Tornadoes. Teammate Julia Ludwick aided with four assists and nine points, and Alicia Cuthbertson added

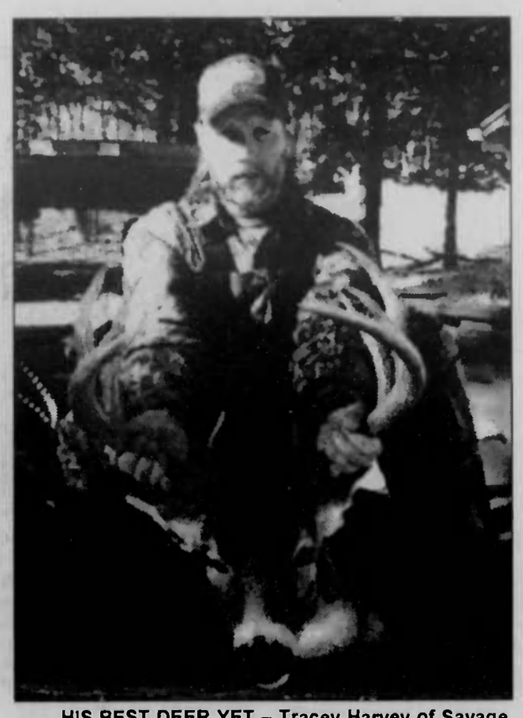
Three-point goals - Northern 4 (Graham 1, Fratz 2, McKenzie 1); Keyser 2 (Ludwick 1, Anderson 1). Total fouls - Northern 18, Keyser 26. Fouled out - Cuthbertson, Mangold (Keyser); Brosnihan (Northern).



HIS BEST DEER YET – Tracey Harvey of Savage harvested this 11-point, 132-pound buck off White Church Road in the Potomac State Forest on the first day of rifle season. Harvey said this is his best deer to date and he plans to have the head mounted. "I enjoy hunting the mountains of Garrett County and have been for 37 years," Harvey said.

eight points in the loss.

The Northern jayvees were victorious over the Keyser junior varsity, edging the Tornadoes, 28-25. Further details were not given.

Northern (2-1, 1-1 AMAC) is scheduled to compete in the North Star Tournament on Monday and Tuesday. Location and game times have not been disclosed.

SHS Indoor Track Departs Early, But Still Brings Home Records

The impending storm of last week may have caused an early departure for the indoor track team of Southern High School from the Frederick and Washington County Invitational last Friday at Hagerstown Community College, but it didn't keep members of the team from claiming several school records and a second place finish.

The teams were to compete in the Dwight Scot Western Maryland Relays last night, but the meet was postponed until Jan. 4, 2010.

Senior Sam Taylor, a top returning member of the team, just barely missed first place in the 55 meter hurdles with her 9.74 second finish at the meet last Friday. She was beaten by 1/100th of a second by Chelsea Young of Walkersville. Junior Lindsey Smith placed 15th in the 1600 meter run in 6:10.84. Smith is also a top returning runner, and had a successful cross country season, placing second at the regional meet in October.

Setting school records at the meet was top returning senior Tyler Hensley in the 55 meter dash recording a time of 7.52 seconds, and Shane Davis, a senior standout, crossed the line in 5:00.33 to set the school record in the 1600 meter run. Davis was a newcomer during the fall cross country season, and led the boys' team to a fourth place finish in the state meet.

The boys' 3200 meter relay team set a school record when they finished in 9:30.33. The team consisted of juniors Jake Bramande and Sean Rollman, sophomore Jasper Tasker, and Davis.

Indoor track is coached by Steve Cosner and Jill Bosley, and, according to Coach Cosner, is a relatively new, but difficult sport for Southern High School.

"This is a tough sport for us since we are the only team in Garrett and Allegany County," said Coach Cosner. "We have to travel to Hagerstown for all of our meets as well as train in hallways throughout the season, but our athletes usually make the best of it and really improve throughout the season."

"I am really excited for the boys' team this year – some great athletes have come out for the team and some real improvement in times over last year should be shown. Many of our girls and boys cross country members are on the team and really looking forward to running against those Washington County kids again."

The Rams next scheduled meet will be at the Hagerstown Community College to compete in the Mtn. Express Invitational next Wednesday.

Rams Have Fourth Quarter Surge To Edge Tucker, 48-45

Squeaking out a win last night was the Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team as it edged Tucker, 48-45, last night at home thanks to some last minute three-pointers and a fourth quarter surge.

Southern opened the game with a strong 14-4 first quarter lead, but saw it shrink by the second quarter as Tucker inched its way to within three points for a 20-17 halftime score. The third quarter was claimed by the Mtn. Lions as they led the Rams by one point to begin the fourth quarter, 33-32. Early in the fourth, Southern was down, 41-32.

Emillee Bosley sank two big three-pointers in the fourth quarter and Alli Shaffer was credited with some strong work on the boards to power the Rams in the last-minute victory.

Heidi Welch had a big night for the Rams, hitting three 3-point goals and recording 16 points. Bosley also put up 10 points and Shaffer finished with eight.

Leading Tucker was Kaitlyn Maxwell with her 15 points, and teammate Amber Evans provided 13.

The Rams' junior varsity team played into overtime to defeat the Mtn. Lion jayvees, 45-36. Raeslee Weimer carried Southern with her 17 points, while Kay Fridley had 12 for Tucker.

The Rams (3-2) are scheduled to be on the road on Tuesday and Wednesday to compete in the Hammond Tournament. The first game will be against Poly Tech on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Air Force Airman Julie A. Bittinger recently graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, earning distinction as an honor graduate.

Bittinger is the daughter of James and Donna Bittinger of Oakland, and is a 2009 graduate of Southern High School.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training, in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

ployer statement, etc.); eligible child's birth certificate; immunization (shot) record; and medical/insurance card. The child's latest reports of a physical exam and latest dental exam (within the last six months) can also be brought to the appointment.

Increasing the number of children entering school ready to learn is one of the Community Action's primary objectives, said a spokesperson. The Early Head Start program promotes the GCCAC goal of creating a positive attitude about the value of education among working families and young people, thereby increasing the number of Garrett County families who are economically self-sufficient.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Pastor Randy Richardson stopped by my house on his way to Cherry Hill's Bible study bearing some goodies – some fudge, both chocolate and peanut butter, and cookies. He said he finished his Christmas shopping. Not I.

When I asked about his deer hunting trip in November, he said he got two bucks. The amazing thing about it was the boar that he shot in Tennessee. The processor returned a bullet to Randy in perfect condition that was lodged in the boar's hide.

I don't know much about muzzleloader hunting. But he was able to use it again to shoot a West Virginia buck. I guess that is a unique story – to kill two animals of different species in two states with the same bullet. I wonder if they got it back again from the deer carcass?

He plans to go back to his family farm in Wheeling for doe hunting. Their freezer must be pretty full already. But he said the boar meat is delicious. That is a surprise to me. I thought it would be tough, but he said no, it is great meat.

The second-rate actor Chuck Norris stated that the Virgin Mary would have chosen to abort the baby who the angel told her was the son of God if she had "Obama care." His health care reform has almost nothing to do with abortion, except in the troubled minds of some nutty conservatives. Nothing is less important to me in the reform than some language about any insurance company that includes something about abortion. Why did they play the abortion card? Even more than same-sex marriage, the "A" word gets the Right so much that they can't see what real reform would do for so many Americans. They can only picture an endless line of unmarried women headed for a clinic.

Texas governor Rick Perry claimed, "I got religion," but he believes that Al Gore is heading straight for hell. Most people think of prayer as a private communication with their God, not a spectacle. What do they pray for? "Deliver us from health care reform and preserve the power of the big insurance companies."

My former neighbor Ruth Ruggiero was in Garrett County to visit her two sons who live here and, of course, their families. I learned that Ruth is celebrating a special birthday today at her son Sam's house in Grantsville. I phoned her there. She is now living near Erie, Pa., where she is originally from. But she said she wishes she were closer to her sons and grandchildren in Garrett County.

Reuben and Brenda Ruggiero were headed out to Grantsville, so Brenda was unable to watch the Steelers game this afternoon.

I have pretty much given up on their games cheering me up. The Steelers are injury plagued, and are pretty much out of the playoff picture. So that one bright spot in mid-winter is not to be this year. But they could really use the ability of Troy Polamalu to make a game-changing play, often an interception. But even as a regular defensive player, he is a great one, able to chase down an opposing player with the ball and hit him hard. I believe Hines Ward will be back today

Right now, I am so frustrated and down in the dumps, mainly because my Cailtin and Mere are entertaining guests from Morgantown. They planned a trip to Swallow Falls. I am sure it would be lovely with this snow. I don't think I ever visited it in the winter, but I have seen some beautiful photographs of it in winter. But it involves a huge hike, at least quite long, in deep snow. I really can't walk through deep snow at all.

I turned on CBS to wait for the Steelers game, but instead, it was just a bunch of clips of other games. Unfortunately, the Steelers' hopes to capture a wild card playoff spot dimmed because the Baltimore Ravens won their game.

Another game that showed up was the Cincinnati Bengals. One of their star players, Chris Henry, died this week from a fall off the bed of a pickup. But it brings to mind the accident that started all the messy stories about Tiger Woods. Both accidents show how unwise it is to mix domestic disputes with motor vehicles. It may even be as dangerous as mixing a domestic dispute with a firearm.

I saw a thought-provoking discussion about who would win the award for Cad of the Year. No doubt, Tiger Woods deserves to be in the race by the sheer number of his misdeeds. But it is sad to see all of those women bragging on TV about their affairs with a married celebrity. They all seized their chance for 15 minutes of fame. Do they have no shame? Of course not.

But my vote goes to John Edwards, the Democratic senator and former presidential wannabe. He definitely is the most sleazy cad in the field, since he fathered a child with his mistress while the mother of his children was struggling to hold on to life in a deadly fight with cancer. I imagine that she almost wished that death would take her away, except that she needed to fight for her life for her children's sake. She couldn't feel good about leaving them alone with their father, his girlfriend, and their "love-child."

But they are far from being the only major contenders for Cad of the Year.

Well, here it is the most depressing time of the day: the coming of darkness. There is still no sign of my daughters, or of Nadine, but I did get a call from her saying she will just stay in Cumberland so she is sure she can make it in to work. She said she hopes the weather is good tomorrow so she can make it back to the farm. Maybe, maybe not.

People do go to work even during snow falls. In fact, I remember a truly dreadful Christmas Eve. The usual person whom I shared rides with to Oakland had something wrong with her car. It was way below zero, but the bad news was that it was when my car's heater was dead. That was the coldest car ride I ever experienced or want to experience again.

Christmas Eve is always a big day for the Oakland Book Mark'et, where I worked. If you are one gift short, most people would be pleased with a book for a gift. At least, almost all the people I know would like that gift.

I was horrified to hear that they forecast some more snow for tomorrow (Monday) morning. That was when I hoped to accomplish something to prepare for Christmas, but the person who will take me said, "Unless we get more snow."

I think just about everyone likes a white Christmas, but this big dump of snow the end of the week before Christmas certainly complicates quite a few people's preparations. Last weekend was very important for retail business.

Rodney and Marci Glotfelty had a somewhat disappointing trip to Baltimore, because the performance of the Nutcracker by the Russian Ballet was canceled. But Rodney said Baltimore itself looked unusually pretty under a thick coating of fluffy snow.

The best Christmas for me was sometime in the early 1980s. We came out of church after the Christmas Eve service, and suddenly the sky opened up and the air was filled with many beautiful big snowflakes. It was just perfect emerging from a beautiful service in which the pews were filled with people holding candles.

During my childhood, all Christmases were white ones. Actually, in my memories of winter while I was a kid, almost every one was white, and quite a few were total white-outs.

Caroling has really begun in Bittinger. On Sunday evening, I had a group from Bittinger Mennonite Church. I do love caroling. And they had a beautiful evening for it, with a perfect crescent moon shining bright silver.

I could imagine a worse place to spend a weekend, but there are not too many places worse than a large airport. I guess it is better than being stuck in a disabled car on a lonely road, or lost in a snow-filled woods, an emergency room or any place in a hospital, nursing home, or Wal-mart. But thousands of Americans had to stay and sleep in airports across the East.

It looks like I will get out today, since we only got a couple of inches of new snow. And I am happy that the Steelers were able to pull out a win over the Packers by a score of 37-36.

District Court Warrants Lead To Two Arrests

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested two men on the strength of District Court warrants. The incidents were unrelated.

Pedro Gutierrez Bravo was arrested on Monday on a warrant obtained by the Garrett County Detention Center as a result of Bravo failing to check into the Detention Center on Sunday, as ordered by the court. He is charged with second-degree escape.

James Edward Kesecker II was arrested Tuesday and charged with bad check $500 plus. The warrant was obtained by the victim. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

ENORMOUS BRUIN VISITS OAKLAND – While one cannot really judge from looking at this photo the size of this black bear print, it is in fact 9½ inches long and 6 inches wide, and was made by a black bear estimated to weigh at least 400 pounds. The animal was seen on a recent evening by Eric and Jaimee Recker, 606 South Third Street, Oakland, when it ambled into their yard at about 9:30 in the evening. "We saw him stand up, and then Jack, our 90-pound golden retriever, chased him up a tree behind the house," said Jaimee. She added that they tried to get a photograph of the bear, but it was too dark.

GCHD Social Norm Campaign: Majority Rules Gets County Talking

The Garrett County Health Department recently started a social norm campaign that, according to a spokesperson, had many people around the county talking about the Majority Rules message.

The full message, "7 out of 10 Northern and Southern students don't drink!" was phased in over several weeks, and was used on pens, pencils, stickers, buttons, yard signs, stress balls, banners, and T-shirts.

"A social norm campaign is a process," said Brenda Sisler, prevention coordinator and member of a team that has been developing the campaign. "We have to give it time to work. It is good for discussions and questions about the message to occur."

The theory behind social norm campaigns is that a person's behavior is influenced by one's perceptions of what is "normal" or "typical," but people often severely misperceive the typical behaviors or attitudes of peers.

A social norm campaign is designed to change perceptions, which then change behaviors, said Sisler. Research shows that social norm messages targeted at the true norm (in this case, that most students don't drink) will change youths' perceptions, which will influence their behavior to not drink.

"Education about harmful drugs must continue," Sisler said, "but education alone can not change behaviors."

The data for the Majority Rules Campaign came from the 2007 Maryland Adolescent Survey. The "7 out of 10" was derived from student responses to the question, "Have you consumed any form of alcohol in the past 30 days?" The survey was administered to all 6th, 8th, 10th, and 12th graders in Garrett County.

"We hear lots of people saying they know the students lied on the survey," said Kendra Todd, health education and outreach director. "However, since the year 2000, the numbers have been about the same. So, if they are lying, they have been lying consistently for seven years."

"We know that the first year of any campaign there will be questions," said Sisler. "These questions are expected because most people inaccurately view the substance use behaviors of our youth, but questioning the campaign is healthier than silence about the campaign."

According to a spokesperson, research shows that the process works because students have a misperception that most youth use alcohol. In turn, they begin to use alcohol to "fit in" with what they think is a majority of their peers that are also using. When they understand the true norm, they are given permission to belong by not using.

The Majority Rules campaign is funded by a Drug Free Communities grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration and sponsored by the Garrett County Drug Free Communities Coalition.

Some Predict 2010 Will Be Year Of Opportunity For Md. Republicans

by Karen Anderson
Capital News Service

Ranked by Gallup as the country's third most Democratic state, Maryland has been a steep climb for any Republican candidate vying to win statewide office.

Still, political experts and party leaders across the state think a Republican gubernatorial victory is possible in 2010.

"I think Republicans can win in Maryland," said Todd Eberly, an assistant professor of political science at St. Mary's College. "But they've got to capitalize on current levels of voter discontent with the state of the economy in Maryland and nationally, and the budget deficit in the state."

To win the governor's race Republicans must recruit a candidate capable of raising money, develop an organization to turn out the vote and stick to a strong message, according to analysts.

"If they're going to knock off any incumbents, 2010 seems like it will be the year to try," said James Gimpel, a government professor at the University of Maryland, College Park. "It seems like a shame for Republicans to pass up the opportunity to run a competitive race, but they might, because this is Maryland."

As of November, Democrats made up nearly 57 percent of Maryland's registered voters while Republicans were less than 27 percent. For a Republican to win statewide, he must hold his base and win widespread support among conservative Democrats and independents.

Candidate recruitment will be essential for Republicans in 2010. Without this, Gimpel said, "It'll be an opportunity squandered."

Former Maryland Gov. Bob Ehrlich, who lost to current Gov Martin O'Malley in 2006, is the strongest potential candidate, according to a September poll by Gonzales Research and Marketing Strategies.

"At the moment Bob Ehrlich really is the Republican Party in Maryland," said Eberly, who added that "an Ehrlich run would excite Republicans" at a time when they need to be excited.

"This could be the thing to help them (Republicans) psychologically move into that national movement," he said, regarding Ehrlich's candidacy.

Other potential candidates, such as Annapolis businessman Larry Hogan, a former cabinet secretary in the Ehrlich administration, and Delegate Pat McDonough, R-Baltimore County, are planning to enter the race.

Whoever takes on O'Malley has a tough fundraising challenge ahead.

As of January 2009 when the last campaign finance data was submitted, O'Malley had raised more than $2.6 million in contributions for the 2010 election cycle and spent about $1.7 million.

Ehrlich, on the other hand, had raised more than $440,000 in contributions and spent more than $477,000 as of January 2009, according to the Maryland State Board of Elections.

"(In Maryland) Republicans are probably most of the time going to outspend Democrats in order to defeat them in big races," Gimpel said.

In 2006 Ehrlich outspent O'Malley by almost $3 million and lost.

Still, because of the state's budget shortfall and national trends such as the drop in President Obama's job approval ratings, Republicans are hoping 2010 will be a year of opportunity where independent voters favor Republican candidates and Democratic voters turn out in low numbers.

But Maryland Democrats don't appear nervous about the possibility of a Republican swing in 2010, mostly because of their advantage among registered voters and the challenge Republicans face in coming up with a quality alternative to O'Malley's handling of the state budget.

"That's a standard Republican line, 'I'll get rid of the waste,' but there is no waste," said Milton Minneman, communications director for the Montgomery County Democratic Central Committee. "It would be very hard for him (a Republican challenger) to get anything but the hardcore Republicans voting for him. If all the Republicans and half the independents voted for the Republican, the governor would still win because of the dominance of the Democratic registration in Maryland."

Other Democrats hope to place responsibility for the state's budget shortfall on Ehrlich, O'Malley's Republican predecessor.

"That albatross we're going to hang around the Republicans' necks," said Michael McPherson, chairman of the Howard County Democratic Party. "That's not of our doing. That's not what happened in the last four years and we just have to continue to make voters aware of the general truth."

The decline in Obama's job approval rating shows Democrats may be having difficulty making that argument on a national level.

In recent years, national politics appear to have influenced the outcome of state elections in Maryland and, Eberly said, 2010 is shaping up to be an "anti-incumbent year."

"In '94 and in 2002, the two years that Republicans did best, were incredibly strong years for Republicans nationally," Eberly said. "In 1998 and in 2006 when Democrats did well in Maryland, those were incredibly strong years for Democrats nationally. So I don't think that was just a coincidence."

As the incumbent party, Maryland Democrats are attached to the state's $1.1 billion in general fund spending reductions this year and the further budget shortfall predicted for fiscal 2011.

"In Maryland, it's nearly 3-to-1 Democrats in the House and 2-to-1 Democrats in the Senate, and you've got a Democrat submitting the budget. There's no other party that's going to absorb any of the blame," Eberly said.

O'Malley's approval rating is currently at 48 percent, 6 percentage points below Ehrlich's in the months preceding his 2006 electoral loss, according to polling by Gonzales Research and Marketing Strategies.

"That's a danger ground for any incumbent," said Eberly.

Eberly said O'Malley should be concerned that his approval rating has fallen below 50 percent because incumbents typically do not get more votes on Election Day than what their approval rating is leading up to it.

Though O'Malley won the 2006 election, Ehrlich won in 11 counties in which Democrats on average had an 11 percentage-point advantage among registered voters.

"There is an issue there with Democrats being very open to the idea of voting for a Republican chief executive," said Eberly.

For instance, going into the 2006 race, Democrats had 21,000 more registered voters than Republicans in Howard County, yet O'Malley won there by fewer than 700 votes.

"We didn't turn out our base," said McPherson, regarding the 2006 results in Howard County.

"Many of our people thought he (O'Malley) could win without them turning out to vote," he said. "There's a certain amount of lethargy in a certain amount of the electorate. And our thing is how do you overcome that? And that's something we'll be focusing on."

Nationwide, turnout could be a problem for Democrats in 2010.

"The two groups that are indicating the most interest are Republicans and independents. The group that is expressing the least interest to vote is Democrats," Eberly said. "Independents right now are expressing a clear preference for Republicans. You can't say it's necessarily because they're endorsing the Republican ideas. It's more the Republicans are the folks who aren't in power. They're the only other choice."

Gimpel said the continuance of economic slumps on the state and national levels under Democratic leadership may discourage many Democrats in 2010.

Discouraged Democrats are a group he predicts "will just stay home from the polls even if they don't go quite so far to the other side so as to vote for the other party," Gimpel said. "I think even compared to previous off-year elections you can bet on a lower turnout."

More than anything, before Republicans can be competitive in 2010, they need solutions to the state's budgetary problems.

Chris Cavey, chair of the Baltimore County Republican Central Committee, said Republicans should make the public's agenda their agenda.

"You have to look for the direction that the public is going to go and you need to give them a plan that you can say, 'Go in that direction.' And then you need to stay on that message. 'The economy is bad because of blank. We feel this will fix the economy.' And then you need to stay on that message and not stray from it," he said.

ARC Releases Schedule For Jan. Classes

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has scheduled several health and safety services courses for next month.

An adult, child, and infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class will be held from 6 until 10 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 5, and Tuesdays, Jan. 13, and Feb. 4, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This four-hour course includes caring for and recognizing breathing and cardiac emergencies, includ-ing choking, in adults, children, and infants. Automated external defibril-lator (AED) instruction for adults and children is included with CPR.

The cost is $30 for new certification and $25 for recertification, and includes text, a CPR kit and one-year certification.

A professional rescuer CPR/AED course will be held Saturday, Jan. 17, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Cumberland chapter house.

This is an eight-hour class developed for volun-teers and career profession-als who routinely respond to emergencies. It empha-sizes how to recognize and respond to respiratory and cardiac emergencies in adults, children, and in-fants. Two-rescuer CPR and AED training are included.

This course meets the standard requirements for nursing, allied health professions, and emergency medical services.

The cost is $35 for new certification and $30 for recertification, and includes text, pocket mask, and one-year certification.

A lay responder CPR/first aid/AED course will be held from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 30, Saturdays, Jan. 10 and 25, and Thursday, Jan. 30, at the Cumberland chapter house; and Wednesdays, Jan. 7, and 21, at the Oakland office.

This eight-hour course combines adult, child, and infant CPR, AED, and first aid into one entire day of training. The cost is $40 for new certification and $35 for recertification, and includes text, CPR kits, first aid practice kit, and two certification cards.

A first aid class will also be held from 6 until 9 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 15, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This three-hour course offers recognition and car-ing for life-threatening emergencies in adults, such as burns, injuries to muscles, bones, and joints, sudden illnesses, bleeding, and poisonings, as well as heat- and cold-related emergencies.

This course meets OSHA guidelines and is designed to fit the needs of businesses and industries.

The cost is $25 for new certification and $20 for recertification, and includes text, a practice first aid kit, and a three-year certification card.

Registration and payment are required in advance for all courses. For more information or to reg-ister, persons may contact health services director Lorri Wharton at 301-722-1760, ext. 105, or lkwharton@allconet.org.

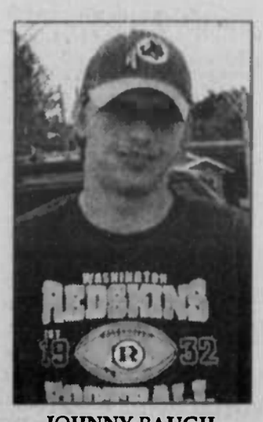
Local Cancer Patient Receives Ocular Prosthesis, Thanks To Cindy's Fund

by Sandy Bell,
Cindy's Fund

Everything was going well for Shaneta and Johnny Paugh in August of 2008. They had recently married. Johnny, a graduate of Southern High School, had a good job, and they were living on their own.

However, that good life would soon change. Johnny woke up one morning with blurriness in one of his eyes. Two days later, he was blind in that eye. Being the stubborn man that his wife claims he is, and working seven-day/12-hour shifts, Johnny brushed it off as something minor that would eventually go away.

He actually even got used to seeing out of only one eye. It wasn't until six months later that he faced the fact that he should see a doctor.



JOHNNY PAUGH

He made an appointment with his family doctor. Upon examining Johnny, the doctor immediately made an appointment for him to see a doctor at the eye clinic at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. The following morning, Johnny sat nervously in the eye clinic waiting room, unaware of the news he would soon hear.

Several tests were taken, and he was given the startling diagnosis. Johnny had non-small-cell ocular melanoma in his eye. He was also informed that there was no treatment for this rare type of cancer, and no doctor in Morgantown that dealt with this type of melanoma.

Johnny's initial reaction was shock. He had become used to not seeing out of his eye, and the diagnosis came so quickly. On May 1, his eye was removed. He was then started on chemotherapy. He was forced to quit his job, and he and Shaneta moved in with his family in Kitzmiller.

Besides suffering nausea from the chemotherapy, Johnny had no other side effects. However, he did start getting stares from people, mostly from children, because of his empty eye socket.

The next step would be an ocular prosthesis, or artificial eye. He was put in touch with an ocularist in Morgantown. Johnny was informed that the cost would be over $2,000, which had to be paid up front. The appointment could not be set up for several months, and the physician was not willing to accept any type of payment plan.

The only problem was that Johnny and Shaneta did not have this amount of money. They were referred to a physician in Pittsburgh, Pa. However, they soon learned that the physician would not accept patients with medical cards from Maryland.

Shaneta decided to do a search on the Internet for a physician in Maryland who could help them. She found Dr. Timothy Friel, an ocularist in Bethesda.

Johnny had been working with Tenna Taylor, patient resource navigator for the American Cancer Society. Tenna had supplied him with several gas cards from Cindy's Fund. Upon hearing about their financial dilemma, Tenna contacted Cindy's Fund to inquire whether the organization could provide some additional assistance.

Upon hearing about Johnny's financial dilemma, Cindy's Fund offered to pay the cost of the prosthesis in full. Johnny was able to take a check with him for full payment, and the process began of constructing an artificial eye to match the healthy eye. The entire procedure took only three appointments, and took place at the Bethesda Center for Ocular Reconstruction.

Johnny and Shaneta were intrigued with the process of designing the new eye. A ball of clay was put into Johnny's eye socket to get the precise shape of the eye. Johnny sat in a chair and had to stare straight ahead for an hour while Dr. Friel, an artist ocularist, painted the prosthesis to identically match the color of the remaining eye.

The prosthesis was constructed out of plastic polymer and resembles a thick contact lens. It has a ball in the back, and fits in the socket of the eye. Johnny and Shaneta were extremely pleased when they got the first look after the prosthesis was completed.

Johnny and Shaneta are now living on their own. Johnny is receiving unemployment while looking for a job, and Shaneta is in her first year of college at Potomac State College. She currently has her license as a certified nursing assistant, but her dream is to become a registered nurse, following in the footsteps of her mother and sister.

Johnny is now off all his medications. He has had scans of his body to make sure the cancer did not spread to other organs. He will continue to have check-ups every four months. So far, everything is looking good.

Shaneta and Johnny expressed their appreciation to Cindy's Fund for taking so much of the financial stress off them.

Their freedom from the dark cloud of cancer was short-lived, unfortunately. Shaneta's mother was recently diagnosed with lung cancer. Johnny and Shaneta were making daily trips to take her mother for radiation treatments. Their trips to Morgantown used to be for leisurely trips to the mall. They now look at Morgantown in a different light.

Cindy's Fund was established in memory of Cindy Kutchman, a registered nurse who cared for cancer patients and later succumbed to cancer herself. Donations to Cindy's Fund, in part, are used to support cancer education and screening programs. For more information, persons may visit cindysfund.org.

• 11 a.m. – Reading Naturalist. Guests may join the park staff to hear a story about nature and then make a related craft or explore nature, or both. The book titles and craft/hike rotate. $2 per child. (30 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Guests may join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including fish, turtles, and snakes. (30 min.)

Monday, Dec. 28

• 1 p.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal" and learn about what kind of mothers they are. Guests may meet at the front desk.

Tuesday, Dec. 29

• 11 a.m. – Black Bears and You. Take a hike along the Snakeroot Trail while learning about bears. See and touch a bear skin and skull. Proper footwear is required for the rocky trail. (Approx. 90 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Scales and Tales. Guests may join the naturalist for a look at the red-tailed hawk, snakes, frogs, and salamanders. (Approx. 60 min.)

Wednesday, Dec. 30

• 11 a.m. – Wild About Mammals. Guests will learn about the mammals of Garrett County and their history as people settled in the area. The center's animal skins will be used to discuss animal identification. (45 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Guests may join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including fish, turtles, and snakes. (30 min.)

Police Respond To Disabled Truck; Driver Charged

A man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after GCSO responded to a vehicle on Garrett Highway that appeared to be disabled.

Contact was made with Richard East, who was indentified as the driver of the 2001 Ford truck. East was reportedly under the influence of alcohol. He is charged with driving under the influence and driving while impaired. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

DEEMED "MELVIN JONES FELLOWS" – Deep Creek Lake Lions Club members M. Sue Shockey and Jeff Nelson were recently elected as "Melvin Jones Fellows." The award represents Lions International's highest recognition for humanitarian service and is named in honor of its founder. Nelson has served as club treasurer for several years and is chairman of the Autumn Glory Vendors Committee. Shockey, a past club president and secretary, serves as chairman of the Sight and Hearing Program. The club's service projects include sponsorship and oversight of the annual Blind Campers/Skiers Program for students from the Maryland School for the Blind, funding for scholarships to a graduating senior from each of the county high schools, and providing vision screening and eye glasses for qualifying individuals in the community. Pictured, left to right, are Shockey and Nelson, with the club's previous Melvin Jones Fellowship recipients: Tom Wentzel, Paul Shockey, and Ed King.

A Manger Scene

An infant lay on a bed of straw, His newborn cries drowned by the sounds of animals. Wise Men from the East appeared, dressed in rich fabrics and carrying jewels; the finest of their gifts of fragrance mingled with the animals' scent. Weatherworn shepherds trembled in awe at the scene before them...still stunned from their encounter with angels. Mary and Joseph could not take their eyes from the true miracle God had entrusted to their care...a babe destined for perfection...born into a scene of confusion and imperfection...yet, bathed in glory.

Though we can never be perfect like Jesus, our Heavenly Father desires that each of us be destined for glory to live forever with Him. In this holy season, share in the glory of God like the Wise Men did; honor the birth of His only Son and worship Him. May we all bathe in the glory of God's Son this Christmas and enjoy His blessing.

Cultivation of the Spirit

If you would be a truly spirited person, you must seek the Spirit continuously and be receptive to its influence in your life. This requires, first and foremost that you truly want to live a spiritual life, and secondly, that you open your heart and soul to God. Different religious traditions may describe this process differently. Evangelical Christians may describe it as accepting Christ as their personal Saviour. Catholics have a formal confirmation procedure where young people affirm their acceptance of God's way Adherents of certain Eastern religions describe this receptivity as having the wisdom gate opened. James Taylor sums it up well In his song "The Secret of Life" when he says that "The secret of love Is In opening up your heart." Realize that the gate of the soul is the narrow gate, and that it takes courage to open up your heart, but there is no shortcut to having the spirit of God within you. Pursue the way of the Lord. Cultivate your inner spirit. Perform virtuous deeds. Join In the family of God. .

Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and he who loves Is born of God and knows God. He who does not love does not know God; for God is love.

Mitral Valve Prolapse

Mitral valve prolapse (MVP) Is an abnormality of the mitral valve. The mitral valve is the valve that controls blood flow between the left chambers of the heart. Normally, blood only flows from the left atrium to the left ventricle. When the mitral valve does not work properly, blood can flow back into the atrium, known as mitral valve regurgitation. The valve may prolapse. Symptoms of MVP Include shortness of breath, anxiety, and chest pain. Atrial fibrillation Is a possible complication of mitral valve regurgitation, which may be associated with palpitations, and can lead to Increased risk of stroke.

Lifestyle changes, such as aerobic exercise and stress reduction, can help to alleviate signs and symptoms of MVP. Persons who experience anxiety may be prescribed an anti-anxiety medication, such as paroxetine or sertraline. Beta-blockers, such as atenolol (Tenormin) and carvedilol (Coreg), may be prescribed for people experiencing palpitations. Vasodilator medications, such as anglotensin-converting enzyme inhibitors and anglotensin II receptor blockers, may be useful for those with mitral regurgitation. Persons with atrial fibrillation may be prescribed antiarrhythmic medications, such as amiodarone or sotalol. Surgery of the mitral valve may be necessary.

It's almost time for the '24' clock to tick again

By Jay Bobbin

Q: I am wondering if "24" will be back this season. –Phyllis Bear, Bend, Ore.

A: Very soon, in fact. As is now customary for the Fox suspense drama, its new year begins in January, and the two-night season premiere of round eight will air Jan. 17 and 18. Set principally in New York this time, the story will give Kiefer Sutherland new co-stars in Freddie Prinze Jr. and Katee Sackhoff ("Battlestar Galactica"); it also will bring back Gregory Itzin as former President Charles Logan.

Q: My friend and I really miss "Without a Trace," which was taken off CBS' lineup. Will this show be syndicated anytime soon? –Pat Waters, Columbus, Ohio

A: In a sense, it already was, even before its CBS run ended ... and it continues to be. TNT still shows two repeat episodes of the missing-persons drama starring Anthony LaPaglia back to back each Tuesday through Saturday, but you have to get up very early – or stay up very late, depending on your perspective – to catch them.

Q: Has HBO canceled the program "In Treatment," and will they ever resurrect the show "Tell Me You Love Me"? –Stan Schwartz, Boynton Beach, Fla.

A: "In Treatment" will return in the new year, probably toward the middle of it, since production on its third season is slated to start "in early 2010" according to HBO. Gabriel Byrne will be back as psychotherapist Paul Weston, with a new supporting cast as the "patients."

As for "Tell Me You Love Me," that's a finished project. The irony is that HBO actually had ordered a second season of that show, but its creator then said she couldn't determine "the right direction" in which to go with additional episodes, so the series was canceled.

Q: I saw the series "Naked City" on late-night television, and there was an actress who looked to be the same one who played the grandmother in the "pony" episode of "Seinfeld." Was it the same person? –Robert Wagler, Milwaukee

A: It doesn't appear to be. The actress in the "Seinfeld" episode was Rozsika Halmos, and we can find no reference to her having been in a "Naked City" story. In fact, her earliest listed television credit is a "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C." episode in 1968, five years after "Naked City" ended its run.

• It was 19th-century German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer who made the following sage observation: "If we were not all so interested in ourselves, life would be so uninteresting that none of us would be able to endure it."

• Emmy-nominated actress Debbie Reynolds was fired by Warner Brothers after her first movie.

• Sharks inspire a great deal of fear in most people. However, the keepers of statistics claim that you are much more likely to be killed by a bee than you are to be killed by a shark — 50 times more likely, in fact.

• Growers of coffee beans say that the coffee blossom smells like jasmine.

• When a seal goes to sleep, whether in the sea or on land, it stops breathing. Every 15 minutes or so it will wake up to take a breath, then it will go back to sleep.

• When it comes to irrigated crops in the United States, you might be surprised to learn that the plant that covers the most acreage isn't corn, wheat or soybeans; it's grass. Think about that the next time you're watering your lawn.

• There's an interesting story behind the name of the Caribbean island of Curacao. It seems that explorer Amerigo Vespucci had several sailors on his ship who were very seriously ill with scurvy, so he dropped them off on the island, assuming they would die. However, the abandoned sailors feasted on fresh fruit, thereby ingesting the vitamin C that cured the disease and saved their lives. The word "curacao" means "cure" in Portuguese.

• Here's a disturbing fact for all the arachnophobes reading this: There are more than 34,000 different species of spider.

• On Dec. 28, 1869, the Knights of Labor, a labor union of tailors in Philadelphia, hold the first Labor Day ceremonies in American history. The Knights of Labor was established as a secret society of Pennsylvanian tailors earlier in the year.

• On Dec. 29, 1878, the first game is played between two teams of the first professional baseball league in Cuba. Baseball had first been introduced in Cuba around 1864, when some students returned home from studying in the United States and introduced their fellow islanders to the bat and ball.

• On Jan. 3, 1892, legendary author John Ronald Reuel Tolkien is born in Bloemfontein, South Africa. In 1925, he became a professor at Oxford. As the legend goes, Tolkien found a blank page in a student's examination book while grading papers one day and wrote on it: "In a hole in the ground there lived a hobbit." This idea grew into the eminently successful children's book "The Hobbit."

• On Dec. 30, 1905, French driver Victor Hemery, driving a gasoline-powered Darracq automobile, sets a new land-speed record in Aries-Salon, France. He reached a speed of 109 mph.

• On Jan. 2, 1941, the Andrews Sisters record "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" on Decca Records. The song became a classic World War II hit. The Andrews Sisters were the most popular "girl group" of their time, selling millions of records and setting the stage for the "girl group era" of the mid-1960s.

• On Jan. 1, 1951, the Zenith Radio Corp. of Chicago demonstrates the first pay television system. The company sent movies over the airway via scrambled signals, and the 300 families who participated in the test could send telephone signals to decode the movies for $1 each.

Q. I have a Heddon deluxe fishing rod, 4 ounces, No. 2541. I have searched the Internet and can't seem to find any information on this two-piece pole with carrying case. The condition is close to perfect, and I hope you can help me. —Steve, Newark, N.J.

A. One of the best sources for information about fishing reels is The Old Reel Collectors Association, which was founded in 1990 with the purpose of providing "education through the collection and distribution of historical and technical data regarding fishing reels, their development and their inventors and manufacturers from the earliest times through the present day." The contact information for the club is http://www.orcaonline.org, or e-mail at reelnewseditor@yahoo.com. This is an excellent group, and I am certain that its members can help you.

Marylanders Are Concerned About Higher Prescription Drug Spending

by Sharmina Manandhar
Capital News Service

Marylanders continue to spend more on prescription drugs compared to their national counterparts, despite the state's lower overall health care spending, according to an analysis of state and national health care expenditure data.

Each Marylander spent about $1,000 for prescription drugs in 2007, 33 percent more than the national average of about $750. The state's per capita spending on health care was about $6,400, 14 percent lower than the national average of about $7,500. However, both statewide and nationally, the share of the prescription drug costs in total health care spending has remained roughly constant over time.

With the economic downturn, high prescription drug spending is a concern for many Marylanders, especially to those who either lack health insurance or have insurance that does not cover prescribed medication.

"The only health insurance that I can afford out of my pocket is the very lowest coverage, and the very lowest coverage does not cover dental or prescription," said Eric Cathcart, 53, a self-employed Silver Spring resident.

The $1,050 annual, out-of-pocket, prescription drug expense requires him to do "a fair amount of shopping and price comparisons," he said.

"It's not a whole lot, but it's enough of it to go, 'Do I really need this prescription?'" Cathcart said.

Though private insurance continued to pay for most of the prescription drug cost in Maryland, out-of-pocket expenses ran about 35 percent in 2007.

Cathcart's 17-year-old son Alex, who was prescribed a $130-a-month behavior modification drug for his Asperger syndrome – an autism spectrum disorder – turned to meditation and green tea because the family could not afford the drug, he said.

Edward Rice, a retired federal employee, tries to lower his medication expenses by taking generic drugs, unless the doctor specifically recommends a brand-name drug "because it is cheaper that way," he said.

"A chemical is a chemical to me and that's what drugs are," said the 73-year-old Indian Head resident.

The efficiency of expensive prescription drugs is a concern for Catonsville resident Theresa Kohlway.

For two years, she took a cancer drug costing about $400 a month, but her oncologist took her off the drug in June because research showed that it helps only 2 percent of patients, according to the 78-year-old breast cancer survivor.

"You go buy what your doctor orders and you find out, my gosh, you are spending so much money on the drug and you don't even know if it's working all right," Kohlway said.

Kohlway, who has Medicare, said that she reaches her $2,000 coverage limit for prescription drugs by June each year. After that, she falls into the "doughnut hole," a gap in benefits, which causes beneficiaries to pay out-of-pocket for drugs after exceeding their allowances, and before catastrophic drug coverage kicks in.

About 132,000 Maryland seniors fall into a Medicare Part D gap costing them an average of $4,080 per year, according to HealthReform.gov.

Both the House and Senate health care reform bills seek to close the gap by providing 50 percent discounts on brand-name drugs. The House bill passed Nov. 7, 220-215, while the Senate bill is under discussion.

The House bill would lower prescription drug costs, "providing Marylanders – and all Americans – greater access to the life-saving medications they need," noted Rep. Chris Van Hollen, D-Kensington.

"The bill would improve the Medicare Part D drug program by phasing out the 'doughnut' hole; providing Part D enrollees discounts on prescription drugs; and granting the government the authority to negotiate with drug manufacturers to get the best deal possible for beneficiaries," Van Hollen said in an e-mail message. "In addition, many low-income Americans would benefit from this legislation as they would see increased access to affordable prescription drugs."

Prescription drug prices are likely to increase under the health bills, said Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, citing Congressional Research Service and Congressional Budget Office reports.

"Marylanders should be concerned that prescription drugs will cost more if the health care bills being pushed by the president and congressional Democrats become law," Bartlett said in an e-mail.

Considering one of the health care expenditures, like prescription drug spending, separate from all of the others would not give "an accurate picture," according to Democratic Sen. Ben Cardin's spokeswoman, Sue Walitsky.

"One important thing to note is that prescription drugs often can be used to shorten hospital stays, prevent surgery or other costly interventions," Walitsky said.

The state's higher-than-average prescription drug spending may be explained by many factors, including the higher percentage of insured Marylanders and the large number of federal employees in the state, according to Ben Steffen, director of the Center for Information Services and Analysis at the Maryland Health Care Commission.

People with health insurance, particularly provided by the federal government, enjoy generous drug benefit packages, Steffen said.

About 88 percent of Marylanders had health insurance in 2008. Massachusetts had the highest number of insured with 94.5 percent while Texas had the lowest with 74.9, according to the Census Bureau. An estimated 22 percent of Marylanders 16 years and older were employed by the government in 2008, compared to 14.5 percent nationwide.

However, the large number of insured people in Maryland should also lead to higher overall health care costs in the state, according to David Salkever, professor of public policy at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

"In general, if people in Maryland have more generous coverage than people in other states, that ought to show up in terms of higher health expenditures, which doesn't," Salkever said.

The higher spending for prescription drugs may mean "substitution to outpatient use of drugs," according to Salkever.

"The total spending in hospitals is somewhat lower per capita than in other states," Salkever said. "To some extent, that reflects, basically, a shift in locus of care to less expensive settings such as outpatient settings."

Hospital care, which represents the largest single category of health care expenditures in Maryland, is about 10 percent lower than the national average, according to the analysis.

Salkever also said that higher prices in the state may not be a factor in the large spending here.

"It's hard to believe there are differences in prices," Salkever said. "I doubt there are, because it's pretty much a national market."

Change in Hours of Operation

GARRETT COUNTY LANDFILL WILL BE CLOSED ON SATURDAYS

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division on Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of trash, beginning on December 26, 2009, thru March 13, 2010. The scales, office and landfill will be closed. This is a cost effective benefit to the County because of the low number of customers that use the Landfill and Offices on Saturday during this time period. Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division will reopen for Saturday business March 20, 2010 at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads; until 4 p.m. at the office.

Homeowners may continue to bring their household trash and recyclables from 8 a.m. until noon. Appliances will have a $5 bulk sticker fee for each item. Appliances with Freon will have a $10 (2 bulk item sticker s fee) for each appliance. Applications for refuse site stickers will be available from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours, Monday through Friday; or purchased at the Tax Collections Office In the Courthouse Monday through Fridays. Also available this year, previous sticker owners can purchase their stickers online at:

Mtn. Lake Park Man Found Guilty Of Trespassing; Sentenced To 90 Days

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Pedro Antonioa R. Pacheco, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert of trespassing on private property, and was sentenced to 90 days with all being suspended, one year of supervised probation, and $157.50 in fines.

It was reported that in August, the owner of a residence came home to find that Pacheco had broken in and entered the residence without the owner's knowledge. Pacheco and the owner had a verbal discussion about why he was there, and was told not to enter the residence without anyone else there. He was not prosecuted on a charge of fourth-degree burglary.

In an unrelated hearing, Michael Lynn Ware Jr., 29, Oakland, was found guilty for failure to obey a reasonable and lawful order, and was sentenced to 60 days with 60 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers arrived at an Oakland residence in October for reports of a domestic dispute between Ware and another adult. When officers arrived, they were told that Ware was at a neighbor's house. Officers spoke with the victim who stated that Ware had allegedly been physically abusive.

Officers made contact with Ware at the other residence, and it was reported that he was being argumentative with officers and had a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. He was advised to stay at the residence for a certain period of time.

Officers responded back to the residence several hours later for the same domestic dispute case, and investigation revealed that Ware had entered the victim's house and began an argument with the victim. He was subsequently arrested and transported to the Garrett County Detention Center. He was not prosecuted on charges of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct.

In another court proceeding, Stephen Charles Huss, 55, Lewisville, Texas, was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of paraphernalia charge, and received $157.50 in fines.

Maryland State Police conducted a traffic stop on Huss for speeding in September. Upon contact with Huss, it was reported that troopers smelled a strong odor of burnt marijuana coming from his vehicle. A probable cause search of the vehicle revealed two Percocet tablets, four Opana tablets, two bags of marijuana, one rock of cocaine, a plastic disc containing marijuana, a grinder, and an eyeglass case containing three pipes with marijuana residue, metal screens, rolling papers, and a straw.

Huss was not prosecuted on three charges of CDS possession not marijuana and one charge of CDS possession of marijuana.

In a separate district court case, John Wesley Felix Appleby, 29, Danbury, N.H., was charged in July after a traffic stop by GCSO and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force with CDS possession not marijuana, CDS possession of marijuana, and two charges of CDS possession of paraphernalia. His charges were placed on stet with conditions to complete 40 hours of community service.

In a related hearing, Katie Marie Stenson, 26, Londonderry, N.H., was charged with CDS possession not marijuana, CDS possession of marijuana, and CDS possession of paraphernalia, stemming from the same July traffic stop as Appleby's. Her charges were placed on stet with conditions to complete 40 hours of community service.

Ernest Elwood Short III, 38, Terra Alta WVa., was charged in May with CDS possession of marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia after a traffic stop by GC sheriff's officers. His charges were placed on stet with no conditions given.

Michael Adam Kile, 25, Oakland, was charged in October by GCSO with theft valued at less than $100 and unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, and his charges were placed on stet with no conditions given.

Melody Lynn VanHorn, 54, Lewisville, Texas, was not prosecuted on three charges of CDS possession not marijuana, stemming from a traffic stop by MSP in September.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Pedro Gutierrez Bravo, 22, no residence given, was found guilty for a DUI charge from October, and was sentenced to one year with 11 months, 15 days suspended and four days' credit for time served, supervised probation (length not given), and $107.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on a charge of DWI.

Christopher Ray Harbaugh, 22, Pa., was found guilty for a DUI per se charge from July, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Scott Bradley Bloom, 37, Md., was found guilty for a DWI charge from September, and received fines totaling $525.50. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Robert Louis Ridley, 24, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from July, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Michael Patrick Smoot, 40, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from August, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Donald Stuart Moreland, 50, WVa., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from July, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Robert L. Henry, 70, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from August, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on a charge of DUI.

Kenneth Michael McNabb, 53, Md., was charged in July for DWI, DUI, and DUI per se. His charges were placed on stet with no conditions given.

John Robert Comer Jr., 21, Pa., was charged in February with DUI, DUI per se, and DWI. His charges were placed on stet with no conditions given.

Paul Edmond Hughes, 43, Va., was not prosecuted on August charges of DWI and DUI.

George Allan Kimmell, 41, Md., was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI from October.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Edward Allen Pennington, 72, Md., was found not guilty for a September charge of failure to remain stopped for a stopped school vehicle operating alternately flashing lights.

Adorable Adoptables

"SANTA PAWS" AND FRIENDS NEED HOMES – Currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter are a male dark grey feline in a festive Santa hat, a male black cat, an energetic male chocolate Lab, and a big, but nice female hound-collie mix that was picked up in the Red House area. "The recently featured white shepherd was adopted, and some dogs that have been at the shelter for a long time were taken to rescue by HART But there are still a lot of cats at the shelter," noted a Humane Society spokesperson. "The facility will have limited hours over the holiday, so don't hesitate to come in early if you see something you would like to adopt." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. The facility is located along Oakland Sang Run Road.

SOLD

We would like to thank Sandi Flockhart for her exceptional skills in assisting us in selling our property. When Sandi listed our property she gave a detailed package explaining the proeess and answering many questions. She put our property on the market and guided us through the proeess while communicating often. Communication was the key. She gave us feedback and honest appraisals of the various showings. Sandi originally took photos of the property and presented the photos In a very professional marketing approach whieh we believe attracted many people to the listing. Selling property especially in today's market can be very frustrating but Sandi made it easy and at times a lot of fun. She was always available by phone or e-mail. We can honestly say that Sandi fulfilled our expectations and we would reeommend her to anyone in the real estate market.

Robotics Team To Sponsor Holiday Puzzle Contest

Garrett County's high school robotics team is hosting a science and math puzzle contest during the last five days of 2009. Beginning Sunday, Dec. 27, FIRST Robotics Team 1629 will post one problem a day through Thursday, Dec. 31, on the team's web site.

Answers can be submitted by e-mail to any or all of the five puzzles up to noon on Saturday, Jan. 2. Winners will be drawn at random from each correct answer submitted. First, second, and third place winners will receive a $30, $20, and $10 Wal-Mart gift card, respectively.

"This is the first time we have tried doing something like this, and it is hoped that this will build on the interest young people are having in the area of math and science by making it fun and competitive," said a spokesperson for the group. "The more correct answers submitted by a contestant, the better chances are for that contestant to win."

All problems will be from the team's "Winter Holiday" series of puzzles requiring youngsters to apply their math and science skills to solve puzzles based on fun holiday themes. Problems will be posted by noon on Dec. 27 at sites.google.com/site/team1629. Until then, those interested can visit the site for more details.

FIRST Robotics Team 1629 is sponsored by the Garrett County Public School System in partnership with Beitzel Corporation/Pillar Innovations and Garrett Container Systems Inc.

RECEIVES WOW AWARD – Southern High School sophomore Elizabeth Sines was recently selected as the recipient for the Woodman of the World Award in United States History. "Elizabeth was a leader in the classroom during discussions of historical topics," commented U.S. history teacher Heather Savage. "She has an avid interest in the social sciences and displays exemplary citizenship in the classroom and community." From left are Savage, Sines, and Valorie Frazee, field representative of Woodman of the World Life Insurance Society.

GARRETT COUNTY STUDENTS WIN VFW DISTRICT PRIZES – District 3 Veterans of Foreign Wars Cmdr. Paul Johnson announced that two Garrett County students won prizes in the annual Patriot's Pen contest conducted by the VFW. These students represented VFW Post 10077 in Deer Park and were competing in the district level competition, which encompasses western Maryland, after they had won prizes in the Garrett County competition conducted by the Deer Park Post. Garrett County entries took both second and third place at the district level. Coy Ozias of Southern Middle School was second and Shannon Warnick of Northern was third. (Only the first place entry goes to the state level judging.) Both Coy and Shannon received their district prizes at their schools this month. They received certificates and cash prizes from Patriot's Pen chairman Wayne McCaughey. These gifts were in addition to the awards they received in November from Post 10077. Shown in the photo above are, from left, Louise and John Wilson, grandparents of Coy Ozias, who is in the center, Southern Middle teacher Carri Guthrie, and McCaughey. Shown below in the same order are Northern Middle teacher Lon Burdock, Shannon, and McCaughey.

Lori Malcolm
A FIRST TIME FOR EVERYTHING
An article appeared recently in the New York Times that beautifully illustrates the opportunities today's real estate market offers. A mother working two jobs saved up for a down payment and managed to buy a large home with a pool for $187,000. Three years ago, that same home had sold for $370,000!
While sellers are still feeling pressure, buyers with stable incomes and good credit histories are beginning to spread a "feel good" vibe throughout the industry. Conditions have literally never been better for first-time buyers. Affordability has seldom been higher and interest rates have hardly been lower. Selection of inventory is vast, and sellers are highly motivated.
As more buyers enter the marketplace, the ripple effect will be felt far and wide. When they purchase a highly affordable foreclosure or "short sale," they have removed a distressed property from the listings, improving values for other homes in the area. When they buy a "traditional" listing, that in turn sets off a chain reaction whereby the sellers in turn will purchase another home, from sellers who will in turn buy another home, and so on and so on.
You probably get the picture now. As we approach some stability in real estate, all indications are that prices will begin rising again. As the market approaches recovery, don't miss your opportunity for the buy of a lifetime. Call your REALTOR® today.
If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

SCHOOL LUNCHEON SERVES OVER 250 – Aurora School recently held a community luncheon open to all members of the Aurora School community. Over 250 meals were served to students, parents, faculty and staff, local senior citizens, and members of the local civic and church organizations. The luncheon was made possible by many local businesses, organizations, and individuals. Head cook Barbara Hauser and Brent Hauser were in charge of the kitchen staff who provided the meal. JoAnn Helton donated the table covers, Sue Hauser with Stemple Ridge Church donated the use of the tables and chairs, and the centerpieces were provided by Krista Hayes, Rita Harsh, and Sue Corbin. Musical entertainment was provided by Peter and Michelle Liga, with Mark Teets delivering the invocation for the event. Two WVU basketball tickets were awarded as a door prize, courtesy of Don Harding. Several school board representatives were in attendance, including superintendent Dr. Larry Parsons, assistant superintendent Dr. Mike Teets, board president Jack Kelm, and county office staff members Harding, Dr. Teddi Cox, Carol Riley, and Charlene Strahin. Pictured is principal Brad Martin and music teacher Michelle Liga preparing the fifth and sixth grade chorus members for their musical performance.

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS

by Wesley Spaid, reporter

Members of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H met on Dec. 14 for their regular monthly meeting. Because of many conflicting schedules, several members were unable to attend. Chelcee Rinker led the pledges, and Savannah Arnett led the group in singing "Jingle Bells."

The date set for going to Cortland Acres Nursing Home is Tuesday, Dec. 29. Food assignments were handed out. Members and parents are asked to meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Eglon Memorial Building that day to car pool, or make other arrangements with the leaders.

Information was given to each family on the upcoming County Poster, Photo, and Video Contest. Each member is encouraged to submit a poster or photos. The deadline for this event is Friday, Jan. 29. More discussion will be held at the Monday, Jan. 11, meeting.

Leader Linda Lewis helped new members start filling out This Is 4-H project books. White felt dove ornaments were constructed by members for patients at Cortland Acres. Recreation was drawing ornaments onto a paper tree while holding the paper on one's head. The meeting ended with a pizza party enjoyed by Savannah Arnett, Jonathon Blamble, Derek and Samantha Chambers, Tyler Pomeroy, Alex, Chelcee, and Matthew Rinker, Jesse Schalker, Trevor and Wesley Spaid, Brooke Uphold, Sydnee Vandevender, and parents Stephanie Arnett, Robin Chambers, Sunette Pomeroy, Marilyn Schalker, guests Haley and Stacy Rocha, Whitney Pomeroy, and leaders Elaine Roth, Jackie Blamble, Ron and Angie Spaid, Teresa Vandevender, and Lewis.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that WPO, Inc., 145 Meadow Street, Somerset, PA 15501, (814) 443-3826, having been issued the following surface mining permits, shall conduct blasting activities in accordance with all applicable Federal and State laws. Such activities shall commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule and approximate times, as approved by the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines). The descriptions and locations of the above mentioned permits are as follows:

Permit SM-06-452, Table Rock Mine, on the property of A. Celine Wolfe, et al., and Richard/Linda Kyle, in Election District 8, Garrett County, Maryland, at Grid N/539,400, E/113,700.

Blasting shall be conducted Monday through Saturday from January 1, 2010, to December 31, 2010, from 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., except Sundays and Holidays.

At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, public accesses to the blasting area shall be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry. At least three (3) minutes prior to blasting, a pre-blast warning signal shall be audibly indicated by three (3) five-second blasts of an air horn at two- (2-) second intervals. After the blast, an "all clear" signal shall be indicated by one (1) twenty-second blast with an air horn.

Blasting activities shall not be conducted at times other than those announced with appropriate notification, or in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, adverse atmospheric conditions, personnel or public safety would dictate an unscheduled detonation.

Any resident or owner of a dwelling within one-half mile of the permit area may request to have structural blasting survey of their dwelling conducted by contacting the above permittee or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, in writing, at 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. 12/24

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS ENGINEERING SERVICES CHERRY GLADE ACCESS ROAD

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed proposals from qualified firms for engineering services to study, design and prepare construction plans and specifications for the construction of an access road from Garrett Highway to Fourth Street on the former Oakland Garage property of the Garrett County Roads Department.

A Pre-Proposal Conference will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, January 13, 2010, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Proposal documents may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
257 MARSH HILL DRIVE, UNIT # 34
MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Jeffrey A. Jones and Megan A. McGonical dated July 31, 2007, and recorded in Liber 1325, Folio 0185 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with an original principal balance of $446,898.42, and an original interest rate of 10.690, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse door for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on January 8, 2010, at 1:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property being sold is a condominium unit and all common elements appurtenant thereto.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record effecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $44,000.00 by cash or certified funds is required at the time of auction. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of foreclosure auction to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of foreclosure auction. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the foreclosure auction, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of foreclosure auction forward. Purchaser agrees to pay to the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, in which case the purchaser agrees to pay attorney's fees of $1,250.00, plus costs, to the Trustees. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of foreclosure auction. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

INVITATION TO BID
MCHENRY WATER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENTS
WATER TANK RELOCATION
CONTRACT #6

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed bids for the construction of improvements to the McHenry Water System. This contract is for the relocation of an existing 30,000 gallon welded steel water tank from the Gorman area to the McHenry area for use in the McHenry Water System. The work includes but is not necessarily limited to the following: dismantling and removal of water tank; removal of existing tank coatings to AWWA Standards; testing of tank and application of new tank coatings to AWWA Standards; construction of a new tank foundation; and reassembly of tank.

A Pre-Bid Meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Monday, January 11, 2010, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the bid specifications and drawings is $50.00 per set and is nonrefundable. All out-of-town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Thursday, January 28, 2010, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, January 28, 2010. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "McHenry Water System Improvements Bid Contract 6" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to cancel this Invitation to bid and to waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
1563 Pleasant Valley Road, Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a Mortgage from Ray E. Miller and Rachel A. Miller, dated April 26, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1225 Folio 0157 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, with an original principal balance of $105,000.00, and an original interest rate of 10.59%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Rotunda Entrance at the Court House Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on December 29, 2009, at 2:00 p.m.

All that fee-simple lot of ground, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, encumbrances, prior deed(s) of trust and/or agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $13,000.00 in cash, cashier's check or certified check required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE
FEE SIMPLE DWELLING PROPERTY
KNOWN AS NO. 68 KEYSERS RIDGE ROAD
Grantsville, MD 21536

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Tanya N. Mcintosh to John Burson, Esq. Trustee(s), dated September 25, 2008, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1393, folio 0365, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees dated October 27, 2009, and recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Thomas P. Dore, Mark S. Devan, Kristen K. Haskins, Gerard F. Miles Jr., Shannon Menapace as Substituted Trustees under the Deed of Trust aforesaid, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., being the current holder of the Note(s) secured thereby, and default having occurred under the terms thereof, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse Door, Alder Street entrance, Oakland, Maryland, on Tuesday, January 12, 2010, at 11:00 a.m.

All that lot of ground and the Improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, as described in the Deed of Trust dated September 25, 2008 and recorded among the land records of Garrett County, in Liber 1393, folio 0365, also being further described in a Deed dated September 25, 2008, and recorded among the land records of Garrett County in Liber 1393, folio 0359. The Improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the Trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representations or warranties, either expressed or implied, with respect to the property including, without limitations, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property. The Trustees shall be required to convey insurable title.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $160,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $16,000.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within twenty (20) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 8.000% per annum from the date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water/sewer charges and condo/HOA dues, if any, to be adjusted to the date of sale. Ground rent, if any, whether incurred prior to or after the sale to be paid by purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the holder has entered into any agreement with or accepted funds from or on the behalf of the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract. Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay a deed preparation and document review fee of $350.00 to the Seller's attorney and an additional fee of $250.00 for the review of any motion, which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND
CASE NO. 11-C-09-011291

LINDA S. SHERBIN, TRUSTEE PLAINTIFF vs
TIMOTHY J. SKIPPER
DEFENDANT

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Under a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust from Timothy J. Skipper to Cambridge Financial Services, LC, dated July 26, 2002, and recorded July 29, 2002, in Liber No. 908, folio 584, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said deed of trust, I hereby give notice that I will, on at the hour of 11:00 a.m.

at the Alder Street entrance of the Courthouse, in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

All those parcels of land situate in Election District No. 8, Garrett County, Maryland, containing 48.95 acres, more or less, which is more particularly described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

Being the same land conveyed to Timothy J. Skipper and Cheryl Ann Skipper, husband and wife, by deed dated July 26, 2002, and recorded July 29, 2002, in Liber No. 908, folio 579, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) will be required at the time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in other form as the Trustee may determine acceptable, in her sole discretion. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys, at settlement, a fee of $225.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $150.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
2032 MARYLAND HWY.
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Mary M. Maxwell and William R. Maxwell III dated March 17, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1201, Folio 104 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $224,659.13 and an original interest rate of 9.040%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD, at the East Alder St. entrance on JANUARY 12, 2010, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $24,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

WAL-MART MAKES DONATION – The Oakland Wal-Mart recently donated $500 to Southern High School's Best Buddies program. The community-based grant was given to help develop one-on-one friendships with individuals who have disabilities within the school. Best Buddies advisor Wendy Shoemaker (right) plans to use the money to take Best Buddies participants on field trips within the community to foster those one-on-one friendships.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

A CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR A PHYSICIST

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Dear Readers: I hope this Christmas season brings you many very special blessings and joys. Christmas is about the only time of the year when anybody thinks about angels, and so I'm going to use this column to tell you about my own special gift, received several months early, but still very much on my mind.

One familiar scripture line is from Psalm 91: "For to His angels he's given a command to guard you in all of your ways; upon their hands they will bear you up, lest you dash your foot against a stone." As children many of us were taught about guardian angels, but over the decades such images drift far away from everyday consciousness.

Until it suddenly comes true.

I got hit by a car last summer. I was riding a bicycle around a big resort, where half the vehicles on the island were bicycles. I was cruising along the sidewalk about 15 mph and entered a crosswalk at an intersection (having the right of way), but a car was easing through a right- turn-on-red while the driver was looking the other way Before I could even grip my brakes, his front grille struck my left side.

As a physicist, I know perfectly well what happens when a massive body strikes a lightweight body: The smaller object goes flying. And I did. In another split second I landed on the pavement about 10 feet away. The guy jammed on his brakes, so I didn't get run over, but I was definitely airborne briefly. Somewhat later, I examined the bicycle and saw that the frame was so badly bent that the back wheel wouldn't rotate anymore. It was a genuine collision, all right.

I did not hit my head on the pavement, but landed on my side and shoulder. I got up promptly, and presently there was a different guy standing there, an EMT who happened to be passing by in the traffic. He looked me over, asked me some questions (to discern head trauma), and concluded I was not seriously hurt. Another couple of minutes and the cops arrived, probably due to someone's 911 call.

The police asked whether I needed to go to the hospital, and after carefully considering my condition, we concluded I did not. They collected information from the driver, who was clearly shaken. Eventually the police gave me a ride back to my car at the bike shop, and the entire incident was over.

Later still I looked at my clothing – not even scuffed – and realized I had no bruises, not a scratch. Whatever happened sure doesn't match my understanding of the physics of colliding masses.

In half a year, the image of the moment of collision remains in my memory. The obvious question arises "Why me, Lord? What have I ever done to deserve this protection?" The Bible teaches that God's first answer is always "Nothing – it's a free gift." Maybe God's more precisely directed answer is "Look, Mr. Hot-Shot Physicist, I'm going to present you with this gift on your own terms, in your very own language of forces and momentum and collisions."

To brush aside this gift with the excuse "just lucky" is impossible for me. "Just lucky" is leaving the hospital six hours later, stitched up and wearing many bandages, and holding a prescription for pain killer, but with a clean MRI. Walking away without a scratch is a most elegantly wrapped gift indeed.

There are always ancillary questions. Why did one co-worker (Smith) recover from cancer while another (Jones) died of cancer? What about that baby who was rushed to the hospital with a rare blood condition? And so forth. Thousands of years ago, the book of Job in the Bible dealt with such questions, and still reminds us of the inadequacy of human comprehension.

In the popular hymn "On Eagle's Wings" the refrain goes, "He will raise you up on eagle's wings ... and hold you in the palm of His hand." This hymn is often used at funerals, because of the hope it conveys. The metaphor in Psalm 91 about dashing your foot fits in well, because it points to God's caring for each individual. Our real purpose and destiny is a unity with God that transcends the familiar earthly life governed by the laws of physics.

It's nice to be reminded of that, even in a totally unexpected way. May your Christmas be a most blessed one.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Omission Noted

Information was omitted in last week's photo caption about the local Military Family Support Group's trip to Arlington National Cemetery: Garrett Automotive donated the use of a van for the group members to pay their respects to the fallen soldiers.

Charged With Violation Of Protective Order

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a man after responding to a complaint of a suspicious person.

After deputies responded to an Alder Street residence, investigation revealed that Justin D. Saylor had entered the residence in violation of a protective order. Saylor is charged with violation of an active protective order He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Time To Make New Year s Financial Resolutions

Like many people, you may make some New Year's resolutions. Perhaps you've promised yourself you'll visit the gym more often or learn a new language or reconnect with a long-lost friend. All of these are worthy goals, of course, and if you achieve them, you may add new dimensions to your life. But if you want to accomplish other major milestones you may have envisioned — a new home, college for your kids, a comfortable retirement and so on — you may need to set some New year's financial resolutions.

What type of financial resolutions should you make? Here are a few ideas to consider - Contribute as much as you can afford to your 401(k). Take full advantage of your 401(k) or other employer sponsored retirement plan. Your contributions are typically tax-deductable, and your earnings grow on a tax-deferred hasis. Every time you get a boost in salary, try to increase the amount going into your 401 (k), but at the very least, contribute enough to earn the employer's match, if one is offered. In 2010, the contribution limit for 401 (k) plans is $16,500, or $22,000 if you're age 50 or older, although both these limits may increase if they are indexed for inflation.

- "Max out" on your IRA. Even if you have a 401(k), you're probably still eligible to contribute to an IRA. A traditional IRA grows tax deferred, while a Roth IRA's earnings are tax-free, provided you've had your account at least five years and don't start taking withdrawls until you're age 59½. (Your ability to contribute to a Roth IRA is based on your income.) You can fund your IRA with virtually any type of investment. In 2010, you can put up to $5,000 into your IRA, or $6,000 if you're age 50 or older, although, as was the case with your 401 (k), these limits may rise if they've indexed for inflation.
- Rebalance your investments as needed. Over time, your goals and risk tolerance can change. That's why it's a good idea to review and rebalance your portfolio at least once a year, possibly with the help of a professional financial advisor who is familiar with your situation.
- Avoid "emotional" investing. Don't make decisions based on emotional reactions to what's happening with your investments. For example, just because the price of an investment may have dropped significantly, it doesn't mean you should rush to sell it. Despite the price drop, it may still have good prospects, and it might be an important part of your investment strategy. Consider all factors before making "buy" or "sell" decisions.
- Keep sufficient cash in your portfolio. During the long bear market of 2008 and early 2009, many investors discovered that they lacked enough cash and "cash equivalent" vehicles in their portfolios. Of course, you need enough cash on hand to meet unexpected expenses without dipping into long-term investments. But beyond that, the presence of cash and short-term, more liquid investments can help reduce the volatility in a portfolio that may sometimes be battered by both the stock and bound markets.

These financial resolutions, like all types of New Year's resolutions, may not be easy to keep. But if you can stick with them, you may have many happy new years in the future.

Homeland Security Funding Allocated To Garrett County

Gov. Martin O'Malley announced yesterday the allocation of $154,362 to Garrett County through the federal State Homeland Security Program, a grant program through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security that enhances local homeland security capabilities through planning, equipment, training, and exercise activities.

The allocation is part of a federal core assistance program that provides funds to build capabilities at the state and local levels, and to implement the goals and objectives of state homeland security strategies and initiatives.

"Ensuring the public safety is among the most solemn obligations we have as public servants," said O'Malley. "These federal dollars allow jurisdictions to prepare and modernize their local homeland security procedures in line with state and federal priorities, and together, we will continue making progress toward our goal of a safer state for our families."

Since FY 2007, the O'Malley-Brown administration has allocated over $544,000 of these federal homeland security funds to Garrett County, and over $45.5 million statewide.

These funds were secured for the state of Maryland with the help of Maryland's congressional delegation, including Sen. Barbara Mikulski and Rep. Dutch Ruppersberger, and members of their respective Homeland Security Appropriations subcommittees.

In the past three years, the O'Malley-Brown administration has made "steady progress" to enhance the state of Maryland's homeland security and emergency preparedness, according to the governor's office, including:

• For the first time, Maryland has begun the preliminary stages that will ALWAYS A BEAUTIFUL CONTRAST – A red bird in the white snow on an evergreen — a visual gift of winter to all who appreciate such sights. One does have to wonder how such tiny creatures stay warm in this brutal environment, and it has indeed been brutal over the past several weeks, with more to come. The forecast is full of snow, cold, and even some ice. Staying inside is a good idea, although many will be out tonight, bidding goodbye to 2009 and celebrating the first moments of the new year. The sky will be bright with a rare New Year's Eve "blue moon," or the second full moon in the month. That happens on Dec. 31 only once every 19 years. Happy New Year to all! Stay safe! And stay warm, little bird. Photo by Lisa Rook.

Md. Unveils Online Education Course For Local Planning Commissions, Bds.

The Maryland Department of Planning (MDP) today released its "Planning Commission, Planning Board and Board of Appeals Education Course," required by the Smart and Sustainable Growth Act of 2009 (SB 280/HB 297).

All current members of local planning commissions and boards plus boards of appeals must complete an education course before July 1, 2010. This is an on-going educational requirement, so new members must complete an education course within six months of their appointment.

The online course can be accessed at Planning.Maryland.gov and is also available on paper and CD-ROM by contacting MDP.

"Citizens appointed to local planning commissions or boards, and boards of appeal often find themselves overwhelmed when they attend their first board meeting," said Richard E. Hall, secretary of planning. "Making planning decisions affecting their communities is complex and demanding. Because of this complexity, I am pleased to make MDP's online planning education course available to support these 'citizen planners.'

"My department and staff are committed to providing assistance to our local partners," Hall added. "This is part of our effort to focus on the fundamentals of planning in Maryland."

This new requirement applies to all local governments with planning authority. The Smart and Sustainable Growth Act states that the course must include

Garrett Co. Health Department Issues Info About H1N1 Flu Vaccine Recall

by Diane Lee, public information officer, GC Health Department

Even if you have received either of the two different types of H1N1 flu vaccine that have been recalled in recent weeks, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the manufacturers are assuring recipients that there is no need get an additional dose.

The slight decrease in potency found in routine quality assurance testing for each recall should not affect how the vaccine works.

In the most recent recall, MedImmune, the manufacturer of the nasal spray H1N1 flu vaccine, is recalling 13 batches of nasal spray vaccine. During routine quality assurance testing, the potency of these batches of vaccine spray fell slightly below a pre-specified limit.

According to MedImmune and CDC, the slight decrease in potency should not affect how the vaccine works, but they are sending providers directions for returning any unused vaccine from these lots.

"We don't have any recalled vaccine in our inventory," said Jennifer Lee-Steckman, director of personal health at the Garrett County Health Department. "Although some of the recalled lot numbers were used here in the past, CDC is assuring us that we don't have to revaccinate anyone who received the vaccine before it was recalled. The recall is simply intended to return the unused vaccine before its potency drops low enough to make so it's not protecting the recipient against the flu."

Earlier in the month another manufacturer, Sanofi Pasteur, recalled four lots of vaccine packaged in prefilled syringes for children from 6 months to 3 years old. The CDC also assured parents that this recall did not require any action for children who received the vaccine.

"Although the Health Department didn't have any of the first H1N1 flu vaccine that was recalled," said Lee-Steckman, "it's important to understand that according to CDC anyone who received a vaccine from any of the recalled batches does not need to get revaccinated."

Although the lots being recalled had passed all quality controls and met all specifications before they were shipped, the manufac

One Man Injured When Van Collides With Tractor Trailer

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a two-vehicle accident on George Washington Highway that resulted in one man taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Investigation revealed that Walter T. Cooper, 51, Kerens, W.Va., was operating a 2006 Peterbilt tractor trailer southbound on Gorman Road, Rt. 560. Michael Hale-Cooper, 46, Gorman, was operating a 1990 Chevrolet van on Gorman Street and pulled out onto Gorman Road. Hale-Cooper did not yield right of way to the oncoming truck, causing a collision. Both vehicles reportedly sustained severe damage.

Hale-Cooper was taken by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH. Gorman firefighters also responded to the scene. Hale-Cooper was determined to be at fault in the accident, and charges are pending completion of the investigation.

Man Arrested After Breaking Into An Oakland Residence

An Oakland man was arrested by Oakland Police after it was discovered that he had broken into the residence of the late Maureen "Pat" Bobo. Neighbors called in to report a breaking and entering in progress.

Officer Sines and Deputy Bacon responded to the area of Seventh and Green streets. They identified the home as Bobo's and knew it was currently vacant. The suspect had reportedly entered the home through a rear door, which was found unsecured with fresh snow inside the door. The suspect was observed standing inside the door, up against the wall, when he was advised to show himself. He was identified as Ronald E. Tasker Jr.

Tasker reportedly had attempted to take from the residence a pair of gloves, two packs of sand paper, two bags of steel wool, two metal scrapers, two paint brushes, one wire brush, a

Warm The Children '09 Breaks Records In Donations And In Children Served

The weak economy of the past few years has not dampened the local and regional support of the Warm the Children (WTC) program, as evidenced by this year's record-breaking donations that totaled over $37,800. The program is operated by The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland each year, and provides local children in need with new winter clothing and footwear.

"It was amazing to me how much money came in, despite the daily reports of the terrible economy," said Mary McEwen, director of the program at the newspaper. "It was certainly a good thing, though, because the economy did affect many, many people in the county, as our requests for help were definitely up."

Betty Ellington, the volunteer coordinator for the program and the Civic Club liaison, said the volunteers were kept very busy this year.

"According to my records, we shopped for 372 children, 112 families," Ellington said. "We spent approximately $39,500."

The total spent includes money left over from last year's effort. The WTC organizers try to leave a "cushion" of money in the account each year so that the shopping can commence immediately again the following autumn, just as the request for donations goes out. The remaining funds are also used anytime during the year in the event of a crisis that leaves children in need of clothing or shoes.

Warm the Children is a fairly simple program, which organizers feel is the reason donors are inspired to participate. A request for funding is made weekly in The Republican via a large advertisement. At the same time, eligible children are selected throughout the county with the help of the public school system and other child welfare organizations. Volunteers are recruited to be shoppers as well.

When there are sufficient funds, the eligible children and their parents are accompanied by a volunteer shopper on a trip to WalMart, where up to $125 is spent on each child for clothing and footwear. The money is spent on nothing else except in the case of infants, for whom blankets and diapers are also purchased when needed.

The donations are tracked at the newspaper office, and addresses of the contributors are then handed over to another Civic Club member, Ellen Fritz. Fritz oversees the thank-you note writing crew. A handwritten card is then sent to every donor, complete with the proper tax language required for such contributions. The cards are printed at the Sincell Publishing Company, and the postage cost is shared between the newspaper and the Civic Club.

Each week the donors are recognized in a thank-you advertisement in the newspaper as well.

"It's more of a process than people might imagine," said McEwen. "But the Civic Club is wonderful, as are our many volunteers in the Grantsville area. We shop at both the Oakland store and the WalMart in LaVale, so that folks all over the county can be

Plow Slides In Icy Parking Lot, Crashes Into BFS

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to BFS on Maryland Highway on Friday for a motor vehicle accident involving a Maryland State Highway Administration snowplow.

Investigation revealed that Robert Swinson, 62, Oakland, was operating a 2001 International truck with a snowplow, when the truck slid on the iced surface of the parking lot and crashed into a furnace room attached to the building. The building sustained damage.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene. No citations were issued.

NOW, THAT'S HOW YOU PLOW SNOW – Five local State Highway Administration employees recently traveled downstate to help out with snow removal in Glen Burnie and Annapolis. The crews left on Sunday, Dec. 20, and returned on Wednesday, Dec. 23. According to the National Weather Service, Glen Burnie received 22.5 inches and the state capital received 20.8 inches of snow. Garrett County got about 18 inches. While this was an unusual amount of snow for early winter downstate, most western Maryland residents (including those who drive snowplows) probably took these "few inches" of flakes in stride. Oakland Man Found Guilty For Theft, Sentenced To 90 Days

An Oakland man was recently sentenced in Garrett County District Court, where he was found guilty of theft by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert.

Victor Franklin Gardea Jr., 30, was found guilty for a theft valued less than $100 charge, and was sentenced to 90 days with 80 days suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and suspended fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers responded to Browning's Foodland in July for a reported shoplifter that was being detained. Upon arrival, officers met with the store manager, and investigation revealed that Gardea had put a packet of Benadryl into his pocket and attempted to leave the store without paying for it. The product was valued at $4.51. No other charges were filed.

In an unrelated hearing, Scott Joseph Edelman, 48, Carlisle, Pa., was found guilty for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana charge, and was sentenced to 90 days with 86 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $407.50 in fines.

Maryland State Police conducted a traffic stop on Edelman in August for traffic violations. After making contact with him, troopers observed a container in the car that contained suspected marijuana. Edelman admitted that it was his, and also handed over a smoking device that contained trace amounts of suspected marijuana and another container filled with marijuana. A probably cause search was conducted on the suspect vehicle which revealed no other illegal drugs or paraphernalia.

Edelman was placed under arrest and transported to the McHenry Barrack for further processing. He was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of paraphernalia.

In another district court proceeding, Gregory John Ashby, 40, Thomas, W.Va., was found guilty of theft valued at more than $500, and was sentenced to 90 days with all being suspended, two years of unsupervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Oakland police responded to WalMart in April in response to a theft complaint, and upon arrival, officers made contact with Ashby. Ashby had been observed collecting items throughout the store and placing them in a container. It was reported that he attempted to leave the store without paying for the items, which amounted to $792.30. No other charges were filed.

In a separate court hearing, Robert E. Johnson, 44, Accident, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500, and was sentenced to 60 days with 53 days credit for time served, and restitution costs of $100 to be paid to the victim.

It was reported that Johnson entered an Accident residence, and allegedly became belligerent. He was asked to leave by the owner of the residence, at which time he threatened the victim, walked out, and kicked through a gate. He was not prosecuted on charges of disturbing the peace and arson/threat.

Anthony Archer, 27, McHenry, was found guilty for a charge of obscene telephone misuse, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $207.50 in fines.

MSP reported that in October, Archer allegedly sent a text message to another adult that showed a picture of a tattoo with obscene language. No other charges were filed.

Kevin Lyle Swing, 30, Aurora, W.Va., was found guilty of disorderly conduct, and sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, six months of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines.

It was reported that in June, Swing had entered the Garrett County sheriff's office and became disorderly toward officers. After repeatedly being asked to lower his voice and not to speak in a vulgar manner, he was placed under arrest. He was not prosecuted on charges of disturbing the peace and failure to obey a reasonable and lawful order.

Matthew Paul Folmar, 20, Fairfax, Va., and Anthony Michael Ramos, 20, Morgantown, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and were sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $157.50 in fines.

They were charged in July resulting from a traffic stop by GCSO and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. While officers conducted the traffic stop, a K-9 scan of the vehicle was performed, yielding a positive alert for the presence of drugs. Folmar reportedly advised that he had two pipes in his backpack that were found to contain burnt marijuana residue. Ramos admitted to having a pipe in a pair of pants located in the vehicle. They were not prosecuted on a CDS possession of marijuana charge.

Zaakir Morris, 26, Harrisburg, Pa., pleaded guilty to a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $157.50 in fines.

Morris was stopped for speeding violations in July by GCSO and members of the GCNTF, and a K-9 search of the vehicle was performed. Upon a positive alert for the presence of drugs, a search revealed a smoking pipe and a bag containing trace marijuana.

Morris was placed under arrest and transported to the Garrett County Detention Center. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of marijuana charge.

David Franklin Dever, 21, Oakland, was charged in October with second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500, stemming from a domestic dispute. His charges were placed on stet with conditions of attending and completing an alcohol treatment and to have no violent contact with the assault victim.

Lewis Harry McKenzie, 34, Bittinger, was found not guilty for a June charge of detaining a child/relative in the state. It was reported that McKenzie was to return a minor at a specified time and failed to do so.

Timothy Andre Green, 28, Washington, D.C., was not prosecuted on charges of second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500. Green was charged in October by GCSO, stemming from a domestic dispute.

Scot Anthony Bowman, 29, Oakland, was not prosecuted for a second-degree assault charge, stemming from a domestic dispute in October.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Adam Kayne Miller, 24, Md., pleaded guilty to a DUI per se charge from November, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on a second charge of DUI per se, two charges of DUI, two charges of DWI, and one charge of driving a motor vehicle within 12 hours after being arrested for previous violations.

James Alan Mohler, 51, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DUI per se charge from September, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Roy Samuel Williams, 45, Md., was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI from October.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Shawn James Beaudry, 33, Md., was found not guilty for a September charge of failure to stop for a stopped school vehicle operating alternately flashing red lights.

Jessica Dawn Cou-ghenour, 25, Pa., pleaded guilty to a November charge of failure to remain stopped for a stopped school vehicle operating alternately flashing red lights. She received a PBJ verdict and was fined $325.50.

GC Electrical Mechanical Assn. To Meet Jan. 6

The Garrett County Electrical Mechanical Association (GCEMA) will hold a meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 6, at 7 p.m. in Room 224 at Garrett College. All area contractors and their employees associated with electrical, plumbing, and HVAC work are invited to attend GCEMA meetings.

Sarah J. Wilt will be the guest speaker for the meeting. Wilt is a certified bookkeeper and QuickBooks Pro advisor. She is versed in bookkeeping, reporting, and tax preparations for businesses in the local area.

The new 2009 International Mechanical Code that has been adopted in Maryland will also be discussed at the meeting.

An informational briefing or presentation is planned for each regular monthly meeting on the first Wednesday of each month throughout the year.

The GCEMA is a nonprofit, member-driven organization for electrical, plumbing, and HVAC contractors and their employees, established to advance professionalism and represent a collective voice to communicate on local, state, and national levels, a spokesperson said.

Charged With Second-Degree Assault By GCSO

A woman was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after they responded to a Garrett Highway residence for a domestic dispute. Alice Mae Gaither is charged with second degree assault. She was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

LOOKING FOR A TAX DEDUCTION ... WHICH WILL AID A MISSIONS PROJECT?

Assistance to our missions projects will earn you a year-end tax deduction.

Currently, His Way Missions is involved in a major venture in a remote area of Guatemala, where we are constructing an irrigation system to bring water to a village of approximately 200 people, for consumption and crop irrigation. This undertaking is in need of an additional $23,000 for completion. Any amount donated toward this much-needed water project would be greatly appreciated.

Other His Way projects in Guatemala, such as life-saving water filters ($50 each) and efficient, vented stoves, which also save many lives ($150) are also in need of funding, as well as projects in our local area.

An important aspect of His Way Missions is that there are no administrative costs to deplete the donated funds. Every contributed dollar is spent directly on missions projects. All administrative expenses are paid from personal funds. Receipts for donations are issued promptly.

Contributions may be made payable to His Way Trust and forwarded to First United Bank & Trust, c/o Trust Department, PO Box 9, Oakland, MD 21550.

For questions, please refer to www.hiswaymissions.com or e-mail jenjoy@verizon.net or call Tom at 301-334-1808.

Investigation revealed that the juvenile had attempted to jump a snow bank, when the vehicle flipped over and landed on his right hand. He was treated by ER staff.

Man Arrested By GCSO On Court Warrant

A Mtn. Lake Park man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on the strength of a District Court warrant Tuesday evening.

Keith Wayne Fike, 37, is charged with a relative detaining in the state a minor child from the child's legal guardian for over 48 hours. The warrant was obtained by the victim. Fike was taken into custody and held at the Garrett County Detention Center pending a bond hearing.

Man Charged With Resisting Arrest, DUI, Other Charges

A traffic stop initiated by Maryland State Police resulted in the arrest of a Grantsville man.

Police stopped a Nissan Titan pickup truck on Rt. 40 in Grantsville and identified the driver as Mark Robert Watkins. Watkins was given field sobriety tests, which were not completed to the satisfaction of the trooper. He then resisted arrest and had to be forcibly restrained.

Watkins was transported to the Western Maryland Health System Center by ambulance for treatment of injuries sustained. He is charged with speeding, resisting arrest, driving under the influence, and several other charges.

Arrest Of Man In Deer Park Results In DUI Charges

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a man in Deer Park after responding to a complaint of a suspicious vehicle on Hooker Street.

Investigation revealed that the driver, Jonathan Robert Collins, was operating the vehicle under the influence of alcohol. He is charged with DUI, driving while impaired, a seat belt violation, and violating a license restriction. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Columbia Gas Offers Payment Assistance Prog.

Columbia Gas of Maryland is urging customers to plan ahead for winter heating bills and utilize the many available payment assistance programs. Columbia Gas provides programs that enable customers with limited or low income, special circumstances, or trying to re-establish service with options in paying their utility bills.

"We strongly urge customers who may be experiencing or anticipating difficulty in paying their winter heating bills to contact Columbia Gas before they get behind in their payments," said Deb Cochenour, Columbia Gas of Maryland manager of universal services. "Our goal is to enroll income-eligible customers in the available assistance programs, but customers need to contact us in order to participate in these programs."

Programs available to Columbia Gas of Maryland customers include the following:

Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP)

Columbia Gas serves as a link to federal energy assistance funds which provide help with residential heating costs. These energy grants do not have to be repaid by the customer.

Enrollment guidelines are based on household size and income, and change each new heating season.

MEAP applications are accepted year-round. For more information or to apply for MEAP, persons may call Columbia Gas at 1-800-537-7431.

Utility Service Protection Program (USPP)

USPP protects families with low incomes from utility cut-offs and allows MEAP eligible households to enter into a monthly payment program to help stabilize energy bills. MEAP grants are deducted from the estimated annual gas costs, lowering monthly budget payments.

For households with back bills, special agreements with Columbia Gas are available to arrange for payment on the balance.

For more information or to apply for USPP, one may call Columbia Gas at 1-800-537-7431.

Heat Share

The Columbia Gas Fuel Fund provides energy grants to customers with low incomes for use in offsetting arrears or restoring service to terminated accounts.

Heat Share funds are only available to customers who have exhausted all other available energy assistance programs. For more information or to apply for Heat Share, customers may call Columbia Gas at 1-800-537-7431.

Low Income Weatherization Program (LIW)

Columbia Gas customers with low incomes in Allegany and Washington counties can receive a free energy audit to help reduce annual heating costs from this joint program of Columbia Gas of Maryland and the Maryland Office of Weatherization.

The LIW Program identifies opportunities to better weatherize the home and helps seal the home to reduce heat loss and reduce the annual natural gas consumption.

For more information about the LIW Program or to apply:

•Residents of Garrett County can receive weatherization services through the Maryland Human Resources Development Commission's Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP).

For more information or to apply for WAP, Garrett County residents should call the Maryland Department of Human Resources office in Oakland at 301-334-5413.

•Allegany County residents should call the Allegany County Office of Home Energy Programs at 301-777-8550.

•Washington County residents should call Washington County Community Action at 301-797-4161.

Budget Payment Plan

Columbia Gas Budget Payment Plans allow customers to spread the cost of winter heating bills evenly across the year based on estimated natural gas usage.

The budget year begins in May, but customers can enroll anytime during the year. For more information on Budget Payment Plans or to apply, persons may call Columbia Gas at 1-888-460-4332.

ARE TWO BETTER THAN ONE?

People may balk at the thought of wearing two hearing instruments, but so-called "binaural" hearing instruments offer distinct advantages to those with hearing impairment in each ear. Hearing with both ears not only increases awareness, but it is more comfortable and draws less attention to listen to conversations head-on rather than turning one's head to hear. Moreover, the ability to localize the source of sound largely depends on the brain's ability to process two incoming acoustic sources rather than just one. And if a person with hearing impairment in both ears wears only one hearing instrument, there may be more rapid deterioration of hearing ability in the unaided ear than there would be if hearing instruments were worn in both ears.

We take the responsibility very seriously of matching every patient with the hearing instruments best suited to his or her special circumstances. We then use sophisticated technology to achieve the most accurate, comfortable, custom fit. Is your hearing in need of a boost? Call us at AUDIBEL to arrange a hearing evaluation and to see the astonishing hearing instruments available today.

P.S. The use of binaural instruments also increases wearers' confidence, appreciation of their surroundings, and the speed of conversational response.

It's Up To Us...

It's hard to believe that it has been a decade ago that the world was so panicky about the pending jump into a new millennium, some predicting that aircraft would fall from the sky, banking systems would go belly-up, and that our toasters would simply stop working. Of course, next to nothing negative happened when the secondhand of the clock swept past midnight into the year 2000. Disaster was averted in some cases because proper "adjustments" were made prior to the calendar change (as in banking), and in others because the concerns were bogus to begin with. (That toaster couldn't have cared less about the date change.)

That was one New Year's when few people were making any kind of resolutions to improve their lives; we were all just hoping to survive the leap into Y-2K. But most years many of us do make a variety of personal resolutions to change our behavior in some way. The majority of them are health related, as we vow to take better care of ourselves in the coming year by dropping bad habits and adopting healthier ones. Sadly, though, the great majority of them fall by the wayside before Groundhog Day.

As we plunge into 2010 tonight, health concerns are even more on our minds, with each house of Congress having passed some form of massive, controversial, and extremely complicated health care reform legislation. There is still much to be done, as the Senate and the House must now merge their two different bills into one, but health care reform seems inevitable some time in 2010. While most Americans agree that health care reform is greatly needed, there's almost no agreement on how it should be reformed.

Regardless of what is ultimately passed into law, the fact of the matter is, health care reform is not generally going to make us a healthier nation. Yes, it will probably save some lives, as certain currently uninsured individuals will be provided treatment for a particular ailment that they would not receive if they did not have insurance. But health care reform is not going to be the magic bullet that dramatically improves the overall health status of our population. Let's face it, too many Americans eat too much, exercise too little, drink too much, smoke, use drugs, don't deal with stress well, fail to wear a seat belt, or ignore gun safety. There is little that a doctor or a hospital can do for us. The one thing that can bring about a dramatic change is taking individual, personal responsibility for one's own health. In other words, for us to become a healthier nation, we as individuals are going to have to make those aforementioned New Year's resolutions, and then stick to them.

Many citizens still believe that government can "fix" all of society's ills, and in so believing, they abdicate all personal responsibility. Improving our own health status as a nation is almost entirely up to us as individuals.

To the Editor:

This year has been challenging for many families throughout our region. A poor economy has robbed many people of their homes, jobs, and basic necessities.

This holiday season, I ask your readers to please think of their personal blessings and consider helping those less fortunate right here in our community.

A gift to United Way is more powerful than one can imagine, and 99 cents of every dollar goes to work where we live, addressing major needs in our community. So we ask local residents to please consider sending a tax-deductible contribution or pledge to United Way of Garrett County.

To those who have already given, please accept our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for making a difference in the lives of so many.

To the Editor:

This is in response to last week's letter by Bill Thomas. Several things came to mind after reading his letter, and I thought I would share them with your readers.

First of all, when did healthcare become a good, not a right? I hope you understand the differences. A good is something that the government can give you. A right is something that the government should not be able to take from you.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, of the supposed 46 million without health care:

•10 million are illegal immigrants who have no right to U.S health insurance,

•9 million have incomes over $75 K a year and choose not to have it, or don't have it for 6 months or less, and

•12 million are eligible for Medicaid and the State Children's Health Insurance Program, but didn't sign up.

So, at least 31 million are uninsured in ways that require no fix from the federal government. Further, the government wants to screw it up for the 250 million who are happy with having the best care in the world the way it is now.

Why do I owe you or anyone else health care, especially those who can afford insurance but choose not to buy it because they want a big house they cannot afford, a new SUV they cannot afford, and every expensive toy you can think of.

Our president told the world we are not a Judeo-Christian nation, and furthermore, Jesus would sit back and watch 44,000 people die, because he knows what's on the other side of death. In fact, he already did do just that. Death is just the next step, from the day you were born, you are destined to die. Death will win in the end, and nothing you or our government does will stop that.

Another bit of information that needs to be mentioned is that most hospitals in this country are "state-operated," meaning they must treat anyone who needs emergency medical treatment. If you go to GCMH on your death bed, they will help you regardless of whether or not you have insurance. You may be responsible for paying part of all of the cost of the treatment you receive, but isn't that the American way (pay for what you get)?

To the Editor:

Well, once again, another beautiful Christmas has come and gone, and once again, a small minority of paranoid people have used it as an opportunity to start arguments about their imagined "oppression."

Every year I'm subjected to at least three or four argumentative folks insisting that Christ is purposefully being shouldered out of Christmas. You know, a few years ago, good Christian people were still allowed to say "Happy Holidays" without it implying anything other than genuine goodwill. Now, thanks to an anxious, fear-driven minority, whether you say Merry Christmas or Happy Holidays is a political statement, signaling your allegiance to either Bill O'Reilly or Stalin.

But I can't help but notice that the same folks who look you intimidatingly in the eye and say "Merry Christmas" loudly and proudly each year are the same folks who shop like lunatics all season, never missing a Black Friday sale at Belk's or a dollar-off knickknack at Walmart, paying only lip service to the notion of a less consumerism at Christmas.

I have, however, met many inspiring Christians all over the country who consciously endeavor to make Christmas a time of humility and service, and intentionally shun consumerism each year. And when they say "Merry Christmas," or even "Happy Holidays" for that matter, it's not with an argumentative or defensive tone, but one of genuine goodwill.

It seems, then, that if the way you live your life is truly aligned with your values, you may not feel the need to defend yourself so voraciously. One of the things Christmas is and always has been about is community, and strengthening community bonds during the darkest, coldest, most difficult time of year. Divisiveness, let alone hypocritical divisiveness, is a sport best played on another holiday. Like Election Day, maybe. Merry Christmas!

To the Editor:

The key to real competition, greater choice, and lower health care costs is the inclusion of a public insurance option in the final health care bill, now being negotiated between the U.S. Senate and the House.

Garrett Countians should let Senators Mikulski and Cardin and Congressman Bartlett know that we support the public option as it appears in the House bill.

To the Editor:

Every now and then a little reminder comes along about what a great community Garrett County is.

Glotfelty Enterprises on Rt. 219 in Oakland has been fixing tires a lot longer than I have lived in Garrett County, and they have built an excellent reputation over many decades. Recently I went there with a leaky tire on my car.

It turned out that my tire had been punctured not by just a nail, nor a stone, but a large piece of a chain link (which probably broke off somebody's snowplow). For this kind of thing, other tire shops – certainly all the big national chains – would have said, "Oh well, too bad, road hazard, no warranty, go buy yourself a new tire." That would have cost me about $150.

The staff at Glotfelty instead took the customer's point of view: They worked very diligently for substantial time to carefully extract the metal object from my tire, thus making it repairable. And when they finished, I was astounded: The only word for their repair bill was "tiny."

It's really wonderful to realize that here in Garrett County, far from the commerce and advertizing of the big city, we have merchants of high skill and exceptional service like Glotfelty.

served conveniently."

With the newspaper publishing the advertisements at its own cost, as well as the cards, and all the volunteers offering their time to shop and write cards and other tasks, there is no overhead for the program.

"Every penny donated to our effort goes to a child in need, simply put," McEwen said. "That's one of the best parts of the program."

McEwen was assisted this year by Civic Club member Beverly Maynard in collecting and recording the donations. Lisa Broadwater, the manager at the newspaper's Grantsville office, headed up the volunteer organization in her area, and also again assisted with sending out letters to all the local schools at the start of the program.

"And Dora Hanlin at the Department of Social Services was again invaluable to our program," McEwen said, "helping us find our children once again."

The experiences of the volunteers are many and varied, but almost all are positive.

"Several families this year had never received WTC before," Broadwater noted. "They all said how this economy is hurting them. They are working and trying, but money just doesn't stretch far enough. Some of them were laid off for the first time in their lives. Some of them said that as soon as they are on their feet, WTC will be the first place they donate to."

Broadwater is also a volunteer shopper and goes on several trips each year.

"One little boy, a kindergartner, was so sweet, he hugged me when we started, again each time we found some stuff for him, and then in the checkout line," Broadwater said. "As I finished for him, he hugged me again and said he would hug me every time he sees me.

"This one of the most rewarding things I have ever helped with. Everyone is gracious and kind and appreciative," she said.

Dorothy Cathell is a member of the Civic Club who helps each year with the accounting process.

"I was in WalMart rather late in the day when I saw several shoppers, a couple already helping the people getting what they needed and a couple waiting for their people to arrive. The volunteers were so helpful, friendly, and polite in making these folks feel comfortable," Cathell said. "I was amazed at how much money came in from near and far when we have a tight economy. Evidently people feel that it's a great program."

Maynard said she enjoyed participating in the functioning of the program.

"I felt that at every minute, the program was helping somebody, unlike some other volunteer activities that are not necessarily as productive," Maynard said. "I think it is a well-run program by people who really care about the recipients.

"It felt particulariy good when I realized a little boy I know was a recipient. When I saw him, he said 'Look at my new boots! They are shiny, red and black.' He was thrilled. It works!" she said.

The campaign came to a close just in the past two weeks, as a few more families were served most recently. The donation period will start again next October.

"To all our generous donors, we thank you so much," McEwen said. "Your contributions are in good hands, and will be used just as you intended. And thanks to our willing, tireless volunteers as well. Without you, the program would never fly. Through our efforts, 372 Garrett County children are warmer this winter."

Adorable Adoptables

LOTS OF CANINES ARE AVAILABLE for adoption this week at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. They include four young Aussie-Lab-shepherd mixes, males and females (pictured above); a large black Lab mix with white feet that was picked up without any ID tags along Shenandoah Avenue in Loch Lynn; and a husky-collie mix that was adopted this summer and brought back to the shelter because his owners are moving. The shelter is full to capacity with dogs; there were no adoptions or reclaims this week. There are also many cats to from which to chose. "Remember to provide bedding for your outside pets to keep them warm in these freezing temperatures," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokesperson. "There is some straw available at the shelter provided for free by the GC Humane Society. Call ahead to make sure there is some left for you to pick up." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. The facility is located along Oakland Sang Run Road.

Unveils Course

education on the role of the comprehensive plan, proper standards for speeial exeeptions and varianees, if applicable, and the jurisdiction's zoning ordinances and regulations, planned development ordinances and regulations, subdivision ordinanees and regulations, and other land use ordinanees and regulations.

The law also authorizes eounties and municipalities to develop their own edueational course if they ehoose.

The objectives and reeommended course eurriculum was developed in eonjunction with the Task Force on the Future for Growth and Development with input from the Maryland Association of Counties, the Maryland Municipal League, the Maryland Planning Commissioners Asseiation, and others. MDP then created the eontent for the self-guided modules and reviews as an online eourse at Planning.Maryland.gov.

The Smart and Sustainable Growth Aet was passed by the 2009 General Assembly and signed into law by Gov. Martin O'Malley on May 7.

In addition to the edueation course requirement the law elarifies the link between loeal eomprehensive plans and local land use ordinances. It defines the current requirement of "eonsistency."

Actions that are "eonsistent with" or have "eonsistency with" a eomprehensive plan are actions that further, and are not eontrary to, other items in the plan.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

JANUARY SUN – As January begins, the sun is in front of the stars of Sagittarius, moving about a degree a day eastward relative to the stars. On January 19, the sun enters the star group Capricornus, where it stays through mid February. Both of the above star groups are lost in the sun's glare in January. The star group Aquarius is behind (east) of the sun, so it sets after the sun, appearing low in the southwestern dusk. The star group Scorpius (to the west of the sun) rises before the sun and is visible low in the southeastern dawn. In early January, sunrises in Oakland are about 7:38 a.m., while sunsets are about 5:05 p.m.(9.6 hours of daylight). Around the end of January, Garrett County's sunrises are about 7:25 a.m., and sunsets occur about 5:35 p.m. (10.2 hours of daylight). So during January, the stars are last seen around 6:30 a.m. (early dawn), and then reappear about 6:20 p.m. (late dusk).

JANUARY MOON – There will be a full moon on New Year's Eve, so there will be early evening moonlight on January 1 and 2. Late in the evening of January 5, the moon will appear near the planet Saturn in the east. After January 5, the moon rises after midnight and is best seen at dawn. On the morning of January 12, a very slender crescent moon appears near the planet Mercury low in the southeastern dawn. On January 16, the moon reappears low in the western dusk. On the next night, the crescent moon appears near the very bright planet Jupiter. On January 22, the evening moon appears half full, offering the best views with a telescope of its craters and mountain ranges. Look along the moon's left or straighter edge. There you will see the craters most easily and any nearby lunar mountain ranges. The moon is full on the evening of January 29, appearing near the bright planet Mars. For the next two evenings, the moon shines brightly in the early evening sky.

JANUARY PLANETS – The five nearest planets are easily seen by eye, four of them shining steadily in contrast to the twinkling stars. Of the five, Mercury is most difficult to see, at a low angle to the sun and seen very close to the horizon at dawn or dusk. In January, Mercury can be seen low in the southeastern dusk in the second half of January, when it rises about 90 minutes ahead of the sun. In January, Jupiter can be seen low in the west in the early evening, shining steadily and outshining all night stars. In mid-evening (9-10 p.m.), the yellow planet Mars is in the east. Mars appears high in the southwest at dawn. The planet Saturn appears in Virgo, rising before midnight. Saturn can be seen in the southern dawn sky. The brilliant planet Venus is at too low an angle to the sun to be seen in January.

JANUARY STARS – The Big Dipper's scoop can be seen low in the north northeast. The two top scoop stars point up and left to the North Star, a modest star about halfway up in the north. Above and to the left of the North Star is Cassiopeia, appearing as a tilted letter "M." Orion is striking in the southeast with his three-star belt. The belt points up, and right to the bright orange star Aldebaran and the 7 Sisters (Pleiades) star cluster. Orion's belt points down and left to Sirius, the night's brightest star.

JANUARY PROGRAMS – The Frostburg State Planetarium's program for January is titled "Our Glorious Atmosphere," which reviews the basics of the Earth's ocean of air. Our free public programs will be presented January 10, 17, and 24 at 4 and 7 p.m. in Tawes 302. Persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and leave name and address, and a free planetarium bookmark (includes small campus map showing planetarium and easy parking areas) will be sent to callers. Persons may also visit the Frostburg State web site, where there is an area devoted to the planetarium (http://www.frostburg.edu/planetarium).

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Erika Ritchey, reporter

The Trailblazers 4-H Club met at Yough Glades Elementary School for their December meeting. There were 15 members and 10 adults present. The meeting was called to order by Levi Sweitzer, president. Two new members, Zachary Ritchey and Katie Clapper, were present.

The group discussed the Thanksgiving baskets that were delivered in November and how much the families appreciated them. Upcoming events are "Share-a-Bear" for trauma victims, 4-H ski day, the Stockman's Contest, officer training, and enrollment.

Record books are due at the January meeting. A motion was made to move the meeting time from 7:30 to 6:30 p.m., and the motion was passed.

A Christmas party followed the meeting. Games were played and gifts were exchanged.

The January meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 21, at Yough Glades Elementary School at 6:30 p.m. Members are to have ideas for planning the new 4-H year.

Anyone interested in joining 4-H is welcome to attend a meeting or call 301-334-6960 for more information on nearby clubs.

Clearing the Clutter

The ringing in of a brand new year is at hand, and with it the resolutions. One might be to clear away the clutter – and that includes deciding what to do with it. Material things aside, you may be feeling the same disorder in your life. Today's world is a barrage of input that seems to clutter our very souls. How will you decide what is worth retaining?

What is most important to know in order to live a useful, peaceful, and joyous life? God's Word should be of utmost consideration when we establish priorities. When we follow His advice, everything else falls into place. We know what is important and what is not. The result is a sense of peace and joy, even amid the confusion of life.

Won't you begin this year with worship in God's House? It is the best resolution of them all.

Banish Fear and Anger From Your Life

Fear and anger are natural human emotions and it is perfectly appropriate to feel them in the appropriate circumstances. These emotions, which are closely allied with our bodies' "fight or flight" reactions, are natural mechanisms for self-preservation. It is clearly a good thing to feel fear when in the presence of real danger or anger. Fear and anger are a bit like warning bells or alarms, telling us that we need to fight or flee, but sometimes the alarm is going off and there's no real danger. Some politicians and certain media outlets are good at stoking fear and anger, and seem bent on keeping us in a perpetual state of fear and anger. If a tornado is heading your way, it's probably appropriate to be fearful (and to get in the basement), but should we really be angry or fearful about national or international politics? We should not be passively resigned in the face of politics. People should be informed and get involved in local, state and national politics, but we need not get overly disturbed about it. The real problem with all of the fear and anger generated these days is how unproductive and debilitating it is. It keeps the talking heads happy, but it leaves the rest of us fearful, angry, and powerless to do much about it. So, perhaps we should keep our heads calm and unruffled, and save the fear and anger for when we really need it.

He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city.

Treatment for Acromegaly

Acromegaly is a condition of increased growth hormone, which leads to enlargement of the nose, hands, and feet. The condition is rare, diagnosed in 3 to 4 people out of 1 million per year. Acromegaly is commonly caused by a benign tumor that secretes growth hormone. Symptoms are related to increased amounts of growth hormone and insulin-like growth factor-1 (IGF-1). Associated symptoms include headache, swelling, sweating, and fatigue. Characteristics of the condition include an enlarged jaw, enlarged hands and feet, and enlarged nose. Also, the teeth typically become spread apart. It may take many years before it is diagnosed, because body changes occur slowly over time and are not obvious right away.

Somatostatin analogues work to decrease over-production of growth hormone. Octreotide is a somatostatin analogue that is injected to decrease growth hormone production. Pegvisomant is a recombinant growth hormone-receptor antagonist that works to cause a decrease in IGF-I. Dopamine agonists such as Bromocriptine and cabergoline may also decrease secretion of growth hormone. These types of medications may be used in combination with octreotide to potentially work better than either type of medication alone.

Friends Of The Cheat Mourn Loss Of Director

Keith Pitzer, executive director of Friends of the Cheat since 2001, died on the morning of Dec. 22, having been diagnosed with cancer about 18 months ago.

"Under Keith's leadership, Friends of the Cheat dramatically expanded its efforts to restore, preserve, and promote the outstanding natural qualities of the Cheat River Watershed," a spokesperson said.

Key milestones under the Pitzer tenure include establishing three public river accesses, completing an interpretive driving trail, invasive species eradication, and a major expansion of the organization's primary focus, cleaning up acid mine drainage that has rendered many miles of streams in the watershed unable to support life for decades.

"Today the Cheat River, once considered dead below Albright, is making a comeback," the spokesperson said. "The water is visibly cleaner, and fish, eagles, herons, and otters have been sighted.

Pitzer also laid the foundation for ongoing projects, including developing rail trails in the Kingwood area and from Albright to Rowlesburg, building an outdoor classroom, developing a key river and trail access at the confluence of Pringle Run and the Cheat River, and many additional acid mine drainage remediation projects throughout the lower Cheat watershed.

Despite his deteriorating health, Pitzer remained actively involved in Friends of the Cheat through mid-November. On Dec. 1, co-founder and past president Dave Bassage was named interim director.

"Keith was a close friend for 20 years, and I will sorely miss him, but savor many fond memories," Bassage said. "He was a kind, committed, gentle man, with a talent for music and leadership, putting all who knew him at ease.

"The world deserved more of Keith than he was able to give. His dreams, his passions, and most of all the patience, persistence, and respect he embodied so well will continue on in those of us fortunate enough to have been touched by him," Bassage said.

An accomplished musician and songwriter, Pitzer and his wife Joan recorded albums and played at festivals and other venues throughout the East Coast, including the Little Yough Music Festival in Oakland. They were instrumental in establishing the annual Cheat River Festival, which is held the first weekend in May.

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that donations be made in his memory to Friends of the Cheat, web site: www.cheat.org. Condolence notes to the family can be sent to his e-mail: kpitzer@cheat.org.

MAPLE SPRING MOVIE

A family movie night has been planned for Saturday, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren featuring Seasons of the Heart. Friends and family are invited to attend this movie, which is suitable for the entire family. There will be time for fellowship following the showing. Those attending may bring snacks to share. The movie is free and open to the public. The church is located at 3075 Maple Spring Highway, south of Eglon on Rt. 24.

PERSONAL

Phyllis Knepp, Red House, has been diagnosed with a brain tumor, for which she will be receiving treatment.

Claud Poling has returned to his Stemple Ridge home. His wife Eldean went to Ohio to spend Christmas with her children.

Jackie and Alma Snyder, Aurora, joined the family of her sister, Grace Knotts Winter and husband Jerry, and all of their family at the residence of her son and wife, Bob and Cheryl Knotts, Burlington. The family Christmas dinner was held on Sunday, Dec. 27.

Avalena Dumire, Owings, Md., fractured her wrist, arm, and shoulder on her left side in a fall at her home last week. She is the sister of Ruby Judy, Eglon.

Wilma Mae Teets is still experiencing the effects of a fall she had in Terra Alta in which she injured her knee.

Lindsey Teets, Savannah, Ga., is currently visiting his parents, Mark and LaDeana Teets, Amboy.

Nathan Teets, North Carolina, was a holiday visitor of his parents, Leland and Sandy Teets, and his sister, Nicole Teets, all of Eglon.

Don and Neva Frantz, Eglon, were visited by their granddaughters Dakota, Violet, and Harmony Frantz for Christmas and the holidays. The girls are daughters of Melvin and Melissa, Fort Mead, Md.

Tim Meeks, Nampa, Idaho, is spending his holiday vacation with his parents, Pastor Gary and Bonnie Meeks, Eglon.

Julie, Grayson, and Madison Baker, Virginia Beach, Va., Chuck, Emily, Noah, and Carter Young, Martinsburg, and Sara Lewis, Morgantown, spent the holiday with the girls' parents, Tom and Linda Lewis and grandparents Claude and Jean Winters, all of Eglon. Also joining in much of the family celebrations was another Winters daughter and family, Mary, Richard, and Caitlin Norwish. Carl and Nancy Winters, Manassas, Va., and their son and daughter-in-law, Clay and Mollie Ifshin Winters, Washington, D.C., were guests at the Winters residence as well.

Junior "Stubby" Stemple, Aurora, is a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he is quarantined because of an infection. Cards of cheer would be appreciated.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
Preston County FSA Office
425 E. Main St., Suite 420, Kingwood, WV 26537-1793
304-329-1923

FSA ANNOUNCES POLICY FOR REPORTING 2009 AND 2010

The Preston County Farm Service Agency would like to inform producers that beginning with the 2010 crop year, policy will be removed that makes acreage ineligible for prevented planted credit when a previous or subsequent crop is planted that does not meet double-cropping provisions. However, it is important that subsequent crops are reported accurately. This change will help to provide consistency for reporting prevented planted and failed acreage.

When reporting prevented planted acreage, producers requesting prevented acreage credit must report the acreage on FSA-578 (Acreage Report) and complete CCC-576 (Notice of Loss and Application for Payment Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program) Part B, within 15 calendar days after the crop's final planting date. The 2009 deadline for reporting prevented planted acreage was extended to Aug. 14, 2009. Late-filed fees shall be assessed for acreage determinations and field visits.

To be approved as failed acreage, the acreage must have been: 1) reported as failed acreage on the earlier of the final acreage reporting date or before the disposition of the crop, and 2) planted under normal conditions, but failed because of a natural disaster and not a management decision.

The County FSA Committee (COC) shall accept and make a determination of eligibility on each request for failed acreage credit filed by a producer. If the COC is not satisfied with the supporting documentation provided, the request shall be denied. Failed acreage determinations shall be made on a case-by-case basis as CCC-576s are filed. Once a CCC-576 has been submitted, it cannot be withdrawn.

To obtain further information about the policy for reporting 2009 and 2010 prevented planted and failed acreage, one may visit the Farm Service Agency, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or call 304-329-1923.

USDA IMPLEMENTS NEW CROP DISASTER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack on Monday announced that USDA has implemented the new Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments program (SURE) in accordance with the 2008 Farm Bill. Vilsack also encouraged producers to visit their USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office beginning on Monday, Jan. 4, 2010, to participate in the program if they suffered crop production losses during the 2008 crop year.

"This program is an important component of the farm safety net and will provide financial assistance to producers who have suffered crop losses due to natural disasters," said Vilsack. "Producers will receive payments beginning in January, in time to help them with planning for next year's crop."

SURE provides crop disaster assistance payments to eligible producers on farms that have incurred crop production or crop quality losses. The program takes into consideration crop losses on all crops grown by a producer nationwide. SURE provides assistance in an amount equal to 60 percent of the difference between the SURE farm guarantee and total farm revenue.

The farm guarantee is based on the amount of crop insurance and Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) coverage on the farm. Total farm revenue takes into account the actual value of production on the farm as well as insurance indemnities and certain farm program payments.

To be eligible for SURE, producers must have suffered at least a 10 percent production loss on a crop of economic significance. In addition, producers must meet the risk management purchase requirement by either obtaining a policy or plan of insurance, under the Federal Crop Insurance Act or NAP coverage, for all economically significant crops.

For 2008 crops, producers had the opportunity to obtain a waiver of the risk management purchase requirement through a buy-in provision. Producers considered socially disadvantaged, a beginning farmer or rancher, or a limited resource farmer may be eligible for SURE without a policy or plan of insurance or NAP coverage.

In addition to meeting the risk management purchase requirement, a producer must have a farming interest physically located in a county that was declared a primary disaster county or contiguous county by the agriculture secretary under a Secretarial Disaster Designation. Regardless of a Secretarial Disaster Designation, individual producers may also be eligible for SURE if the actual production on the farm is less than 50 percent of the normal production on the farm due to a natural disaster. For SURE, a farm is defined as all crops in which a producer had an interest nationwide.

For more information on the new SURE program, persons may visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, call 304-329-1923, or visit the FSA web site at fsa.usda.gov.

SOUTHERN BAND, CHORUS VISIT SMS – In an effort to recruit new band and chorus members, the Southern Garrett Marching Band and Southern's chorus traveled to Southern Middle School on Dec. 22 week to perform for the 8th grade class. Joshua Elmlinger, band director, shown above center, spoke to the students and encouraged them to consider joining the band whether or not they have any experience. "Some of the kids you see up here have been playing for several years, but some others had little or no experience at the beginning of this marching season," Elmlinger said. "You can do what they are doing, believe it or not." The band performed this year's award-winning field show music, and the drum line presented the marching cadence. Three members of the color guard presented this year's routine as well. "The band is an excellent opportunity for kids to learn music, make great friends, and prepare for college," Elmlinger said. "In the band we develop creativity and provide kids with a safe and constructive way to be themselves." Practices for next season will begin in mid-May, the director said. The chorus is under the direction of Debi Beachy, who also spoke with the 8th graders and encouraged them to consider becoming part of the singing groups offered at the high school. There is the chorus which is open to everyone, the chamber choir which is more advanced, and the show choir, which also involves some dancing and other performing arts. The chorus then performed for the students, presenting several Christmas selections. Any 8th grader or upper classman already at Southern High School is welcome to join either group for the 2010-11 school year.

THE MORNING SHOW MURDERS

by Al Roker and Dick Lochte

C. 2009, Delacorte Press, $26; 312 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

One look in the mirror confirmed it: Yep, you looked as bad as you felt.

Cold, flu, or just some nasty bug? Didn't matter. You croaked in sick to work, then hunkered down on the sofa beneath a warm blanket, with some daytime TV to sleep by. Could there possibly be a better place to recuperate?

Did you ever wonder – once you felt better, of course – what goes on behind the scenes of those TV programs? In the new mystery The Morning Show Murders by Al Roker and Dick Lochte, Chef Billy Blessing works hard backstage on Wake Up, America! but the chef's goose is about to be cooked.

Billy Blessing has his plate full. Folks across the country recognize him for his cooking segments on World Broadcasting Company's Wake Up, America! There's a reality show in the works, and elite New Yorkers know Chef Billy by the signature dishes he serves in his restaurant.

But Chef Billy hasn't always been successful. His past is riddled with minor crimes and shady characters, so much so that it's easy for the cops to make Billy the number one suspect when Rudy Gallagher, the network's head man and Billy's nemesis, is found poisoned.

It didn't help matters that the tainted food came from Billy's bistro.

But there are plenty of people who have reason to want Rudy dead. Gretchen, Rudy's supposed fiancee, doesn't seem too mournful that her intended was killed. There are a lot of women who have been cozying up to Rudy – a new one every few days – and any one of them could be the murderer. And then there was that time Rudy was in a bar in Kabul, where he narrowly missed being in the middle of a bloodbath...

When it becomes obvious that detectives don't believe he's innocent, Chef Billy goes in search of clues but soon wishes he hadn't stirred the situation. Rudy Gallagher – and the other dead men that follow – was in plenty of hot water, and the evidence points to a mysterious international killer who calls himself "Felix the Cat."

And Felix is about to pounce on Chef Billy.

Doesn't it sometimes seem like every TV celebrity fancies him- or herself as an author? Guess what? Al Roker really is.

The Morning Show Murders is a pretty decent whodunit with some nice plot twists and a few characters that are so unredeemable that you almost can't wait to see them dead. I also thought it refreshing that Billy Blessing is a chef who happens to be on TV and just wants himself exonerated. Authors Al Roker and Dick Lochte didn't make him out to be some part-time meddlesome detective wanna-be, and I liked that.

My sole complaint about this book was the ripped-from-the-headlines tiresome Middle Eastern tie. Lately, it seems like every mystery/action novel contains one and – hello! – it's getting stale.

Still, if you're hungry for a reason to stay up late, reading on the sofa, this book will do the trick. The Morning Show Murders is delicious fun.

Our Town Theatre To Host "KidStuff" Dramatics Classes

Our Town Theatre will hold its annual creative dramatics classes for children in kindergarten through 5th grade on alternating Saturdays in the winter months.

The classes are from 10:30 a.m. to noon on the following dates: Jan. 9 and 23, Feb. 6 and 20, and March 6.

Taught by Jane Avery and her assistants, the classes will feature movement, acting, stories, stagecraft, improvisation, mime, and music.

The cost for each class is a small donation to the theatre.

Reservations are required for each date and can be made by dialing 301-334-5640, option 2.

Avery stressed that parents must reserve their child's space by calling the theatre during the week of the class. No reservations will be accepted after 5 p.m. on the Friday before the class. If the weather is bad, persons are advised to call the theatre on the day of the class to check for a cancellation.

Questions should be directed to Avery at the phone number listed above.

FSU Cultural Events Series Presents Cabaret

The Frostburg State University Cultural Events Series will present a preview of the Kander and Ebb musical Cabaret on Friday, Jan. 15, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 16, at 3 and 8 p.m. in the FSU Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre.

The musical, with lyrics by Fred Ebb and music by John Kander, was a winner of eight Tony awards after its debut in 1966, including "Best Musical." In its revivals, it was nominated for three Tony awards in the 1987 revival and won four in the 1998 revival. The 1972 movie musical resulted in Oscars for stars Liza Minnelli and Joel Grey and director Bob Fosse.

Set in 1929 Berlin, the story centers around English cabaret performer Sally Bowles and her relationship with struggling American writer Cliff Bradshaw. The two begin a memorable and uncertain relationship that mirrors the changing world around them.

Cabaret is presented with Windwood Theatricals Inc., the FSU Department of Theatre and Dance, and the FSU Performing Arts Center.

Tickets are $26 for adults and $18 for those under 17. Tickets may be purchased by calling 1-866-849-9237 or 301-687-3137, or online at http://ces.frostburg.edu.

The Cultural Events Series is supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency dedicated to cultivating a cultural community where the arts thrive. An agency of the Department of Business & Economic Development, MSAC provides financial support and technical assistance to non-profit organizations, units of government, colleges and universities for arts activities. Funding for the MSAC is also provided by the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency, which believes that a great nation deserves great art.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. To request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, persons may call 301-687-4102 or use a voice relay operator at 1-800-735-2258.

Situated in the mountains of Allegany County, Frostburg State University is one of the 13 institutions of the University System of Maryland. FSU is a comprehensive, residential regional university and serves as an educational and cultural center for western Maryland.

MANIC DRIVE CONCERT SET – The contemporary Christian band Manic Drive will present a concert at Cornerstone Assembly of God, Boynton, Pa., on Saturday, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. Special guests will be the group Burning Yesterday. Tickets are $10, and are currently available at the church; Highpoint Electronics In Salisbury, Pa.; Salisbury Builders Supply; and Ott's Music in LaVale. For more information, persons may call the church at 814-662-4235 or Kristin at 814-233-2610. The church is located at 8978 Mason Dixon Highway.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

In her life, my mother thought that major winter weather was just perfect for going Christmas shopping. I remember many times I waited and was a little worried for her to get home from Cumberland.

She is here... Anyway, her gifts to her children arrived in the mail in the form of a check from a life insurance policy. She always gave each of us about a hundred dollars and some money for her 10 grandchildren. It is unacceptable how much I miss her around Christmas. It will never, ever be the same. I also miss horribly my little brother Scott and my father. And both sets of wonderful grandparents and Pappy Dale, who helped Daddy to pay for Little Joe. He was unusually generous and more helpful than most uncles. He arranged for the big digger machine to dig a grave for Joey.

No one can forget what a big gap was left from the loss of the Lion Senator Ted Kennedy. His dream of all Americans being covered by insurance is close. The goal of universal coverage was fought for since the days of FDR by every Democratic president. If only the members of Congress agreed. Their job is to serve the people of America. No one believed it would be an easy job to accomplish. There was flat opposition by Republicans and conservatives, who pledged to fight as hard as necessary to defeat health care reform.

Of course, we still have a few big obstacles before we can say that we delivered the most important piece of legislation since World War II.

Although they look weary, the leaders are fighting for decent health care for all Americans. Like Senator Christopher Dodd, who promised his close friend Edward Kennedy that he would finish the job. And the majority leader Reid was able to forge compromises to achieve a foundation for a brighter future for all Americans. Plus, it saved money, reduced the deficit, and cut the cost of health care, bringing insurance in reach of many Americans who could never afford it. And it may help to create jobs by helping small businesses or all kinds of businesses able to provide affordable insurance for their employees. So perhaps the big insurance companies got ahead of themselves by declaring victory against reform.

Thank goodness Air Force One was able to deliver our president to make a real difference at the Climate Change Congress. Anyone who doubts Obama's power of persuasion should look at what he did there – actually bringing along China and Brazil! Especially getting China to act in concert with the rest of the world. It is not a complete answer for stopping the killing of planet Earth, but it is a big step in the right direction.

And Air Force One delivered Obama back to Washington, D.C., in time to give the last hard push to his primary goal of health care reform. He was in for several days of hard work between the weekend and Christmas Eve. But he didn't take on the hardest job in the world because he thought it would be easy – just the opposite. He was aware that he was the only person able to handle the mass problems. And during his first year in office, he faced plenty of challenges.

I'm pretty sure we do not have death panels. But my grandfather Pappy Dale did not get treatment for his cancer, mainly because he was 92 years old. It's possible that that decision shortened his life a year or two, but not too much. If he did get treatment, the quality of his life in the last few years would have been much worse. But he spent the last few years at home surrounded by a large family who deeply loved him. We have a lovely photograph of almost all his 10 grandchildren around him on his death bed. And the final goodbye was said by his beloved wife Emma. None of that would have been possible if he was in the hospital to get treatment for his cancer.

Believe it or not, today is Dec. 23, the anniversary of the Immaculate Reception! It was perhaps the most glorious moment in Pittsburgh sports history. It was in 1972, and I think it was a playoff game. Anyway, what happened was that Terry Bradshaw threw a pass. It bounced off a Raiders player into Franco Harris, a Steeler defensive player who ran it 60 yards for a crucial touchdown. It gave the team a victory toward its first Super Bowl. After that one, they went on to win a whole bunch of them during the 1970s.

I am a little hazy about the selection process for football playoffs. But I think the Steelers and the Ravens lead for the wild card in the AFC North. Whoever lost today's game lost their chance to go into the playoffs. That was the Ravens, thank goodness, but I'm not sure what the Steelers have to do next weekend at the last of the regular season to clinch the wild card. But they did what they had to do today.

IGGY TEACHES STUDENTS ABOUT MUSHING – Accident Elementary School students recently enjoyed a presentation and film about mushing by Iggy, a sled dog of Husky Power Dogsledding of Accident. He brought along his 'MIT" (musher-in-training) and Linda Herdering, as well as his dogsled, wheeled dog cart, and books and films about mushing. Both classes of students who were there for the presentation recently read books about dog sledding. Iggy figured prominently in his films as he ran as part of a long 12-dog team on Accident trails. The class yelled his name every time he ran by. He also walked around and showed the students his harness and ganglines and how his sled works. Then he taught them that the most important part of dogsledding is not being able to go but being able to stop. Then it was time to hook up the team. Two students rode, two were mushers, and about 36 kids lined up to be the dogsled team inside the classroom. "All in all, 43 people learned a great deal about the sport of dogsledding," said Herdering, "and Iggy smiled all the way home thinking about those 80-some hands on him full of pets and hugs."

It wasn't a pretty victory, since the Ravens really lost the game due to many big penalties during the last quarter when they were tied with the Steelers. But our very dependable kicker, Jeff Reed, put the Steelers up by three points, enough for a victory. Well, anyway we are still in the hunt.

I admit that I don't know what people have to do to be granted a visa to America. But I assume that it involves face-to-face conversation with embassy personnel. It seems common sense to me that that is how you can identify a potential threat. We can't depend on airport screening, because a dangerous person boarded a plane in Amsterdam. We couldn't put even more intensive technology in all airports across the globe.

But if you want to board a plane to America, you must have a legitimate visa. And the standards should be pretty high. It's certainly a difficult problem, and I don't envy the people whose job it is to solve it. But trying to blame the president of America is mindless. I am not sure how we can force any screening on other nations. I suppose any potential passengers heading to America would have to report to the USA Embassy and get an interview before they could even get close to a plane. It would require quite a lot of human intelligence, but with the rate of unemployment, they would probably be able to find qualified face-to-face interviewers.

It seems to me that the attempted terrorist attack on Christmas Day requires each American to ask some hard questions of themselves, like what the most important kind of nation is. Is it the most extreme capitalist nation or primary democracy? And what role does our primary religion, Christianity, play in our daily lives? And why does extremist Islam hate us so much?

Remember, the desire for money is the root of all evil. I heard a strange comment about the problems Tiger Woods is facing. A commentator said, "It is tragic that his corporate sponsors lost billions of dollars on the stock market." What keeps the Tiger Woods story in the headlines? The financial aspect of it. How it will affect Woods' personal fortune, or how consumers will respond to it, affecting consumer spending habits and the bottom lines of the major corporations sponsoring him?

Then the key element is how it will affect Wall Street. Not the human tragedy of how it is affecting his wife and their children. No, it is Wall Street – the root of all evil in America. If you wonder why Sept. 11 terrorists attacked the Twin Towers, it was because they were the most powerful symbol of the financial life of America. Lots of people were astonished that the bomber came from a wealthy "banker" family in Nigeria. Of course, the most powerful engine driving the Nigerian economy is the exportation of oil to America. It is strange to say that Nigeria has much more in common with America than you may think. It is a two-tiered society with a few high wealth families and a larger poverty-stricken society.

A blanket ministry is being started at St. John's Lutheran Church of Meadow Mountain. The blankets will be stored at the church and will be distributed to families or individuals in the area who are in need of these. All donations of new, or gently used, blankets or comforters will be appreciated.

Installation of congregational council members for the Bittinger Lutheran Parish for 2010 will be held during the worship services on Sunday, Jan. 10.

For the first time since I am in Bittinger, I did not make it to the Christmas Eve service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, but I was way too sick with an earache, sore throat, and fever. But my daughters did go, and like always it was a very enjoyable service, featuring Lana Roby with "Mary Did You Know?" and my nephews Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty performing on their guitars during the period prior to the service and during the offering.

Another caroling group appeared at my door a couple of days before Christmas. This time it was from the Bittinger Mennonite Church. It always amazes me that we have four Mennonite churches in the Bittinger area.

Of course, my now older daughters did not get up early on Christmas morning, so finishing our gift-opening was a little rushed so we could go over to Rodney's house for the wider family gift-exchange and Christmas lunch. Besides my brothers and sister and their families, there was also Lesa Whittemore and Maddy, and Aunt Helen Englar and her son Mike from Westminster and her other son Courtney from the Cove. My nephews carried my wheelchair into the house, and it was a little scary because it was icy.

Brenda Ruggiero and her mother-in-law Ruth paid a visit to me on the Saturday after Christmas.

And today, the Monday after Christmas, I got a surprise visit from my NHS classmate and friend Dorothy Hanft (now Neder) of Timonium and her mother of the Cove, in spite of the horrible winter weather we are still having around here. It was so bad that I did not even try to get up to Oakland to get to my doctor, whom I was going to see because I still feel pretty lousy.

I am sorry that I do not know any details about other Bittinger families' holiday celebrations. But I know one thing, Cindy Stanton drove out to the Midwest to deliver her adorable granddaughter McKenna to her mother in Wisconsin.

My cousin Nadine Buckel decided that instead of staying in Garrett County for Christmas, she would go to Northern Virginia to celebrate it with her adult son and daughter. She is still not able to come back to the farm. Meredith and Caitlin decided to go over the Morgantown for social reasons. So my head, ear, and throat are aching and my stomach is a little upset, and I am also sick with loneliness. Maybe I will call it a day with this column and take a little nap.

Ordinarily, I don't even try to sleep in the daytime. But last night at 1 a.m., Boo stood beside my bed breathing heavily to wake me up so I would get up and let her out. So I did it. But the weather conditions outside were miserable, so I got a big blast of cold air inside. But her company is worth any little inconveniences. If it is true that one year is equal to seven years in dog terms, that means that she is already over 100 years old! If so, she is in great shape for her age, with just some gray hair on her muzzle and a little trouble getting up on "her" couch and on my bed. But she does not seem that eager to go out today, and after last night's trip.

I hate to say it, but the Bittinger winter winds are back, and as usual, they make the outside pretty unpleasant. And what an icicle outside my picture window! At the top, it is about eight inches wide. It is not a round one, and is about five feet long.

It is the last of 2009 and the last of the first decade of this century. Happy New Year, everyone!

Rams Fall In First Game, But Record History In Christmas Tournament Final

In its first game of the Hammond High School Christmas Tournament in Columbia on Tuesday, the Southern High School girls' basketball team fell to Maryland 3A Poly Tech, 54-45. Despite the loss, the Rams went on to record history yesterday as they defeated 4A North High, 54-53, with less than five seconds to spare. This marks the first time a Southern basketball team, boys' or girls', has beaten a Maryland 4A classification school.

Against Poly Tech on Tuesday, Southern trailed 14-9 in the first quarter, and matched Poly Tech, 16-16, in shots in the second quarter, but remained behind by five points, 30-25. The Rams were unable to get past a nine-point gap in the third quarter to go into the fourth, 42-33.

"We just played a better team tonight," said Southern head coach Dave Bosley. "We played extremely hard and extremely well, but they were just better than we were. They are a tough 3A school, and it was good to see us respond the way we did."

Emillee Bosley led Southern with her 13 points, sinking three 3-pointers on the way. Teammate Heidi Welch also racked up 13 points with the help of her four field goals behind the arc.

Malonica Williamson and Cynthia Johnson each scored 16 points for Poly Tech to tie for a game-high title, and each were 4-for-6 from the foul line. Williamson also sank two 3-pointers in the win.

In the surprising upset of North High last night, Southern trailed through three quarters of play. The Rams were down 16-7 in the first quarter, but then rallied to close the gap to just one point to end at the half 29-28. North County pulled away in the third quarter for a 42-37 lead. With the aid of Bosley's and Welch's three-pointers, Southern found themselves with the ball with 14 seconds remaining in the fourth. Bosley received the ball at the top of the key, took a couple of dribbles, and pump faked before sinking the game winner with less than five seconds to play.

Welch led the Rams with 19 points, and Bosley finished with 12. Allie Shaffer scored 10 points, and helped Alycia Horner and Abby Wildesen on the offensive glass.

Denver Clyde scored over half of North County's points by recording a game-high 27 points, and teammate Ayante Clash aided with nine points.

The Rams, now 4-3, are scheduled to travel to Bishop Walsh on Monday and then to Allegany on Wednesday

TRYING TO MATCH THE HEIGHT OF HIS OPPONENT is Southern High School's junior forward Calvin Hilliard (#34) during last night's final game of the First United Snowball Classic against St. Mary's Ryken, which was hosted by the Rams. Teammates Derek Collins (#3), back left, and Joe Kisselovich (#35), middle, are ready to grab the rebound. Southern lost, 62-40, but not before collecting a 65-48 domination over Smithsburg on Tuesday. Hilliard put up 12 points in Tuesday's game, and Kisselovich led the Rams with his double-double of 17 points and 11 rebounds. He is seen in the above right photo under heavy pressure from St. Mary's opponents with teammate Collins nearby. Below is sophomore forward D.J. Ritchie (#40) as he tries to find a path to the basket with Hilliard ready to move in for the rebound. Ritchie was 4-for-4 from the foul line against Smithsburg, and put up 17 points. 37th Annual Elks Hoop Shoot To Be Held On Jan. 9

The Oakland Elks Lodge will hold its local competition for the 37th annual Elks "Hoop Shoot," a national free-throw shooting contest for children 8 to 13 years old. It will be held at the Southern High School gymnasium on Saturday, Jan. 9, at 2 p.m.

Contestants will compete in categories based on their age as of April 1, 2010, and do not have to have any affiliation with the Elks Lodge

Over 3 million children across the country entered last year's competition for boys and girls in age categories 8-9, 10-11, and 12-13. Each contestant has 25 shots at the hoop. The boy and girl in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals at Springfield, Mass.

Local winners will compete against other contestants in the district event in Frederick in February. Names of the national winners will be inscribed on the Elks National "Hoop Shoot" plaque on permanent display in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield.

Southern Boys' Basketball Team Hosts Snowball Classic; Records Win, Loss

D.J. Ritchie scored 17 points and was 4-for-4 at the foul line to lead the Southern High School varsity boys' basketball team to a convincing 65-48 victory over Smithsburg in its first game of the First United Bank Snowball Classic in Oakland on Tuesday.

The Rams finished up the tournament with a loss to St. Mary's Ryken, 62-40 last night. Details were not given for last night's game.

Southern trailed in both the first and second quarters, but then rallied in the third to gain the lead. Smithsburg had a five-point advantage over the Rams in the first quarter to begin the second, 13-8. Southern outshot Smithsburg, 14-12, in the second quarter, but still remained behind, 25-22. The Rams recorded 23 points in the third quarter to Smithsburg's 9 to start the fourth 45-34.

Eleven of Ritchie's points came in a big third quarter to lift the Rams over Smithsburg on Tuesday, nine of which came from three-pointers. Joe Kiselovich had a big night as well as he recorded a double-double with 17 points and 11 rebounds. Calvin Hilliard added 12 points, and Wyatt McBee had 11 points which included three 3-pointers.

Leading Smithsburg was Cody Shives with his 17 points. Teammate Aaron Dinterman hit five field goals to collect 12 points.

Southern's jayvee team fell, 45-31, to the Smithsburg junior varsity in the first round of the First United Jayvee Snowball Classic. Further details were not given.

Southern, now 5-2, is scheduled to travel to Fort Hill on Tuesday for an Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference game.

NHS Boys' Basketball Team Opens Berlin Tournament With Win, Ends With Loss

Holding a 24-1 lead in just the first half was the varsity boys' basketball team of Northern High School as it claimed a 68-49 win over Rockwood in the first day of the Berlin Christmas Tournament in Berlin, Pa., on Monday. The win was short-lived, however, as the Huskies were defeated, 46-36, by Berlin on Tuesday.

Northern made a statement in the first and second quarters of Monday's game against Rockwood, wrapping up the first quarter with a 24-1 lead, and then went into halftime with a 20-point advantage for a score of 37-17. The Huskies were outshot by Rockwood in the third quarter, 12-11, but still led, 48-29, into the fourth.

Cody Humberson controlled the inside for the Huskies, scoring 14 points to go with 14 rebounds for a double-double. Teammate Garrett Rayner recorded 15 points, and Matt Gibson had a team-high eight assists to go with his six points.

Nick Foreman put up 16 points for Rockwood, and teammates Josh Oakes and Andy Fletcher each scored 13 points. Foreman also hit two 3-pointers in the loss.

Against Berlin in the final game of the tournament, the Huskies were tied with the Mountaineers, 6-6, in the first quarter, but then gained a one-point lead in the second to go into the half 17-16. Northern lost the lead in the third quarter after being outshot 17-9. Berlin had only one bucket in the fourth, but scored 11 points from the foul line to keep its distance.

Northern was led by Alex Smith's nine points. Humberson had nine rebounds to go with his six points, and Rayner added seven in the loss.

Scott Gindlesberger hit four 3-pointers in the third quarter for the Mountaineers, and finished with 16 points for the evening. Teammates Alex Will and Dakota Glessner both recorded 11 points in the win.

Northern (3-3) will return to action on Tuesday when it hosts Keyser.

Huskies Dominate Richland, 47-26, In Boswell Jaycees Tournament

With eight 3-point baskets and 23 points coming from a single player, it's no wonder the Northern High School varsity girls' basketball team racked up a dominating 47-26 win over Richland in the opening day of the Boswell Jaycees Tournament at North Star High School on Monday.

The Huskies faced North Star on Tuesday, but results were not given.

Monday, Northern held a strong lead through all four quarters. The Huskies were up 13-3 in the first quarter, and held a 14-point advantage over Richland by halftime. Northern allowed just six points from Richland in the third quarter, but put up 12 of its own to go into the fourth 39-19.

Kaitlynn Fratz scored a game-high 23 points to lead the Huskies, four baskets of which were three-pointers. Teammate Tara McKenzie sank two of the Huskies' eight 3-pointers and racked up 10 points. Alyssa Rounds led the team with her seven rebounds.

Richland was led by Riggleman with her 10 points, and single 3-pointer. She was also 3-for-4 from the foul line.

Northern (3-1) is scheduled to host Keyser on Monday, with the junior varsity game at 6 p.m. and the varsity tipoff at 7:30 p.m.

SHS Matmen Finish 10th In Wheeling Park Duals; Three Record-Perfect 8-0

The Southern High School wrestling team competed against 40 teams from four states on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Wheeling Park Duals, and after winning their pool, the Rams entered the championship poll for the second straight year. Three Southern wrestlers went a perfect 8-0 in their matches, and three others faired well.

Bubba Scheffel, Brutus Scheffel, and Lex Ozias each recorded an 8-0 record, and defeated several state ranked wrestlers in the proeess. Bubba Scheffel had eight pins in the 171 weight class to earn the tournament's MVP award. Louis Hardester went 5-2 in the 152 weight class, and Garrett Beachy and Dakota Workman each went 4-4.

The Rams defeated Mars, Pa. (39-37), Fairless, Ohio (46-33), and Martins Ferry, Ohio (50-30), to win their pool. In the championship pool, Southern fell to North Hills, Pa. (54-24), Peters Twp, Pa. (41-36), Fox Chapel, Pa. (57-21), Steubenville, Ohio (53-18), and Wheeling Park, W.Va. (54-21), to finish in 10th place.

"I knew if we won our pool, and got into the championship pool again this year, we would have a tough time winning matches against these teams," said Southern's head coach Dave Taylor. "It was a great learning experience for our newer wrestlers, and will only make us better as the season moves on. Our top three wrestlers were awesome this week, and were probably the three best out of the nearly 500 wrestlers at Wheeling Park."

The Rams will be able to relax a little over the next couple of days until their home match against Hampshire on Tuesday.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

CHIMNEY FIRES

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I've seen ads on TV warning of the danger of chimney fires. But I've lived in the same house for years and had no trouble. What is the fuss all about?

A. Chimney fires are real enough, and can even lead to an entire house burning down. So the smart thing to do is prevent it from happening in the first place. That takes some thinking ahead.

If you burn natural gas or propane, the combustion products are only water vapor and earbon dioxide. Because those are harmless gases, nothing collects on the walls of your chimney, and you'll never get a chimney fire from that.

When you burn wood, it's more complicated. If burned hot enough, wood also will burn to H_2O and CO_2; but the trouble is, a wood fire is not always hot enough. Then you have incomplete combustion. That's where the trouble begins.

When the smoke and gases resulting from combustion leave the fireplace or wood stove and head up the chimney, they have to make it all the way to the outdoors to be safely gone. If something doesn't make it out, that's bad news. Suppose some water vapor isn't hot enough, and starts to condense on the inside wall of the chimney near the top, and it collects some tiny particles of incompletely burned wood from the smoke. What forms on the walls is a gooey sticky substance known as creosote. Later on the next day when the fire is out, that stuff can harden into a glaze or turn into flakes. Either way, there is combustible material inside the chimney, waiting to catch fire someday in the future.

Time passes and more evenings are spent by the fireside. Again and again the fire is relatively cool, perhaps because of burning unseasoned (wet) wood, perhaps because of putting in many logs to keep the fire burning longer, or any number of reasons. That process might continue for years, over dozens of fires. The exhaust gases cool en route up the chimney, and little by little the coating of creosote builds up.

Then one day a really hot fire gets going, with lots of hot gases roaring up the chimney. Guess what: They find lots of additional combustible material high along the chimney wall. When that stuff catches fire, you've suddenly got a fire where you don't want it, and the temperature up inside your chimney is maybe 2,000 degrees F. That can be really dangerous.

Some chimney fires just burn out the soot and creosote, and nobody notices. More intense chimney fires shoot a flame out the top, and if the neighbors are watching, they'll take notice. Inside, you might hear an unusual rumbling sound down below. If hot burning pieces go flying out the chimney, they might land on the shingles. Should you find some black flakes of creosote on your roof someday, chances are it was a chimney fire that left them there.

The first chimney fire is normally contained by the metal, bricks and tiles. But there is a good chance that a few of the ceramic tiles lining the chimney might crack or have pieces fall off, and that creates a new hazard for next time: There are spaces and gaps where flame can get through to the wooden structure of the house. If that happens, you're dealing with a major house fire.

The role of a chimney sweep is basically to get rid of creosote. The 1964 Walt Disney movie Mary Poppins romanticized that very sooty job, but homeowners in England have realized for centuries the importance of keeping a chimney clean. The reason to call a chimney inspector is to prevent a chimney fire from happening. Inspectors search for cracks and distorted metal, signs of overheating, etc. A heavy coating of creosote indicates that condensation frequently takes place, which means that the flue is not working right.

The best approach is the preventive one: Avoid forming creosote in the first place. Burn well-seasoned (dry) wood with a good draft, proper setting of the damper, and adequate exhaust ventilation. You can't eliminate smoke completely, but you can send it up the stack at a high enough temperature that it won't condense on the chimney walls.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Soviet-born American professor and science-fiction author Isaac Asimov who made the following sage observation: "The saddest aspect of life right now is that science gathers knowledge faster than society gathers wisdom."

• If you ever travel to the British territory of Bermuda, you might want to stop off in Ely to see the world's smallest drawbridge. Somerset Bridge is less than 20 feet from one embankment to the other, and when the draws are raised, there's barely enough room for a single small sailboat to pass.

• Early in its history, the Catholic Church decreed that imbibing coffee was sinful. It was Pope Clement VIII who, in 1592, declared it to be a Christian drink.

• Early 20th-century ballet dancer and chorcographer Vaslav Nijinsky is considered to be one of the most gifted dancers in history. Despite his talent and his fame, though, he was fired from the renowned Mariinsky Theater because one of his performances offended the Russian Dowager Empress Maria Feodorovna. It seems Nijinsky appeared onstage wearing tights, but without the so-called modesty trunks commonly worn by male dancers at the time.

• When George Eastman sold the patent to his Kodak camera, he received only $5,700.

• The world's best long-distance swimmers are Alaskan seals. In order to avoid the brutal northern winter, every fall these aquatic mammals leave their calving grounds on islands off the coast of Alaska and don't return until spring. For eight months they remain in the ocean, never touching land and sometimes traveling more than 6,000 miles before returning home as the weather warms.

• Ancient Egyptians believed that jackals would lead human souls to the afterlife.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 5, 1643, in the first record of a legal divorce in the American colonies, Anne Clarke of the Massachusetts Bay Colony is granted a divorce from her absent and adulterous husband, Denis Clarke, by the Quarter Court of Boston.

• On Jan. 10, 1901, a drilling derrick at Spindletop Hill near Beaumont, Texas, produces an enormous gusher of crude oil, signaling the advent of the American oil industry. The geyser flowed at an initial rate of 100,000 barrels a day. Within a year, there were more than 285 active wells at Spindletop. Today, only a few oil wells still operate in the area.

• On Jan. 6, 1936, Porky Pig makes his world debut in a Warner Brothers cartoon, "Gold Diggers of '49." When Mel Blanc joined Warner Brothers the following year, he became the famous voice behind Porky, as well as the Warner Brothers characters Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Sylvester and Tweety.

• On Jan. 7, 1959, six days after the fall of the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, the United States recognizes the new Cuban government of Fidel Castro. The U.S. government believed it could work with Castro and protect American interests in Cuba, but less than two years later, the U.S. severed diplomatic ties and unleashed the Bay of Pigs invasion.

• On Jan. 8, 1966, rock-and-roll TV variety show "Shindig" on ABC airs its last episode. The show had debuted in September 1964, featuring acts including the Everly Brothers, the Rolling Stones and the Beach Boys.

• On Jan. 9, 1972, in Hong Kong harbor, a fire breaks out aboard the lavish Queen Elizabeth, and by the next morning the famous vessel lies in a wreck on the bottom of the sea floor. Before her days as a passenger liner, the Queen Elizabeth steamed across the ocean as a transport vehicle during World War II.

• On Jan. 4, 1996, General Motors announces that it will release an electric car, the EV-1. While sales were quite modest by the standards of internal-combustion cars, the EV-1 was the best-selling electric consumer car of its time.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: I have a collection of old newspaper cartoon strips collected between 1929 and 1950, all original panels by the artists. Some of the pieces in this collection are inscribed to my dad, John Heck. Due to a water leak about 30 years ago, many of the panels were damaged. If I have them restored, would this lessen their value? — Jim, Carson City, Nev.

A: I have two sources that might be helpful. The National Cartoonist Society is my first pick. The contact information is 341 North Maitland Ave., Suite 130, Maitland, FL 32741; www.reuben.org; and info@reuben.org. Check out the club's Web site before you contact it. The Cartoon Research Library at Ohio State University has been involved in restoration for a number of years, and you might also seek help there (http://cartoons.osu.edu/).

Greetings From GC President Neff

Happy New Year! And greetings from the Garrett College community as we prepare to welcome students of all ages and types for the spring 2010 semester. We hope you will find in the list of credit and non-credit offerings provided in this week's special newspaper insert some choices that will move you further toward a certificate or associate degree, enhance your skills for a chosen career, or just satisfy a long-time personal interest. Enrollment this fall has been unusually high, so seats in spring courses are going fast. Be sure to register as soon as possible to secure your place.

The spring schedule includes a number of new or infrequently offered courses and workshops. New non-credit offerings include Digital Photography Restoration and Manipulation Using Adobe Photoshop; Fashion Design: Illustration, Theory, and Techniques; Fundraising Fundamentals for Non-Profit Organizations; Introduction to Project Management; Networking for the Multiple Computer Home or Small Business; Promoting Your Business Online; QuickBooks for Non Profit Organizations; and Survival Skills for Women. New credit courses include Computer Forensics; Fiction Writing; Field Guiding and Instructing, Adventure Sports; Forensic Psychology; Personal and Consumer Finance; Programming Logic; and Security Plus.

Students planning to enroll for the first time at Garrett College should be sure to check on eligibility for financial aid. The Garrett County Scholarship ensures full tuition support for recent graduates of Northern or Southern high schools and for individuals who completed the GED during the past year. Federal and state financial aid programs can cover not only tuition, but also additional costs such as textbooks and travel to campus. There are special provisions for military veterans and for persons receiving unemployment benefits. For more information and instructions on how to apply, contact the Financial Aid office at 301-387-3012.

Not yet listed in the schedule is a "Food for Thought" series for retirees and others interested in lifelong learning. On one Friday of each month in April, May, and June –dates yet to be determined – we will offer lunch with an expert speaker on a topic of current interest. This will be a great opportunity to make new acquaintances, as well as to increase your understanding of the issues of our time. Watch for an announcement in The Republican. In the meantime, if you would like to be on an invitation list, please telephone the Continuing Education office at 301-387-3069.

Besides new learning opportunities, the New Year will bring some physical changes as well. In March, renovations to the former Phenix Technologies building in Accident will be complete, and we will begin the process of moving into the newly created Career and Technology Training Center (CTTC). The college's welding program will be relocated to that site, and several new programs will be introduced over time that lead to industry-recognized certificates in areas such as weatherization, wind turbine technology, and green building techniques. The project has the support of the county commissioners, the Office of Economic Development, the Garrett County Community Action Committee, and other regional agencies involved in workforce development.

In April, we will break ground for the long-awaited Community Athletics and Recreation Center (CARC), to be located along Mosser Road at the east end of the campus. The aquatics and fitness facility, scheduled to open in fall 2011, will contain two swimming pools, one for leisure use and one designed for competition. A large fitness area will have a full component of exercise equipment and several multipurpose rooms for continuing education and other uses. Swimming lessons and aquatics classes such as water aerobics will be offered. The facility will also include a physical and occupational therapy unit operated by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The aquatics and fitness center will be open to the public on a membership basis, and represents the first such swimming facility in Garrett County.

A separate but connected gymnasium is designed with bleacher seating for 1,600 and floor space that will hold an additional 400 persons for special occasions, such as high school graduations. It has a central basketball competition court with two practice courts, which also function as three playing/practice courts for volleyball. The building also contains an athletic training facility with a treatment room and exercise area, as well as offices for athletics staff. Besides its routine use by the college for intercollegiate and intramural sports, the gymnasium will also host high school tournaments and will be available to the public for other events. It is scheduled to open in late 2011 or early 2012.

Garrett College is an important economic presence in our region, with approximately 900 students in credit programs, around 4,000 served each year in non-credit courses and workshops, an annual budget of $14 million, and more than 150 employees. The Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC) has been highly successful as a technology business incubator. We are pleased to provide a home for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF), as well as to partner with the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) and the Wisp Resort in expanding and promoting outdoor recreation opportunities. The new activities and facilities described above will support the college's continued growth and, in doing so, will benefit Garrett County and its residents. May we together enjoy a happy and rewarding New Year!

Sincerely,
Jeanne H. Neff
President, Garrett College

Nursing, Health Profession Info Night Scheduled

Garrett College will hold its first Nursing and Health Profession Information Night next Thursday, Jan. 7, at 6 p.m. The program is for current and prospective students looking to pursue credit or non-credit education in the healthcare field.

For students interested in non-credit career opportunities, Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division will offer information on medical coding and certified nursing assistant programs. The credit portion of the evening is specifically designed for students who initiate their enrollment at Garrett College and then pursue transfer into an allied health field at Allegany College of Maryland.

The program has been planned in cooperation with the Allegany College of Maryland Office of Admissions and allied health faculty.

"This program will be very beneficial for individuals interested in getting specific information about the various allied health career programs," said Rachelle Davis, director of admissions at Garrett College. "It will also give students an opportunity to learn about details regarding program and transfer requirements."

Programs that will be discussed at the event include pre-nursing, pre-occupational therapy assistant, pre-physical therapy assistant, pre-medical assistant, pre-medical laboratory technology, pre-radiology technology, pre-dental hygiene, and pre-respiratory therapy. Program options for students to obtain clinical experience through Garrett Memorial Hospital will also be discussed at the event.

Information Night participants will have the opportunity to hear from a panel consisting of students who began at Garrett College, successfully completed the required courses for graduation from Allegany College of Maryland, and are currently working in the healthcare field. In addition, students will be able to speak with Garrett College and Allegany College of Maryland admissions representatives and professors who teach in the allied health field.

The program will be held in Room 511 of the Garrett College Learning Resources Center. For more information, persons may contact the Garrett College Office of Admissions at 301-387-3044 or admissions@garrettcollege.edu, or contact the Office of Continuing Education and Workforce Development at 301-387-3069 or julie.yoder@garrettcollege.edu.

RAILEY REALTY

HUSKY Notes

LADY HUSKY BASKETBALL

The Lady Huskies basketball team will host its first home game of the year on Monday, Jan. 4, against the Lady Golden Tornados of Keyser. It is also youth basketball night, which means any boy or girl that is involved in Northern's youth basketball program (grades 4 through 8) and wears A jersey to the game will be admitted for free. Northern's 8th grade girls' Tri-County team will perform an exhibition at half time. The junior varsity game begins at 6 p.m. and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

HSA SCHEDULE

The tentative HSA schedule and final exam schedule for NHS are as follows: Jan. 12: biology, Jan. 13: algebra, Jan. 14: government, and Jan. 15: English.

HSA FLOODING

Flooding for the HSA tests will take place beginning on Monday, Jan. 4. Students in HSA classes should see their instructor for times and locations. These classes help students with a review of core learning goals and test-taking strategies, as well as practice electronic assessments.

SCHOLARSHIPS

•Washington Crossing Foundation: This is a national scholarship program designed for students planning to pursue careers in government service. It is open to graduating high school seniors who are planning careers of service in local, state, or federal government. Application consists of an applicant prepared cover sheet, one-page essay, letter of recommendation from high school principal or guidance counselor, transcripts, and SAT or ACT scores. A full detail of application information is available in the Counseling Center or online at www.gwcf.org. The award amount is $500 to $5,000, and the deadline for submission is Jan. 15.

•KFC Colonel's Scholars Program: This program is dedicated to assisting students with financial need who plan to pursue a bachelor's degree at a public institution within their legal state of residence. It is open to graduating high school seniors who maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher. Applicant must be planning to enroll in a public, in-state college no later than Sept. 30, 2010, and pursue a bachelor's degree (may begin at a two-year public in-state school). Applicants must demonstrate financial need. An application may be obtained online at www.kfcscholars.org beginning Dec. 1. The award amount may be up to $5,000 per year, and the deadline for submission is Feb. 10.

•Ronald McDonald House Charities U.S. Scholarship Program: This scholarship was established to assist graduating high school seniors who are exemplary role models in their communities and demonstrate the initiative to fulfill their educational goals. Applicant must be under 21 years old, have a min. cum. GPA of 2.7 or higher, and reside within the boundaries of a participating Garrett County chapter. He/she must enroll in a two- or four-year accredited college, university or trade/technical school. A personal statement, letter of recommendation, and high school transcript with test scores are required. An application is available in the Counseling Center or online at www.rmhc.org. The award amount is a minimum of $1,000, and the deadline for submission is Feb. 16.

•Maryland JCI Senate: This scholarship was designed to assist graduating high school seniors with funds to help further their education. Applicant must be planning to enroll full time at an accredited two- or four-year college, university, or trade/technical school. Application requirements are letters of recommendation, a personal statement, and transcripts. Characteristics of self-development and community services will be considered. PUBLIC NOTICES

INVITATION TO BID MCHENRY WATER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENTS WATER TANK RELOCATION CONTRACT #6

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed bids for the construction of improvements to the McHenry Water System. This contract is for the relocation of an existing 30,000 gallon welded steel water tank from the Gorman area to the McHenry area for use in the McHenry Water System. The work includes but is not necessarily limited to the following: dismantling and removal of water tank; removal of existing tank coatings to AWWA Standards; testing of tank and application of new tank coatings to AWWA Standards; construction of a new tank foundation; and reassembly of tank.

A Pre-Bid Meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Monday, January 11, 2010, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the bid specifications and drawings is $50.00 per set and is nonrefundable. All out-of-town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Thursday, January 28, 2010, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, January 28, 2010. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "McHenry Water System Improvements Bid Contract 6" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to cancel this invitation to bid and to waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY 257 MARSH HILL DRIVE, UNIT # 34 MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Jeffrey A. Jones and Megan A. McGonical dated July 31, 2007, and recorded in Liber 1325, Folio 0185 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with an original principal balance of $446,898.42, and an original interest rate of 10.690, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse door for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on January 8, 2010, at 1:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property being sold is a condominium unit and all common elements appurtenant thereto.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $44,000.00 by cash or certified funds is required at the time of auction. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of foreclosure auction to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of foreclosure auction. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the foreclosure auction, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of foreclosure auction forward. Purchaser agrees to pay to the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited, and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, in which case the purchaser agrees to pay attorney's fees of $1,250.00, plus costs, to the Trustees. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of foreclosure auction. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without Interest.

Being the same land conveyed to Timothy J. Skipper and Cheryl Ann Skipper, husband and wife, by deed dated July 26, 2002, and recorded July 29, 2002, in Liber No. 908, folio 579, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) will be required at the time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in other form as the Trustee may determine acceptable, in her sole discretion. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys, at settlement, a fee of $225.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $150.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE SIMPLE DWELLING PROPERTY KNOWN AS NO. 68 KEYSERS RIDGE ROAD Grantsville, MD 21536

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Tanya N. Mcintosh to John Burson, Esq., Trustee(s), dated September 25, 2008, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1393, folio 0365, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees dated October 27, 2009, and recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Thomas P. Dore, Mark S. Devan, Kristen K. Haskins, Gerard F. Miles Jr., Shannon Menapace as Substituted Trustees under the Deed of Trust aforesaid, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., being the current holder of the Note(s) secured thereby, and default having occurred under the terms thereof, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse Door, Alder Street entrance, Oakland, Maryland, on Tuesday, January 12, 2010, at 11:00 a.m.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, as described in the Deed of Trust dated September 25, 2008 and recorded among the land records of Garrett County, in Liber 1393, folio 0365, also being further described in a Deed dated September 25, 2008, and recorded among the land records of Garrett County in Liber 1393, folio 0359. The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the Trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representations or warranties, either expressed or implied, with respect to the property including, without limitations, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property. The Trustees shall be required to convey insurable title.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $160,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $16,000.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within twenty (20) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 8.000% per annum from the date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water/sewer charges and condo/HOA dues, if any, to be adjusted to the date of sale. Ground rent, if any, whether incurred prior to or after the sale to be paid by purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the holder has entered into any agreement with or accepted funds from or on the behalf of the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract. Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay a deed preparation and document review fee of $350.00 to the Seller's attorney and an additional fee of $250.00 for the review of any motion, which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

ABC is ready to revisit 'Bachelor'-hood

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Jake Pavelka

Q: Will "The Bachelor" or "The Bachelorette" be returning this season? –Jan Radvansky, Winter Haven, Fla.

A: For "The Bachelor," your wait will be really short. Subtitled "On the Wings of Love," the unscripted ABC show's 14th season begins Monday, Jan. 4, with Jake Pavelka – who was let go last year by Jillian Harris on "The Bachelorette" – as the latest fellow to be presented a whole lot of immediate dating options.

As for "The Bachelorette," nothing definite has been said about a sixth season for that "Bachelor" spinoff, but we'd bet on one in late spring or early summer. The green light for that often hinges on which contenders for the bachelor's heart show the potential to be a "Bachelorette," and we'll discover that over the coming weeks.

Q: I am enjoying DVDs of "Gilmore Girls." Have there been any more episodes since the original? Or anything with Lauren Graham? –Demetra Curtis, Williamsville, N.Y.

A: Series creator-producer Amy Sherman-Palladino recently said she hasn't ruled out a "Gilmore" reunion project, nor have stars Graham and Alexis Bledel, with whom she's stayed in touch since the show ended. However, she added that would require a story idea worthy of the effort, so there's no set timetable.

In the meantime, Graham will be back on series television very soon. She has inherited the role first given to Maura Tierney – who had to leave the job to continue treatment for breast cancer – in NBC's upcoming version of "Parenthood," inspired by the Ron Howard-directed 1989 movie. At this writing, a premiere date had not been set yet, but it should be soon.

Q: I would like to know when new episodes of "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" will be shown again. –Myron Krouse, South Portland, Maine

A: USA Network, which has been debuting the new episodes before NBC, is expected to launch the show's ninth season in March. As was mentioned here not long ago, you can expect big cast changes, with Jeff Goldblum the only continuing star who will be staying on regularly.

Saffron Burrows ("Deep Blue Sea") will be his new police detective partner, and Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio ("The Abyss") will replace Eric Bogosian as the boss. Vincent D'Onofrio and Kathryn Erbe are expected to appear in the season premiere, presumably to wrap up the roles they've had since the show's inception.

REQUEST
ENGINEERING SERVICES
CHERRY GLADE
ACCESS ROAD

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed proposals from qualified firms for engineering services to study, design and prepare construction plans and specifications for the construction of an access road from Garrett Highway to Fourth Street on the former Oakland Garage property of the Garrett County Roads Department.

A Pre-Proposal Conference will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, January 13, 2010, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Proposal documents may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. A copy of the proposal documents can also be downloaded from the Purchasing Department's web site at http://www.garrettcounty.org/Purchasing/CurrentBids.aspx. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed proposals must be submitted to the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Tuesday, January 26, 2010, at 2:00 p.m. (local time). An original and five (5) copies of the proposal should be submitted enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Request for Proposals - Engineering Services Cherry Glade Access Road" on the outside of the envelope. Any proposals received after the time due will not be considered and shall be retained as documentation for the proposal file.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals, to cancel this request and to waive technicalities in any part thereof deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
2032 MARYLAND HWY.
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Mary M. Maxwell and William R. Maxwell III dated March 17, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1201, Folio 104 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $224,659.13 and an original interest rate of 9.040%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD, at the East Alder St. entrance on JANUARY 12, 2010, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $24,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

Howard N. Bierman, Jacob Geesing, Carrie M. Ward, Michael Scott Cohen, Substitute Trustees

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS ENGINEERING SERVICES CHERRY GLADE ACCESS ROAD

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed proposals from qualified firms for engineering services to study, design and prepare construction plans and specifications for the construction of an access road from Garrett Highway to Fourth Street on the former Oakland Garage property of the Garrett County Roads Department.

A Pre-Proposal Conference will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, January 13, 2010, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Proposal documents may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. A copy of the proposal documents can also be downloaded from the Purchasing Department's web site at http://www.garrettcounty.org/Purchasing/CurrentBids.aspx. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed proposals must be submitted to the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 316 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Tuesday, January 26, 2010, at 2:00 p.m. (local time). An original and five (5) copies of the proposal should be submitted enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Request for Proposals - Engineering Services - Cherry Glade Access Road" on the outside of the envelope. Any proposals received after the time due will not be considered and shall be retained as documentation for the proposal file.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals, to cancel this request and to waive technicalities in any part thereof deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
2032 MARYLAND HWY.
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Mary M. Maxwell and William R. Maxwell III dated March 17, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1201, Folio 104 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $224,659.13 and an original interest rate of 9.040%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD, at the East Alder St. entrance on JANUARY 12, 2010, AT 1:00 P.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $24,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of Interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from Improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

Howard N. Bierman, Jacob Geesing, Carrie M. Ward, Michael Scott Cohen, Substitute Trustees

Named Volunteer Of The Month By Loar Auxiliary

The Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently honored Ginny Evans as the featured Volunteer of the Month for December.

Evans joined the Loar Auxiliary in 1999 and has been volunteering in the hospital gift shop since then. In addition to working in the shop, she volunteers time to help with the special vendor sales held in the hospital lobby. She can be found in the shop on Friday afternoons.

"She meets and greets her customers and makes them feel welcome while browsing in the shop," remarked shop manager Denise Shay. "Ginny does a great job in the gift shop and has mastered the point-of-sale system and regularly completes all types of transactions correctly and professionally."

The Loar Auxiliary is a volunteer organization of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Although its main function is the management and staffing of the hospital gift shop, the Loar Auxiliary has branched out to include oversight and management of the Cup O' Joe vending area. Loar hosts special vendor sales and sponsors bake sales and various other efforts that all ultimately benefit the hospital.

Any person interested in volunteering for the Loar Auxiliary should contact the hospital's Volunteer Services Department at 301-533-4041.

IRS Offers Tips In Making Year-End Donations

The IRS is currently reminding individuals and businesses making contributions to charity to keep in mind several important tax law provisions that have taken effect in recent years. Some of these changes include the following:

Special Charitable Contributions for Certain IRA Owners

This provision, currently scheduled to expire at the end of 2009, offers older owners of individual retirement accounts (IRAs) a different way to give to charity. An IRA owner age 70½ or older can directly transfer tax-free up to $100,000 per year to an eligible charity.

This option, created in 2006, is available for distributions from IRAs, regardless of whether the owners itemize their deductions. Distributions from employer-sponsored retirement plans, including SIMPLE (Savings Incentive Match PLan for Employees) IRAs and simplified employee pension (SEP) plans, are not eligible.

IRS Announces 2010 Standard Mileage Rates

The Internal Revenue Service has issued the 2010 optional standard mileage rates used to calculate the deductible costs of operating an automobile for business, charitable, medical, or moving purposes.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 2010, the standard mileage rates for the use of a car (also vans, pickups or panel trucks) will be:

- 50 cents per mile for business miles driven;
- 16.5 cents per mile driven for medical or moving purposes;
- 14 cents per mile driven in service of charitable organizations.

The new rates for business, medical, and moving purposes are slightly lower than last year's. The mileage rates for 2010 reflect generally lower transportation costs compared to a year ago, a spokesperson said.

Important Information Regarding Spouses of U.S. Military Service Members

On Nov. 11, President Barack Obama signed into law the Military Spouses Residency Relief Act (hereinafter the "act") (S. 475, Public Law No. 111-97). The act is effective for taxable year 2009 and thereafter. It does not affect taxes imposed or paid for 2008 and earlier.

The act amends the service member Civil Relief Act to provide that a spouse of a service member shall neither lose nor acquire residence or domicile in a state when the spouse is present in another state solely to be with the service member in compliance with the service member's military orders if the residence or domicile is the same for both the service member and spouse

Currently, Maryland and a number of other states are collaborating to establish common guidelines for implementing the act. Persons are asked to check the state comptroller's web site at www.marylandtaxes.-com, where additional information and guidance will be posted as it becomes available

Additional information on these and other accounting related subjects is available at www.msacct.org.

MEMBERS OF SHEPHERD'S FLOCK 4-H CLUB recently met with Brenda Butscher, director of Hospice. Earlier in the year, members received $250 from the Berlage Innovative 4-H Grant Program. This grant was part of a community service project that was designed to "make the best better" within the community. The members and their families made meals throughout the year and donated them to the hospice food storage. These meals are used to feed patients and their loved ones. The members used not only grant money but personal donations to make the community service project a success. On the same day, members also met with Kathy Powell, representative of the Garrett County Health Department. They delivered baby receiving blankets which they had made as an additional community service project. Members, pictured above with Butscher and below with Powell, include Derrick Maust, Kevin Maust, Kendrick Bender, Jeffrey Bender, Kelsey Bender, and Miranda Bender.

MYTH BUSTING

When a homeowner faces default on their mortgage, there may be two options: foreclosure or short sale. Foreclosure can be devastating, both emotionally and financially. A short sale, or one in which the lender accepts a selling price less than the amount owed, is a better option for both the lender and the homeowner.

Regrettably, nearly seven out of ten homeowners proceed through foreclosure without ever listing their home for sale. This is due largely to perceived myths about the process, and we need to put a few of these misconceptions to rest.

First, homeowners assume the bank would rather foreclose than accept a short sale. Not true - foreclosure is often more costly for the lender, and short sales often sell for more than foreclosed listings. The banks are trying anything possible, within reason, to avoid the foreclosure process.

Next, homeowners believe there is a stigma attached to short sale listings, and that buyers have no interest in such properties. Not true - to the contrary, many smart buyers are specifically seeking out such offerings for the value they present compared to traditional listings.

Finally, homeowners often assume that there's not enough time to close a short sale before foreclosure is final. Not true - foreclosure is a lengthy process and there is time to negotiate a better result, but you need to start today. Call your REALTOR® today.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Lana and Larry,
Thank you for all of your hard work and persistence! As I told you from the beginning, after owning lakefront at Deep Creek for 12 years, I understood the market and how competitive it is there. After 2 ½ years on the market, I decided to get serious about selling our vacation home. I had sat on the other side of the table from you on our previous purchase and I admired and respected your professional tenacity for your client. That's why, when I was really ready to sell, I knew you would have my best interests at heart. Even in the economic crisis that the housing market has experienced this past year, you were still able close the deal and make us a handsome profit. You are more than professionals...you're friends who gave me the right advice at the right time. Thank you again for everything! You will definitely be my recommendation to family and friends looking for a retreat in "God's country"...Deep Creek Lake!
